Congress Dissolved by Force, Deputies Say Huerta Is Dictator.

Executive Insists He Was Obliged to Act Because of Interference on the Part of the Lawmakers With His Plans to Pacify the Country—Extraordinary Election of New Members of the Congress Is Scheduled.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Provisional President Huerta virtually made himself dictator of the Mexican republic late last night when he issued a personal decree formally announcing the dissolution of Congress. He stated his action was due to interference with the prerogatives of the executive on the part of the legislative branch of the government.

Gen. Huerta backed his dissolution of the National Legislature by calling an extraordinary election of Senators and Deputies for October 26, the date set recently for the constitutional election to choose a President and a Vice-President. The provisional President announced that the new Congress to be chosen on that day will pass on the Presidential election.

The decree for the dissolution of the old Congress states that the executive refuses to obey the commands of the legislative power and consequently decrees those commands to be invalid.

President Huerta also issued a proclamation to the nation, in which he said he had stood the infringements of the legislative power as long as possible and had been forced to take the action he adopted to restore peace and prevent anarchy throughout the country.

The formal dissolution of Congress was preceded by the arrest of the entire Chamber of Deputies last evening and the commitment of all its members to the penitentiary. Thereupon the Senate adjourned without date, after drawing up and signing minutes in relation to the affair in the lower house.

PERIOD.

Minister Calero said tonight: "We put a period to our work and have finished. That is all."

None of the Senators were arrested, although Deputies Berlanga and Borja, who went to the Senate to inform that body of the occurrence in the Chamber, were arrested as they left the Senate room. Senators said Gen. Huerta had promised that no violence should be offered to Deputies or Senators—that all of them would be treated with consideration until the conflict should be determined.

When the Chamber of Deputies opened its proceedings last evening, all the doors were closed by troops of the Twenty-ninth Battalion, who filled the cellar and massed on the roof. All the galleries and passages were packed with policemen.

Deputy Felix Palavicini made an address in which he asserted that no session would be held so long as there was an armed force in the hall.

Manuel Garza Aldape, Minister of the Interior, replied to the Deputy. He said President Huerta was not able to submit to the resolution of the previous day, which he considered offensive, and he asked the Chamber to withdraw it.

The Minister referred to the resolution in which the Deputies made inquiry concerning the disappearance of Dr. Belisaro Dominguez, Senator from Chiapas, who had vanished from his hotel after making an address in which he criticised the provisional President. In that resolution, the Deputies warned Gen. Huerta that if he did not give them protection against personal injury, they would adjourn to another city and hold their legislative sessions there.

The question of withdrawing the resolution, which had offended Gen. Huerta, was referred to a committee of the Chamber of Deputies. The committeemen reported adversely on the Minister's demand. Then the Chief of Police read aloud the names of the Deputies to be arrested first, including Rodolfo Reyes, Jorge Vera y Estanol and Enrique Bordes Mangel, who walked out of the hall. Those Congressmen were taken to the peni-

DOUBLE TIME BUSCH'S MAXIM.

FAVORITE ADVICE TO YOUNG MEN, WORK HARD.

Body of St. Louis Millionaire Embalmed in Germany Will Be Shipped to America on the Kronprinzessin Cecelie on October Twenty-first.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Work double time, young man, double time for which you are paid and you will never regret it."

This was Adolphus Busch's favorite advice to young men. He declared that earnest endeavor was bound to win recognition from an employer.

"Give me a man who intends to do the right thing. Let him do the right thing and I will take care of the mistakes he makes," Busch was wont to tell his friends when discussing the merits of his employees.

Only four employees who entered Busch's service when he began to develop his gigantic brewing industry have outlived him. Beloved by his employees because of the interest he took in their welfare and the solicitude he displayed in their advancement, the aged brewer was probably the best-known and best-loved employer of men in the Middle West.

The body of Adolphus Busch was embalmed today in Weisbaden, Germany, and arrangements will be made later for the first service, which will be held there before the Busch party departs for St. Louis.

The body will lie in state in the home he loved so well until October 21. Then it will be borne to the North German Lloyd steamship Kronprinzessin Cecelie at Bremen. The ship will depart for New York that day, arriving in Hoboken October 28.

While members of the family are not disposed to adhere to any definite schedule, it is probable that the funeral in St. Louis will take place about October 30, or shortly afterward, when the funeral party reaches St. Louis.

In accordance with directions Mr. Busch gave himself when he lay on his death bed in Germany, the body will also lie in state in his St. Louis home.

The news of Busch's final request was received today by Busch's son-in-law, Edward A. Faust. Directions were given at once for the body to be brought back to St. Louis on a special train, according to plans being formulated by Faust and Charles Nagel, who will have charge of the funeral exercises.

Hundreds of telegrams poured into the offices of the brewery today bearing messages of condolence to the bereaved family and officers of the association. Many of these were forwarded to Germany, where several members of Busch's family were with him when he died. No work was done at the brewery today except that which was absolutely necessary. Flags were at half mast on all the staffs at the big plant.

FOR THE COFFEE DRINKERS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Hermann Sielcken, known as the "coffee king," and originator of the Brazilian valorization plan, was married on Tuesday in Tessin, Germany, to Clara Wendroth of Bremen, it was announced here yesterday.

Mrs. Wendroth was a widow. Her father, the late Paul Isenberg, was a wealthy sugar planter in the Hawaiian Islands.

NEW ISSUES CRYSTALLIZING IN PANAMA CANAL ZONE.

Economic, Fiscal and Political Are the Problems that Are Expected to Cry for Solution After Great Waterway Has Been Formally Opened to Traffic and Col. Goethals Has Been Installed as Governor of the Strip.

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PANAMA, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Problems of Panama have ceased to be engineering ones. They are no longer related to canal construction. They are now economic, fiscal and political. Some of them are far more complicated than the Cucaracha slide in the Culebra cut.

The American administration of the canal zone and the operation of the canal present no serious problems. These plans were all worked out a year ago. They will be put in force as soon as the law passed by Congress in 1912 becomes fully effective through the appointment of a Governor of the zone to supersede the canal commission. The Governor, of course, will be Col. Goethals.

While no promises are made as to the time when the canal will be opened to commerce and cargo vessels will be passing through it, to one on the ground it is apparent that this will be much sooner than has been expected. A few weeks will determine the experimental questions in regard to the operation of the canal. Then it should pass under the form of administration provided by Congress. There is no political patronage worth holding through the continuance of the canal commission. In fact, there has been none worth speaking of since the change in the national administration at Washington.

OPERATING FORCE.

The operation and administrative force for the canal will consist of about 2500 persons, exclusive of sanitation and government. It is this reduction from the huge force of laborers and clerical employees to the minimum that raises some serious problems directly for the Republic of Panama, and indirectly for the United States. While, in the beginning, the merchants on the Isthmus objected strongly to the United States feeding and clothing its army of canal employees through the medium of the army commissary, nevertheless, they recognize that a vast amount of money coming from them has been put into circulation every month. All business prospered. Now, the larger part of this wage money is to be withdrawn; not suddenly, for the process has been going on for months, but with certainty. It is possible to calculate almost mathematically from the wage rolls of the canal commission to what extent the sum is lessened month by month. All this means that dull times in Panama, as compared with eight or nine years of flush times, are likely to follow the opening of the canal. The depression may not last long. There is no reason why it should. But the transition period is likely to be a trying one until the volume of commerce passing through the canal and the consequent activity of the ports of Panama and Colon causes renewed activity, although not on the scale of the last few years. The administration in power in the Republic of Panama will be held responsible by the "outs" for the dull times. The government of the United States will also be censured. It is the rather blunt opinion of some American officials that Panama's future depends more upon her internal development and upon good administration than on the canal. This means the isthmus as a whole and not simply the two cities at the terminals of the canal and adjacent territory.

Some of the American officials would have the Hay-Varilla treaty of 1904 revised so as to make more clear the rights of the United States on the isthmus in connection with the canal, leaving the government of Panama to depend more largely on the development of the resources outside the canal sphere. In the future as in the past, there is no doubt Panama will do what the United States thinks is the right thing to do in connection with the canal, but these American officials would leave nothing to disputed interpretation.

LAND AREA IS ENLARGED BY RUSSIAN EXPLORERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. MICHAEL (Alaska) Oct. 11.—The Russian government steamers Taimyr and Waygatch, under Commander Wilitsky, which have been engaged in Arctic exploration north of Siberia for three years, arrived here today for coal. Capt. Wilitsky reports the discovery of a body of land as large as Greenland extending beyond latitude 81 north and longitude 102 east.

Admiral Peary and other arctic explorers have believed that a large body of land, almost a continent, existed in the polar regions. The Canadian government had so much faith in the theories of Peary, Stefansson and other explorers that last summer it sent Vilhjalmur Stefansson with the best equipped polar expedition that ever entered the ice.

Three of Stefansson's boats are frozen in the ice pack near Point Barrow, Alaska. Two of these boats carried supplies which were to be landed at depots east of the mouth of Mackenzie. The third was to explore the mainland and islands already known, east of the Mackenzie delta. Stefansson himself with the whaler Karluk, got away safely from Point Barrow, and steered for the north, seeking the unknown continent, which the Russian expedition that arrived at St. Michael reports discovering.

Suffragettes Try to Strike the Royal Couple in London.

Detectives Save the British Rulers from Bodily Harm While Entering a Theater—Rioting at the Chancellors' Meeting—Dozens of Arrests Made—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst Sails from Havre for New York City.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While King George and Queen Mary were entering the California Theater tonight at a charity performance, suffragettes rushed at them and attempted to strike the royal couple. Detectives saved them.

Miss Bedford, a fierce suffragette, armed with an umbrella stick, led the attack.

There was rioting at the Chancellors' meeting. Dozens of arrests were made.

MRS. PANKHURST SAILS FOR GOTHAM

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HAVRE (France) Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the English militant suffragette leader, sailed today for New York aboard the French liner La Provence.

Previous to sailing she told the Times correspondent she has not received any intimation from New York of any opposition to her visit on the part of the authorities or American representatives of the women's movement.

"If there is any opposition on the part of the former, although I do not expect it," said Mrs. Pankhurst, "I shall plead that my offense in England was a political one, addressing meetings after having been released from prisón. Dispatches to newspapers here say that American suffragette organizations regret my visit. I have received no such news. Personally, I have received only promises of hearty welcome from my friends and more invitations to lecture than I can accept."

After speaking in support of social purity articles published, by her daughter, Miss Christabel Pankhurst, Mrs. Pankhurst continued:

"We hope to show that the only means of fighting white slavery and contagious diseases is to raise the status of women. The only way to do that is to give them the vote. The only way to get the vote in England is by militancy."

Referring to comment which has been made on fees she is to receive in the United States, Mrs. Pankhurst said: "There has been a misrepresentation. I have not been engaged to lecture at a fixed fee as far as I know, but arrangements are being made so that there will be a surplus after expenses are paid, which will be devoted to the cause of women's suffrage."

SHIP BURNS IN MID SEA, SCORES OF LIVES LOST.

Five Hundred and Twenty-one of the Volturno's Passenger List and Crew Saved in a Raging Storm in the North Atlantic—Death List May Total One Hundred and Thirty-five—Waves Crush a Number of Boats.

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The full details are still lacking of the mid-Atlantic tragedy when the liner Volturno, owned by the Canadian Northern Steamship Company and chartered for five years for the emigrant trade by the Uranium Line, caught fire on Thursday morning on its way to Halifax. The probable loss is 135, and 521 were saved. All efforts to communicate by wireless with the ten ships that raced to rescue the Volturno in answer to her "S.O.S." calls have failed. It is believed that the full horror and the details of the heroic rescues will not be known until the Carmania reaches Queenstown. It is due there tomorrow afternoon and at Liverpool on Monday morning.

All the facts known are pitifully scant. There are three sources of information, a brief wireless from Capt. Barr of the Carmania received by the Cunard company at 6:30 this morning, a vivid anonymous wireless message from a passenger on the Carmania, and a wireless received at Bremen from the Grosser Kurfuerst. No further word has been received from the Carmania.

A MESSAGE.

The unsigned Kurfuerst message reads: "We received appeals help Volturno four Thursday afternoon, 48.50 north latitude, 35.6 west longitude. The Volturno found afire, apparently caused by a violent explosion forward which killed several of the passengers and crew; eleven steamers were on scene of disaster. Violent northeasterly gale was blowing. Two boats Grosser Kurfuerst were under way all night from 9 p.m. to 3:15 a.m. It was almost impossible to get near the wreck. Rescue was only possible by jumping overboard."

The Kurfuerst saved eighty-five passengers, two officers, one engineer and sixteen sailors. Five hundred and twenty-one were saved by all the ships. The Carmania and La Touraine thoroughly searched the scene of the disaster. The search is being made for two of the Volturno's boats, but will probably not be attended with success.

ROTTERDAM DISPATCH.

A Rotterdam dispatch says that the exact number of passengers was twenty-two first-class, 538 steerage and crew of ninety-six. There is no means of ascertaining the names of the lost and the survivors until the rescue ships reach port. The officials of the Uranium Line have instructed their Halifax agents to send two steamers to the scene of the disaster to search for bodies. The steamship Uranium will leave this evening and will cruise to the spot to look for bodies.

The Volturno was a British steel twin-screw steamer of 3600 tons and was registered at London. It was built in 1906 by the Fairfield Shipbuilding Company of Glasgow and left Rotterdam October 2. She had emigrants on board bound for Halifax, and did not call at an English port. It had two decks and a shelter deck. Its dimensions were 340 feet length, forty feet breadth and thirty-one feet three inches depth. She carried a cargo valued at $100,000. The ship was worth $800,000.

Capt. Inch was born in 1877 and

VOLTURNO'S SURVIVORS ABOARD RESCUE FLEET.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Not since the Titanic sank has Europe been so thrilled as by a wireless message today telling of the burning of the steamer Volturno in mid-Atlantic, with a loss, so far as is at present known, of 135 lives, and the rescue of 521. The survivors are now aboard a fleet of steamers summoned by the Volturno's call for help, some of which are bound eastward and others westward.

The rescue ships reached the scene of the disaster in plenty of time to save all, but for hours stood by the blazing vessel, impotent because of the storm to reach the agonized men, women and children crowding the after part of the ship and within a stone's throw.

All night Thursday the lifeboats made a desperate effort to get alongside the Volturno, but the waves beat them back again and again, and not until the storm abated at daylight Friday did the rescuers succeed in removing the survivors from the doomed ship.

Exactly how the rescue was effected is not known. The Volturno was well equipped with boats, sufficient, the agents say, for a thousand people, but the boisterous sea or lack of boat drill, or panic among the passengers, prevented the successful employment of them. The rescue ships were able to lower lifeboats, but apparently most of the boats launched from the Volturno were smashed or upset and the occupants drowned. Two of the boats, crowded with passengers, are reported to have got away from the ship, but a search for them has proved fruitless and they have practically been given up as lost. The occupants of these boats are included in the death roll.

The steamer Carmania, bound from New York for Liverpool, was seventy-eight miles away when the call for help sounded. Capt. Barr, ordering full steam, in spite of the gale, drove through the seas at twenty knots an hour and was first of the fleet to reach the burning vessel. She was followed by the La Touraine, Minneapolis, Rappahannock, Czar, Narragansett, Levonian, Kroonland, Grosser Kurfuerst and Seydlitz at various hours throughout the day. But try as they might the rescuing vessels could get neither line nor lifeboat to the Volturno, the forward part of which was almost hidden by a dense cloud of smoke when the Carmania arrived.

The burning steamer lay in the trough of the sea, pounding helplessly, with her propellers fouled by the boats' tackle. The terrified passen-

Americans Rush to Border on Account of Riots.

Drastic Action of Huerta Given as the Reason.

Federals at Piedras Negras Ready for Emergency.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EAGLE PASS (Tex.) Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In the absence of official reports to the contrary, Americans and other foreigners who refused to leave their properties in Mexico at the behest of President Wilson are rushing to the border in the belief that a grave crisis is pending, according to advices received from the consular agents in the Rio Grande district today.

Reports of rioting in the streets of Mexico City, following the imprisonment of Congressmen opposed to the government, is now given as the alleged reason why all Americans should hurry to the frontier and the few business enterprises that were not previously closed down by the Constitutionalists are being abandoned and their owners are seeking the protection of American territory.

Reports of hard fighting between the Constitutionalists and Federals have been received from Buerrero and other towns located on the Rio Grande, which formerly were held by the Federals, but which are now said to have fallen into rebel hands. The city of Sabinas, which recently was reduced by the Federals, was reoccupied today by Constitutionalists, as well as a number of smaller towns located within fifty miles of Piedras Negras, all of which are said to have been abandoned by the Federal forces as useless territory.

In the meantime, the Federal commander is arranging to meet any emergency that may arise either through the return of the Constitutionalists or a defection among his own forces.

A number of the rank and file are known to have crossed the river into American territory and the body of one deserter, who was unable to negotiate the treacherous currents of the Rio Grande, was picked up on the American side last night. Since the American troops made a public display of their military strength yesterday, there is little question that the Constitutionalist refugees have seen a great light and the offensive attitude which they assumed the first few days after the evacuation of Piedras Negras has entirely disappeared.

Official statistics show that 2800 refugees still are being fed by the American government and of this number 1500 are able-bodied men desiring work. Mayor Schmitt has sent an appeal to large employers in all parts of the country offering the services of these laborers.

ARREST IS SERIOUS, SAYS JOHN LIND.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

VERA CRUZ, Oct. 11.—The arrest of a large number of members of the Mexican Congress by Provisional President Huerta last night is regarded by John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson, as perhaps the most serious development in Mexico for many weeks.

Mr. Lind was not notified of the sequel of the Congressional debate until nearly noon today.

WAITING GAME AT MAZATLAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 11.—From officers of the steamer Benito Juarez, which arrived today from Mexican ports, it is learned that conditions at Mazatlan remain practically the same as for weeks.

The report that Mazatlan's water supply was cut off by the rebels is verified. The inhabitants of the besieged city now procure drinking water from shallow wells.

None of those aboard the Benito Juarez ventured to guess when the siege of Mazatlan would end, the Federals being strongly situated on the inside and the rebels being equally strong on the outside. Both parties have access to provisions, and it is said a waiting game is in progress that may last for another year.

The transport Buford, gathering American refugees from along the Mexican west coast, was sighted October 4, when it had 170 refugees aboard. The Buford was waiting for the cruiser Maryland, which was ordered to watch at Mazatlan in case of trouble.

The Benito Juarez stayed for two hours off San Quintin, last Thursday, waiting the usual launch from the town. No boat appeared and the steamer proceeded northward without sending ashore to investigate.

In view of the recent reports that a small body of rebels is operating along the peninsula, the silence at San Quintin was considered ominous.

tentiary. Other deputies afterward were arrested and were taken to the penitentiary in street cars and automobiles.

The captive Deputies were cheered by the crowd as they were taken away from the Chamber.

Learning what was happening, the Senate sent Senator Calero to see President Huerta. The provisional President said he wished to see more Senators. A committee was appointed, consisting of Jesus Flores Magon, Enrique Rabasa, Antonio Priete, and Gumercindo Enriquez.

RECEIVES THE SENATORS.

The Senate committeemen went to the provisional President's office and reported the result of their visit in a secret session of the Senate. They said the President advised the Senators to withdraw thir resolution of disapproval. This the Senators declined to do. They indorsed the stand taken by the Chamber of Deputies and drew up the minutes relating to the affair.

All the Senators signed the minutes, and then it was that the Senate adjourned without date.

GUNS IN POSITION.

Machine guns were placed at various strategic points in the capital last night. Troops patrolled the city. Heavy cannon also were emplaced at points of vantage.

Army officers here were inclined to consider the affair a huge joke. They applauded President Huerta's action. Bankers and business men, however, evidently were worried. They were impelled to believe that more serious trouble would be forthcoming.

It was commented that the incident virtually left President Huerta in the position of a military dictator and enabled him to decree whatever he might wish to have done.

REBELS PLANNING GUAYMAS ATTACK.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HERMOSILLO (Sonora) Oct. 11.—A general movement of Constitutionalist troops from Ortiz to Maytorena has begun, the general belief being that another insurgent attack upon Guaymas is planned.

At the same time, reports reaching Hermosillo are to the effect that a transport is carrying a large number of Federal troops from Guaymas to Mazatlan to engage in a campaign against the rebels throughout the State of Sinaloa.

Since the Constitutionalists captured the city of Sinaloa, they have repaired a long stretch of railroad.

American Refugees Give Details of Slaying in Durango by the Rebels.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO, Oct. 11.—P. K. Lucke, general superintendent of the Penoles Smelter at Mapimi, Durango, reached Marfa today with forty American refugees from the Mexican mining camp. The party left before the reported killing of Samuel Weineger, assistant superintendent of the mine.

Chinese refugees who left after the killing of Weineger arrived in El Paso today, coming in through Presidio, Tex.

They confirm the killing of the American by rebels.

THE SOUTH DAKOTA'S FEAT.

She Went Nearly to the Mouth of the Colorado River and Not to the Headwaters.

On the morning of October 10 The Times printed a San Francisco dispatch, dated October 9, noting the arrival at San Francisco of the United States Cruiser South Dakota. In this dispatch the erroneous statement was made that the cruiser South Dakota, while in the Gulf of California, had "made a trip up almost to the headwaters of the Colorado River." The statement should have been that the cruiser had "made a trip almost to the mouth of the Colorado River." The dispatch was printed as received by The Times, the error having been committed by the author of the dispatch in San Francisco. That no cruiser could reach the headwaters of the Colorado River is a fact obvious to a student of elementary geography and the failure to edit the dispatch to conform with obvious physical facts was due to haste in rushing to the printer a contribution to the current history of Mexican affairs that contained, aside from the blunder, interesting matter correctly stated. The dispatch was the last one with reference to Mexico received by The Times on Friday morning in time for the edition in whih it appeared.

TO MARE ISLAND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The cruiser South Dakota is lying in San Franisco Bay preparatory to going to Mare Island next week. One of the officers said tonight: "That was a funny error that the loal papers made in reditting the cruiser with going farther toward the headwaters of the Colorado thanany other vessel. The fact is that we went farther toward the head of navigation of the Gulf than any big vessel has reached for years. The Colorado never will be a navigable stream except for flatbottomed craft because it carries too much silt and its course is constantly changing."

Report that Some Have Been Killed Is Not Believed.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 11.—President Huerta's defense of his action in causing the arrest of 110 members of the Chamber of Deputies last night is that the Deputies were revolutionists. It is his belief, as he states it, that they represented the Carranza sentiment in the capital.

In a proclamation dissolving the Chamber it is frankly stated that their threat to remove themselves from the capital and hold sessions where they would enjoy the protection which they allege was denied them here, meant that they would transfer their sessions to territory controlled by the rebels.

In spite of the fact, the proclamation continues, that the executive has intervened with good offices repeatedly, in order to prevent clashes between the Chamber and the other branches of the government and has carried prudence and good will to an extreme by going repeatedly to ask the Deputies to reconsider their illegal acts, his tolerance has resulted in nothing further than obtaining additional proof that the body was decidedly of a dissolutionist and revolutionary character, and was "resolved to finish with the executive power by whatever means possible without caring that the gravest possible consequences were entailed by such conduct."

ADDRESS TO PEOPLE.

In a separate proclamation addressed to the Mexican people, the President declared that the Deputies had shown systematic and implacable hostility to each and all of his acts.

"The Executive has been able to convince himself," the proclamation continues, "that a majority of the Deputies had resolved to deny him all financial assistance, in spite of the abnormal conditions through which the country is passing and the grave obligations which it has both at home and abroad."

"If the undersigned," the proclamation adds, "saw in the rebellious attitude of the Chamber a co-ordinate movement emanating from public opinion, with leaders capable of taking over the government and conducting the country to days of prosperity, he would gladly abandon power and give it into expert hands. Nothing of the kind is happening.

"It can be asserted that if tomorrow this body were called upon to designate an executive function there would arise in it one of the most bloody of battles over the remains of public power."

THE HUERTA VIEW.

Officials close to President Huerta said that in the opinion of the Executive the desire of the obstructionists in Congress was at first to prevent the elections, and failing in that, to declare them void for the purpose of keeping Gen. Huerta in power, thus indicating an imperialistic attitude on his part.

The Deputies still are in prison. A report which was current that some of them had been killed is without foundation.

The American Charge, Nelson O'Shaughnessy, was besieged today by the wives of the imprisoned deputies, imploring him to use his influence to obtain the release of their husbands and secure guarantees for their safety. President Huerta assured Mr. O'Shaughnessy tonight that none of them would be mistreated.

ASK HUERTA TO RESIGN.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Additional advices to the State Department were that in the turbulence attending the dissolution of Congress, a petition was circulated calling on Provisional President Huerta to resign and all the signers were arrested.

Secretary Bryan at Knoxville, Tenn., was kept advised today of the developments. It was possible that he might hasten his return to Washington, reaching here tomorrow, instead of Monday. It is unlikely that the American government will take any steps in the situation, however, before Tuesday's Cabinet meeting.

Surveyors Working Under Direction of Sonora State Government Are Now Segregating Vast Tract of Half a Million Acres to Be Used for Pacifying the Indians.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Oct. 11.—Surveyors working under the direction of the State of Sonora are now segregating a vast tract said to contain more than half a million acres into small farms which will be apportioned among the Terupan Indians, a branch of the Yaqui tribe, according to information received here from the Montezuma district.

The lands have been in undisputed possession of the Mexicans, and in some cases foreigners, for almost a hundred years, it is stated. Much of the land is in a high state of cultivation and is under irrigation. It lies along the banks of the Montezuma River. When the survey began, orders were issued by the State that no grain, or cattle produce of any kind be allowed to be shipped without specific permission of the State government. Thousands of bushels of wheat and corn will be tied up in the barns of the various farmers, the total aggregating a huge fortune. Among those who may lose their possessions in this manner are several Americans, notably George Woodward of Los Angeles, who recently appealed to the State Department. Woodward and those from whom he obtained the land are said to have been in possession for more than thirty years.

This arrangement is said to have been made by the State government in order to pacify the Yaquis, who threatened to desert their cause and start an indiscriminate war against the Mexicans. The Montezuma Valley tract is said to be one of several in which the inhabitants will be dispossessed, and the land returned to the Yaquis.

PRESIDENT OF PANAMA GREETS MINISTER PRICE.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

PANAMA, Oct. 11.—William Jennings Price of Danville, Ky., the new American Minister to Panama, was officially received today by President Porras. The American Minister in his address and the President in his reply referred at length to the approaching completion of the canal. Minister Price said:

"Your land and people and my land and people are on the point of the pen and tip of the tongue in the uttermost parts of the earth today. Your boundaries will mark a new highway of travel and traffic for countless legions of wayfarers of every color, creed and allegiance in all the ships of the seven seas. The careful safeguarding of this valuable possession elicits the rival pride and loyalty of both our countries."

The President's response was in very friendly terms.

SAY WILSON WILL WEAKEN ON PANAMA TOLL QUESTION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Reports published in London that President Wilson soon would ask Congress to repeal the exemption of American shipping from tolls in the Panama Canal brought from the White House today the brief statement that any announcement of the administration's policy on that subject at this time was unauthorized. Officials declined to amplify that statement.

In other administration quarters, however, the belief was expressed that later such a repeal would be recommended to Congress, but those who spoke disclaimed any official knowledge of President Wilson's intentions.

Those closest to the President predicted that any announcement of policy would not be made until the legislative situation in Congress was opportune.

Last negotiations over Great Britain's diplomatic protest against the alleged discrimination were conducted by former Ambassador Brice last February. He relinquished his post after having announced he would not do so until the matter was on the way to settlement. Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the new Ambassador, has taken no steps in the question and diplomatists have construed his inaction as an indication that satisfactory assurances have been given by Washington to London of a settlement of the dispute.

STREETS OF TORREON PILED HIGH WITH DEAD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO (Cal.) Oct. 11.—W. Brandt of London, who has been assistant superintendent of the Bacis silver mines near the capital of Durango State, was a passenger on the Benito Juarez, arriving here today. He was at Torreon during the thrilling ten-day battle between the forces under Gen. Bravo, of the Federals, and the Constitutionalist leader, Urbina. Gen. Bravo's forces were estimated to be about 4000.

The Federals, Brandt says, were intrenched in the town and, owing to the fusillade of bullets and shrapnel, all residents were forced to remain in hiding in their homes for over six days. Brandt witnessed the greater part of the sanguinary engagement from a window in the Hotel Francis. On the eighth day, however, he was driven from his lookout as the rebels entered the outskirts of the city and poured a terrible rifle fire at the intrenched Federals. Every window in the hostelry where Brandt was staying was shattered, the hotel clerk killed by an exploding shrapnel, and the rooms literally reduced to a mass of wreckage on the top floors. During the fighting two Germans were slightly wounded.

Scores of dead Federals filled the streets before the end of the ten days' battle. The homes of those directly in the line of fire looked like sieves and it was a wonder to Brandt how any of the inmates escaped with their lives.

FIERCE FIGHTING AT NUEVO LAREDO

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LAREDO (Tex.) Oct. 11.—A battle between Mexican Federals and Constitutionalists that was begun yesterday, is reported in progress today fifty miles south of here. Federals at Nuevo Laredo admitted five dead, including one lieutenant, in yesterday's fighting, and many more were reported killed on both sides. One hundred and seventy-nine American refugees from Torreon are said to be marooned on trains by burned bridges near Monterey.

Four hundred and fifty Federals left Nuevo Laredo today to reinforce Federals near Rodriguez. Unconfirmed rumors circulated here say the Constitutionalists are planning to attack both Nuevo Laredo and Monterey.

NUMBER OF SLAIN DWINDLES.

But Nine Spaniards Killed at Torreon Instead of Sixty as First Reported.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 11.—The number of Spaniards who lost their lives when Torreon was taken by the rebels dwindled to nine instead of the sixty or seventy at first reported. A Mexican, who asserts that he was present in Torreon, says that altogether only thirteen persons were killed when the city was taken, nine Spaniards and four Mexicans. They were shot for failing to deliver money and goods demanded by the rebels as "loans."

Provisional President Huerta appears to regard the loss of Torreon as of no particular moment from a military point of view. He declared today the place would be quickly recovered by the Federal troops. He admitted that the moral influence of the fall of Torreon was bad.

A persistent rumor was current today that the town of Mazatlan had been taken by the rebels.

velopment of the agricultural and other resources of the country as the means of freeing it from a too great dependence upon the canal zone, the future of the zone is important. It is being depopulated, according to the act of Congress, except for those who will be engaged in the operation and administration of the canal. The canal laborers will not be allowed to remain within the limits. Land titles are being extinguished and vested in the United States, which in a short time will be a monopoly land owner of some 350 square miles of territory.

It is clear that this plan of depopulating the canal zone is desirable at the present time. A question is raised, however, whether the zone should be continued indefinitely as a military reservation. Some of the officials who have been engaged in the canal construction and administration think the United States later should lease the land of the zone to American citizens who would care to engage in tropical agriculture.

The Panamanians do not appear to be enthusiastic over these suggestions. Another view of the depopulation of the canal zone is the political one. With the zone as a military reservation irritating questions will arise and it is to be remembered that in Panama, as elsewhere in Latin Ameria, there is an anti-American element which is always looking for a grievance.

LONDON PAPERS PRAISE WILSON.

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Commenting editorially on the statement that President Wilson has decided to ask Congress to repeal the clause of the Panama act freeing American shipping from tolls, the Evening Standard says:

"The statement will be welcomed here as a good deed. What President Wilson asks, Congress seems to perform.

"Remembering how considerable has been American sympathy with Great Britain's protest against violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, we shall expect any action by Congress in the direction named will be received with applause in America, as certainly as it would be in England.

"Such action would be a celebration indeed."

The Westminster Gazette says:

"This is good news, and it would have been a miserable thing if clear treaty obligations, on which we were entitled to rely, had been violated by a power to which we are bound by so many ties, moral and material."

WESTON'S RIVAL ON HIKE.

Will Start Tomorrow to Walk from New York City Hall to San Francisco.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Samuel A. Debs, a native of New York and rival of Edward Payson Weston, the pedestrian, will start Monday from the City Hall for San Francisco.

Champion Debs's most noted hike, which he concluded last July, was the feat of giving Weston one week's handicap in the race across the continent, and beating Mr. Weston by two weeks to Minneapolis, the goal. On his present trip Debs proposes to hang up a record of ninety-five consecutive days. He is going to take the northern route, viz. Albany to Buffalo, Cleveland, St. Louis, Denver and Salt Lake City, and expects to arrive at the Golden Gate some time in January, 1914.

New York Police Say Two Men Arrested Were Implicated in Narragansett Pier Theft.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—With the arraignment of two men here today the police asserted that they had solved the mystery of the theft of $225,000 worth of jewels last July from the homes of Mrs. Charles Carey Rumsey, a daughter of the late E. H. Harriman, and Mrs. John H. Hanan at Narragansett Pier, R. I.

James Stewart and Wiley Mason, janitors, each with a police record, were held in $5000 bail each, on charges that they were implicated in the theft. They pleaded not guilty and will be given an examination next Tuesday morning.

MAYOR OUSTED BY GOVERNOR.

Straw Is Detached from the Naval Board.

Oregon Man's Commission May Be Revoked.

Enemy of I.W.W. in Disfavor With West.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALEM (Or.) Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gov. West today removed Mayor Straw of Marshfield from the Oregon Naval Board, and on Monday he will likely revoke his commission as lieutenant commander of the Oregon Naval Militia. Dr. Straw was removed as a member of the board for non-attendance at its meetings, and should his commission be revoked it will be on the grounds of conduct unbecoming an officer.

Mayor Straw is alleged to have been a participant in the activities of a [illegible] which several months ago deported several members of the I.W.W. from Marshfield, and for a while the Governor considered the advisability of having him court-martialed, but for some reason these proceedings did not materialize.

Dr. Straw's alleged activities in the deportations no doubt operated as an underlying factor in his removal from the naval board by the Governor today, and they will no doubt be the underlying reasons for his removal as officer in the militia, should his commission be revoked.

State Viticultural Commission Frames Law to Stop Their Shipment by California Growers.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 11.—Secretary [illegible] M. Sheehan of the State Viticultural Commission, is framing a law to prevent the shipping by California growers of unripe grapes to the eastern market. Investigation made by him has developed that many growers ship unripe fruit in early seasons to benefit by high prices. This practice injures the reputation of California products, he has found by inquiry in the East.

Governor Grants Life Imprisonment to Man Sentenced to Gallows for Jail Break.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 11.—James W. Finley, who has spent the last eight years in the condemned row at the Folsom prison, while his attorneys fought his case to the highest courts in the land to save his neck from the hangman's noose, received a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment at the hands of the Governor today. A plea from Finley's aged mother in Kentucky that she be spared the disgrace of having her son hanged caused the Governor to act. Finley was sentenced to life in 1904 from Eureka, for murder, and in 1905 participated in a prison break at Folsom. He was sentenced to die for the offense, but was granted many reprieves. State officials of Kentucky interested themselves in the case.

POISON CASE DROPPED.

Man and Wife Alleged to Have Been Made Ill by Candy Would Abandon Prosecution.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON (Cal.) Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sheriff William [illegible] has been urged by Grover Hamilton and wife of Lockford, who received poisoned candy in the mail recently and who narrowly escaped death, to drop the matter. The officers attach considerable importance to this request and sensational developments are likely.

It is declared the detectives are practically certain that the candy loaded with strychnine was sent by a woman. It arrived on Mrs. Hamilton's birthday and it is hinted that neither Hamilton or his wife is anxious to have the identity of the sender discovered.

The candy was received by Hamilton from the mail carrier. He was talking to a friend at the time and asked him to have a piece, jokingly remarking that it might be poisoned. The friend declined. Later Hamilton and his wife ate several pieces and were seized with convulsions.

Millionaire of Chicago and New York Whose Establishments Supply Sixty Per Cent. of Railroads of United States Will Come Here Next Week to Select Site.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (Wash.) Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] T. A. Griffin of Chicago and New York, millionaire owner of the Griffin Wheel Company, goes from Tacoma to Los Angeles next week to locate his eleventh plant for manufacture of car wheels. Several years ago he looked over the field at Los Angeles. Two years ago it was decided to double the size of the Tacoma plant, which was promptly done.

President Griffin says the Tacoma output has increased 100 per cent. within eighteen months and another enlargement will soon be necessary. It employs 400 men. The business was established over seventy years ago by Thomas Griffin, father of the present owner, in a small shop at Detroit. Its growth has been co-extensive with railroad development. The company manufactures 60 per cent. of the railroad car wheels made in the United States at plants at Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis, St. Paul, Buffalo, Kansas City, Denver, Atlanta and other southern cities. The Tacoma plant makes weekly shipments of car wheels by water to California railways. It supplies entirely the Northern Pacific's western lines and the Milwaukee west of Butte. All worn-out wheels from lines supplied are returned for recasting.

His Los Angeles plant will supply the Southwest, Mexico, Central America and probably South American countries with car wheels. It will add greatly to Los Angeles commerce by rail and water. Regarding tariff reductions Griffin says: "Although we pay 25 per cent. duty on our wheels shipped into Canada while Canadian wheels can come in free, we are able to undersell Canadian manufacturers in their own country."

FRESNO, Oct. 11.—The fourteenth annual convention of the California State Federation of Labor closed this afternoon to convene in Stockton next year.

On a vote, the Sunday rest measure promulgated by the State Barbers' Organization was defeated. The convention voted to turn over a balance of $128.87 left over from the McNamara defense fund to the Wheatland hop pickers. A resolution was adopted against convict labor or the sale of prison products. A minimum wage scale of $3 per day was decided upon. An effort will be made to secure higher wages for men employed on the State highway.

Body of Woman Found Near Colfax, Cal., May Be That of Grass Valley Resident.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COLFAX (Cal.) Oct. 11.—The nude body of a woman, thought to be that of Miss Lily Smith of Grass Valley, was found yesterday by Roy Chase on a hillside north of this city. Physicians agree that the woman has been dead several weeks. The body was so badly decomposed it was impossible to determine whether the woman had been a victim of foul play. Near the body was a small leather hand satchel containing letters and postal cards. They bore the address, Miss Lilly Smith, Grass Valley.

A number of Colfax persons remember the woman. She came here about six weeks ago. She was about 40 years old.

The Coroner of Placer county received word today from Grass Valley that no such woman as Lilly Smith is known there. Effort is being made to identify the body.

SHELVE SULZER'S "EXPOSE."

Lawyers Say Governor's Sensational Story "Will Be Withheld Until After Impeachment Trial.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) Oct. 11.—If Gov. Sulzer's so-called "sensational story," which he long has said he wanted to make public, ever is given out it will be after the verdict of the high court of impeachment is in and his attorneys have withdrawn from his employ.

The manuscript of the story was located today in the office of D-Cady Herrick, who admitted that he had it. When the case is over, the judge said, he will return the manuscript to the Governor.

The careful manner in which the Governor's counsel have guarded the document since it was written, almost three weeks, has caused much speculation regarding its contents. That the attorneys consider the publication of it before the verdict has been reached would be detrimental to their case is admitted.

A rumor that the Governor was ready to make public his story today caused much interest. Then it was that Herrick revealed its whereabouts.

This is the first day since the trial began that the Governor has refused to see anyone.

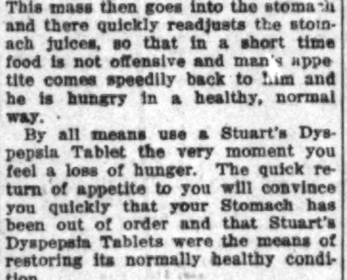
APPETITE, HO! HO! 'TIS A GREAT JOY

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Are the Best Appetite Makers Dyspeptics and Stomach Sufferers Can Use.

Appetite is very largely a series of signals from the stomach. When one has a rousing appetite at the sight or smell of food the stomach through its connection with the mind of man is asked whether the food seen or smelled would be welcome.

The stomach if healthy says yes and at once our mouths water and we are hungry from desire—keenly, ravenously hungry. If the stomach be sick, then we have no appetite and are actually nauseated.



Waiter—"How's your appetite today, sir."

Guest—"Bully good. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets make me eat like a horse."

Appetite makes the glands of the mouth open and saliva flows very freely—hence the term "Mouth Water." This is the first digestive juice. It has an important office to perform, as all starchy foods are partially digested by it because one of its ingredients, ptyalin, is almost an instant digestive of starch. This process reduces the starch in foods to sugar.

The appetite causing a free flow of saliva aids the stomach by its ability to mix the food eaten with mouth juices which enables it to more readily do its work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets go into the mouth like food, are eaten, then dissolved and fluidized by the saliva. This mass then goes into the stomach and there quickly readjusts the stomach juices, so that in a short time food is not offensive and man's appetite comes speedily back to him and he is hungry in a healthy, normal way.

By all means use a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet the very moment you feel a loss of hunger. The quick return of appetite to you will convince you quickly that your Stomach has been out of order and that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets were the means of restoring its normally healthy condition.

Every druggist carries Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and no matter where you may be you can always obtain a box anywhere for 50 cents.

SAYS UNIONISTS ARE FALSIFIERS.

Acting Secretary Roosevelt Shows Up Agitators.

Dispute Arises Over Wages Paid in Navy Yards.

Board to Report New Scale by November First.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Branding as absolutely false and unfair many assertions in a statement issued today by representatives of the union labor men at the Washington Navy Yard, charging the Navy Department with "instability" in its arrangements for determining the wage scale of the employees, Acting Secretary Roosevelt today explained the programme which will be carried out by the department.

According to the statement of the union labor representatives, Secretary Daniels first agreed to grant an increase in wages if data submitted by the employees last June were satisfactory to him. Later, said the statement, he withdrew this offer and agreed to have a representative on each of the wage boards at the various navy yards. This offer was also withdrawn, said the statement, and a promise given that an independent investigation of the interests of the employees would be conducted by the Department of Labor, but this, too, had been withdrawn.

According to Mr. Roosevelt, Secretary Daniels agreed to none of the propositions as "offers;" he declared that the Secretary agreed to accept the data offered last June but could not base his findings on them for the reason that the data would give but one side of the question.

The Secretary, he said, agreed to consider the proposition of a union labor representative on each board but this was found impossible because of the law directing the department to ascertain rates paid by private employers without giving the department the power to force this information from the employers.

In consequence of this, Mr. Roosevelt said, the employers refused point blank to give confidential information regarding their pay roll if union labor representatives were to be on the boards. Secretary Daniels might agree, he said, to ask the Department of Labor to make an independent investigation, but this was found impossible because of the inability of the latter department to assign employees to the work, and, said the acting Secretary, the statement that the Department of Labor was willing to make the investigation was manifestly untrue.

Mr. Roosevelt explained that the department had at last arrived at a positive arrangement which would not be altered. Under this the Secretary will require the wage boards to make their reports not later than November 1—a month ahead of the original time set—and that, before arriving at a decision on rates of wages, he would submit the findings of the board to the employees, giving them all the time they desired to prepare answers to these findings.

When they have done so, he explained, the Secretary will give an entire afternoon to three delegates from each yard, selected by the employees and representing various trades, to present their objections, if any to the board's conclusions.

CONSERVATIONISTS SEE A ROW IN PROSPECT.

Call for Convention in Washington Says Forests of Country Are at Stake and Will Fight Attempts of States to Take Control from the Government.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A big row confronts conservation interests at the Fifth Annual Conservation Congress, to be held in Washington, November 18, 19, 20. The call for the convention comes out with the declaration that the forests and water powers of the country are at stake. The conservation interests represented by the National Conservation Congress show themselves prepared to meet the issue, whether in Congress or in State Legislatures.

The opening paragraphs of the convention announcement declare that within the next few months the fight for protection of the country's forests and waterways will demand the attention of the country.

Direct reference is made to the prospects of a series of fights in State Legislatures, which crystallizes the suspicion that fights are to play an important part in the coming convention.

Officers of the conservation congress today admitted they are concerned over activity in the West in the interests of State ownership and control of national forests, waterways and other natural resources. So insistent is the clamor in some circles that it is understood that the conservation interests realize the urgent importance of steps to prevent the States from wresting the control of these resources from the Federal government.

PREFERS HIS BENCH JOB.

Judge Clarke of Ventura Says He'd Rather Be Where He Is Than Congressman.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It's better to be on the bench in the best county of California, is the way Judge Robert M. Clarke of Ventura puts it, than to be a member of the minority in the House of Representatives.

Judge Clarke reached Washington yesterday and naturally he wanted to see how things were going in Congress, he having been a Progressive candidate at the last election against Congressman E. A. Hayes. As it looks to him now, Judge Clarke is not sorry that he was defeated. The judge will be here for several days and will be present at the opening of the fall session of the Supreme Court.

IN A MARATHON FOR FISK'S JOB.

SAN FRANCISCO DEMOCRATS START MAD SCRAMBLE.

Faithful Wilson Men Demand Postmastership as Reward for Party Services—Caminetti Is Still Delaying the Game for the Bourbons of Southern California.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Postmaster Arthur F. Fisk of San Francisco, immediately on the arrival of Senator Perkins at San Francisco, has wired in his resignation, which the administration has been demanding for some months past. Fisk's resignation was called for by Postmaster-General Burleson, because the administration needed the place to give to one of the many Wilson men in San Francisco who demanded reward for party services.

Fisk defiantly said he'd see the Postmaster-General in Halifax before he'd resign, inasmuch as his commission would not expire for a year or two yet. He then wired an appeal to Senator Perkins, whose faithful ally he had been, to step into the breach and the Senator promptly "came across" and put up an excellent bluff, which kept Fisk on the job temporarily.

Two inspectors were rushed out to look into the affairs of the office and they are said, very confidentially, to have found that the office was well run, but there were complaints which might make it uncomfortable for Fisk if they were aired. Negotiations followed, and it is alleged that Fisk said he would resign if he could do so without seeming to quit under fire. It is supposed that Perkins advised him that it would not be possible to keep him in office much longer and it was rumored here today that the department would not accept his resignation, preferring to oust him incontinently.

First Assistant Postmaster-General Roper said, however, that the resignation would be accepted, but he denied knowledge of who would get the appointment. That, he said, would be taken up next week. There are many applicants for it.

Congressman Raker did not hold his expected conference with the Postmaster-General today on California postoffice appointments and he would not say anything on the subject for publication. He expects to hold the conference next week. Roper said that A. Caminetti, referee on California postoffices, would also see the Postmaster-General on the subject next week.

"Nothing will be done," said Roper, "until we have had a talk with Mr. Caminetti. We shall not make appointments of the twelve or fifteen postmasters under consideration until after the conference. We shall wait a reasonable time for the referee to act."

"And then," he was asked, "you will act anyway?"

"I am not prepared to say, as to that," was the reply; "but it is evident that the patience of the department is about exhausted. Caminetti was asked today if he had made any recommendations and replied in the negative, pointing to the pile of work on his desk. 'You see my work here is not decreasing,'" he replied.

A member of Congress opposed to the administration suggested today that the administration is going slowly in the matter of California postoffices because some bad appointments, or at any rate, some that have been harshly criticised, have been made on recommendation of the regular organizations and that it was desirous of not making any more mistakes. Perhaps he had in mind the postoffices at Sacramento and Monrovia.

In looking up the records of some men recommended by county committees, it has been found that they are not satisfactory to the patrons of the respective offices where they would serve, the people generally being more desirous of having a good business administration of their postoffices than to see politicians rewarded for campaign work. For this reason, it is thought, the administration is going slowly in making additional appointments.

SAVE MANY BY WIRELESS.

Sea Robbed of Some of Its Terrors by the Use of Telegraphy.

Wireless has saved 5000 from drowning. Wireless telegraphy has saved at least 5000 lives since it came into practical use in 1909. The first notable instance was at the time of the sinking of the Republic.

The following are some of the most important marine disasters in which the wireless played an important part:

January, 1909 — Republic sunk in collision with Florida; probably 1500 saved.

March, 1909—Horatio Hall disabled on Lake Michigan, 150 saved.

April, 1909—City of Racine disabled in Lake Michigan, 200 saved.

July, 1911—British cruiser Niobe wrecked off Cape Sable, 300 saved.

April, 1912—Titanic sunk, 703 rescued.

Oct. 11—Volturno burned and sunk, 521 rescued.

Volturno's Survivors.

gers were huddled together as far as it was possible to get from the flames, while throughout the day the officers and crew fought desperately with whatever appliances were at hand to hold the fire in check.

But night came on and the seas only abated slightly. The hopelessness of the situation was manifested at 9 o'clock in the evening when a great explosion tore away a part of the upper works, and flames burst from the engine-room. It then became a matter of how long the Volturno would stay above the waters.

Meanwhile several of the terrified passengers, wrapped in life buoys, dropped over into the sea. One of them was taken on board the Carmania.

When day broke the Volturno was still afloat. The gale had moderated and the seas had calmed down. From almost every one of the encircling steamers lifeboats were sent out, and into these the women and children were lowered first. Several trips were necessary before the survivors were removed to a place of safety.

It is pointed out as a remarkable coincidence that the Volturno, about four years ago, made a notable rescue in a great storm in mid-Atlantic of the crew of a French vessel. Capt. Harrison, who then commanded the Volturno, was decorated by the French government for his daring act.

CARMANIA ARRIVES.

When the Carmania reached the vicinity of the Volturno at noon she found the forward end of the distressed vessel burning fiercely. The flaming ship was rolling heavily while her propellers were fouled with tackle used in lowering her six lifeboats. It was learned by the captain of the Carmania that only two out of six lifeboats had succeeded in getting safely away from the Volturno. The other four, crowded with passengers and members of the crew, were smashed against the side of the vessel and all their occupants thrown into the sea and drowned.

In spite of the terrific gale raging when she arrived near the Volturno, the captain of the Carmania had one of his lifeboats lowered to help in the rescue. The boat was launched with much difficulty for even on the lee side of the Carmania the sea was terribly rough and it was only by extraordinary efforts that the small craft was prevented from being smashed or capsized as she left the side of the ship.

The Carmania's lifeboat, in charge of First Officer Gardiner, made a gallant, but futile, attempt to get alongside the doomed Volturno. After two hours battle with the waves, during which the lifeboat lost all but three of her oars, the post being broken or torn from the hands of the crew, First Officer Gardiner returned to the Carmania, which he succeeded in making without loss of life or broken limbs among the members of his boat crew.

Capt. Barr of the Carmania then maneuvered his big vessel very close to the Volturno and finally got the Carmania's bow within a hundred feet of the Volturno's stern. It was found impossible, however, to cast a line on board the Volturno or get anybody off her.

It was a terrifying sight for the passengers and crew of the Carmania to see so close to them the hundreds of passengers, inluding women and children, horror-stricken, on the decks of the Volturno and yet be unable to help them. Most of the passengers got into the ship's lifeboats, but a hundred of them had gathered at the after end of the burning vessel whose crew at the same time continued to fight the fire at her forward end.

Capt. Barr of the Carmania in the meanwhile kept his wireless apparatus at work communicating with all the vessels within the radius of his instruments.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the Grosser Kurfuerst and Seydlitz came in sight and these two were joined later in the afternoon by the Kroonland, the Devonia, Rappahannok, Minneapolis, La Touraine and the Asian.

The gale abated slightly toward night and each of the succoring ships put out boats. The waves, however, were so high that although the small craft made some progress in the direction of the Volturno, it was impossible to get alongside and they returned to their ships in most cases with the greatest difficulty, owing to the overwhelming seas and the darkness.

The Carmania kept her lights going, throwing their rays across the foaming seas, in the quest for possible struggling swimmers or lifeboats from the Volturno.

At about 9 o'clock in the evening, when the darkness was at its blackest, flames burst through amidships of the Volturno from her engine-room and coal bunkers.

As the fire lighted up the sky there followed an explosion which sent into the air burning wreckage like a flight of rockets.

The spectacle of the great vessel being consumed by fire with over 500 souls on board and surrounded by a fleet of huge lighted hulls filled with thousands of spectators, all anxious but unable to help, owing to the mountainous seas, was terrifying. All that could be done by the would-be helpers was to throw overboard from their vessels dozens of lighted life buoys and stand by in the hope of picking up some of those w been cast into the sea.

At 9:20 o'clock, the wir tor on board the Volturno nect his instruments to the batteries as the fire had boilers and engine-room and the pumps and dynamos tion.

A few minutes later, cries were heard arising from near the Carmania, and who proved to be a steerage of the Voluruno wearing a life located by means of the a short distance away the sea. He was rescued after one of the sailors of mania had been lowered ter with a life line which around the waist of the man.

Other cries were heard, gradually died away and bodies or swimming people About midnight a ray of for it was seen that the not making much headway engine-room or the after the Volturno.

At daybreak the Volturno floating with her great hu huddled in masses in her sea had moderated a flotilla of boats gathered stern of the Volturno.

WANT BACK IN THE FOLD.

linois Progressives Kneel to the Republicans.

urgents Seek the Joy of Party Regularity.

ired of "Going It" Alone and All Unheeded.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Insurgent Progressives, who have made overtures to the Republicans for amalgamation of the two parties, today made plans to fight for official sanction of their action by the Progressive State Committee and the Progressive members of the Legislature.

Without the consent of the officers of the State Committee, the insurgents will issue a call for a joint meeting of the State Committee, the insurgents and members of the Legislature in the latter part of next week. The insurgents propose to bring the following action:

WHAT THEY WANT.

Appointment of a committee to negotiate with a Republican committee relative to the amalgamation of the parties in Illinois.

[illegible] of Raymond Robins of Chicago as chairman, and Harold L. Ickes of Chicago as secretary of the committee.

ROW IN PROSPECT.

The most bitter row that has thus far stirred the Progressive party is in prospect with the proposed meeting. Medill McCormick, Charles E. Merriam, Robins, Ickes and the other members of the faction in control of the State Committee are known to be [illegible] flatly to an amalgamation with the Republican party. In view of the fact that the meeting will not be called by the officers of the committee, the McCormick forces may not attend, or, if they do, are certain to oppose any action contemplated by the followers of Frank H. Funk, who has taken the lead in the amalgamation movement.

Republicans, meanwhile, are laughing up their sleeves. Their leaders do not expect anything to come of the amalgamation movement. They believe the effect of the negotiations will be to emphasize the hopeless split in the Progressive party and tend to convince the voters that the party is disintegrating.

[illegible] DEMANDS THE TRUTH.

Will Ask An Inquiry As to Dismissal of Civil Service Employees for Political Reasons.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following charges on the floor by Congressman Campbell that Republican civil service employees in the various government departments are being demoted for political reasons, Congressman Kahn of California today introduced resolutions calling upon the Postmaster-General, the Secretary of the Treasury and the Public Printer to inform the House regarding the truth of the allegations.

The Kahn resolutions direct that the House shall be given the names of persons recently demoted or dismissed in these three branches of the service.

With this information in hand, Mr. Kahn will demand an investigation of the causes of these dismissals or demotions to determine whether it is true that Republican officeholders have been discriminated against.

Mr. Kahn feels his resolutions are of privileged character and he announces he will seek to call them up for a vote in the event the Democrats smother them in committee.

DEVELOP WATER POWER.

[illegible] River Corporation Will Construct Seven Reservoirs in Eldorado National Forest.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A water power permit has been granted by Secretary of Agriculture Houston to the Truckee River General Electric Company, a California corporation, under which this company will develop power in the Eldorado National Forest, to serve several California towns and cities.

The company states it expects to construct seven reservoirs, five for storage and two for equalizing purposes. Two of the storage reservoirs are on the Upper Rubicon River. By the use of a tunnel, approximately a mile and a half long, the water of the Upper Rubicon River and the waters stored in the reservoirs will be brought into the Gerle Creek basin, where the waters will be further stored. From this storage the water will be conveyed by the [illegible] and the natural stream beds of Gerle Creek, upon which the two power plants mentioned in the permit are to be located.

The water will finally be discharged into the Rubicon River. At each of the two plants there will be a head of approximately 1300 feet. The company expects to make an initial installation which will develop about [illegible] horse power, which will probably be doubled as the market for the product increases.

FRUIT LAXATIVE IF CONSTIPATED, TAKE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Best liver and bowel regulator for mamma, daddy and children.

If you're headachy, constipated, bilious or stomach is disordered and you want to enjoy the nicest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced, take a tablespoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" tonight and in the morning all the constipation poison, bile and clogged-up waste will gently move out of the system without griping and you will feel splendid.

Every member of the family should use this fruit laxative as occasion demands. It is just as effective for grandpa as it is for baby. It simply can not injure. Even cross, sick, feverish children just love its pleasant taste and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to effect a good "inside cleansing."

For thirty years "California Syrup of Figs" has been recommended by physicians as the ideal stomach, liver and bowel cleanser. Millions of families who are well informed use nothing else, but recently there has come a flood of spurious fig syrups, so we warn the public to ask plainly at drug stores for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," and see that it is prepared by "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no cheaper size. Hand back any "counterfeit" with contempt.—[Advertisement.

FOR CHANGE OF NAME.

Episcopalian Convention May Decide to Leave It to Decision of Two-Thirds Vote.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—An unexpected move by the high church party of the Protestant Episcopal church in the agitation to have the denominational titles changed to the American Catholic church was made today at the continued session of the house of deputies at the biennial convention of the church. A resolution was offered, which if adopted, will make it necessary for a two-thirds, instead of a majority vote, to decide on a change of name. Action cannot be taken until the next triennial assembly.

The resolution was offered by Dr. W. T. Manning, rector of Trinity Church of this city. Dr. Manning said that the matter of changing the name was of so much importance that it should not be left to a scant majority to decide. Manning's resolution was referred to the Committee on Constitutional Amendments and will come up again next week.

The resolution was interpreted in some quarters as an effort to heal any breach that might exist between high church and low church.

SALESMAN FOUND GUILTY.

Makes Thirty-five Thousand Dollars in Month, Fails to Support Wife in Los Angeles.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Colo.) Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The jury in the case of Allen J. Sneed, charged with failure to support his wife and four children, brought in a verdict of guilty in the West Side court today. Sentence was deferred pending a conference between counsel. Sneed is a bond salesman and admitted on the stand that he earned sometimes as much as $35,000 in a single month.

The main feature of the case was the testimony of his 16-year-old son, Archie, who says his father refused to send his mother a cent, even if she died. Two other children are in charitable homes and one is being cared for by a grandmother. The mother is sick in a hospital in Los Angeles, where she recently went through a severe operation. She has recently been playing in vaudeville there.

WARN AVOCADO PLANTERS.

Suitability of Fruit for Culture in California Doubted by Washington Bureau.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A warning was today issued by the Department of Agriculture to prospective avocado planters in Southern California, who may consider planting the fruit on an extensive commercial scale.

Many varieties of avocado, says the statement, of which a number have been recently imported into California, have never fruited. For this reason, their suitability for commercial culture in the State is doubtful. Experience with young avocado trees of certain varieties, principally the large-fruited West Indian and South American kinds introduced in Southern California, seemed rather discouraging, says the department.

The newly-introduced plants have proved considerably more susceptible to frost than some of the Mexican types.

Abandon Hope.

WASHINGTON PREPARES FOR CRISIS IN MEXICO.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Although latest advices to the State Department tonight declared the deputies arrested by order of Provisional President Huerta had been released from prison, the dissolution of the Mexican Congress, and the closing of the legislative halls by armed troops caused the Washington government practically to lose all hope of seeing a constitutional election held [illegible] pacification of the country brought about through the authorities in power at present in Mexico City.

A crisis is expected in the Mexican capital. Believing that the Federal [illegible] demoralized and on the verge [illegible] they have not been [illegible] the comparatively easy successes of the Constitutionalists in capturing such important places as Torreon, in North Central Mexico, were significantly referred to by Washington officials as revelations of the real situation.

There was no official pronouncement of policy today, but the American government is quietly preparing for any emergencies that may arise. Its advices show the improbability of an election on October 26, not only because of the successes of the Constitutionalist arms, but numerous illegalities in connection with the preliminary arrangements for an election. The dissolution of Congress by force is plainly looked upon here as an unconstitutional act.

There is a possibility that developments in Mexico may bring about some change in the detail of American battleships in Mexican waters.

ON THE ROAD TO MONTROSE

SCENIC MONTROSE

Beautiful Mountain Surrounded Suburb Attracts Many Homeseekers.

A good percentage of the incoming colonists have visited Montrose and the neighboring country within the last month. The scenic charms of the north hill district are largely responsible for this. Hundreds of people are now building beautiful bungalow homes in the picturesque Verdugo hills section, at the very heart of which lies Montrose.

Fourteen new homes and a substantial brick business block have been built at Montrose within the last few months. Excellent sales have been reported within the last thirty days.

The richest, most picturesque valleys in Southern California are tributary to Montrose.

Its ideal location—its healthful, fog-free atmosphere, 1400 feet above the sea, the wonderful view it commands and the spacious, viewful villa sites it affords (3 times the size of an average city lot)—all this combined with city accommodations and electric car service, have established a sales record of many figures.

Large view-commanding villa sites are selling from $600 to $1400.

The Holmes-Walton Company, owners and agents, are conducting free auto parties to Montrose and return daily. All those going are required to call at the offices of the company for free tickets.

Other crowds are visiting Montrose by way of the new trolley line up the picturesque Verdugo Valley, one of the most delightfully scenic rides in Southern California. The car leaves from the corner of Brand and Broadway, Glendale.

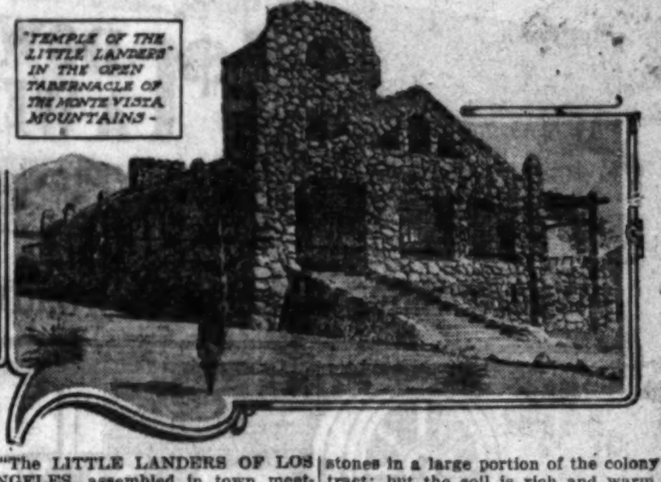
The Little Landers Speak for Themselves



"TEMPLE OF THE LITTLE LANDERS" IN THE OPEN TABERNACLE OF THE MONTE VISTA MOUNTAINS -

"The LITTLE LANDERS OF LOS ANGELES, assembled in town meeting at Bolton Hall, Los Terrenitos, send greeting to the meeting at the Woman's clubhouse, on the night of October 3, 1913, and declare as follows:—

"We believe in the principles and ideals of the Little Landers movement, and have come here from many different parts of the United States to carry these ideals and principles into practical effect.

"We believe it is feasible to realize a comfortable living from a little land under intensive cultivation, particularly with the aid of expert teaching and example, and the advantage of co-operative buying, and co-operative selling direct to the consumer.

"We believe the doctrine of so much land as one individual or family can use to the highest advantage without hiring help is sound, wholesome and humane; and that if widely adopted it will supply the foundation of a great and free people.

"We are convinced that the social life of densely populated colonies of Little Landers, reasonably near to large cities, is rich and satisfying, and that it tends to that condition of equality among men which is in the highest degree desirable in a democracy.

"We regard the Vale of Monte Vista as one of the most beautiful places of which we have any knowledge. It is blessed with an admirable climate, with good soil and good water.

"We certainly have to pick up the stones in a large portion of the colony tract; but the soil is rich and warm, producing quickly and largely without artificial fertilization. The stones are useful for building and other purposes, as the beautiful clubhouse in which we are assembled amply testifies.

"We have confidence in the leadership of this colony, which has thus far fulfilled its promises, and we extend the most cordial invitation to those who are looking for independent homes and the best conditions of life on the soil, to join with us in making Los Terrenitos, the second colony of Little Landers, one of the most famous and prosperous communities in California."

Daily Lecture and Auto Trip.

A lecture of vital interest to all who are planning to move "forward to the land" is being held every morning at 10:30 o'clock and Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the House of the Little Landers, 929 South Figueroa Street, by William E. Smythe, founder of the Little Landers movement. It is free and illustrated.

If you are interested with the lecture, then take the trip to the colony by autos, which leave 929 S. Figueroa, every day at 12:30 noon. Round trip fare $1. I CURE PILES FISTULA AND ALL RECTAL DISEASES WITHOUT AN OPERATION
BY MY PAINLESS DISSOLVENT METHOD

I TREAT NO DISEASES EXCEPT THOSE OF THE RECTUM AND BOWELS.

I cure without surgery and my patients are never confined in bed and never lose a moment's time from their business.

My method is not a "home cure" or a "correspondence treatment," but it is an application of skilled treatments administered under the most rigid antiseptic condition in my office.

Watch this ad for following testimonials, of which I have dozens from men and women.

WELL KNOWN SANTA MONICA MINISTER CURED.

This is to certify that Dr. C. H. White has cured me of a distressing hemorrhoidal ailment of 25 years' duration. His method of treatment is effective, but not severe. He has the appliances, the knowledge and the skill born of many years of specialization in this fruitful source of physical disease. He accomplishes all he claims in his advertising, and at reasonable expense.

I take pleasure in heartily commending the man and his methods.

WESLEY K. BEANS, Pastor First Methodist Episcopal Church, Santa Monica, Cal.

After suffering for years with the worst form of Hemorrhoids, Dr. C. H. White cured me without pain and without detaining me from my work. I desire to commend him to all rectal sufferers.

"CASCARETS" IF CONSTIPATED, SICK, HEADACHY, BILIOUS—DIME A BOX

Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, constipation, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out to-night with Cascarets.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets sweeten and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and constipation poison from the bowels. Then you feel great.

A Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and make you feel bully and cheerful for months. Don't forget the children.

HOKE SMITH WANTS REST.

Senator Would Have Congress Adjourn Until November Fifteen, Then Take Up Currency Bill.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Senator Hoke Smith was canvassing the Senate today for opinions on the advisability of a recess until about November 15, when the administration currency bill is expected on the floor from the committee. Consent of the House would be necessary. Many Senators want a rest and feel that a recess will in no way delay the bill.

CANON LAWS ARE CODIFIED.

POPE WILL COMPLETE GREAT REFORM NEXT WEEK.

Decrees of Former Pontiffs Dating Back to Apostolic Days Put in Concrete Form at the Vatican and Will Shortly Be Promulgated by the Holy Father.

[BY CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROME, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Pope Pius will sign a document next year which will be not only the most important to which he affixed his signature during the Pontificate, but one which is looked on as the most important in the history of the Catholic church, and one of the greatest reforms attempted by any Pope, namely, the codification of the Canon law decreed by Pope Pius in 1904 and now practically completed.

An idea of the importance of the work may be gathered from the fact that the Canon law at present consists of written and traditional legislation of the church since the days of the apostles, documents extending over practically nineteen centuries.

Cardinal Gaspari, a practical codifier in charge of the work, says three of the largest rooms in the Vatican are filled with collections of the decrees and constitutions which will cease to have force when the Pope has promulgated the new code.

CHAPERONS IN DANCE HALLS.

Mayor "Fitz" of Boston to Send Matron and Policeman to Guard Against Tango.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—Hereafter a matron and a policeman must stand guard with a watchful eye in every public dance hall in Boston to see that the tango, turkey trot and other dances of a similar character are not attempted and that further regulations just promulgated by Mayor Fitzgerald are not violated.

Minors under 17 years old will not permitted unless accompanied by parent or guardian. No dancing party may continue after 2 a.m. without special permission from the Mayor, and Saturday night dances must cease at 11:45 p.m.

LLOYD-GEORGE TAKES STUMP.

Opens His Campaign Against British Landlords.

Declares Them the Greatest Monopolists in Empire.

Precautions Taken to Keep Away Suffragettes.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The campaign to "free British land from landlordism and get the people back on it," was opened today at Bedford by Chancellor David Lloyd George.

Extraordinary precautions had been taken against the militant suffragettes and other possible disturbers of the meeting. Barricades had been erected and the local police reinforced while the fire brigade was ready to use its hose if efforts were made to rush the barriers. Firemen were posted on the roofs and in the hall to spy out the "wild women" who, it was suspected would try to repeat the tactics they had previously adopted. Lloyd George said:

"Landlordism is the greatest monopoly in this land and the people are trusting the government to put forth its strong right hand to lift them from the mire.

"The authority of the sovereign is not comparable to the authority of the landlords over his subjects. He could make and maintain a wilderness and he has legal authority to do more than even a foreign enemy could impose on the country after a conquest. In Ireland millions have been driven away from the land by legal process."

NEW ENTENTE CORDIALE.

President Poincare's Visit to Spain Expected to Result in Better Relations.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Oct. 11.—The result of President Poincare's visit to Spain, which ended yesterday when he embarked at Cartagena to return to France, fulfilled the expectations of both the press and the public. It is thought the President's visit will go down to posterity as marking the birth of an English-French-Spanish entente cordiale.

Not only did the speeches of King Alfonso and President Poincare at the various functions grow steadily in significance as the visit of the French executive advanced, but the French Foreign Minister, M. Pichon, and Count Romamones, the Spanish Premier, deemed it necessary to proclaim to the world by means of a joint official note to the newspapers that the principles of the various Franco-Spanish accords have natural application just as much in the general policy of the two governments as the special question of Morocco.

MANILA OFFICIALS QUIT.

Change in Philippine Officials Implies New Attitude on the Friar Land Question.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

MANILA, Oct. 11.—Col. H. C. McCoy, deputy collector of customs at Manila, and Charles H. Sleeper, director of the bureau of lands in the Philippines, resigned today and Manuel Tinio was appointed to the bureau of lands.

This appointment is regarded as implying the adoption of a new attitude toward the Friar land question.

Gov.-Gen. Francis Burton Harrison says that he does not intend to make any further changes at present. The reductions to be made in the salaries of officials are to be confined to those occupying higher positions.

SETTLE BRUNSWICK ACCESSION.

Emperor William and Young Prince End Their Contention as to the Throne.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Oct. 11.—All the contentions regarding the accession of Prince Ernest August of Cumberland to the throne of Brunswick have been settled by personal correspondence between Emperor William and the Young Prince during the past few days, according to the Zeitung. The newspaper says that the Emperor demanded and obtained from his son-in-law the delaration which was necessary before Prince Ernest August could accede to the throne—in other words, a definite renunciation of his pretensions to the throne of Hanover.

Turkey Buys Dreadnought.

VIENNA, Oct. 11.—[By Cable and A. P.] It is reported here that Turkey has purchased from Brazil the super-dreadnought Rio de Janeiro, which has just been completed by Armstrong, Whitworth & Co. at Newcastle-on-Tyne. The Rio de Janeiro is a 22-knot vessel and displaces 27,500 tons.

Raging.

BALKANS NOW FIGHTING DREAD CHOLERA EPIDEMIC.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

BELGRADE, Sept. 25.—It would be difficult to over-estimate the terrible ravages that cholera is still making in he southeast of Euope, and the world may yet be shocked when it hears the real truth about the dreadful toll this disease has taken of life and youth since the wars were ended.

In the Balkans cholera is also called the "Indian disease," for Asiatic India is supposed to be its native home and Asia Minor only its adopted country. The earliest symptoms of the Balkan epidemic, as diagnosed for me today by a Servian doctor, are faintness, cramped contortion of the muscles, and general prostration.

The skin is cold and becomes shriveled and clay-colored, but the most remarkable of all symptoms is the cholera voice, which once heard can never be mistaken. It is high-pitched and rasping like that of a crying child, degenerating afterwards into a hoarse whisper. Other organs forego their functions, and in the acute stage delirium sets in.

Experience among the soldiers has proved that the germs may exist in a healthy body without developing, and among the Bulgarians the number of victims was greater than among the Greeks or Servians, owing to the weakness of their constitutions, largely due to inferior food. Cholera germs are transmitted chiefly by the medium of drinking water directly to the intestines, but they are also transmitted indirectly by damp underclothing used by cholera patients. Therefore, cleanliness and precautions with regard to drinking water were enjoined on the troops in Thrace and Macedonia.

One reason why it is so difficult to eradicate the disease in Mohammedan countries is fidelity to the religious rite of hand-washing and mouth-rinsing five times a day. The Turks refuse to refrain from the fulfillment of this precept of the Koran even when no clean water is at hand, and thus the disease is propagated. There were very many Mohammedans in the Bulgarian army, which is the nearest neighbor to Turkey, and cholera has been the worst foe with which Bulgaria has had to contend in her late troubles. The precautions against contagion are similar to those against typhus, namely, avoidance of all uncooked foods, raw liquids, and intercourse with the sufferers. The most stringent rules for disinfection are also imposed.

Since 1823, when cholera first visited Europe, this is its sixth appearance, and each time the scourge has been less virulent. The word "cholera," with the accent on the second syllable, has become an equivalent in the Balkans for the most evil curse that could befall a family. "Are you expecting cholera soon?" a man will say jokingly to his neighbor known to dread the visit of his mother-in-law!

All Americans are popular in Servia, but genuine help in this cholera epidemic has been given by the last Consul, Col. Berg, and the present Consul, Mr. Summers. Generous help has come, too, from the United States during the recent outbreak, and Mr. Sumers has just given several liberal donations from his countrymen for the relief of bereaved families and cholera victims.

It throws a significant light on the question of international politics in these parts to learn that in the course of the wars, when almost every available man was requisitioned for the front, the usual guard was removed from the American consulate and added to the Austrian with the consent of all parties concerned.

SOUR, UPSET STOMACHS FIXED IN FIVE MINUTES—PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

Best for Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn and Dyspepsia—It's Great!

When your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach was not there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs to your home.—[Advertisement.

TRY TO WHITE-WASH PIMPLES

People Who Attempt to Hide Unsightly Pimples Behind Paint and Powder Clog Their Pores and Coarsen Their Skin.

Pimples are the source of the greatest chagrin and humiliation to the sensitive girl anxious for the admiration that beauty receives. And it is only natural that she tries to hide them behind paint and powder.

She little realizes, however, what almost irreparable injury she inflicts on her skin through the clogging and enlarging of the pores of the skin. The impurities in the blood that cause pimples have now no way of escape and new pimples break out, not only on the face but on the shoulders, back and arms. Instead of improving her looks, she has spoiled whatever beauty was left her.

"There's No Use Trying. I Can't Hide Pimples With Paint."

If she only knew how easily pimples can be cured with Stuart's Calcium Wafers she would never use cosmetics again. Just as soon as her blood has been cleansed by the purifying agents of this sovereign remedy, all the foul conditions of her skin — pimples, blackheads, brashes and liver spots—would quickly disappear. And the rosy cheeks and rich, glowing colors of a healthy, natural complexion will be a hundredfold more attractive than any she could possibly get out of a paint box or a powder rag.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers taken into the blood convert the impurities that have gathered in the pores into a gaseous form that readily escapes through the pores. At the same time they stimulate the pores into throwing off the foul matter that has accumulated about them. The result is that the blood and skin are quickly freed of all impurities and restored to a healthy, vigorous condition. With pure blood, a healthy, beautiful skin will follow as certainly as day follows night.

If you have a pimply, broken-out skin, you should clear it up at once with Stuart's Calcium Wafers. Don't whitewash your face. It fools nobody and only makes matters worse. There is only one remedy that is at once safe and effective—Stuart's Calcium Wafers—recommended by the best physicians. There is only one sure and quick way to beauty for you. That is a straight line to the nearest drug store for a 50c box of Stuart's Calcium Wafers. Start now.

Have You as Many Teeth as You Need? Answer Me Personally

DR. HUMELBAUGH

Fill That Unsightly Cavity With a Perfectly Matched Tooth

I match your teeth with artificial teeth so perfectly that they all look alike, and replace the missing ones without a plate, guaranteeing their usefulness and durability. Get my estimate—it will please you.

DON'T wear a faulty plate.

DON'T wear a plate that will not stand the criticism of your mirror.

I will make you a plate (if all your teeth are out), that will restore your lips and cheeks to their once youthful appearance.

I cannot make you young, but I can make your mouth the handsomest part of your face, and we all know the value of a winsome, pleasing smile, whether in business or society.

If you have missing one or more teeth do not cheat yourself by longer delaying getting an estimate from me.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! IF FALLING OUT OR DANDRUFF—25 CENT DANDERINE.

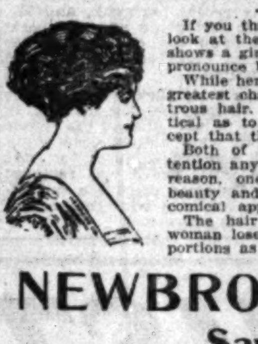
Ladies! Men! Here's the quickest, surest dandruff cure known.

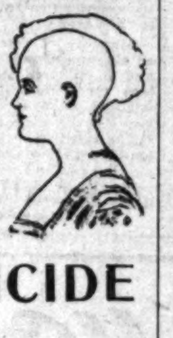
Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, luster and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.[Advertisement.

Is It the Hair or the Face that Makes the Woman?





If you think it is the face, take another look at the two heads pictured here. One shows a girl which the most critical would pronounce beautiful.

While her features are fairly perfect, her greatest charm lies in a mass of fine lustrous hair. The opposite picture is identical as to features and other detail except that the wealth of hair is wanting.

Both of these ladies would attract attention anywhere, but each for a different reason, one on account of her superb beauty and the other on account of her comical appearance.

The hair makes all the difference. A woman loses her good looks in exact proportions as she loses her hair.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

Saves the Hair

There is nothing which is so destructive to the hair as dandruff.

Everyone is more or less exposed to this annoying trouble, because dandruff is contagious.

Dandruff robs the hair of the snap and luster of health, destroys its life and causes it eventually to fall out.

Thousands daily are experiencing the wonderful merit attending the regular and intelligent use of Newbro's Herpicide. That Herpicide is something besides a delightful hair dressing, is proved by the disappearance of dandruff, a clean scalp and healthy, luxuriant hair.

Not only may hair loss be stopped, but if the hair follicles have not become atrophied, a new growth of hair may be anticipated.

The life and luster of Herpicide hair is beautiful to see, is unmistakable.

An abundance of fluffy, glittering hair is woman's chiefest beauty and to permit its needless destruction is unpardonable.

WILL FOSTER SMUGGLING.

Amsterdam Diamond Merchants Say Import Duty of New Tariff Will Increase Dishonesty.

[A. P. Correspondence to The Times.]

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 27.—The diamond merchants of this city are in a panic over the proposed 20 per cent. import duty on diamonds in the new American tariff. The honest merchants affirm that they will no longer be able to sell to American dealers for the reason that unscrupulous houses will offer diamonds on the American market which have been smuggled. The 20 per cent. difference in the price of the smuggled and the unsmuggled diamond will, it is averred, allow the dishonest houses to pay their agents well for smuggling and yet take a large profit. The result from the American customs' standpoint will, it is believed, show that the net revenue following the passage of the bill, will be less than it was before under the 10 per cent. rate.

There are, it is estimated here, 40,000 diamond cutters in the world, and one-fourth of these cut diamonds for the American market. But only 300 diamond cutters are in the United States. Some 10,000 cutters are working here and in Antwerp. Some thousands of these men will be out of work if the American bill passes, temporarily, at least, because, while the bill has been pending the surplus stock of diamonds has been exported to the United States. These exports will meet the demands of the American market for from six to nine months after the bill is passed.

That Little Spot On Your Skin; Beware, Beware!

Because—the smallest spot of infection means danger. That blotch on your arm, that itchy place on your leg, beware lest soon it spread, covering breast, face, body.

Because the curse of skin disease is growing. It is estimated that millions of our people are infected and spreading the disease.

Because—unlike the established doubt in regard to Dr. Friedman's experiments with the "Great White Plague" the research work in the D. D. D. Laboratory, Chicago, has proven definitely that D. D. D. Prescription is a specific that cures skin and scalp disease.

Your own druggist will recommend this soothing, cooling liquid.

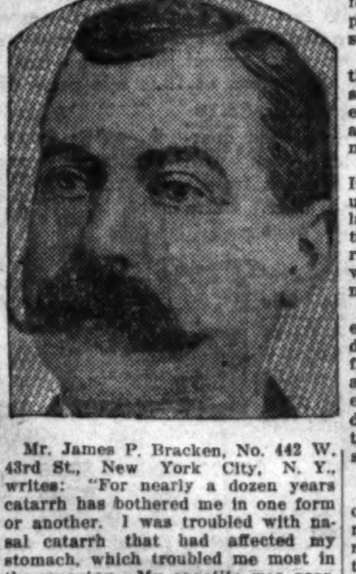
APPETITE WAS POOR

Peruna was advised. Was completely restored.

Suffered Nearly Twelve Years, Peruna was my Relief.



Mr. James P. Bracken, No. 442 W. 43rd St., New York City, N. Y., writes: "For nearly a dozen years catarrh has bothered me in one form or another. I was troubled with nasal catarrh that had affected my stomach, which troubled me most in the morning. My appetite was poor, and I did not seem to relish my food. Indigestion bothered me at times, also.

"I was advised to take Peruna, and I took it as prescribed for a month, when my cure was almost complete. Today there is not a trace of catarrh in my system, and I can say without hesitation that Peruna cured me."

November Brings Dyspepsia.

November is very liable to bring dyspepsia. People eat too much in November. This is perfectly natural. During the hot weather little food has been required.

Food has two purposes, tissue building and repairing and heat making. The heat making properties of food are not needed so much during the hot weather, hence less food is required. November brings cold weather again and more food is required for heat making purposes. The appetite craves more food, and the result is most people over indulge.

This may bring on a condition of the stomach known as dyspepsia. The stomach is suddenly surprised with extra work in digesting unusual amounts of food. In some cases it is not equal to the emergency.

Peruna is an excellent stomachic. It stimulates the stomach in its natural functions. It acts as a gentle laxative, also, and in this way enables the stomach and digestive organs to rise to the emergency of the extra work thrown upon them during the month of November.

A few doses of Peruna during the early days of November would undoubtedly save a great many people from the horrors of dyspepsia. It is an excellent remedy. It should be in every home, in order to enable the digestive organs to adjust themselves to the differences of diet between summer and winter.

Catarrh of Head and Stomach.

Mr. Frank Richter, 309 East Second St., Winona, Minn., writes: "As a remedy for catarrh I take pleasure in recommending Peruna for catarrh of the stomach.

"My catarrh was principally located in my head and stomach. I tried many remedies without success. I tried several doctors, but they were unable to cure me. I read of Peruna in the papers and five bottles cured me."

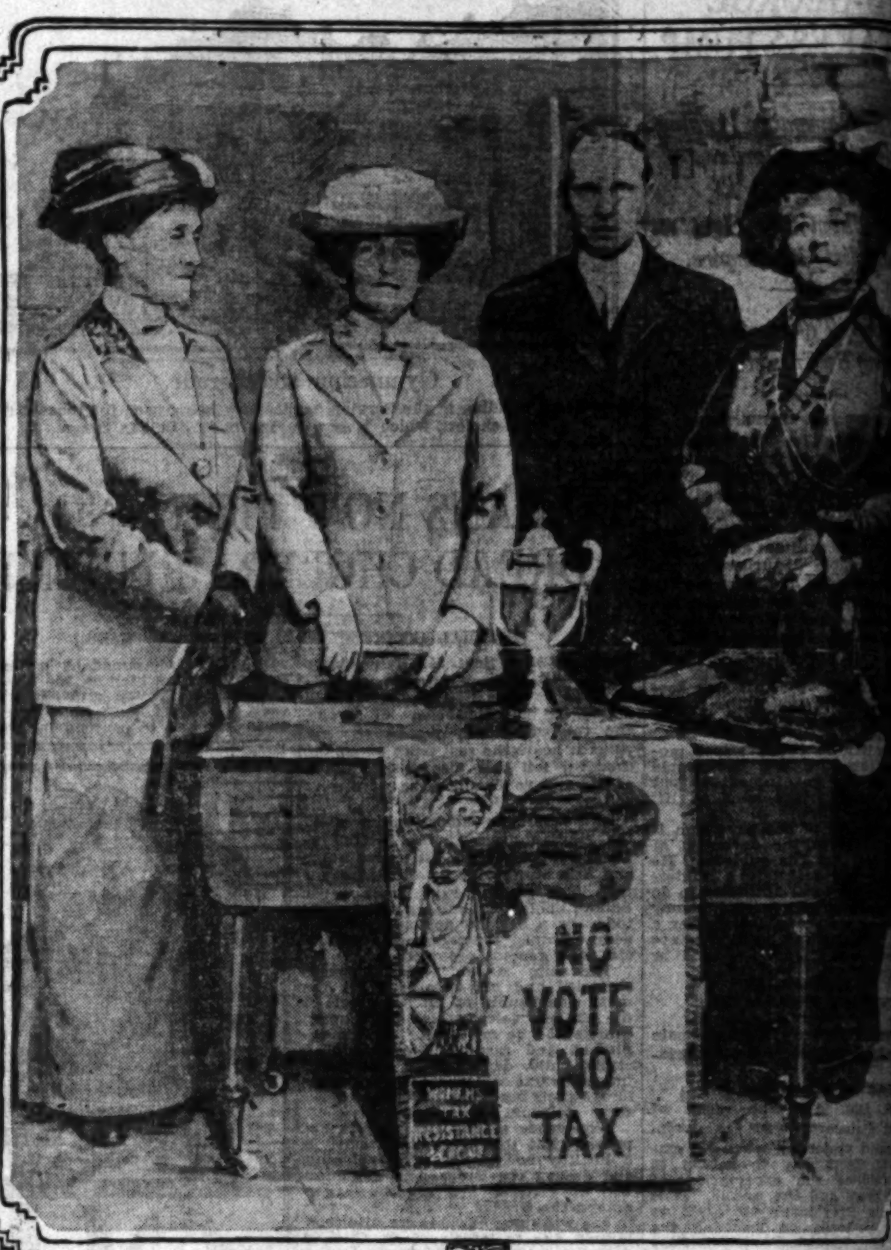
System in Bad Condition.

Mr. Michael Rooney, 26 Fifth St., Watervliet, N. Y., writes:

"If I had known of Peruna years ago I should have been saved much suffering. Under carelessness and exposure in my younger years my system got into a very bad condition before I was aware of it.

"My friends advised me to try Peruna, for which I am very thankful, as it has cured me in two months."—[Advertisement.

Sacrifices Silver Cup for a Principle.



Duchess of Bedford and companions.

Her Grace, who appears at the right, is one of the most pugnacious of the militant suffragettes. She allowed British government to seize her valuable trophy and sell it at auction.

Battle.

"NO VOTE, NO TAX," CRY ENGLISH MILITANTS.

In Their Startling Campaign the Suffragettes Are Actively Resisting the Revenue Imports of the Kingdom. Now Even the Husbands Are Mixed Up in the Struggle, Several Having Been Arrested.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The suffrage impasse in England is to be solved by a new and startling campaign. This is to take the form of resistance to paying taxes—and is to be run by all the militant suffragettes in the kingdom who have homes but no votes. The militants themselves are already jubilant at the prospect of their success and are asking what Mr. Lloyd George can possibly do to make up for this leakage in the revenues of England.

Ever since Mrs. Pankhurst and her clever, determined, yet fascinating daughter, Christabel, started the militant campaign, nearly seven years ago, there have, of course, been continual sensational happenings and big surprises. But this is to be one of the biggest things ever attempted, this strong and vigorous movement for capturing votes for women, and at the present moment it is seriously worrying, puzzling, and driving to the verge of distraction, Mr. Lloyd George, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and those unfortunate and always unwelcome officials—the tax collectors of England.

Some of these gentlemen, in fact, are ardently wishing themselves in Timbuctoo or some other region equally remote from the ingenious lady householders, who, in the prosecution of this pitiless war on the British government, are now refusing, all over the country, to pay income tax and property and house duties. They are either going to jail or having their jewelry and furniture distrained upon, and sold by public auction for the settlement of the government's claims.

Every one of these public auction sales, too, is made the occasion for a grand procession of women tax-resisters. They march to the scene of the fray with drums beating and banners flying. Some of the best suffrage speakers in the country are rallying to their aid. Frequently thousands of people surround the auction halls and, when the sale is over, the "victim of distraint" mounts a platform or a lorry outside the hall and addresses the multitude on the text, "No Vote—No Tax." The suggestion that "taxation and representation should go together" and that "taxation without representation is tyranny" evidently appeals to the sense of fair play in a British crowd, so that converts are easily made, money comes rolling in and the propaganda goes merrily on.

GENERAL TAX STRIKE.

The Women's Tax Resistance League started as a small cloud—no bigger than a man's hand—in Mr. Lloyd George's financial sky, about three years ago. That it has been growing steadily ever since is probably due to the fact that it is continually stirring the imagination and touching the sense of humor of the "man in the street." The society has been able to attain such proportions that shortly it will give a preconcerted "signal" to the women householders in every large city and town in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, causing a general "tax strike." Every sympathizer who is a householder will, at a given moment, openly refuse to pay any more imperial taxes until political representation is accorded her. Some startling developments are likely to follow.

The idea of resistance of taxation is, of course, not a new one in England. John Hampden was the first great historical example, when, in 1637, he refused to pay King Charles's impost of ship money, and during recent years Methodists, Presbyterians and the like have refused to pay the education tax on the grounds that they are allowed no voice in the religious education of their children. It has remained, however, for woman's wit to devise novel forms and methods in their organization for tax resistance which had never occurred to the less inventive sex.

Among the important and extremely active members of the league are the Duchess of Bedford, whose husband owns over 84,000 acres of land and whose collection of pictures at Woburn Abbey is one of the finest and most historic in the world; Princess Sophia Dhulep Sing, an Indian lady at present in residence in England, who is as beautiful and fascinating as she is clever; Beatrice Harraden, the world-famous author of "Ships that Pass in the Night," and Miss Clemence Housman, sister of Laurence Housman, whose fame as an author and artist are recognized in America as well as in his own country. His "Englishwoman's Love Letters" made quite a sensation over here some years ago.

All London was agog when it became known that the Duchess of Bedford—aided and abetted by the Women's Tax-Resistance League—had definitely and emphatically refused to pay property tax and house duty on one of her own houses. People who were not versed in the law speculated as to whether Mr. Lloyd George would have the courage to order the Duchess to be arrested like an ordinary commoner and dragged off to Holloway Jail, there to endure the rigors of a plank bed and jail fare or to win her freedom by resorting to the hunger strike.

SEIZE DUCHESS' CUP.

Fortunately, however, such indignities are not necessary in collecting the King's taxes in England if tax-resisting rebels possess furniture, plate or jewelry upon which distraint can be made. Mr. Lloyd George's emissaries were therefore able to seize and carry off a beautiful silver trophy cup from the Duchess' collection of plate, and sell it by public auction.

The auction sale of the Duchess of Bedford's silver cup proved, perhaps, the best advertisement the Women's Tax-Resistance League ever had. It was made the occasion for a widespread propaganda. The newspapers gave columns of space to the event, while at the big mass meeting held outside the auction room, Mrs. Emmeline Parkes, the secretary of the league; Mrs. Lilian Hicks, the honorary treasurer, and other suffrage speakers held forth on the advisability and necessity of every self-respecting woman householder in Great Britain following the Duchess of Bedford's lead.

The case of Miss Clemence Housman was really a poser for Mr. Lloyd George. It led to a long struggle between the lady and the authorities and a denouement which was of the nature of an anti-climax for the government. The amount in question was an exceedingly small one—about $1—but Miss Housman, incited and encouraged by the belligerent Tax Resistance League, refused on principle to pay. As she had no goods on which to distrain, she was herself seized and thrown into Holloway Jail, there to remain until the tax was paid. When it became evident that Miss Housman was a lady of determination and was quite prepared to spend the rest of her natural existence within the grim walls of Holloway Castle, the authorities reflected that the maintenance of a prisoner for a possible thirty or forty years in jail and the public excitement this would involve, was too expensive and troublesome a method of collecting it, so the doors of her cell were thrown open after five days, and Miss Housman emerged a free and triumphant woman.

THE POOR HUSBANDS.

The most important and sensational event in the history of the tax resistance movement, however, was the capture by the government of the unfortunate husband of a woman tax resister. The case arose through the refusal of Dr. Elizabeth Wilks, a suffragist and tax-resister, to pay the tax levied on her earned income. On two previous occasions this refusal had been followed by a distraint on her goods, but one of the peculiar anomalies of the income-tax law—as distinct from the property tax—in England, is that, in spite of the Married Woman's Property Act, a husband can be made liable for his wife's income tax.

Dr. Elizabeth Wilks, realizing, therefore, that as a married woman she was not really liable to this taxation, informed the authorities that the claim should be sent not to her but to her husband. The government fell into the trap and sent the claim to Mark Wilks, a schoolmaster, who immediately declined to pay on the grounds that he had no legal means of ascertaining his wife's income. The treasury refused to accept this plea and after a long correspondence decided to seize the person of Wilks and throw him into jail. A public agitation was immediately started, among those who made strong protests being on the platform and in the press being George Bernard Shaw, Sir John Cockburn, K.C.M.G.; the Rt. Hon. Thomas Lough, M.P., and Laurence Housman, with the result that Wilks, after being several weeks in jail, was suddenly released, no reason being given by the British Home Secretary for this act of clemency and wisdom.

The incident formed excellent subject for jest by all the humorous papers in England, and one of them suggested that now that husbands could be placed in durance vile for the non-payment of their wives' income tax, it would be an excellent way for women who hold the purse strings not only to get rid of lazy and troublesome husbands but to have them maintained at the expense of the state!

Mrs. John W. Ellicott and Miss Prescilla Ellicott, who have been spending a month visiting friends in San Francisco and Berkeley, have returned to Mare Island, where they will occupy the home of Mrs. Beall for the next few months.

PREACHER ASKS FOR VACATION.

Long Beach Pastor Would Prepare His Defense.

Church Board "Resolutes" Its Faith and Support.

One Hundred Aged Veterans Meet in Bixby Park.

LONG BEACH, Oct. 11.—At a meeting of the board of trustees of the Unitarian church last night called by Rev. Franklin Baker, their minister, who is under charge of vagrancy in Los Angeles, the following signed statement by Rev. Baker was read:

"Affirming my innocence before God and man, and recognizing the fact that my every energy must be devoted, from now until my case is heard by a jury of my peers, to the work of preparing for this crisis, I request the board of trustees of the First Unitarian Church of Long Beach to give me a vacation of sixty days in order that I may be unhampered in the preparation of my defense, and that the church may not suffer in the meantime through my misfortune.

[Signed]

"FRANKLIN BAKER,
"Pastor."

Deeming that under the circumstances the accused pastor had acted in a proper way, the board of trustees unanimously adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved: That in granting Dr. Franklin Baker, pastor of this church, a vacation of sixty days, as earnestly requested by him, this board takes this opportunity of expressing its unqualified faith in his innocence and belief in his integrity and character as pastor and man, and we hereby pledge him our hearty and united efforts in restoring to him the good reputation he has always enjoyed in this and all other communities in which he has lived."

There is little discussion on the street today relative to the matter, but those who do talk express the opinion that Rev. Baker has taken the course which is eminently fitting that a preacher should take when resting under any accusation.

OLD FOLKS' REUNION.

Nearly 100 old people today attended the annual old folks' reunion picnic at Bixby Park. Five-sixths of those present had passed the eightieth milestone and twelve were 85 years of age. The oldest picnicker was Ed[illegible] Norris, 97 years of age, still in good health and confident of reaching the century mark. Two other old people were J. P. Tibbetts, 90 years, and [illegible] Healey, 92. After the noon picnic dinner, L. M. Healey, the retiring president; Rev. C. H. Brouillette and Dr. J. H. Brittain made talks and then the following officers of the year were elected: J. S. Harris, president; Mrs. N. S. Long and Mrs. [illegible] Canning, vice-presidents; Mrs. [illegible] Brouillette, secretary; C. M. [illegible], treasurer; Executive Committee, Capt. J. T. Morris, Mrs. I. C. [illegible], Mrs. J. M. Evans and Mrs. A. [illegible] Wright.

NEWS BRIEFS.

As a result of protests filed recently by Dr. John M. Forsythe, president of the State Board of Optometry, he was today notified that the Concession Committee of the San Francisco Exposition has passed a resolution to the effect that no concession will be sold for the selling or fitting of eyeglasses on the exposition grounds. Dr. Forsythe says the action will prove a protection to exposition visitors in preventing them from buying cheap and insufficient glasses.

Up to this evening there has been no identification of the woman floater, washed up on the beach yesterday. There had been only two visitors to the morgue, men who thought the body might be that of a woman who disappeared a year ago. It was not. There will be no post mortem, all indications being that the case is one of accidental drowning. So far the police have failed to find any clue to the woman's identity.

The second annual ladies' night of the Southern California Funeral Directors' Association was observed at a meeting of the organization this evening at Hotel Virginia. A short business session was held at 6 o'clock, followed by a formal reception at [illegible] and a banquet at 7. At the conclusion of the banquet a short programme was observed, including addresses by President Edgar McFayden, Dr. Baker P. Lee and J. B. [illegible] of San Diego, a solo by Mrs. [illegible] of Hollywood and a reading by Miss Edith Reid.

[illegible] McGovern of Wisconsin, accompanied by Senator La Follette and [illegible] will be the guests in Long Beach Monday of J. S. Fluor and J. [illegible] and will be shown the [illegible] and harbor.

BOY KILLED.

[illegible], Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The [illegible]-year-old son of J. Correa-Ryman, living five miles west of here, was instantly killed late last night when he pulled over a heavy grindstone and fell beneath it. His head was crushed.

TO ELECT NEW DIRECTORS.

Pomona Chamber of Commerce Will Hold an Important Meeting Monday Evening.

POMONA, Oct. 11.—The first annual meet'ng of the local Chamber of Commerce will be held on Monday evening, at which time six new directors will be elected to succeed the six men who were elected to serve six months. Six others of those originally elected will serve for one year and another six for two years in accordance with the by-laws of the chamber, so that there may always be experienced members on the board.

Interest in the work of the organization is growing and plans are being made for extensively advertising Pomona. The membership committee of the chamber is now seeking to boost the membership up to the 500 mark by the first of the year. Secretary Stine has been busy for some time with detail work in connection with establishing his office in the City Hall and is now giving his attention to boosting and the preparation of advertising matter.

The Pomona Valley Kansas Association held its annual meeting at Ganesha Park today, when there was a large number of former residents of the Sunflower State in attendance. A picnic luncheon was enjoyed at noon and there was a short programme of music and speaking following.

Hon. Charles G. Neely, formerly of this city and now a member of the faculty of Pomona College, has organized a class in advanced law. This will make it possible for a student, after a two years' course of study of law at the college, to be prepared for the examinations for admission to the bar.

Gets Good Start.

FIERCE FLAMES GUT BUILDINGS.

Destructive Fire Threatens an Entire Block.

Many Suffocated by Smoke and Stifling Heat.

Dozen Concerns Lose Heavily in Business District.

Fire which originated in the building occupied by the California Macaroni Company, No. 228 North Los Angeles street, at 6 o'clock last night, gutted that structure, partially destroyed adjacent buildings and netted a total loss of $125,000. The entire block bounded by Los Angeles, Market, San Pedro and Commercial streets was threatened with destruction. Only heroic work on the part of the fire-fighters prevented the spread of the flames.

The fire was spectacular. The flames bursting through the front of the imperiled buildings on Los Angeles street scorched the faces of the onlookers and caused the hurried removal of the water tower which stood in the center of the street at that point.

Panic stricken roomers rushed from the old Arlington block, some of them scantily clad, others carrying whatever they could lay their hands on. One woman, whose parrot had been left in the burning building, insisted on going back after her pet. An injured man, taken to the Receiving Hospital after having been overcome with smoke, bethought himself of a new violin and $700 left in his room and eluding the attendants at the hospital sped down the street to the rescue.

Aside from the actual loss caused by the flames, the fire was a bad one viewed from the perspectus of the street car companies and their patrons. For more than two hours the lines going to Oak Knoll, Annandale, Pasadena, South Pasadena, Alhambra, San Gabriel, Monrovia, Glendora, Sierra Madre, Upland and Pomona were tied up. The Saturday night theater crowds were compelled to disembark an Aliso street east of Alameda and walk to the downtown district. Altogether the situation was unpleasant. The congestion in traffic extended as far as First street and necessitated sending many of the cars to the barn to get them out of the way.

RAPID SPREAD.

The flames spread with rapidity. The building occupied by the macaroni company extends from Los Angeles to San Pedro streets and within a few minutes after the fire was discovered the whole structure was in flames. Assistant General Manager C. H. Moran had left the building a few minutes prior to the outbreak.

Manager H. G. Mines said the stock of the company would approximate $60,000. The loss on the building was $25,000. The owner of the structure, which was virtually destroyed, is Charles Henderson.

Next to the maaroni ompany the heaviest loser was the H. R. Boynton Company, wholesale plumbers, at No. 210 Los Angeles street. Manager H. M. Haldeman said during the progress of the fire that his company carried a $250,000 stock. The most valuable of this, however, was not damaged. Like the macaroni company, this concern extended clear through from Los Angeles to San Pedro streets. The loss here was approximately $10,000.

The Lloyd carriage works at No. 219-223-225 San Pedro street was also a heavy loser. The buildings damaged by the flames and the concerns occupying them were: The C. E. Smith Lubricating Oil Company at No. 210 Commercial street; Hotel Central at No. 214 Commercial street, White House rooming-house at No. 204 Commercial street, Southwestern Specialty Company at No. 212 Commercial street, Old Charter Liquor Company, No. 232 Los Angeles street; Manford Otto Harness and Saddlery Company, No. 234 Los Angeles street; H. W. Johns-Manville Company, No. 222 Los Angeles street; Okell Drill and Supply Company at No. 230 Commercial street; Byron Jackson Iron Works, Los Angeles Heavy Hardware Company, No. 214 and 216 Los Angeles street, Alf. Hayes Auto Company, Nofl 325 San Pedro street.

REMEMBERS FIDLLE.

Gus Reed, a blacksmith living at the Central Hotel, was pulled unconscious from his bed. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital where he startled everybody present by jumping from the table as soon as he was able and making a wild dash for the door, after explaining that his new fiddle and $700 in cash was left in his room. It was not ascertained whether he recovered them.

Pedro Lopez and Jose Arvello, rooming together at the White House rooming-house, were carried out unconscious, but were cared for by friends. Neither was seriously hurt. Roderiguez Garcia would not wait for a ladder and jumped from the window of his room on the second floor of the Hotel Central, sustaining a sprained ankle.

Mrs. Marie Arrallanez, who with herhusband lived at the White House, grabbed Patrolman Walker as he was passing the doorway leading to the rooming-house, and begged that he rescue her parrot. A few minutes later the patrolman dashed down the steps with a woodn bird cage wherein the parrot sat screaming with rage and fright.

The blaze of the burning buildings could be seen a great distance and thousands of persons gathered about. The fire lines were established at a safe distance, however, and the police had no difficulty in keeping the crowd back.

New Beauty Spot.

GLIMPSE OF NIPPON IN SOUTHLAND GARDEN.

Creator of Jappy Land and Nipponese maid.

E. B. Rivers in a corner of the garden arranged according to his ideal and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. E. Bedford Rivers.

SOCIETY found another beauty spot in Southern California yesterday afternoon with the formal opening of Los Rios Rancho by Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Rivers.

The occasion was a kimono party and most of the smart folks of the city motored out Monrovia way to the quaint old California farmhouse at the base of the hills. Surrounded by live oaks and sycamores, covered with clinging vines, the home itself would worthily call for mention at a garden fete of any kind. The spreading lawns and wide arbors, the copse along the graveled roads leading to it, give no intimation of the beauty that lies beyond.

In the bright sunshine of an autumn afternoon, the Japanese gardens of Los Rios will always come as a surprise to a visitor stepping suddenly out of California surroundings to those so typically of Japan that they seem of the land of Nippon in their entirety.

To the friends who gathered yesterday, they were more than surprising. They were realistic because of the pretty women who wandered over the little stone bridges, sat in the wistaria-covered teahouse or were otherwise scattered about the grounds in their vivid and orientally perfect kimonos.

The brilliant coloring of these shimmering silken gowns with their lavish embroideries added luster to the various shades of green of the lawns, trees and lakes. It is these lakes, of which there are eight or ten, connected by tumbling brooklets that fall from considerable heights, with their little islands, their boulder borders and their lantern pagodas, that make the place a fairyland. The Japanese gardeners in the costumes of their native land—wide blowing straw hats, straw sandals and quaint shirts—gave additional verification to the setting of Chrysanthemum Land.

All afternoon society came and society went. There were more than 300 of the fashionable ladies of the city at the reception given by Mrs. E. B. Rivers and her friend, Mrs. W. J. Davis. The music of the Ad Club Quartette broke the sound of chatter that came from the ravine in which the gardens are located. Wonderful fruits of the vine and the tree formed the principal portion of the afternoon refreshment.

Many of the visitors stayed through to evening, a supper being included in the day's events. Wives were joined by their husbands and the evening itself will remain memorable with those present for many years to come. large dance pavilion had been built by Rivers for the pleasure of his guests and this near a great Japanese fireplace, which glowed through the night and lighted up the gardens. It was the first time that the pavilion was ever used, but it will not be the last. Next week Mrs. E. Bedford Rivers will entertain a group of the younger element of the local social set.

PACIFIC COAST PERSONAL.

[Compiled from yesterday's San Francisco Argonaut.]

The wedding of Miss Ariadne Merritt and Philo Lindley of Los Angeles took place Thursday, October 9, at St. John's Presbyterian Church. A reception following the ceremony was held at the house on Third avenue of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Merritt. Mrs. Alan Macdonald was the matron of honor and Miss Jean Howard was the flower girl. Lindley was attended by his cousin, Curtis Lindley, and his brother-in-law, August Kuecht. After the wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Lindley will go to Los Angeles to reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Scott entertained a number of young people at a dance Saturday evening, at their home in Burlingame in honor of Miss Polly Mills. Mrs. Walter S. Martin gave a winner preceding the affair. Miss Mills was also the complimented guest at a dinner and theater party given Monday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Cuyler Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hamilton Brown entertained a large number of guests at a dance Friday evening at the Claremont Country Club.

Mrs. A. P. Whittell and her daughter, Mrs. Kirk Albert, are established in the R. P. Schwerin house in San Mateo, where they were joined this week by Mr. Albert, who has been visiting in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Frederick Kohl are entertaining Mrs. Kohl's mother, Mrs. Godey of Washington, at the Burlingame Country Club.

Mrs. William Holmes McKittrick, who was a week at the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco, has returned to her home in Bakersfield.

Mrs. Mason and her daughter, Miss Winifred Mason, have returned to their home in San Rafael, after spending the summer in Trinity county.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dean and Miss Helen Dean have returned from Lake Tahoe and are again at the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco.

Mrs. Truxton Beale and Miss Alice Oge of San Francisco, have delayed their departure for the East on account of the recent illness of their mother. They will soon join Mr. Beale in Washington, and will probably pass the winter abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sadoc Tobin left Tuesday for New York, where they will remain about six weeks.

Mrs. Theodore Tomlinson has returned to her home in New York after a month's visit with her mother, Mrs. Charles McIntosh Keeney of San Francisco.

Mrs. Maymie McNutt Potter has gone East to visit friends in New York, Boston, and Annapolis. During her absence, Dr. and Mrs. McNutt will reside with their little granddaughter, Miss Marie Louise Potter.

Dr. Herbert C. Moffitt, Mrs. Moffit, and their children, have given up their apartment in Munich and are at present in Vienna. They will return to San Francisco in November.

Mrs. James Potter Langhorne has gone to Annapolis where she will visit her son-in-law and daughter, Lieut. James Parker, Jr., U.S.N., and Mrs. Parker.

Mrs. William Denman of San Francisco also left for the East Tuesday. She will spend a few weeks in Boston with her sister, Mrs. John T. Taylor.

Mrs. Edith Blanding Coleman and Miss Henriette Blanding of San Francisco, left Monday for New York. They were accompanied by Miss Mauricia Mintzer, who will visit relatives in the East.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton E. Worden and Mrs. A. N. Towne are again occupying their apartments at the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco, after having spent the summer in Monterey.

Miss Genevieve Harvey has returned to her home in Galt after a visit of several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Warner at their home on Presidio avenue, San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. William Alexander have returned to their home in Washington. They have been spending the summer with Mrs. John Bidwell at her ranch in Chico.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Abecassis have returned from Southern California to their home in Woodside. They were away two months, during which time they motored to the many places of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Davis Pillsbury and their daughter, Miss Olivia Pillsbury, will sail October 22 for Europe and expect to be home to spend the Christmas holidays in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Welch and their two little daughters have gone to New York for a few weeks' visit. They will return before the holidays and will spend the winter in their country home in San Mateo.

Mr. and Mrs. George Delatour have closed their home in Rutherford, Napa county, and are established for the winter on Pacific avenue, San Francisco, where they have rented the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Johnson.

Miss Ethel Crocker of San Francisco will sail October 14 for Paris, where she will resume her vocal studies. She will spend the winter with her uncle and aunt, Prince Andre Poniatowski and Princess Poniatowski.

Lady Balfour, who has been visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Balfour, in Burlingame, will sail October 15 for her home in London. She will be accompanied by Miss Polly Mills, who has been spending the past year with Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Scott.

Mrs. Kirby Barnes Crittenden of Newport, R. I., is the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Fay of San Francisco. Mrs. Crittenden will later join her husband, Lieutenant-Commander Crittenden, U.S.N., who has been ordered to the U. S. S. Colorado at Bremerton.

Ensign G. L. Woodruff, U.S.N., has been detached from the U. S. S. Pittsburgh to temporary duty on the U. S. S. Intrepid.

TAKE A GLASS OF SALTS TO FLUSH THE KIDNEYS IF YOUR BACK HURTS

Advises folks to overcome Kidney and Bladder trouble while it is only trouble.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backaches and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease. —[Advertisement.

San Diego.

IN A REIGN OF TERROR.

San Diego Shocked by Series of Assaults.

Police Apparently Unable to Solve Mystery.

Pasadena Man Towed to Sea by Shark.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 11.—This city is in the grip of a reign of terror inspired by the assault on four women and young girls within as many days, in no case of which a satisfactory arrest has been made.

The descriptions given by the victims are all different, ranging from a negro to a well-dressed white man, who operated from an automobile. The latest assault was that upon Mrs. E. P. Lurton, an employee at the Manhattan Restaurant, who was assaulted within a block of the police station, while on her way to the postoffice. The man, who is described by Mrs. Lurton as being large, roughly dressed, and apparently about forty years of age, attacked her at the corner of First and F streets, near a building under construction, and tried to force her into the building. Instead of screaming, the woman fought with him, and breaking his hold on her arms, ran toward the postoffice. She continued on her errand there, and did not reach the police station until fully fifteen minutes after the attack, during which time the man made good his escape. Eleven suspects have been taken before the Kehr child, who was brutally assaulted Tuesday evening, but in each case she has pointed out where the man differed from her description of the real culprit. She has more or less recovered from the terrible experience, and physicians say sh is physically none the worse for her night of horror.

What is believed to have been an attempt by white slavers to carry off a victim, was foiled Tuesday night by the nerve of Miss Miriam Rhodes, the attractive 16-year-old daughter of Mrs. J. M. Coin, of National City. About 8 o'clock Miss Miriam and her chum, Miss Elizabeth Spring, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. L. L. Spring of National City, were walking up and down the street between their two homes, as is their habit every evening. Bidding her friend good night, Miss Rhodes started for her home, which is but a short distance from the Spring home, at the corner of Second avenue and Thirteenth streets. When only a few feet from her front door, Miss Rhodes was seized by a man who stepped from behind a tree, and placing his hand over her mouth, tried to force her to the ground. The girl struggled fiercely, and succeeded in pushing her assailant from her just as a second man ran toward them. She ran in the direction of the Spring home, pursued for a short distance by the second man. A moment after she reached the house an auto, which had been standing down the street a few yards beyond Miss Rhodes's home swerved quickly from the curb and disappeared up the street. Miss Rhodes's unusual nerve in defying her assailant undoubtedly saved her from kidnapping, as the men had apparently been waiting for her for some time with the intention of carrying her away in the auto. She is positive she could identify the man who attacked her first, describing him as of medium height, slender build, and dressed in a dark suit and dark felt hat. The other man, she says, was short and stocky, and wore a light suit and a light cap pulled down over his eyes. So quickly and noiselessly was the attack carried on that neighbors on their doorsteps a few yards away were unaware of the affair until the next morning.

Robert G. Neustadt, Pasadena club and society man, had an exciting race in a skiff yesterday, when with "Steve," a boatman, he was towed four miles out to sea by an infuriated shark. A party from Hotel del Coronado was fishing from a private yacht, when L. Clifford Rosengarten of Philadelphia discovered a shark in the act of stealing a fish from his line. The boatman threw a harpoon into the shark, and jumped into the skiff, followed by Neustadt, who, taking his place in the bow of the boat, shot time and again at the fish. The shark, however, seemed immune from the eager efforts of the fishermen, and after taking up five hundred feet of slack line, and pulling them with apparent ease for four miles he broke the line and escaped. The men were picked up by the yacht. Here endeth the greatest fish story to date brought in by the wary disciples of Isaac Walton who are at present at the Coronado resort. Earlier in the day Rosengarten qualified as member No. 13 in the Tuna Club, catching a fine specimen of the game fish.

The local agency of The Times, which has been handled for several years by E. K. Roberts, and his son, C. L. Roberts, has been taken over by W. E. McCarthy. Mr. McCarthy has been a resident of San Diego for two years, coming here from the East. With the large and increasing circulation of The Times here Mr. McCarthy finds much to claim his attention. Premium cotnests have been instituted among the carriers, which has awakened keen rivalry and stimulated interest generally.

GIRL OR HER FORTUNE.

Father and Mother, Separated, Take Their Dispute Over Daughter to Court.

A legal battle will be begun in the Superior Court in this city Tuesday for the guardianship of Elizabeth, the 16-year-old daughter of Matthew C. Mieklejohn of No. 1435 West Twenty-seventh street, who conducts a merchant tailoring establishment at No. 317 West Sixth street. The girl has been living with her step-mother, Mrs. Martha C. Meiklejohn of Balboa, from whom Meiklejohn has been separated, and he declares that his daughter has been kept away from him without authority.

Attorney Dockweiler brought habeas corpus proceedings in the Superior Court at Santa Ana yesterday, as representative of Meiklejohn, for possession of the girl. Attorney Sanders, representing the step-mother, declared that Meiklejohn has not visited either of his children who are living with Mrs. Meiklejohn. Judge Thomas gave the girl into her father's possession on the grounds that he had no jurisdiction to set aside Meiklejohn's appointment as guardian.

The girl is the possessor of an estate worth $25,000, and the step-mother declared in court that Meiklejohn's interest in the child is confined to a desire to control her property. The woman's attorney stated that Elizabeth, a slender slip of a girl, has been made to perform menial services at her father's home and to do work beyond her strength. He asserts that her older brother frequently made her mow a 100-foot lawn for him. He further says that Elizabeth wishes to live with her stepmother and that a fight toward that end will be made in the courts.

Mrs. Meiklejohn testified at yesterday's hearing at Santa Ana that a clerk named Tracy from her husband's attorney's office went to her house and tried to frighten her into allowing him to take the girl to her father, saying that he was a sheriff. Tracy was afterwards arrested at Newport-Beach on her accusation of impersonating an officer.

GOOD ROADS PROJECT.

Highway to Connect Olive and Tustin Proposed by Orange County Highway Commission.

SANTA ANA, Oct. 11.—Another good roads project in Orange county has had its inception. It is now proposed to form a bonding district and raise money for paving Tustin avenue from Fourth street, near Tustin, to Olive, a distance of six miles.

The County Highway Commission has five good roads contracts let and roads being built. The State highway is to traverse the county from north to south, bids for part of the work having been received. Up in La Habra Valley a movement is afoot for a district to pave the road that runs the length of the valley. Not content with all this good roads work, comes the Tustin avenue plan. The avenue is as fine an orange growing section as there is in the State. Part of it lies within the city limits of Orange. The south end of the proposed paved road will join the State highway.

In one month's time, little Jack Myers, a toddler of 14 months in age, won his way into the hearts of Mrs. Tony Lopez's family at Anaheim. He made himself indispensable. The little fellow was left by his mother, who agreed to pay $5 a week to Mrs. Lopez. The mother went on the road with a carnival company. She had paid nothing. Mrs. Lopez turned the child over to the Detention Home. Two nights without the wee Jack was all Mrs. Lopez could stand. Today she returned to the Juvenile Court, and her petition to take the baby back without pay for his care was granted when Judge Thomas heard the woman's plea. She left with the arms of the baby tight about her neck.

Last evening an old wooden warehouse at Irvine was destroyed by fire and with it $1000 worth of hay belonging to Miss Kate Munger, and a few tons belonging to the Irvine company. The loss was partially covered by insurance. Sparks from a Santa Fe engine started the fire. The warehouse's value was probably $3000. It was built years ago.

STOMACH SUFFERERS

Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy is Recommended and Praised by Thousands Who Have Been Restored.

"I was a sick man for about three months caused from Gall Stones of the Liver and was told by three of our most prominent physicians that I would have to submit to an operation to get relief, but heard of your Wonderful Stomach Remedy and secured a full treatment and took it according to directions and passed hundreds of Gall Stones. Since taking your medicine I work regularly and don't feel any ill effects. I am praising your Remedy to all my friends. I think it's worthy of the highest praise.

"B. L. DOOLEY, Roanoke, Va."

Sufferers of Stomach, Liver and Intestinal Ailments are not asked to take Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy for weeks and months before they feel benefited. Just try one dose—which should make you feel better in health, convince you that you will soon be well and strong, free you from pain and suffering and give you a sound and healthy Stomach, as it has done in thousands of other cases. Wherever it is taken you will hear nothing but the highest praise. Go to your druggist—ask him about the great results it has been accomplishing in cases of people he knows or send to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 154-156 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for a free book on Stomach Ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. For sale in Los Angeles by the Owl Drug Co.

Pasadena.

SPECULATION AS TO GARDENS.

Pasadenans Would Know Fate of Busch Grounds.

Desire Gives Birth to Rumor of Gift.

Pioneer Society Picnic Attended by One Hundred.

PASADENA, Oct. 12.—Following the news of the death of Adolphus Busch in Germany, there was much speculation in the city yesterday as to what disposition he had made of the Busch Gardens in his will. Ernest [illegible] Lockwood, his real estate and business agent here, beyond a cablegram that came yesterday morning announcing the death of the capitalist, he last night had received no further word, and he does not expect to learn anything about what will be done with the gardens for some time. It is expected by many friends of Mrs. Busch, the widow, that she will come to Pasadena this winter, as she had planned to do, and that she may even make Pasadena her permanent home. It was the intention of her husband to pass both the summers and winters in this city after this summer.

The report was current yesterday that the brewer had left the gardens to the city of Pasadena, but Lockwood declared last night that the rumor was without foundation. Busch, while constructing the wonderful gardens sank a small fortune in their maintenance. It is roughly estimated that it has cost him $100,000 a year to keep them in perfect condition and make improvements from time to time.

As Lieut. and Mrs. Edward Scharrer are now in Germany, there are no members of the Busch family in the city.

Busch had many friends in Pasadena and news of his death yesterday caused much sorrow. He had passed his winters in Pasadena for the last [illegible] years.

PIONEERS ASSEMBLE.

The early days of Pasadena, as photographed on the minds of those who were among the first to take up their residence here, and who still live in the city, were discussed yesterday at a picnic given by the Pasadena Pioneer Society on the grounds surrounding the home of Mrs. M. [illegible], No. 29 South Grand avenue. Over 100 persons attended and this was one of the most enjoyable the organization has had in many years.

After the luncheon and listening to several addresses the pioneers, under the guidance of City Commissioner T. D. Allen, inspected the new [illegible]-street bridge across the Arroyo Seco, which will probably be finished on Thanksgiving Day. Commissioner Allen explained the details of its construction.

Of those present Col. Perry Kewen was the first to come to what is now Pasadena. He took up his residence here in 1858. For a long time he made his abode in the old mill that now stands on the Huntington estate at Oak Knoll.

ARE PLAYING AGAIN.

The Pasadena Polo Club yesterday began its active practice work for the winter. Most of the members of the team assembled at Tournament Park and divided into two teams, the Blues and the Whites, for a practice game.

These practice matches will be continued each Wednesday and Saturday afternoon until January 1, when it is expected the games between the [illegible] and other teams will begin. Among those who played yesterday were John B. Miller, Harry Weiss, [illegible] Weiss, Carlton Burke, Dr. [illegible] Boucher and John Mott. The [illegible], a Los Angeles attorney, will play with the team last winter.

The stables at the park are filled with some of the best polo horses the club has ever seen. The mounts this year will be better than ever before. A number of the Pasadena players have been attracting attention throughout the country.

CITY BRIEFS.

Exercises will be held at the schools tomorrow in celebration of Columbus Day. The banks of the city will be closed.

The David Blankenhorn Company yesterday reported recent sales in property in Pasadena and Altadena aggregating $90,000. The chief sale was that of the former home of [illegible] Everett on St. John avenue to E. J. Wood of New Orleans. Mr. Wood expects to make extensive improvements on the property and to come to Pasadena to live.

The city authorities yesterday appealed to the State Board of Health for aid in determining on a system which will prevent pollution of the water in the upper Arroyo Seco. The Commissioners consulted with Prof. [illegible] G. Hyde, sanitary engineer of the State board, who, besides visiting the Arroyo also inspected the city [illegible].

A party of prominent Palo Alto residents visited Pasadena yesterday. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kasson, the latter City Assessor of Palo Alto; [illegible] Rettinger, a Councilman; N. E. [illegible], City Attorney, and J. F. Byxbee, City Engineer.

[illegible] Vista del Arroyo, Pasadena. [Advertisement.]

GLENDORA.

GLENDORA, Oct. 11.—Miss Clara La Petra, dramatic soprano, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Henri Appy, violinist, and by Mrs. Earl Comstock, pianist, gave a benefit concert for the new $25,000 Methodist Church now under construction, at the opera house last night. Miss La Petra was in splendid voice and won much applause with her vocal solos. Miss La Petra was generous with her encores, and she has a charming repertoire.

Mr. Appy played the "Les Adieux" [illegible] and Mr. and Mrs. Appy [illegible] a duet De Bereat's Concert [illegible]. This will probably be Miss La Petra's last appearance in concert before leaving for Europe, where she will devote herself to further training of her splendid voice.

BLESSED IS THE PEACEMAKER.

Ontario Man Stops Fight and Must Answer to Charge of Battery in Court.

ONTARIO, Oct. 11.—W. Van Dahlem must face trial at the City Hall Tuesday morning on a charge of assault and battery, simply because, according to his own statement, he attempted to act as peacemaker in an altercation between two men who work under him at a local factory, where he is superintendent.

According to Van Dahlem, he sent Robert Speltz to another factory hand, M. Greenwald, for a hammer. The two had words and Speltz is alleged to have called Greenwald a name to which the latter took exception with the business end of his right arm, and the two were scuffling about the floor when Van Dahlem is said to have separated them and threatened to discharge Speltz.

Speltz is said to have asked for leniency and was told that he might remain if he behaved. Later Speltz had words with the superintendent and was told to go and get his time. It was for this reason, according to Van Dahlem, that Speltz went and swore to an assault complaint, charging that Van Dahlem struck him when he separated the two on the floor.

City Attorney Isaac Jones will appear for the city and Attorney Archie D. Mitchell for the defendant. The case will be tried by jury in Judge J. R. Pollock's court.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The hearing of the case of the city of Ontario versus the Ontario Upland Gas Company before the State Railroad Commission, is set for November 22 and will be held in the Ontario City Hall at 10 a.m. This is according to a telegram received today by City Clerk R. O. Brackenridge from the commission, to whom the voters of the city recently turned over the control of gas corporations. The people petitioned the City Council for a lower gas rate than $1.75 per 1000 feet, the present rate, and the board decided that the most simple method was to allow the people to turn the matter over to the Railroad Commission, with the probable result that the rate would be lowered.

Ontario pigeon fanciers today organized an association to be known as the Ontario Pigeon Club and all residents of the Ontario Valley interested in the raising of pigeons are eligible to membership. The local club is to be affiliated with the Pasadena Pigeon Club. The temporary officers are A. N. Jung, president; L. R. W. Hawk, vice-president; and Gus Berning, secretary. The club plans to hold a pigeon show in this city during the coming winter.

The Philathea Girls of the First Baptist Church in annual session last evening elected Helen Sanford, president; Wilma Arnett, vice-president; Nina Colver, treasurer; Lucille Majorz, secretary, and Dorothy Huston, class reporter. The meeting was held at the home of Miss Eva Bealey, No. 125 North Vine avenue, and Miss Agatha Mezera, the Philathea teacher, opened the meeting.

TO COMPLETE BOULEVARD.

Organization Formed at Santa Monica to Create New City Highway Via Fremont Avenue.

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 11.—An organization for the purpose of completing the new boulevard from the city to the sea, using Fremont avenue as the Santa Monica terminus, was effected at a meeting of Los Angeles and beach residents and property owners. The new body is called the Pico-Santa Monica Highway Association. A committee was named to visit the meeting of the Santa Monica Council Tuesday night and urge action on the new ordinance of intention to improve the street.

Supervisor Hinshaw, who is interested in the completion of a county boulevard connecting the ends of Pico street with Fremont avenue, hinted at a recent meeting that the county would do nothing until the city got busy on the improvement of the thoroughfare at this end. With a new City Attorney getting up an ordinance, the people of Fremont avenue and the Pico-Santa Monica Highway Association hope that the ordinance of intention, which will be passed for the eighth time, will be legally sound, and that the contract will be let and work commenced before the end of the year.

NEWS BRIEFS.

An unusual setting for a wedding was that chosen by Miss Agnes Jones Goodwillie and Harlow M. Kimball, who were united while standing on the bluff overlooking the ocean at 5 o'clock this afternoon by Rev. W. K. Beans, pastor of the First Methodist Church. The bride often expressed a wish to be married in the open air, in sight of the Pacific she loved so well. Both young people came from Hollywood to have the ceremony performed to the music of the breakers. Several relatives witnessed the unusual ceremony. A wedding supper was served at one of the beach cafes.

The pavement on Ocean avenue, in front of the Elk's club is falling in, and a crew from the street department has been dispatched to the scene to make repairs. The spot in front of the club is filled land, in a gully which formerly ran across Ocean avenue. The paving has gone down at least fourteen inches. Another fill will be made, and the dirt thoroughly tamped down before the paving is put down.

The Santa Monica High School football warriors were twice trounced today, casting Coach Church into deep gloom. The first team was defeated by the Chaffee Union High School eleven by the close score of 3 to 0, South getting the only score by a place kick, and the Santa Monica seconds went down to defeat at the hands of the Long Beach second team, score 6 to 3. McKenzie of Santa Monica made long gains on end runs, but the team work of Long Beach was too much for the locals.

BONDS AUTHORIZED.

INGLEWOOD, Oct. 11.—The $150,000 bond election held today resulted in the authorization of the issue by a vote of seven to one.

Five handsome new buildings will be erected adjoining the present school building, the campus of which contains about five acres, and the plan is to establish a Polytechnic High School equal to any in the State. The Inglewood Union High School district has an assessed valuation of $11,500,000 and is the fourth richest school district in Los Angeles county, Los Angeles, Pasadena and Long Beach only leading in the matter of actual wealth. The Inglewood Union High School district is composed of the following school districts: El Segundo, Inglewood City, Hyde Park, Hawthorne, Jefferson, Lawndale and Wiseburn.

Calexico.

CHINESE CAN PICK COTTON.

Oriental Aid of Great Value to Ranchers.

Mexican End of Imperial Valley Very Prosperous.

Exclusion Law Nullified by Acts of Democrats.

CALEXICO, Oct. 11.—Advices to officials here from the Pacific Mail Steamship Company indicate that upwards of 500 Chinese laborers will reach Mexicali before the end of the current month. Something like 475 Chinese laborers will come in on the Korea, Siberia and the Persia, all Pacific Mail steamers, before the last day of October. This number, added to those already on the ground, will make practically 3000 Chinese in the Mexican end of the Imperial Valley.

The Chinese make ideal cotton pickers and are enabling farmers on the Mexican side of the line to pick and handle their cotton at a minimum expense. The thousands of acres of lands rented by Americans from the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company, planted to cotton, and where the labor is performed by Chinese, are proving this is to be a splendid money-making operation for the American tenant farmers.

Some of these farmers, having rented and planted to cotton as high as 1000 acres each, will net from $25,000 to $40,000 on this year's crop; some of the best stands of cotton yielding not less than $50 per acre net, all expenses of planting, cultivating and picking being deducted.

A number of the successful Japanese farmers in the valley were on account of the anti-alien law, compelled to change their base of operations, and are moving below the line, where there is no embargo or complications to interfere with their natural enterprise and industry. The Japanese tenants below the line are able to bring from Japan freely all the labor they require. The Japanese also successfully employ no little Chinese labor on the Mexican delta lands.

The passage of the new tariff law appears to be practically nullifying the Chinese exclusion act, so far as it applies to the southwestern part of the United States. The Chinese can either come directly into Mexico from China, or they can be transported in bond from San Francisco to points below the Mexican line.

Some of the cotton farmers are, owing to their ability to utilize Chinese labor, laying plans to farm their cotton plantations during the winter months to vegetables. The United States duty having been practically all removed from vegetables, they will be able to bring in beets, cabbage, carrots, onions, sweet potatoes and other vegetables without the payment of the heavy duty which has heretofore made the raising of these products out of the question below the line, no matter how cheap or plentiful the supply of labor might have been.

After the winter crop of vegetables is harvested there will be ample time left and the soil will be in better condition for the farmer to produce a big crop of cotton during the summer and fall months.

The California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company on the Mexican side has leased upwards of 20,000 acres to new tenants within the last few months, and now that the duty has been removed from dairy products, as well as from vegetables, there appears to be a very greatly increased demand for the Mexican delta lands.

The dairyman who can hire Chinese irrigators, Chinese milkers and Chinese laborers to cultivate his soil, and bring his milk and cream into the United States and into the Los Angeles market, without the payment of duty, finds his prospects for a large margin of profit much better than his American brother who is farming on the American side of the Imperial Valley, where he must pay high prices for all labor; and any large quantity of efficient labor is difficult to get at even the prevailing high prices.

It is hard to find a Democrat or free trader on the American side of the valley who is willing to admit that in actual practice, as exemplified on the two sides of the line in the Imperial Valley, the new Democratic measure is a practical success. In fact, all the theoretical free traders seem to be vanishing in the face of the vivid facts which are being driven home to them as never before, when they see how the Chinese exclusion law is bing nullified. Perhaps no more forcible, practical illustration of the bad workings (bad so far, at least, as the interests of the United States and the citizens are concerned) of the new law can be found anywhere in the whole United States.

It is widely asserted by intelligent farmers who are alive to the situation that when the American people have another chance to vote on the question, there will be no Democrats left in the Imperial Valley.

FEVERISH CAMPAIGN.

Redondo Beach Orators Put on the Crescendo Pedal in Frenzied Appeals to the Voters.

REDONDO BEACH, Oct. 11.—A parade of 125 school children, carrying flags and banners and lustily repeating a "yell" for a dry Redondo, was a feature today of the campaign of the Prohibitionists to make the city dry under the provisions of the Wyllie local option law at the election to be held next Tuesday. Many of the children were mere babies and others were from the grammar schools, but all marched untiringly through the streets and shouted enthusiastically. Banners with such inscriptions as "Help the Mothers," "Save the Boys" and "The Saloons Must Go," were carried by the older boys.

Tonight the "dry" element held a street meeting on the cement steps leading to El Paseo. The speakers were Hugh Gibson, Chief Probation officer of Los Angeles, J. J. Hart, Police Judge of Long Beach; Hon. Stephen I. Townsend of Long Beach; H. H. Hart, City Attorney of Watts; Attorney Walton Newby of Los Angeles, and R. C. Fritz, president of the local Board of Trade.

Rev. Mott Mitchell will preach tomorrow morning at the Methodist Church on the subject, "Why the Saloons Should Be Voted Out."

Monday night those who oppose the Wyllie law will hold a meeting in the pavilion auditorium and Judge D. D. Bowman will give the third of a series of talks on the question. Harry Brolaski will at the same time hold an independent meeting at the bandstand outside the pavilion. The public is invited by Brolaski on dodgers gotten out by him to "come and get straight goods" after having had "wet facts" and dry "real facts," referring to the organs of the respective sides. No one knows whether Brolaski's meeting is to be a "wet" or "dry" one, as he says he intends to tear into both sides.

ORNAMENTAL LIGHTS.

Pier Avenue at Hermosa Beach to Be Converted Into a Glittering Promenade.

HERMOSA BEACH, Oct. 11.—Pier avenue is soon to be brilliantly lighted with ornamental lights, the posts for which are to be copper with a cluster of five globes suspended from the arms. The new lighting system is paid for by subscription of the business men on the street and will be completed in two weeks.

HORTON IN TROUBLE.

Attorney R. L. Horton, who has offices in the Henne building, Los Angeles, will be given a month in which to have the doors of his garage fixed so as to comply with the building ordinance and if he has not then complied with the law the suit of the city of Hermosa Beach against him will be tried before Police Recorder B. F. Brown.

Attorney Horton was arrested two weeks ago for violating the building ordinance by having doors on his garage swinging out over an improved alley at the rear of his residence on Summit avenue. Horton had continued to violate the law after being repeatedly notified by the building inspector.

Today his demurrer to the complaint, that the law was invalid, was heard by Recorder Brown. Horton at first insisted that he be allowed to keep the offending doors as they are until next year. It was finally decided to set the trial for a month from now and to dismiss the case if the change were made by that time. Horton, who acted as his own attorney, seemed greatly displeased over his arrest, the building ordinance, the city and the officials that enforced it. F. I. Perry represented the city.

CONTINUED ACTIVITY.

Beaumont Valley Real Estate In Demand and Many Sales Are Reported for Week.

BEAUMONT, Oct. 11.—Continued activity in Beaumont Valley real estate has marked the past week. George F. Gillelan of Los Angeles purchased the ten-acre apple orchard owned by I. Valway in Cherry Valley, described as lot 4 in block 11. The tract, which is set in two-year-old trees, sold for $4500. Mr. Gillelan also bought three farm tracts of the Beaumont Heights & Farms Company located in its subdivision adjoining this city. Other transfers include the following: Theo. B. Hegeman to M. M. Dwire, part of lot 2, block 35, Beaumont; George E. Averill to Lyde W. Sparks, lots 6 and 8, block 93, and lot 20, block 98, Beaumont; V. O. Banks to J. D. Funk, south half lot 2, block 13, Cherry Valley subdivision.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Two new ordinances were introduced at the regular monthly meeting of the City Council last night. One gives authority to the City Board of Health to enact and enforce quarantine and sanitation regulations. The other ordinance provides for the issuance of building permits for all structures erected in the city.

The San Gorgonio Club, associated with the State and National Federation of Woman's Clubs, has just issued its year book containing the programme for the season's work. This club is now beginning its sixth year and has nearly eighty members. The first meeting of the club will be held on October 21 at the home of the president, Mrs. K. R. Smoot, at La Mesa Miravilla, four miles north of Beaumont.

Mrs. Jane A. Bennett of Angels Camp, Cal., State president of the Order of Rebekahs, paid an official visit to Alphretta Lodge of Rebekahs in Beaumont Friday night. The attendance was large and included a number of visiting Rebekahs from Banning. The initiatory degree was conferred on two candidates.

WOMAN PIONEER PASSES.

Resident of Covina Dies at Ripe Old Age After a Brief Illness—Short News Stories.

COVINA, Oct. 11.—Mrs. Maria Olmstead, mother of Z. P. and C. W. Olmstead, well-known ranchers here, died yesterday afternoon. She had been ill but a few days.

Mrs. Olmstead was the mother of six children, four daughters and two sons, but only the sons survive her. She came here twenty-four years ago from Kansas, and has since lived here and in Azusa. For the greater part of this time she has lived with her son, C. W. Olmstead.

The funeral will be held on Monday morning at 10 o'clock, at the residence of C. W. Olmstead in Charter Oak, and further services will be held in the Christian Church at Glendora, Rev. Snudden officiating.

ORANGE PICKER WILL PREACH.

A Japanese, who once picked oranges in Covina in a gang of 100 of his countrymen, and whose scant communication with the white race was all done through the broken interpretation of another, has now educated himself in the University of Southern California, and returns here Sunday night to occupy the pulpit at the First Christian Church. He is Kojiro Unura, and is said to be a brilliant pulpit orator. He is making arrangements to preach the gospel of Christ in Japan and Korea.

NEWS BRIEFS.

W. O. Williams, for three years part owner and manager of the big ranch of 750 acres on the southeast of Covina, known as "Covina Heights," has sold his interest in the property to his partner, A. M. Chaffey, the well known Southern California financier. Williams left Saturday in his automobile for the Imperial Valley, where he has purchased 160 acres of alfalfa.

Robert H. Neely, secretary of the La Puente Valley Walnut Growers' Association, said this week that the damage to the walnut crop in this valley through the recent hot wave will not exceed 5 per cent. The nuts were well matured before the hot weather came.

Miss Alice Wynee, for four years a civil service employee in the post-office here, has been transferred at her request to Petaluma, and Miss Nellie Dinwiddie of the Petaluma office comes here.

The contract for building the macadam roadway from Cypress avenue to the boulevard at Puente, on Lark Ellen street, has been awarded to the Connor Construction Company of Los Angeles. Work will begin at once.

GRAPE HARVEST.

ESCONDIDO, Oct. 11.—The harvest of the wine grape crop of the Escondido Valley is demonstrating the value of scientific treatment of the vines and the soil, in pruning and cultivation. In the vineyards where the improved methods were employed, under direction of President D. Cozzolino of the Escondido Vineyard and Winery Company, the yield is about twenty-five pounds to the vine, as compared with from three to eight pounds in vineyards cared for in the old way. Cozzolino was formerly connected with the management of the Italian vineyard at Cucamonga. He states that the soil and the climatic conditions of the Escondido Valley are of the best for grape culture. The harvest of wine grapes, for the most part, has been done by Indians from the Mesa Grande Indian reservation, twenty miles east of the valley.

The output of Muscat grapes, as marketed by George F. Johnston of Etiwanda, was twenty-two carloads, or about half the crop of last season.

BOND ISSUE PROPOSED.

FRESNO, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At a special meeting of the Fresno Board of Education today, it was decided to ask a bond issue of $425,000 from the people of this city for the purchase of new school sites, erection of school buildings, equipment of the department and the renovation of the present buildings and equipment. This will include the erection of either four or five new schools and the expenditure of fully $50,000 for building sites. An industrial school west of the Southern Pacific tracks and an intermediate High School at the present Washington grammar school are included in the schemes projected by the department. The issue will be formally launched at a meeting to be called next Friday night.

SOUNDS KNELL FOR REGULARS.

San Bernardino Judges After Professional Jurors.

Barstow and Needles in Midst of Campaigns.

Incorporation Is the Issue in Both Cities.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 11.—A change that is revolutionary for this county and which will do away with "professional" jurymen in the Superior Courts here, was ordered this morning by Judges B. F. Bledsoe and F. F. Oster, who issued an order that hereafter in the trial of a case a regular panel of fifty men from the jury list made up by the Supervisors shall be called into court for the selection of the jury. Every three months a list of fifty jury candidates will be made up from the annual list named by the board, the fifty being called for each case.

For years the custom has been to secure special venires for all cases called in the courts here, the result being that many became known as professional jurors and were on a large percentage of the panels. The new order will break up this practice and put the selection of jurors very largely in the hands of the Supervisors.

A delegation of citizens of this city held a conference with the County Highway Commissioners looking to the securing of certain roads to be included in the proposed bond issue. The inclusion of E street running south from the city limits, and of Highland avenue running west from the city limits to Upland, were the two streets asked for in addition to the thoroughfares which all are agreed will be included in the issue.

E street to the south is also demanded by the residents of East Colton, who recently appeared before the commission, and the residents of the colonies to the west ask for Highland avenue as well as this city.

INCORPORATION ELECTIONS.

Interest is now centering in the incorporation elections to be held in Barstow and Needles, October 21, when the voters of those two desert communities will pass on whether or not they will become cities of the sixth class. The object of forcing the elections is for the local control of the question of liquor licenses, as the prohibition ordinance passed by the Supervisors will soon close up all liquor houses on the desert, in all probability. The nominees for officers in the two towns are:

Barstow—For Clerk and Assessor, T. O. Carter; treasurer, Almeda Craig; Trustees, A. L. Doran, C. E. Kendrick, Mrs. Adah F. Smith, E. L. Stanfield and C. E. Williams.

Needles—For Clerk and Assessor, H. E. Benedict; Treasurer, G. P. Cornwell; Trustees, D. E. Crayne, H. M. George, James Johnson, John Lorimer and E. M. Ripple.

NEWS BRIEFS.

J. S. Chambers, the new State Controller, and T. M. Eby, secretary of the State Board of Equalization, were San Bernardino visitors while taking a trip about this end of the State to permit Mr. Chambers to familiarize himself with conditions in the South. A stop of a few hours was made here to meet local officials and to also get in touch with some of the Johnson bosses in this city.

"Bringing in the water" on Perris Irrigated Farms.

Wonder Crops Perris Valley.

Remarkable Production Shown in Perris Valley under Improved Water Systems.

Now that the colonist season is fairly under way, it becomes apparent that good lands in the vicinity of the big centers of population will be the first to pass into the hands of the new arrivals.

There is a well-grounded theory among farmers, that lands close to big cities are first to experience a satisfactory rise in value, aside from the positive advantage of being within easy reach and profitable shipping distance of assured markets.

Far-seeing land merchants have anticipated the demand in this regard, and some very notable large bodies of land have been made ready for incoming homeseekers.

Probably the most important of these areas is that of Emil Firth's Perris Irrigated Farms south of Riverside, and about 2½ hours' ride from Los Angeles on the Santa Fe Railway.

Not less than $50,000 has been expended on these lands within the past year, in developing a perfect water system, installing engines and steel mains, and constructing a million-gallon tank.

Perris Irrigated Farms have achieved a wide reputation for their unfailing crops of fruit and farm products, as well as for their enviable location, close to the larger markets of Southern California. The soil is particularly excellent for alfalfa, many cultivated fields adjoining these lands being held at $450 an acre, and some even higher.

Live stock, hogs and poultry thrive, as the climate favors them, and diseases are in the main, absent. As a dairy country it is said to have no superior in the West, cutting regularly from six to seven crops of alfalfa per year.

Mr. Firth has especially prepared for this season's colonists, by making ready a large area under perfected watering plant No. 2. This is being rapidly sold, at $150 an acre, on four years' time, in tracts of 20, 40, 60 to 80 acres, with water right free for every acre sold. He has arranged for frequent excursions, going and returning the same day. The trains from Los Angeles reach Perris in 2½ hours.

It is reported that since the opening of this new area many tracts have been sold for purely investment purposes, though preference is given to those who till the soil, as far as possible.

For the benefit of new people, a geographically correct map of Southern California counties has been published. This, with detailed information on Perris Irrigated Farms will be furnished free of charge to all who apply in person or by postal, to Emil Firth, Land Merchant, 346 Broadway, Los Angeles.

INFORMATION

For Newcomers, Inquirers, Subscribers and Advertisers, Agents and the General Public:

SCOPE AND AIMS:
THE TIMES PUBLISHES REGULARLY more pages of news and other reading matter and a larger volume of advertising than any other paper extant.

DISTINGUISHING FEATURES: Independent, uncompromised, unshackled, unpurchaseable, unafraid and unincumbered. THE LOS ANGELES TIMES is devoted to the great principles of Liberty under Law, Equal Rights in all fields of lawful human endeavor, Industrial Freedom, and to the upbuilding of Los Angeles, the State of California and the great Southwest.

AS TO LABOR: THE TIMES is the undeviating friend of all honest toilers—of all unshackled law-abiding workers everywhere; and while never denying the right of workmen to organize lawfully, it is the unyielding foe of lawless, proscriptive, monopolistic and exclusive labor organizations, because they are the selfish enemies of their own class and of the common industrial weal. Our position is unmistakable and will be maintained. The long record of The Times as a just, liberal, reliable paymaster is unassailable. During the period between August 4, 1890, and September 30, 1911, there was paid to our loyal and well-satisfied non-union workmen, in salaries and wages, the telling aggregate cash sum of $4,269,319.17—mainly to skilled labor.

SWORN CIRCULATION: Daily net average—seven days, Sunday included—for 1896, 15,801 copies; for 1897, 19,258; for 1898, 26,124; for 1899, 25,731; for 1900, 26,733; for 1901, 26,488; for 1902, 36,980; for 1903, 36,340; for 1904, 37,702; for 1905, 42,150; for 1906, 50,501; for 1907, 52,311; for 1908, 53,700; for 1909, 54,954; for 1910, 57,358; for 1912, 61,500; for the first six months of 1913, 66,011.

AGENTS: Eastern Agents, William, Lawrence & Cresmer Co., Brunswick Building, 5th Ave. and 26th St., New York; 824-25 Harris Trust Building, 1110 West Monroe St., Chicago. Washington Bureau, 46 Frost Building (THE TIMES on file.) San Francisco Office, 742 Market St., R. J. Bidwell Company.

THE ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY: Published on Saturdays; 24 pages, distinct and complete in itself. "The Unique Magazine of the Sensuous Southwest." Mailed to subscribers separately from the Daily Times for $2.60 per year, postpaid. Single copies 10 cents, postpaid.

TWO SPECIAL OFFERS: From and after this date, an extra copy of the Los Angeles Times Illustrated Weekly will be MAILED FREE FOR SIX MONTHS upon the order of any person, whether an old subscriber or a new, who contracts to subscribe for the Daily and Sunday Times for one year and pay the price, $9.00, in quarterly installments of $2.25 each, in advance. Or, with a full year's subscription to the Daily and Sunday papers, and $9.00 cash in advance, an extra copy of the Illustrated Weekly will be sent free for 12 months. This is an exceptional opportunity, good for a limited period, to serve a distant friend and at the same time do good missionary work for Los Angeles.

TELEPHONES: Counting-room, Subscription Department, Editorial Rooms, City Editor and Local News Rooms—Sunset, Main 8200; Home 10391.

TERMS: Daily and Sunday, 75 cents a month, or $9.00 a year. Daily without Sunday, $7.50 a year. Sunday alone, $3.50; without the Illustrated Weekly, $2.50. When the Sunday issue is mailed, the Illustrated Weekly is mailed separately, a day in advance.

POSTAGE: On the regular week-day issue (2 or 3 parts,) 2 cents; on the Sunday issue (8 parts,) 7 cents.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF.

"Hangtown" Carnival.

The committee in charge of the "Hangtown" carnival announced yesterday that the old postoffice site at Seventh street and Grand avenue has been secured for the production. Because the visitors will be a part of the village and its peculiar people a large building was necessary.

Pythian Dance.

An informal dance to be given next Thursday night at Carl Horn's dancing Academy, Fifteenth and Main streets, by Silver Star Lodge, No. 312, Knights of Pythias, will be one of a series of entertainments by which the members of the Pythian police lodge hope to establish cordial relations between the city's guardians and the citizens.

Victor Valley Wins.

The Victor Valley boosters came down from the Watsonville apple show yesterday, showing the ribbons won over 500 competitors, and singing the praises of their district. They took first and second prizes for Bellfleurs; first for Northwestern Greenings and second for Rome Beauties. The apples were grown at an elevation of about 3000 feet, in a district which planted 50,000 trees last year.

Big Library Circulation.

The circulation of the Public Library for the month of September was 115,000 volumes, as against 76,988 for the same month in 1912, and September is considered the least busy month of the year. On account of the opening of the schools and the beginning of the season's work in the clubs, October and November are always heavy months and a phenomenal increase is expected. The spring months are the busiest of all. Many new books have been added to the library.

Dressmakers Social Organization.

About twenty-five dressmakers of the city have banded themselves together as the Dressmakers Association of Southern California, and on Monday night held their first meeting for the season, the members having returned from their summer vacations. It is purely a social and mutual benefit association and those interested in it are desirous of uniting all employing dressmakers in the movement. They will meet monthly in the Luckenbach building to discuss matters in which all are interested.

French Society Elects Officers.

The "Ligue Francaise," composed of over 300 French residents of Southern California, at its last meeting elected the following officers: Honorary president, Louis Sentous; president, Jean Castera; vice-president, M. Bertrand, Sr.; secretary, Maurice Fog; treasurer, J. F. Mirasson; other members of Executive Committee, H. Bertrand, Jr., J. Charvier, Henri Gottave, Leon Curtet, Alex Delleris, F. Domeens, B. Foix, Eugene Gereis, T. J. Molle, L. Pedy and J. Volle. Arrangements are under way for a grand masque ball in Turner Hall, November 22.

Wisconsin's Governor Here.

Gov. F. E. McGovern of Wisconsin and a party composed of the following arrived at the Alexandria yesterday: Dr. A. J. Provost of Oshkosh, J. S. Murphy of Superior, A. N. Prellim of Wausau, and D. E. Borne of Mellen. The party will go to San Diego today and then to San Francisco, where the Governor will select a site for the Wisconsin building at the Panama-Pacific exposition. The party passed yesterday afternoon sightseeing and last night were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bettinger at a box party at the Orpheum.

Imperial Water Meeting.

Stockholders of Imperial Water Company No. 1 adopted resolutions recently providing for the formation of an organization to discuss and further matters pertaining to the water system and to make recommendations that will serve the best interest of our company. Thereunto another meeting of stockholders and water-users is called at Heber, October 18, at 1 o'clock, to form a Land Owners' and Water Users' League of Imperial Water Company No. 1, and recommend that a series of meetings should be held from time to time in different localities of the valley which all interested may attend.

CHRYSANTHEMUM FESTIVAL.

Grand Display of Favorite Blossoms Set for the Latter Part of October In This City.

Plans have been perfected for the holding of a Grand Chrysanthemum Festival in this city and the movement has been completely financed, so that no more funds are required to carry out the design of those interested in the movement. This first display of chrysanthemums, which will be held from October 24 to November 12 at No. 1028-32 South Main street, will require 200,000 blossoms to form the exhibit as planned by the projectors, and it is hoped that it may become an annual event of national importance to the city of Los Angeles.

The Floral Art Display Company, which is sponsor for the festival, sets forth three reasons why it has advantages over other floral festivals. The flowering season of the chrysanthemum comes in the dullest business season; they bloom much longer than any other flower, and can be arranged in a permanent exhibit for at least three weeks. The projectors are enthusiastic over the matter and declare that it will eventually cause people to journey from all parts of the world to witness it. Norton F. W. Hazeldine is secretary of the festival and will be glad to give information.

LOVINGLY LAID TO REST.

Late Judge Allen's Wish of Simplicity of Funeral Service Followed By His Family.

Private funeral services marked by simplicity and an absence of pomp and ceremony as expressed by his wish as he neared the end, were conducted over the body of the late Judge Matthew T. Allen yesterday afternoon at the Allen residence, Pasadena avenue and Avenue Fifty. The services were conducted by Dr. J. A. Gordon, a retired Episcopalian minister and an old and dear friend of the late jurist. The pall-bearers also were from the inner circle of friends. Burial was in Rosedale Cemetery.

The family received messages of condolence from persons in many walks of life. A great many beautiful floral gifts were sent by friends. A member of the Allen family gave this statement concerning the funeral to The Times last night:

"The overwhelming messages of love and sympathy from so many makes it seem that we should explain why the funeral was private. In this regard we were following a wish expressed by him. Simplicity marked his life and it was his very strong desire that the last rites over his body should be in accord with that personal characteristic."

WHAT the railroads will not do about the opening of the Panama Canal would make the longer story. Nevertheless, the high moguls of the steam lines are by no means oblivious to the possibility that the canal opening will rob them of business. But as they are optimists, also psychologists, they are preparing to reap the whirlwind, as it were, in their own peculiar way. Precisely, they are going to cater to the "get there" desires of Americans in a way that will keep the dollars rolling into their exchequers in the old familiar way.

A year ago it was the habit of the hysterical to credit the railroads with plans for financial manipulations which would keep the steamship companies eating out of their hands. There was also talk of a refusal to make dock deliveries. It was also quite the thing to picture the railroads' future as freight carriers between the East and West as dark to the point of ruin.

But, as was said before, the railroads are going after the business in their own peculiar way. Within the past few months they have vied with one another in reductions of passenger and freight schedules between the East and West. Only last week the Salt Lake, with the Union Pacific and carriers east of Chicago, cut three hours from the cross-country time. The Santa Fe is to follow suit, so is the Southern Pacific. Freight schedules are also being hacked and pruned.

RAILROADS AFTER SLICE OF CANAL TRADE MELON.

Officials Say Ditch Will Bring More Business Than It Diverts.

Transcontinental Lines Prepare to Spend Millions in Equipment, Reduce Freight Rates and Running Time in Firm Belief that They Will Share Materially in Coming Era of Pacific Coast Prosperity.

WHAT the railroads will not do about the opening of the Panama Canal would make the longer story. Nevertheless, the high moguls of the steam lines are by no means oblivious to the possibility that the canal opening will rob them of business. But as they are optimists, also psychologists, they are preparing to reap the whirlwind, as it were, in their own peculiar way. Precisely, they are going to cater to the "get there" desires of Americans in a way that will keep the dollars rolling into their exchequers in the old familiar way.

A year ago it was the habit of the hysterical to credit the railroads with plans for financial manipulations which would keep the steamship companies eating out of their hands. There was also talk of a refusal to make dock deliveries. It was also quite the thing to picture the railroads' future as freight carriers between the East and West as dark to the point of ruin.

But, as was said before, the railroads are going after the business in their own peculiar way. Within the past few months they have vied with one another in reductions of passenger and freight schedules between the East and West. Only last week the Salt Lake, with the Union Pacific and carriers east of Chicago, cut three hours from the cross-country time. The Santa Fe is to follow suit, so is the Southern Pacific. Freight schedules are also being hacked and pruned.

WILL STILL DO BUSINESS.

"We are going to furnish service," said General Traffic Manager Wann of the Salt Lake yesterday, "though I don't think that the railroads will be hurt one bit by the opening of the canal. The ditch may get some of our coarse freight, no-time-delivery-limit business, but as statistics show that traffic is increasing 8 per cent. a year the country over and 15 per cent. in the West, we could lose some of it and still be doing business."

"There will be no diminution in the railroads' business on account of the canal," said Assistant Passenger Traffic Manager Byrne of the Santa Fe. "At any rate the growth of the Southwest and the big business promised for exposition year will so effectively cover up any loss that the metric scale will have to be used to detect it."

"Turn to Poore's annual," said President Mohler of the Union Pacific on his last visit here, "and look up the percentage increases in the earnings of western roads the past ten years and you will find that the railroads have survived decreased rates, both freight and passenger, adverse court decisions, and other ills, and have kept on adding to the physical value of their property."

This is the optimistic side of it; now turn to the psychological, which is also flavored with the optimistic.

Last week the Salt Lake placed an order with the American and Baldwin locomotive companies for $250,000 worth of new motive power—eight big mogul freight machines and three switchers. The same road but recently received a $750,000 order of freight cars.

SPENDING MILLIONS.

As for the Southern Pacific, it is so anxious to secure $10,000,000 to buy new equipment, both passenger and freight, that it is offering tempting

VAST WEIGHT OF WATER.

Ten Thousand Tons Used to Extinguish Grocery Fire,, Flooding a Whole Basement.

Ten thousand tons of water was used by the fire department yesterday to extinguish a fire that destroyed a $20,000 stock of the Los Angeles Grocery Company at No. 1236 Factory place yesterday. The cause of the fire is unknown.

It was discovered early in the morning by agents of the Merchants Fire Dispatch, who were alarmed by smoke fumes. When the department arrived, the heart of the fire was found centered in the basement, where a valuable stock of perishable groceries was in storage.

To combat the flames the entire basement had to be flooded, the water coming to the ground level before the fire could be extinguished. It was the flooding of the basement that took the immense quantity of water.

LIQUOR TO AN INDIAN.

George Smith, a bartender at First and Los Angeles streets, was arrested yesterday on a bench warrant on the charge of selling liquor to an Indian. He was held in $2500 bonds, which was furnished.

Psychology at Y.M.C.A.

A class in psychology, under the direction of Thomas Gregory Burt, dean of Occidental College, was opened at the Y.M.C.A. on Friday night. He will teach the subject from a practical standpoint, applying the principle to the problems of every-day life.

BEAN MENACES THE INDIANS.

Little Dream-Producer Worse Than Pestilence.

"Hop" that Makes 'Em Dance Become Problem.

Father Hughes Brings Word of Odd Calamity.

Having survived pestilence, war and the greed of the white man, the Indians of the United States are now threatened by a small, insignificant-looking bean.

Rev. William Hughes, assistant superintendent of Catholic Indian Missions, is in Los Angeles to deliver two sermons at the Cathedral of St. Vibiana today on the Indian problems.

He brings word of the strange new calamity that has befallen the red man who brews from the peyole bean a tea that gives him the weird sensations and the wild dreams of the opium eater. The habit or craze, or whatever you choose to call it, is spreading through the tribes of the Southwest and is threatening to invade the northern tribes. The government is rather puzzled to know how to deal with the problem.

The peyole was brought from Mexico at a comparatively recent date.

BEARING UP BRAVELY.

Louisiana Hard Hit by Tariff Changes—Glad It Will Not Have to Entertain Exposition.

"Louisiana is feeling very much depressed over the tariff on sugar," George H. Davis, a capitalist of New Orleans, said yesterday at the Alexandria. "The general discontent over the new tariff has injured business in practically all lines. It will require many years for the State to outlive the hurt received from the new regulations.

"New Orleans is making a heroic effort to progress in spite of the bad feeling in business circles and there has been a marked increase in population and in the volume of business there in the last year.

"In the circumstances it appears now that it is best for New Orleans that it did not land the big Panama exposition which went to San Francisco. Conditions in the city and State undoubtedly would have made it difficult to finance the project."

Davis and his wife and their sons Philip and Putnam have been traveling for pleasure several weeks on the Pacific Coast. They will tour the East before returning home.

ALASKANS TO CELEBRATE.

The Alaska-Yukon Club reorganized a few days ago with the election of Judge David T. Roy as president and S. W. Wall, secretary-treasurer, will celebrate its rebirth with a banquet at Christopher's next Saturday evening (Alaska Day) to which all men of the Far North—and women—and their friends are invited. Service will begin at 8:30. The Alaska-Yukon Club has cut out for itself the effective work of boosting Southern California in the Far North, getting in touch with Alaskans in Alaska and attracting them in their annual migrations or their final flight toward a permanent home-seeking in the South. Mrs. David T. Roy, No. 431 South Grand avenue, is secretary of the Banquet Committee.

BY TOM FITCH.

EVERY visitor to Los Angeles should take a trip to and through the 3015-acre park which Griffith J. Griffith donated to the city seventeen years ago, and in which he is now preparing to erect at his own cost an open-air Greek theater and a hall of science.

The largest park in the world is at Copenhagen, Denmark. It contains 4200 acres. Griffith Park is the next largest in the world and the largest in America. After that comes Fairmount Park in Philadelphia with 2816 acres, the Prater in Vienna with 2300 acres, the Bois de Bologne in Paris with 2100 acres, Phoenix Park in Dublin with 1760 acres, Forest Park in St. Louis with 1372 acres, the Royal Park in Munich with 1300 acres and Golden Gate Park in San Francisco with 1040 acres.

Central Park in New York has but 864 acres and Regent Park in London has only 450 acres.

There has been less improvement by the city of Los Angeles of Griffith Park than has been made in any eastern park, or in Golden Gate Park in San Francisco; yet many miles of asphalt and macadamized roads have been constructed. Some trees have been planted and other improvements made. Yet very much remains to be done in the way of landscape gardening. There are dozens of views of surpassing beauty and grandeur. There are tangled forests, and babbling brooks and verdant lawns.

ZOO A HAPPY FAMILY.

The transfer of the zoo from Eastlake to Griffith Park has helped to make the latter more attractive to visitors. There are several majestic lions that occasionally condescend to let out a roar. There is a lonesome Royal Bengal tiger, emblem of untamed Tammany. There are three black bears as cheerful as bears could be expected to be on a mixed meat and vegetable diet, with no young pigs or hives of honey on their menu. There are dejected Bull Mooses and complacent raccoons. There are snarling coyotes, crying like the debris of the Progressive party in the third district of Maine. There is a cage full of monkeys looking like—well never mind who the monkeys look like. Caustic comments on contemptible contemporaries are in order only in the editorial columns of The Times. There are bald-headed, and black-headed, and other headed eagles, in whose presence one involuntarily repeats those beautiful lines of Mr. Dooley—

"Here's to the American aigle,
The proud bird of freedom all hail,
The bird that no tongue can inveigle,
Or put salt on his beautiful tail."

And, finally, there is the cage of bright-plumaged and loquacious parrots, one of which stands first on one leg and then on the other, and when a visitor approaches, squawks out, "The trouble with me is that I talk too damned much."

The ancient Greeks in selecting sites for their open-air theaters availed themselves of natural amphitheaters, of which there were many in the hills about Athens.

The acoustic properties of any large auditorium are, after architects have exhausted their skill, largely a matter of accident. The old Mormon tabernacle in Salt Lake City is one in-

BIG WIRELESS PLANTS COMING.

THREE FOR SOUTH OF STATE, ONE IN THIS CITY.

Marconi Company to Build Dozen Costly Stations on Coast, With Hotel at Each, and Work Already Begun—System Soon to Girdle the Globe.

The American Marconi Company is invading the Pacific Coast and has already begun work on the first two of twelve stations. Los Angeles is to have one of these great wireless operating plants, the cost of which runs into several hundred thousand dollars. They are units of a system that will soon girdle the earth, and follow immediately on the completion of a dozen stations of the same kind on the Atlantic Coast.

The handling and caring for the large crew of men who work on the erection of each plant has been awarded by contract to D. Joseph Desmond, who had the commissary contract for the aqueduct.

"We are taking care of 150 men at each one of the works," said Desmond yesterday. "Most of these men have come from the East, where they have been working on the other plants and the two first stations on the Coast are just being started at Bolinas and at Marshall, both towns in this State."

J. G. White & Co., have the contract for construction. In addition to erecting the new type of receiving and sending towers that are the special patents of the American Marconi Company, and which are expected to standardize this feature of wireless telegraphy, the contractors are building a hotel at each station. It requires thirty-eight men to operate a station, and to properly care for these men and their families, the telegraph company builds a hotel having accommodations for fifty persons.

There will be three stations in Southern California, the exact locations of which have not been disclosed. It is the plan of the Marconi company to place the stations in rather out-of-the-way places to avoid interference from any possible outside sources. A station is to be erected soon in Honolulu and another near Manila.

The commissary contract for this extensive work, which will take about two years to complete, is not the only large one awarded Desmond within the past few days. He has the contract for looking after the comforts of the workmen for the Yolo Water and Power Company and the Spring Valley Water Company. The former is building a great earthen dam at Calaveras which means the removal of 3,200,000 yards of earth. The power developed is to be used by San Francisco.

Crops by the Pound.

AGRONOMY ON CANNED FARMS.

Successful Innovation at Gardena School.

Students Plow, Sow, Reap and Keep Accounts.

Ranching by the Inch in de Luxe Style.

Farms de luxe! Miniature farms, from which a small boy could carry off the crop in a gunny sack slung over his shoulder. Farming by the inch, plowing by the pound, potato plants on which you call the roll every day to see if any is missing, and peas that you count morning and evening!

In short, canned farms, out at Gardena Agricultural High School, which have taken the place of learning to farm out of a book, when students raised potatoes in their minds and picked imaginary plums off fanciful trees.

This is the absolutely new feature in the teaching of school agriculture which is being tried out for the first time in any western school, at Gardena Agricultural High School.

These little farms are of course about the size of a Japanese garden, but the boys do all the work on them themselves, plow, harrow, plant, irrigate and reap. Mr. Norton, the teacher of horticulture and agronomy, and for several years in charge of the University of California experiment station at Riverside, believes that in this way he can make real farmers of the boys.

Each boy in agronomy (which is the fancy and technical name for farming) leases a little ranch on the school farm. He goes through all the formalities of a lease, he keeps accounts, whih include his time, the time of the horses rented, the cost of water, the outlay for fertilizers, the depreciation on the tools used, the cost of the lease and so on; he works from 1 o'clock to 5 or 6, if necessary, plowing, husking corn, mowing, or whatever is to be done. He sells his crop when gathered or on the ground back to the school usually, occasionally to outsiders.

Once a week the boys meet in convention to talk over their problems, look up references, give reports.

On the land and in the laboratory they estimate the water supply and calculate the cost; they test the soil for moisture content, water capacity, air capacity, friability, depth, etc. They apply very directly and definitely the knowledge in entomology, botany, chemistry, farm construction and plant propagation gained in other classes in the various courses.

At the end of the course will come the final settlement. "The economic result will be tangible," says Principal Lillard, "but the educational result will be infinitely greater than if the work had been purely academic. In fact that kind of teaching in agriculture is a waste of public money."

In the absence of a dormitory, which it is hoped in time to add to the plant, that the boys may live on the grounds and be present early and late for the performance of all the farm work, such as care of the animals, storing of farm implements, etc., the half-day recitation periods were introduced last year to give the boys more consecutive time for their work on the farm. It was a great success, and Gardena proposes to go still further in making the work genuine, and bringing it closer to things as they are.

"We want to keep the agricultural department open all summer if possible hereafter," said Mr. Hall, head of the farm department. "There are certain phases of the work that students can get only at that season. Most of these boys come from the city; many of them will never go to college, and it is up to us to equip them to go out and earn a wholesome, lucrative living from the soil."

SESSIONS CLOSED.

Women's Missionary Society Re-elects All Officers and Finally Adjourns—Ladies' Quartette Success.

The Pacific branch of the Methodist Foreign Missionary Society closed its annual meeting Friday night, after a three-day session. The election of officers resulted in a re-election of all the present incumbents: Mrs. Edwin H. Hughes of San Francisco, honorary president; Mrs. George B. Smyth of Berkeley, president; Mrs. C. E. Brown of Los Angeles, vice-president; Mrs. S. F. Johnson of Pasadena, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charlotte O'Neal of Pasadena, assistant secretary; Mrs. Belle T. Anderson of San Pedro, associate secretary; Mrs. J. R. Umsted of Los Angeles, recording secretary; Mrs. Z. L. Parmalee of South Pasadena, treasurer; Mrs. J. L. Hooper of Los Angeles, superintendent of young people's work; Mrs. Lulu M. Firey of Pomona, superintendent of children's work.

Over 800 women have registered during the meeting and seventeen missionaries were present. The apportionment for the Pacific branch this year is fixed at $55,000.

The missionary quartette from First Church Auxiliary made the hit of the afternoon. Four dignified gray-haired women filed onto the platform amidst great hand-clapping and proceeded to sing a ringing missionary song, which simply brought down the house. An encore was vociferously demanded and the four then sang an antiphonal concerning the use of the mystery box, which has found high favor in missionary circles. The quartette included Mrs. S. W. Hopkins, Mrs. Helen A. Birdsall, Mrs. Lydia McMahan and Miss Frances E. Freeman. So delighted was the audience that the singers were offered strong inducements to go on tour to the general executive meeting to be held at Topeka the last of this month. For this meeting Miss Emma Mendenhall of Los Angeles and Mrs. W. F. McClure of Sacramento were appointed official delegates.

FOR A HIGHER SALARY.

As a mark of appreciation of the work of Third Assistant District Attorney Archbald, United States District Attorney Schoonover will recommend to the Department of Justice that his salary be increased from $1800 to $2000 annually. This will not mean any increase in the cost of maintaining the office, as the extra $200 will be taken from the salary of the new second assistant, who is to be appointed this week. It is understood that Archbald will be undisturbed in his position if he cares to remain.

stance of success in this particular. This success is believed to be due to its oval form and the entire absence of an echo. Brigham Young was the architect and he claimed to have received, when drawing the plans, a tip from the Almighty.

OPEN-AIR THEATER.

Norton and Wallis of this city, in association with Heath and Gove of Tacoma, Wash., designed the open-air theater to be erected in Griffith Park. That is to say, Nature formed the site and the architects selected and adopted it. Mr. Heath designed the stadium at Tacoma and the larger stadium at Vancouver, the latter of which seats 50,000 people. Mr. Heath received valuable suggestions from measured drawings of ancient Greek and Roman theaters, made both in their conditions of ruin and in their state of restoration.

The design of the Los Angeles stadium holds close to the ancient models, and the best features of the early Greek and pre-Roman periods are preserved and adapted to modern use.

HALL OF SCIENCE.

On the summit of the horseshoe ridge, which will form the natural walls of the theater auditorium, in Griffith Park, will be erected a hall of science and observatory. In this structure will be a model of the solar system showing the relative size of the sun and the planets. There will be a small coelostat and stereoscope, to show the sun's image and the solar spectrum.

There will also be a fair-sized celestial globe showing the position of the brighter stars, and a good collection of photographs of the sun, planets, nebulae, comets, etc. There will be lighted exhibits of birds and fishes, shown in natural posture in the midst of their own environments.

There will be an evolutionary museum, with illustrations showing the formation of worlds, and tracing the developments of life on this planet from the most rudimentary organic forms to the highest civilization of the present time.

The hall of science will have a large moving-picture plant for educational purposes, and a seating capacity for several thousand people. High and above this building will be an observatory complete with a twelve-inch telescope.

NOTEWORTHY PRECEDENT.

Sarah Bernhardt played in "Phedre" at the Berkeley open-air theater, also Margaret Anglin in "Elektra," Maude Adams in "As You Like It" and Tetrazzini, with a marvelous chorus and a symphony orchestra, presented "Stabat Mater."

There are stadiums at Harvard, and Peterboro, N. H., on the college Princeton, Cornell, Norfolk, Ct., campus. At Harvard Maude Adams, with 1500 assistants, presented the story of Joan of Arc.

At Ere in the Austrian Alps the Passion Play is annually enacted amid nature's surroundings with simplicity and dignity, by the peasants of that picturesque land, and the Oberammergau, and the Festpielhaus of Wagnerian fame draw great crowds to Bayreuth.

AT PARK'S ENTRANCE.

Few realize the firm hold that the nature theater—but another phase of the arena theater—has taken on the mind of Americans. It holds a place of significance in the salvation of the drama, an altar set in the highway where art for art's sake is the slogan of the woodland.

As Ernest Wachlen of Weimar has builded in the Harz mountains, as Lorenz has builded in the Alps near Wurtemberg, so Griffith J. Griffith proposes to build for Los Angeles and Southern California a granite and cement semi-circle fitted simply to that wonderful amphitheater that nature has hollowed in the Hollywood hills—an amphitheater rivaled only by the Colosseum at Rome and the Temple at Athens.

Nature has been prolific. She has so surrounded this ideal spot that even the winds are bridled and an echo found impossible. By extending the tiers of seats a little further than the slope of the sides to the proscenium arch, and facing them with two triumphant pillars within whose recesses elevators may run, raising the public to the different landings, or levels, 50,000 people may be seated, and 600 feet away a permanent gigantic stage be erected 800 feet wide, with a background built in the simple manner of an Athenian temple with its columns and an area in front on whose stage thousands may take part in pageantry, in dramatic action and in swelling chords of harmony, while closer in this amphitheater will be erected a sectional stage with electrical appliances and scenic appointments.

There, in the sparkling sunrays or under the queen orb of night, there will be given to unlimited spectators the dramatic creations of centuries gone and the choicest of the compositions of the present day.

The Nature Theater will exercise a great and a beneficent influence on the civilization of the day. It was designed not as a charity, not as a monument to its founder, but as a benefit to the people where thousands at a minimum price may hear the maximum of art.

The stadium at Pt. Loma shows what may be done in a small way. When Sarah Bernhardt first visited the Pacific Coast a decade ago, she was delighted with the little Greek temple there. She declared that the two things that stood forth greatest in her memory of her many triumphs was the one at the Berkeley open-air theater, and the other in the theater built upon the end of the wharf at Venice, in Los Angeles county.

To seek the forest theater is to find a respite in Walhalla. There is no reason why Los Angeles cannot become the American Oberammergau, and the Athenian stadium in Griffith Park become the pioneer of other temples of education that shall crown our hills and redound to the credit of our city, and State, and nation.

Seated upon the mountainside in Griffith Park, where the top row of seats is to be, looking downward toward the site of the stage, the mind's vision pierced the mists of time; twenty-three centuries "shriveled like a scroll and the past became the present."

It was not the City of the Angels, but the city of the violet crown, whose distant hum was heard. It was not Mt. Hollywood that towered above, it was the mountain that looked on Marathon and from its summit was visible, pencilled against the western sky, not the softly swelling Pacific, but the blue Aegean.

Here the struggles of twentieth-century life are forgotten and we enjoy the society of the orators, and statesmen, and poets and dramatists of ancient Greece. Not as individuals, but, rather as personifications, do they come to us. Socrates walking in the groves of the Academy represented the incarnated philosophy of two worlds when he said to those who condemned him to drink the hemlock, "I am to die, O, judges, and we are to live, and which is best the Gods alone do know."

ANCIENT INSPIRATION.

At the foot of Mt. Hollywood we were in Greece—Greece, the parent of all that is best in the literature of Europe and America. Burke and Pitt, and Webster and Clay, were but echoes of Demosthenes. Bacon and Emerson were the mental offspring of Socrates and Pericles. Without Homer there would have been no Dante, no Tennyson, no Longfellow. The wit of Juvenal and Cervantes, and Butler, and Sydney Smith, and Wendell Holmes and Mark Twain flowed from an attic spring, and the imagery and philosophy, and power and pathos of Shakespeare, were the fruits of a tree whose roots underlie the foundations of the Parthenon.

PROVE

Seated in the Greek Theater under the genial California skies we may for a moment, with Macaulay, transport ourselves in thought to glorious Athens. We are entering its gates, in the time of its power and glory. A crowd is assembled round a portico. All are gazing with delight at the entablature, for Phidias is putting up the frieze. We turn into another street; a rhapsodist is reciting there; men, women, children are thronging round him, the tears are running down their cheeks; their eyes are fixed; their very breath is still; for he is telling how Priam fell at the feet of Achilles and kissed those hands—the terrible, the murderous—which had slain so many of his sons. We enter the public place; there is a ring of youths, all leaning forward, with sparkling eyes, and gestures of expectation. Socrates is pitted against the famous atheist from Ionia, and has just brought him to a contradiction in terms. But we are interrupted. The herald is crying "Room for the Prytanes." The general assembly is to meet. The people are swarming in on every side. Proclamation is made—"Who wishes to speak?" There is a shout and a clapping of hands. Pericles is mounting the stand. Then for a play of Sophocles, and away to sup with Aspasia.

TRIUMPHS OF ATHENS.

Who that has read the splendid tribute of Macaulay to ancient Greece can ever forget it? "All the triumphs," he wrote, "of truth and genius over prejudice and power, in every country and in every age, have been the triumphs of Athens. Wherever a few great minds have made a stand against violence and fraud, in the cause of liberty and reason, there has been her spirit in the midst of them, inspiring, encouraging, consoling "by the lonely lamp of Erasmus; by the restless bed of Pascal; in the tribune of Mirabeau; in the cell of Galileo; on the scaffold of Sydney. But who shall estimate her influence on private happiness? Who shall say how many thousands have been made wiser, happier and better by those pursuits in which she has taught mankind to engage; to how many the studies which took their rise from her have been wealth in poverty, liberty in bondage, health in sickness, society in solitude. Her power is indeed manifested at the bar, in the Senate, in the field of battle, in the schools of philosophy. But these are not her glory. Wherever literature consoles sorrow, or assuages pain, wherever it brings gladness to eyes which fail with wakefulness and tears, and ache for the dark house and the long sleep, there is exhibited, in its noblest form, the immortal influence of Athens."

That influence is revived and reinvigorated and brought marching down the aisles of the centuries by just such contributions to the public welfare, by just such uplifting of the thought and action of our youths as will be wrought by the Greek Theater and the Hall of Science in Griffith Park. There will be presented the dramas of Sophocles and Shakespeare, and Schiller and Goethe. There will be recited the orations of Demosthenes and Pericles and the poems of Homer. There the uplifting music of Mozart, the "gathered grieving" of Beethoven, and the sublime strains of Handel and Wagner, will ring and echo against the mountainsides of the mighty auditorium.

NO RIVAL IN NEW WORLD.

LOCAL IMPRESARIO DECLARES THEATER IMPOSING.

Permanent Gigantic Stage, He Says, With Graduated Auditorium Having a Capacity to Seat Fifty Thousand People, Are Possible According to Accepted Plans.

BY L. E. BEHYMER.

I enjoyed the honor of a ride over to the East Hollywood entrance of Griffith Park with the man who made it possible for Los Angeles to secure a sufficient acreage to give to this wonderful city of the Southland a recreation ground that would be good for many years to come, until we become more than a million souls. With nooks and corners for the animals of the West, with huge aviaries for the fowls of the air of every species in the known world; hills and valleys for the deer, elk, bison, the cattle of the Holy Land, and with trees and shrubbery, crags and cliffs in which wild animals may have their haunt and still be protected by the bounds of nature and the bars of men, thrive in this wonderful climate until with the splendid foliage it becomes a veritable Garden of Eden for the education, amusement, and the resting of tired bodies and minds of this section of the human race that is supposed to be growing nearer perfection than that to be found in any other part of the globe.

The approach is a beautiful vista, and the plan of the donor to make the first view of this attractive corner is almost Elysian. As you round the curve of the canyon, the first thing that will burst upon the view will be, on Mt. Hollywood, a temple dedicated to science, with museums, observatories, mathematical and mechanical instruments, every known invention to bring man in closer communion with nature, with the planets, the universe, and the Master Maker, the Divine Creator.

Adjacent to this is to be the Temple of Walhalla, a facsimile of that beautiful structure which overlooks the Danube a few miles out of Regensburg, in Bavaria, where Prince Louis built a structure in which are enshrined the busts of warriors, statesmen, poets, inventors, musicians who have made famous both Germany and Prussia in the past century.

In the foreground, nestling at the foot of this mountain, and facing it, is a formation of nature which outrivals in many ways the architecture of man; a shelter spot in the superb, virgin woodlands and the magnificent mountainsides which offers itself as a natural setting—such as the Roman senator, the Attic poet, the wandering minstrel, or the mighty Demosthenes might have dreamed of, but never known. Those who have visited the Greek theater at Berkeley with its sylvan setting and its terraces of granite and cement have marveled at its magnificent proportions and almost perfect acoustics.

I have made pilgrimages northward several times to hear Ben Greet and his pastoral players, Sarah Bernhardt in "Phedre," Margaret Anglin in "Elektra," Maude Adams in "As You Like It," and Tetrazzini with a marvelous chorus and a symphony orchestra presenting "Stabat Mater," and envied Berkeley its mighty arena in which distinguished people could extend a perfection of the dead Attic splendors to the lovers of classic lore.

Again I have journeyed to Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, Norfolk, Ct., Peterboro, N. H., and recall the campuses of many colleges momentarily converted into arenas at a tremendous expense to the promoters of these educational purposes, and sighed for a possibility on the Pacific Coast that would some day give to Los Angeles and Southern California a similar edifice for similar purposes.

If you should wish to unite dramatic art or pastoral productions with commercialism, as an advertising factor, the one event at the Harvard stadium where Maude Adams with 1500 assistants presented the story of Joan of Arc so sumptuously, would prove a fitting example as to commercial values, for it has been photographed, talked about, written about, all over the known world in many languages.

Last year I journeyed to the little town of Erl, 180 miles up in the Austrian Alps from Munich, there to hear the "Passion Play," as it has been enacted in nature's surroundings with simplicity and dignity by the peasants of that picturesque land. I sat at the feet of the muse at Oberammergau and in Bayeuth at the "Festspeilhaus" of Wagnerian fame, and longed for something in the Southland that would allow us to give our people what these countries are giving theirs.

SNOW-CAPPED WITNESS.

Alaskan Commissioner Here to Testify in Trial Involving Valuable Garnet Claims.

William G. Thomas, United States Commissioner and ex-officio Recorder at Wrangell, Alaska, is a belated witness for the government in the criminal action pending against Dr. Thomas H. Morgan, charged with misuse of the United States mails in promoting a garnet mine proposition in Alaska, who reached the city yesterday.

Thomas was accompanied by the official records of his office, making a bundle of books that one man could no more than carry. He says that in 1904 Morgan filed a mineral claim, but that the description is so uncertain that it might be located on any of the 200 miles within what is termed the "Wrangell district." It was described by no metes and bounds, and could not possibly be located from the description. But the record also shows that no assessment work was done on this nebulous district, and under the mining laws of Alaska the claim became null and void on and after January, 1905, even if the claim had been described in such a way that it could be definitely located.

Thomas declares that so far as he knows the only garnet mine in the Wrangell district, or in Alaska, is owned by the Alaska Garnet Mining and Manufacturing Company, of which Miss Mary T. Elmer is treasurer and Miss Anna E. Durkee general manager and secretary, and to whom it is alleged Morgan tried here to sell an interest in the property they already own.

SAGE TEA BEAUTIFULLY DARKENS THE HAIR WHEN FADED AND GRA

Mixed With Sulphur Makes Hair Soft, Lustrous and Cures Dandruff.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded, or streaked appearance this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays skilled chemists do this better than ourselves. By asking at any drug store for the ready-to-use product—called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy"—you will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Some druggists make their own, which is usually too sticky, so insist upon getting "Wyeth's," which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says his customers insist on Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because, they say, it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. Do this at night and by morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant. Agents, Sun Drug Co. Capt. J. L. Crowell

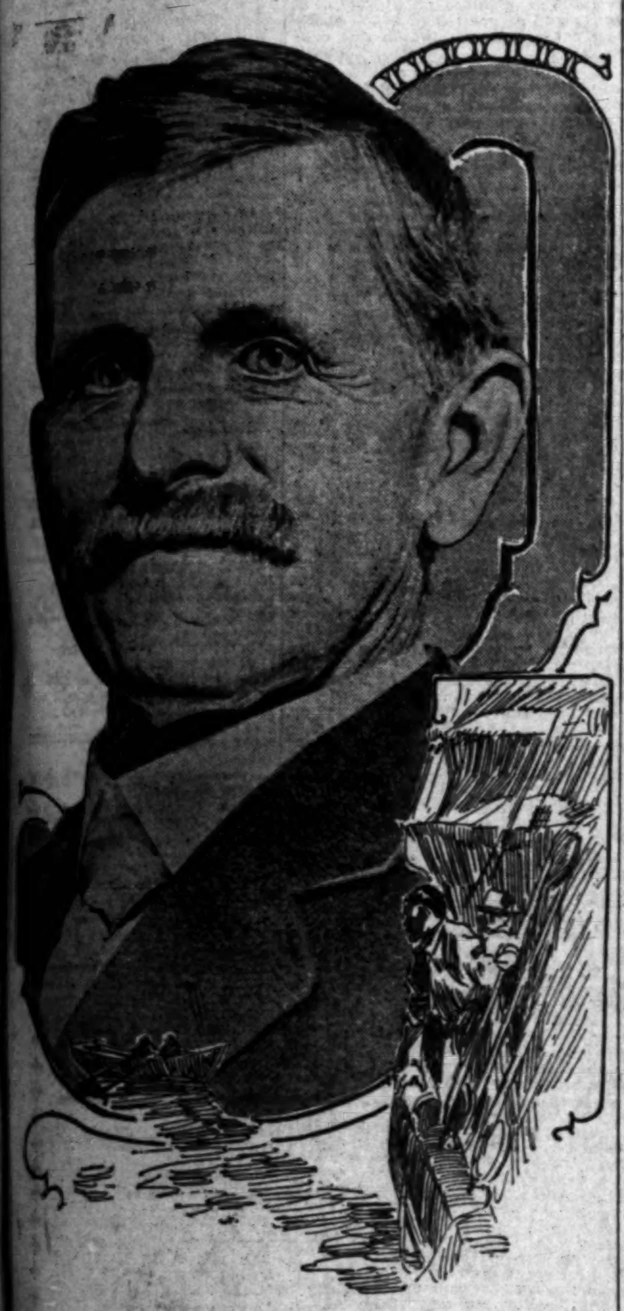
First Hand.

SAW PANAMA FAILURE; REJOICES IN SUCCESS.



Capt. J. L. Crowell,

...sailing master, a quarter of a century on the Pacific Coast, who saw ...first vessel, an Italian brigantine, pass through the Suez Canal in ..., and who, in 1882, was captain of a boat which delivered a load of ...al to De Lesseps in Panama.

A...OR in the epoch-making ...ents which made M. de Lesseps ...the feted conqueror of the ...us of Suez and the heart-broken ...of Panama, Capt. J. L. Crowell, ...sident of the San Pedro Shipbuilding ...and Transportation Company, sat ...his office in the Los Angeles In...ment building yesterday and drew ...s of a near-buried past which ...big with interest in these days ...the linking of the Atlantic and ...Pacific is an accomplished fact.

"...in 1868," said Crowell, ...from the Abyssinian War that ...young man before the mast, ...at the canal wall at Port Said ...saw the first boat, an Italian ...ntine, loaded with dates, pass in... Suez Canal. Fourteen years ...as master and owner of the ...Martha N. Hale—named ...my wife—I landed at Aspin... from Baltimore with a cargo of ...for De Lesseps.

"...it was when I landed ...continued Crowell in a re...mood. 'Said I to a French...I saw the first boat pass ...the Suez Canal.' He told De ...and De Lesseps said, 'I don't ...it; bring me that man.'

"...up the hill I went to where ...Frenchman held court and said ...'Twas an Italian brigantine, ...white, of a rakish rig, loaded ...dates.' 'You were there,' he ...and grasped my hand.

"Those were hard days on the Isthmus of Panama. Six months I stayed there and three cargoes of Jamaica negroes, 500 to the cargo, did I see disappear right under my own eyes, cut down by the Chagres fever. I know, because it was an old mate of mine that was bringing the negroes out.

"But, mind you, that De Lesseps was a man. If he had had the money and the doctors had known anything about mosquitos that canal would have been completed by the French."

Sixty-five years of age, spry, weather-beaten, for it is but two years since he deserted the quarterdeck for shipbuilding, Capt. Crowell is a survival of the old days of the four-master. Born on Cape Cod, he went to sea as a lad and in 1864 shipped for Buenos Ayres on a fast clipper that ran into the Confederate privateer Florida off Pernambuco.

"It was a running fight for a thousand miles," he said yesterday, "but we finally showed old Jeff Davis our heels, thanks to some fancy seamanship and a lightening of load by throwing our cargo overboard."

After the war shipping was slow on this side and Crowell went into the English navy and consequently got mixed up in the Abyssinian War. A quarter of a century ago he came to this Coast and for many years commanded vessels in Alaskan waters. While he was in command of a Union Line ship he discovered and named Union Bay, one of the hidden estuaries of the Alaskan coast.

In this new arrangement, the shipper will benefit in two ways. He will get the advantage of a rate which is a combination of the rail and ocean rate, sans all other charges, and he will be assured expeditious handling, for the railroads will see to it that the freight makes good ocean connections outbound.

Traffic Record.

GREATEST RUSH OF COLONISTS.

FIVE THOUSAND COMING TODAY AND TOMORROW.

Several Trains of New Citizens Due Here and Railroads Preparing to Distribute Them—Lumber Rates to Be Investigated by State Commission.

As a grand finale to the biggest colonist rush in the history of Southern California, the railroads promise to land 5000 newcomers in this city today and tomorrow. If the railroads' expectations are realized, this will bring the grand total of colonist arrivals for the season up to 28,750 persons.

According to figures prepared yesterday by Assistant General Passenger Agent Heid of the Santa Fe, that road will have twenty-five extra colonist cars in here today and twenty-six tomorrow. District Passenger Agent McGinnis of the Southern Pacific promises thirty extra cars today and seventeen tomorrow, while the Salt Lake has a special train of eleven extra cars due today and sixteen extra tourist cars tomorrow.

If every one of these extra cars brings in an average of thirty-five persons, which is five below capacity, 4475 persons will be landed here in special cars alone.

Arrivals yesterday fell below expectations. Though final figures are not available, the three trunk-line roads estimated last night that not over 1500 persons had been brought in. At least 2000 were expected.

Though the season's arrivals will run 3000 over preliminary estimates, railroad traffic men are predicting that the spring rush will make the fall rush look small. They have reasons to so believe, for the transcontinental roads have broken their long-standing rule and are going to make the spring colonist selling season thirty days in length instead of fifteen days. The reason for the lengthening of the season is that the railroads anticipate one grand rush of those who are preparing to share the fruitful opportunities which are expected to attend the opening of the Panama Canal in the fall of 1914 and the two big expositions the following year.

LUMBER AFFAIRS. TO SCRUTINIZE RATES.

Every lumber rate within the State is to be subjected to the scrutiny of the Railroad Commission in an investigation which will begin in San Francisco before President Eshleman early in December. Notices to this effect have been sent out to the Santa Fe, Salt Lake, Southern Pacific, Western Pacific and Northwestern Pacific railroads, citing their legal representatives to appear before Eshleman to show cause why rates should not be readjusted.

Action of this kind has been promised by the commission ever since the lumber-rate hearings here some months ago which resulted in a general slash of rates between the harbor and Pasadena, San Gabriel and concerns situated on the Redondo Beach branch of the Santa Fe, outside of the switching limits of this city. The decision in this case fairly inundated the commission with charges of unreasonable lumber rates, registered from all portions of the State.

As this is the largest lumber port of the world, the distributing center for much of the lumber used throughout the Southwest, the San Francisco hearing will be watched with eager interest here. It is already of interest to railroad attorneys, who are preparing a Spartan defense to the commission's charge of unreasonableness.

Debut This Month.

The Pacific Steamship Company's $1,500,000 liner Congress is scheduled to make its debut in this harbor the 28th inst. The boat will leave San Francisco for Seattle the 18th inst., taking the place of the President. This boat is to go on dry dock for extensive repairs, including the installation of oil-burning devices.

ENGLISH AS SHE IS SPOKE.

Insistence of Interpreter in Giving American Names of Complainants Confuses Deputy District Attorney.

A literal interpretation by the Japanese who escorted two complainants to Deputy District Attorney Richardson yesterday resulted in a humorous situation. G. Onoto, who acted as interpreter, insisted in translating the names of the Japanese into English as well as recounting the gist of their story.

"This is Spring April (Hara Watanuki,)" said he. "She complain of Pine Well (Matsui.) I do not know his name in front. She say that Pine Well choke her and harm much. Wooden Door (Kito) saw what transpired."

By this time Richardson was in a state of nervous collapse. Attorney Giesler, who is representing the Watanukis, then told the story a la American.

"Mr. and Mrs. Watanuki carry on a vegetable farm at Burbank," said he. "S. Matsui, against whom we wish a complaint, went to the home of the Watanukis and tried to make love to the lady Hara. She resented his attentions and called for help. Kito saw a part of the struggle. There are other witnesses."

It appears that the Japanese attempted to secure a complaint before yesterday, but owing to the inability of the magistrate to understand Japanese or the flowing translation about "Pine Wells" and "Wooden Doors," nothing was done.

Richardson issued a complaint charging Matsui with assault. The preliminary will probably be held at Burbank. The events complained of occurred September 29.

TELLS OF ITS WORK.

Member of the State Railroad Commission Speaks to City Club at Union League.

An account of the work being accomplished by the State Railroad Commission was given yesterday by Edwin O. Edgerton, a member of this commission, at the weekly luncheon of the City Club at the Union League.

Edgerton outlined the powers and duties of the commission, and declared that the private right of ownership and control of property must yield to public need, and that eventually even money will be put under regulation and control.

The speaker, in outlining the work done and undertaken, stated that there are approximately 1100 utilities under the jurisdiction of the commission, and that the making of a physical valuation of all of these properties after a careful appraisement and inventory is a job of such magnitude that it will not be completed for a year or a year and a half.

In discussing the attitude of the board in passing upon whether a corporation occupying a given field shall meet competition or be protected against it, the speaker said: "There have been vigorous contests before the commission by corporations seeking to invade the field of another with the corporation threatened fighting hard to exclude the invader. The policy has been laid down that when a corporation has been adequately serving a field with reasonable rates and good service, no corporation furnishing a like utility will be allowed in its field. On the other hand, if service of such a corporation has been bad and its rates high the invasion will be permitted and competition set up. This policy has had automatic and widespread effect in bringing about reductions in rates, and improvements in service because the utility manager contemplates an invasion of his field by his competitor unless at the time the application is made the condition of his utility service becomes good as to quality and reasonable as to price."

LAWYERS SUE FOR FEE.

Demurrer Being Overruled, Case Goes to Trial in Justice Court—Defendant "Peeved."

Justice Forbes overruled the demurrer in the case of Collier & Clark, attorneys, against D. Hyman yesterday. The case will be heard shortly in the same court.

The lawyers are suing to recover an alleged balance owing them for obtaining a divorce for Hyman. They ask for $50 and also for additional attorneys' fees for prosecuting the action.

Paul Schenck and Joseph Citron, who are defending the case, say that Hyman has been making monthly payments to the plaintiffs and that they will show he owes nothing to the lawyers from their own statement in Judge Monroe's court.

Hyman secured his decree and expressed himself happy. Now he has fresh trouble piling up.

Public Service: City Hall, Courts

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Mayor yesterday discussed the proposition of putting saloon permits up to the highest bidder. He thinks arrangement of details would be difficult, but that the saloon permits should bring a greater revenue to the city, and that the fees should be graduated according to the excellence of the locations.

The Housing Commission has ordered the closing of six houses on North Main street where the owner neglected to comply with an order to put the habitations in a sanitary condition. The commission is securing betterments in various hotels and lodging-houses.

The Mayor and Council yesterday inspected Alameda street, between Fourth and Sixth, in relation to the ordinance for the relocation of the Southern Pacific tracks on the west side of the street. This would encroach upon sidewalk space, and the Mayor indicated that he may veto the ordinance on the grounds that it overlaps a previous one fixing the sidewalk lines.

At the City Hall.

AUCTION OFF SALOON RIGHTS.

MAYOR DISCUSSES PLAN FOR INCREASED REVENUE.

Believes Arrangement of Details Without Inflicting Injustice Would Be Difficult, but that City Should Receive More Income from Liquor Privileges Granted.

When the City Council sits as a committee of the whole on Friday, the 24th inst., to consider the resolution presented by President Whiffen providing that the liquor-license fees be increased in proportion to their value, it is highly probable that several new phases will be injected into the question of handing the liquor-permit problems, and that among these will be a proposal to offer saloon permits to the highest bidders.

This phase of the subject was discussed by the Mayor yesterday. He believes that considerable difficulty would be encountered in arranging details for such a plan without working injustice, but is firmly of the opinion that the city should receive more revenue from liquor permits.

The Mayor, however, believes that there should be some system of graduated license fees, as the saloon man who has a choice location can well afford to pay a much higher license fee than the one who is located on the outskirts of the zone, in undesirable quarters, and cannot secure a better location.

As to the auction plan, the Mayor believes that should this be decided upon, it should be for bonuses above the regular schedule for license fees, and that this should be so arranged that in case the liquor permit is forfeited during the term of the permit, such portion of the bonus as would apply to the unexpired term would be refunded.

President Whiffen of the City Council said yesterday that he expects the auction proposition will be presented for consideration at the forthcoming meeting of the committee of the whole, but that he is doubtful as to its expediency. He believes, however, that in the readjustment of the license fees, for which he is a strong advocate, there should be a just scale adopted that will not impose a hardship on the holders of permits in undesirable locations, and will cause the ones located in the choicest locations to pay in proportion to the benefits conferred by the privilege conferred by the city.

That serious consideration will be given to an extension of the saloon zone southward seems certain, and it is also highly probable that this will include a curtailment of the zone on the north.

BUSY BUREAU.

HOUSING BOARD'S WORK.

Since the first of September the Housing Commission as a bureau of the health department has been in full charge of the inspection of hotels, lodging houses and apartments, in connection with its many other duties, and good results have already been obtained.

In several cases, instead of issuing summary orders, proprietors or managers of buildings have been summoned before the board and the betterments desired have been pointed out, with the result that these have been made without delay.

Under the provisions of a city ordinance, when new buildings are opened for hotels, lodging houses or apartments, or when there is a change in ownership or management of places now in operation, it is necessary to secure new permits from the health department. There is no fee for the issuance of such permits, but in the cases of all such applications inspectors are sent out to make reports on the situation and sanitary conditions. The demand for such permits is keeping the inspectors very busy.

As an earnest of the purpose of the Housing Commission to enforce its instructions to abate unsanitary conditions, during the past week this bureau has closed six houses, Nos. 1401-1413, inclusive, on North Main street, owned by W. N. Melrose.

These houses were found to be in unsanitary condition and renovation was ordered last July. The owner neglected to comply with the order and during the past week the six families were forced to move out and the houses were officially closed.

ESPEE TRACKS.

MAY VETO ORDINANCE.

It is probable that the Mayor will veto the ordinance adopted by the Council last week, authorizing the relocation of the Southern Pacific tracks on the west side of Alameda street, between Fourth and Sixth streets.

All members of the City Council in the city, with Mayor Rose, Assistant City Attorney Robertson, Inspector of Public Works Hansen and Chief Engineer Titcomb of the Southern Pacific, inspected the situation yesterday.

It is found that ordinance No. 1563, adopted by the Council on March 2, 1893, provided for an eight-foot sidewalk on the west side of Alameda street from Fourth to Sixth streets. The proposed relocation of the tracks would encroach upon the sidewalk space so that only twelve inches would remain. Should the Mayor veto the ordinance, it will be upon the grounds that it would encroach upon the provisions of the ordinance fixing the sidewalk lines.

It is admitted that from an engineering point of view the relocation of the tracks is desirable, as it would throw to the east side of the tracks the street space that can be used for traffic, instead of cutting off a portion of the street, as is now the case; but the only way this can be done legally would be through an abandonment of the sidewalk space. Councilman Wheeler insists that the Southern Pacific officials must go on record as to their attitude on elevation of tracks and separation of grade crossings before the city grants this concession.

New Recreation Centers.

A committee has been appointed by the Playground Commission to visit San Pedro during the present week and make arrangements for the opening of a new recreation center in the harbor town.

The commission has also decided to appropriate a portion of the $1300 in what is known as the benevolent fund, instituted some time ago by Senator Works, for the purpose of opening a recreation center for the use of the Mexican colony in the southeast part of the city. This center will be located on city land in the Los Angeles River bed, between Seventh and Ninth streets. Gymnastic apparatus and a shower bath will be installed, and the place will be in charge of a Mexican resident who has taken a deep interest in securing the new recreation center.

The commission has allowed the Board of Education the use of the kitchen at the City Recreation Center, Holly and St. John streets, for cooking classes of the Ann-street school.

Will Grade Infield.

The park department has been authorized by the Playground Commission to proceed with the grading of the infield at Exposition Park and to place an asphalt coating on the tennis courts.

The Polo Association of Southern California has been granted permission to use the infield for its games as soon as the grading is completed. Permission has also been granted for the use of the race course by the Harness Horse Association.

Undertakers' Zone Approved.

Application has been made to the City Council to have a new undertakers' zone created for the Gardena district, in block D on Ainsworth street. Health Commissioner Powers yesterday filed with the City Clerk his indorsement of this petition.

Wants an Exemption.

T. A. Williams, on behalf of women who are conducting small dancing-schools, filed a petition to the City Council yesterday for an amendment to the ordinance requiring payment of license fees. Williams wants an exemption of the small dancing classes. He says of the provision that requires a payment of $50 per quarter on dancing academies:

"This provision is a great hardship on a few ladies in the city of Los Angeles who make their living by having dancing-schools with a limited number of pupils, and the enforcement of this ordinance would practically deprive them of their livelihood. We do not believe it was the purpose of the Council in adopting this ordinance to interfere with dancing-schools conducted by ladies on a more or less small scale."

Commends Their Stand.

The members of the Echo Park League have written an open letter to Councilmen Whiffen, Bryant and Wheeler, commending them for opposing the granting of further track privileges to the Southern Pacific on Alameda street. The attitude of the opposing Councilman is detrimental to the interests of the people, the league declares, and if not overcome now will result in many complications which will take years to straighten out. Mrs. Clara B. Hardy is president and Mrs. W. S. Barnes secretary of the league.

HARRIS HELD FOR TRIAL.

Confessed Negro Murderer Offers No Testimony—Controversy Over Confession Indicated.

Burr L. Harris, confessed negro murderer of Mrs. Rebecca P. Gay, was held to the action of the Superior Court yesterday by Justice Summerfield. The ruling came at the conclusion of a preliminary examination.

To round out the preliminary case against Harris, Deputy District Attorney Blair had, previous to yesterday, called several witnesses, who laid the foundation for the prosecution by identifying the negro, his clothes, telling of his confession to newspaper men and later to the police and otherwise weaving a web of evidence about the accused.

Detectives Glenn and Stevens were called to the stand yesterday to identify the hat and shoes which were dug up by Burr Harris near his home and which he told the officers were his. At the conclusion of this testimony, the State rested.

Attorney Ceruti, retained by Harris, had no testimony to offer and Justice Summerfield held that enough evidence had been adduced to lead him to believe that Harris was guilty of the crime as charged.

It is believed that the trial of Harris will be rushed and while there is expected to be a controversy over the confession he made, the District Attorney's office feels that the confession will in no wise hamper the prosecution.

COURT ASKED TO DECIDE VALUE OF NEW EXPLOSIVE.

Stockholder Demands Money Back Because of Alleged Fraudulent Representations—New Point of Law Decided Regarding Fees. Adopted Son Cut Off.

A powder of alleged wonderful and mysterious properties is the basis of a suit brought by J. I. Hill, an investor from the East, against J. F. O'Brien, who holds the patent to recover $10,000 invested by Hill in the explosive. The case was called in Judge Wellborn's court yesterday and continued, but in that time the evidence of Judge Howard A Peairs, recently appointed by the Governor to the Superior bench at Bakersfield, was heard. Judge Peairs, previous to his elevation to the bench, had been attorney for O'Brien.

As the case was presented to the court by Attorney Bryant, counsel for Hill, the latter upon investigation had found fraud in representing the powder. Upon this alleged fraudulent representation O'Brien gave his note for $10,000 secured by real property in Oregon. The note was put in escrow. Hill went to Oregan and after investigating the land found it was not worth one-third the of the note.

PLENTY OF FUN.

The Los Angeles theaters will start the new week with four fresh plays of fine quality. This is getting to be one of the biggest theatrical cities on the map.

A FINE POINT.

It is said that aviation develops a sixth sense in a man by multiplying the action of the other senses and uniting them into a new faculty. This ought, perhaps, to be the sense not to leave the earth.

SHOULD BE REPEALED.

Congress should promptly repeal or amend the act of March 2, 1905, which extends the customs laws to merchandise coming from the canal zone into any State or Territory of the United States. The canal zone is, for all purposes, as much a part of the United States as Massachusetts or Alaska or Hawaii, and there is no reason why hemp or tobacco or citrus fruit raised there should be required to pay duty as a condition of admission to California or New York.

GERMANY AT THE FAIR.

There will be a German exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco notwithstanding the refusal of the German government to act. Herr Ballin, with a large staff, is carrying on a brisk propaganda at Berlin, Leipzig, and other manufacturing centers, and the German Manufacturers' Association is preparing for a large exhibit. The San Francisco fair authorities will make no charge for space, and both the Hamburg American Steamship Company and the North German Lloyd will transport at cheap rates all goods designed for the fair and in certain circumstances will make no charge.

CAINE'S LAST BOOK.

Before he died Hall Caine finished the manuscript of "The Woman Thou Gavest Me." This story has an important lesson in that it shows the sadness and injustice of a loveless marriage. It does not, however, give the woman enough mind to make her truly admirable, nor does it sufficiently emphasize the fact that marriages of this kind are just as unfair to the man as they are to the woman. It is foolishness to debate whether marriage has supremacy over love or love over marriage. They should go together and it is the business of married people to keep them together.

VERY DOUBTFUL.

Jack London thinks that if woman's suffrage was universal women would stamp out the sale of whisky. It is not certain what women might do if all of them had the ballot and if none of them had to be cautious by fear of losing the ballot to their sisters of some other State or country. It is hard to tell what voters will do at any time about anything, but this applies to men as well as to women. Nothing has transpired in the operation of suffrage thus far to indicate that the women will turn prohibitionists. They certainly have not done so in States where they have had it the longest, and in California they haven't even discussed it. If Mr. London has decided, however, to keep sober we are glad of it and we are sure he will find that it pays.

BOTTLING RADIUM.

The New York Times is authority for the statement that a complete revolution in the future of radium has been wrought by the discovery that its emanations may be bottled and that these perform the same offices as radium itself. Radium is a rare element and costly. Its emanations are not costly and the news brings a message of hope to sufferers to whom the expense of radium treatment has seemed prohibitive.

Dr. Joseph Muir, formerly of Los Angeles, and for some years in New York City, is an authority on radium and its uses. The first radium emanatorium in America is about to be started in New York City under his supervision. In a communication to the New York Times Dr. Muir says:

> Radium acts through its emanation, which is a gas. The substance itself is practically indestructible; it is calculated to last from 2000 to 5000 years. These emanations are again decomposed into solid bodies which again emit alpha, beta and gamma rays. These collective changes are grouped together under the name of radio-activity.
> During the preliminary experiments with radio-active substances, attention was soon called to the discovery that the waters of the well-known thermal baths, such as Gaston, Munster and Toplitz-Shoenan, also possessed radio-active properties. As these baths had since time immemorial, and based entirely upon clinical experience, been used for the more or less successful treatment of gout and rheumatism, the inference was not far to attribute their healing powers, in part at least, to their contents of radio-active substances. Radium emanations were found to cause the disappearance of uric acid from the blood. The importance of that result for the specific treatment of gout and rheumatism was at once self-evident. Even inflammatory rheumatism of the joints, some of them acute, painful ones, some of them sub-chronic swellings, and even some chronic with deformities and adhesions, were either benefited or cured.

The bottling of radium emanations is one of the most beneficent discoveries of the day. Their successful application to the cure of gout and rheumatism will bring relief to hundreds of thousands of sufferers. We ought to have an emanatorium in Los Angeles.

THE RESTORATION OF OUR MERCHANT MARINE.

The practical completion and pending use of the Panama Canal is reviving the contention of Sir Edward Grey, backed by the transcontinental roads and those interested in continuing the maritime supremacy of England, that the United States has no right to exempt from canal tolls her own vessels, even when engaged in trading between her own ports.

It may as well, however, be candidly admitted that the exemption from tolls of vessels engaged in the coastwise trade will, without further Congressional legislation, carry with it exemption to American vessels engaged in foreign trade as well. "All vessels are divided into two classes—those registered for foreign trade, and those enrolled and licensed for coasting trade or fisheries, known as the domestic trade."

When a vessel is licensed for carrying on "coasting trade," it is permitted to sail "between different districts—in different States." A ship loaded in New York for Balboa at the Pacific end of the canal is entitled under the existing law to pass toll-free through the canal, for Balboa is within the ten-mile limit and without the exemptions pertaining to the city of Panama.

At Balboa the registration of the ship may be changed from a vessel engaged in the domestic trade to a vessel engaged in the foreign trade, and such registration being effected she may proceed, without disturbing her cargo, to Hongkong, or Yokohama, or Vancouver, or other foreign port.

Equally a vessel loaded with Southern California products designed for a European market may register in California as engaged in the domestic trade and proceed toll-free through the canal to the American port at the Atlantic end of the canal, within the ten-mile zone and outside the exemptions of Colon. There her registration may be changed to that of a vessel engaged in the foreign trade, and she may proceed as such to a European or other foreign port.

It is not possible that so distinguished a statesman as Sir Edward Grey does not know that his protest against American ships passing free through the canal is not other than a spurious protest, without warrant in international law or any law in England or America governing construction of treaties between nations, and it is astonishing that such able publicists as Mr. Adams, Mr. Choate and Mr. Root should allow themselves to become Anglomaniacs and support the British contentions, and claim that a mere commercial treaty—as the Hay-Pauncefote treaty confessedly is—is a Medean-Persian law forever irrevocable and irrepealable without the consent of both the contracting parties.

"A commercial treaty," says Waterways and Commerce, "is merely a statement agreed to and signed by the agents of the contracting parties of the terms upon which the contracting parties find it most desirable and most advantageous to have relations with each other. When either of the contracting parties finds it undesirable to continue such relations it is its right to give notice of such fact and terminate such relations."

England could have given notice of the termination of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty by a decree of her Foreign Office, or by an act of Parliament. The United States could give such notice by an order from its State Department or by an act of Congress. Such notice was given by inserting the free-toll provision in the Panama Canal act two years before it became effective. That notice abrogated the commercial treaty with England known as the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

It may be said that where a commercial treaty is based upon a consideration the power receiving the consideration ought not to abrogate it without restoring what it received or its equivalent. Even so, England gave no consideration to us under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty so far as Panama is concerned. She had no rights whatever to surrender in Panama. The Hay-Pauncefote treaty referred entirely to Nicaragua, where she had some claim of rights of some kind that might be affected by the excavation of a canal.

But we did not dig a canal in Nicaragua, and that contention vanishes.

It would be a supreme folly for the United States to surrender her right to favor American shipping, both foreign and domestic, by a remission of canal tolls. The restoration of our mercantile marine has been the dream of the American people for many years. It may not be forgotten that a century ago American ships carried 92 per cent. of American commerce, and it may not be overlooked that they now carry but 8 per cent. This result is largely due to Great Britain. She has bested us in treaties and she remorselessly took advantage of our Civil War to equip the Alabama and Shenandoah to drive our ships from the seas. She paid $15,000,000, it is true, for the direct damages inflicted, but the indirect loss to us and gain to her has amounted to thousands of millions.

"In twenty-five years," says Lewis Nixon, "the over-seas trade of the world will double, and in the readjustment due to such increase is our opportunity if we will but seize it. We are now simple producers and consumers, while the cream of trade, the profits of the middleman, go to the enrichment of the foreigner, for we do not transport our foreign trade, we do not finance it, we do not insure it. All these profitable factors of commerce are under foreign control."

We pay $350,000,000 per annum to foreigners in connection with the transfer of our freights and our people. It is our right and duty to keep this money in our own country. Our canal, built by our own engineers, in our own country, with our own money, affords us a legitimate, a legal and an honorable opportunity to do so.

There is no language strong enough to condemn the inconceivable folly of not embracing the opportunity.

MEXICO AND ANARCHY.

The Mexican mix-up seems worse and more complicated than ever. It is hard to come to a definite conclusion as to the probabilities. The details of the arrest of 110 members of the Mexican Congress and the reasons for such arrest are too meager to warrant intelligent comment, but the whole situation at the capital is deplorable.

The mutiny of a small detachment of troops of the Federal army in Mexico is an incident of no great importance and does not at all indicate that the army as a whole is insubordinate or disloyal.

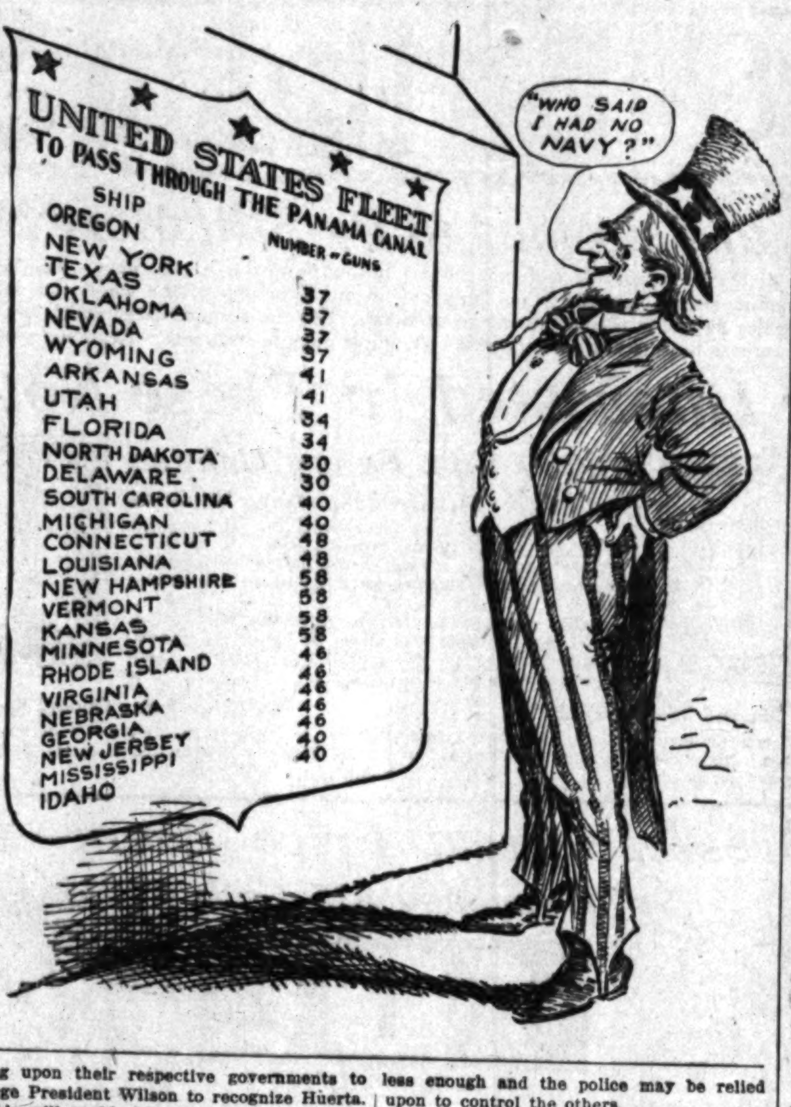
The foreign residents of Mexico are pressing upon their respective governments to urge President Wilson to recognize Huerta. This will enable him to obtain money, and money is the chief thing needed to enable him to crush the different bands of robbers and murderers who are arrayed, not so much against him as against law and order generally.

The quality of the so-called Constitutionalists is evidenced by their murder of 200 non-combatants at Torreon after taking the town.

If President Wilson had recognized Huerta several months ago there would now probably have been no considerable force in arms against his government. Such recognition even now would make for peace and order. Eighty per cent. of the Mexican people are ignorant and unfitted for self-government. The 20 per cent. that are educated are almost unanimous in their support of Huerta as the only man who, under existing conditions, can restore peace and order. If the educated class in Mexico, and all those who are in favor of the quickest, surest and safest means of restoring law and order, and all resident foreigners, and all those who have anything to gain by a return to orderly government do not know what is best to do and how to do it, then what does the schoolmaster in the White House know about it?

Intervention would be a calamity, both to Mexico and the United States, but unless the good God shall put a little common sense and some small disposition to listen to counsel into the head of our President, events may carry us inevitably in that direction. The grim specter of Anarchy may compel us.

Something to Be Proud Of.



SOCIALISM LOSING GROUND.

"Red Rosa," the tigress of German Socialism, sustained a severe reverse at the annual convention of the German Social Democratic party held early in October. Frau Rose Luxemburg (her right name) led the fight in favor of a universal political strike. Her fiery eloquence rallied only a minority of the extremists, and a small minority at that. Two-thirds of the official representatives of the party voted against Rosa.

Cablegrams state that this defeat of the ultra-radical wing is regarded as of the utmost significance as denoting that conservatism is steadily and surely winning the upper hand among the political leaders of the German proletariat. Socialism has lost some ground even in Germany since the autocratic August Bebel died, a few weeks ago. Autocracy and Socialism are not supposed to go hand in hand, but they did in the case of Bebel and the German Socialist party. He was the absolute ruler and cracked the whip over his followers. "Red Rosa," the tigress, doubtless would like to take his place, but her first attempt to do so has met with a defeat so disastrous to the extreme section of the party that it is the deliberate opinion of the liberal and radical classes in Germany not politically identified with the Social-Democracy that conservatism has been definitely enthroned in the tactics of Germany's largest party.

It is a fortunate thing for Germany and the rest of the world that this setback to the dangerous extremists has come at this particular moment. It serves to emphasize facts brought to the attention of Americans by W. H. Mallock, a distinguished Englishman and author of "A Critical Examination of Socialism." In a lecture in New York a few years ago Mr. Mallock pointed out that Socialism has produced resolutions at endless public meetings, it has produced discontent and strikes and has hampered production, but it has never inaugurated an important economical process, has never built an ocean liner and has never produced or cheapened so much as a lamp or a frying pan.

Southern California people as a whole have little sympathy with the Marxian theory. They know that Mallock is right when he says Socialism is an unrealized theory, illusive and impractical.

Of course we have our parlor Socialists and our street-corner spouters in Los Angeles, not to mention the red-capped men who parade Main street making a hand-to-mouth living by selling Socialist papers. No large city is free from that kind of gentry. The parlor Socialists are harmless enough and the police may be relied upon to control the others.

Socialism appeals to the instinct of cupidity. This is the chief reason why it wins men who, because of a lack of gray matter, are unable to acquire what they consider a desirable proportion of this world's goods. Once a man begins to own property and to build up a bank account, his affection for Socialism fades.

It is undeniable that possession of wealth is the chief desire of a majority of human beings. Some people say they would be satisfied with the possession of a few thousand dollars. Give them that sum, and what happens? They want to double it. Why do they want wealth? Mainly for the pursuit of pleasure. Pleasure takes many forms. With some it shapes itself into providing for a handsome, extravagant wife, with another it means collecting rare books, to a third it means high-powered autos or highly powdered chorus girls.

Socialism would, in great measure, rob the world of the pursuit of pleasure. Some Socialists might assert that it would give the world pleasure instead. But the pursuit is better than the prize. The rapture is in the chase. Socialism would rob us of that and make life so tame and disagreeable that even its most radical adherents would welcome a change even if it meant a return to the old order of things.

STREAKS OF WIT.

Important Discovery.

[Washington Herald:] "Why do you want a new trial?"

"On the grounds of newly-discovered evidence, Your Honor."

"What's the nature of it?"

"My client dug up $400 that I didn't know he had."

The Trend of Things.

[Punch:] Brother: What did you say to that old chap just now?

Sister: I only thanked him for picking up my bag.

Brother: My dear girl, you must learn not to be so beastly grateful. It's not done nowadays.

Strength of Habit.

[Louisville Courier Journal:] "I wish some powder for a bomb," said the militant suffragette.

"Quite so," murmured the clerk. "What kind?"

"Pink, I guess. That's the shade I always use on my face."

Can Make Better Time.

[Philadelphia Record:] Blobbs: Is he simply an idler?

Slobbs: No, not exactly.

Blobbs: But you say that he has no walk in life.

Slobbs: No, he's an aviator.

Makes a Difference.

[Pittsburgh Post:] "Mr. Wombat is in the parlor, miss."

"Tell him I'm out."

"Just as you say, miss, but he has a beautiful box of candy with him."

The Never-Ending Cost.

[Washington Star:] "That man sitting in the back seat is the one who owns the automobile."

"Why, he is the only person in the party who doesn't seem to be having a good time."

"That's how I know. He's thinking about tires, gasoline and speed-limit fines."

Everybody Works but Father.

[Denver Republican:] Optimo: It is estimated that the college education which costs $2500 is worth $25,000 later on.

Pessimo: But in how many cases does the father who invests the $2500 get the $22,500 profit?

Not Always "Literature."

[Chicago Record Herald:] "We are producing no literature in this country at present."

"What are you talking about? My wife has a new best seller charged to me nearly every time she goes down town."

A Psychologist.

[Puck:] He: I think Dr. Jenkins will very soon have a large practice.

She: Why?

He: He has just had a case in which he prescribed millinery for hysteria.

GROWING OLD GRACEFULLY.

With a Few of the Aids Thereto.

One of the compensations of approaching age—there are a thousand others—is the pleasant deference shown the old one by the younger men. This is accused of being a very irreverent generation. But it is more irreverent in speech than action. Not until your feet touch the grade marked with the downward pointing index and bearing the indicator "70" will you realize that the heart of this age is reverent. It laughs at our old idols, but what would you have? Don't we laugh at everybody else's idols? Isn't any idol grotesque, monstrous, hideous and comical to any one save its worshiper?

A Change of Meaning.

The other day I was reading an old letter—a sign of age; we who live in today have scant time to read a letter once. A man has very little else to do when he has time to reread an old letter. Well, somewhere in this epistle the writer spoke of a mutual acquaintance as "Daddy" somebody. And my own lips unconsciously imitated the contempt in the written title. I looked back at the date of the letter—"Bryn Mawr, July 18, 1893." Only twenty years ago. And "Daddy" was then a nickname bristling with scornful pity or contempt. I remember the class of men to whom it was applied. It was an insult. A "daddy" wasn't a man; he was a sort of a thing. When it was used as a respectful salutation it was among the very lowly, the ignorant, the "poor white trash."

And now? It is a most affectionate title, and a man loves to hear his children call him "Daddy." The word has somehow been transfigured. Formed in birdlike prattle on the baby lips, the older children adopt it with the baby-love in it. Your heart warms to a boy whom you hear call his father "Daddy." Twenty years ago had a man called me daddy, I would have called him a scut, whatever that is.

Time works these transformations of meaning while we sleep. Our young people, I have noticed, have a certain tender fondness for the word "Mizpah." It is a watchword in the benediction of the Christian Endeavor societies. I have seen it engraved on engagement rings—most appropriately, too. It has acquired a tender, wistful trustfulness, an affectionate yearning that is very touching.

A Skinflint and a Crook.

Yet "Mizpah" was first used by two men who distrusted and hated each other. Jacob and Laban were parting and they built a stone cairn—a "heap of witness," and called it "Mizpah," saying "The Lord keep watch between me and thee when we are absent one from another." That is, "I wouldn't trust you in the dark, nor five miles out of my sight. I can't watch you, schemer and contriver and crook that you are. But God, keep an eye on you and your trickery." The word reeked with suspicion and distrust. There wasn't a kindly feeling in it. But now?

The deference to age is displayed when you enter a room. How eager people are to rise and offer the old man a seat, especially those who are sitting in uncomfortable chairs, or who are tired of the call and want to get away anyhow. The aged person is a pleasant diversion.

Give Daddy a Chair.

Now, an old man who knows he is old—well, say growing old—if left to himself steers for a straight-back chair. He avoids those inventions of the devil, who hates old people, known as morris chairs. I hope the man who made the first one will have to sit in it throughout eternity. The old man picks out a chair easy to get out of. Any one can sit down in a chair. A fool or a drunken man can sit down—unless there are two chairs, of course. But getting out of a chair is sometimes mighty hard work.

But no; "Here, take this chair, Daddy." And being old and feeble, and unable to resist the onslaught of lusty youth, the venerable man is pushed into the cavernous recesses of an "easy chair" that is more like a man-trap than a resting place. It is all very nice so long as you sit there, that is, if you like to sit back in an upholstered excavation with your legs lifted high in air, vainly trying to feel the floor with your waving feet. Sometimes the thing is on rockers. Then, every time you move you threaten to go over backward. And you can see everybody in the room looking at your elevated shoes. You don't have to wear slit trousers to make a fashionable exposure of your person. People can see as high up your trouser legs as though you were sitting half way up a ladder.

Then by and by you have to get up. You have to struggle out of that quagmire of upholstery. And by that time everybody is busy, and nobody thinks to offer you any assistance, and you wrestle out of that chair with such throes and gyrations and kickings and waving of arms as leaves you a wreck for the next hour.

Crossing the Street.

Assisting the old man to cross the street is another act of deference that might often be omitted to the great comfort of the victim. You, being young and strong as a giant, seize the old man by the upper arm with the professional grip of the policeman. This holds the arm perfectly rigid, and gives the septuagenarian the angular, one-sided gait you have frequently observed. As you approach the curbstone, lift the old one with great vigor, maintaining the rigidity of the grasp. This pushes one shoulder about three inches higher than the other and makes locomotion easy as it is graceful. Just as the old man stretches out one leg to step into the street, you must see a man to whom you want to speak, and jerk the old fellow back. This makes him totter to keep his balance. Then, when he isn't at all expecting it, you will finish your talk with the man and push the ancient one suddenly ahead of you, which sends him scrambling into the street. You hustle him rapidly out to the tracks, and wind up the performance by elevating him fiercely, despite his feeble protests, upon the wrong car.

Pacing the Old Man.

When you are walking any distance beside the old man, always with the police-clutch on his arm, avoid keeping step with him, and always try to walk a little faster than he does. This gives him a gait that makes people turn around to see if he isn't trying to do the turkey trot in the street. And some of the sorrowful ones say, "What a pity!" and the disgusted ones say, "What a shame!" Meaning, not yourself of course, but the old man's condition. And turn very frequently and with startling abruptness, always retaining the "come-along grip," of course, to speak to passers-by. This treatment will soon reduce him to a state of general dislocation. When he gets home he will stay there for a week.

There is such a thing as growing old gracefully, but it's mighty hard to manage with volunteer assistance.

Bean Menace.

It is supposed that the Comanches brought back the bean and the habit from their exile. When the Comanches fled across the border to escape the United States troops, they settled down in Mexico and there learned the peyole bean habit from the Mexicans. Of recent years they have returned to the United States, bringing the pest with them.

The first Indians in this country to learn it from the Comanches were some of the tribes in Oklahoma. From them it spread to the Omahas, and on to the tribes of the Middle West.

OVER TO DREAMLAND.

In the dreams that come to them from the peyole bean, the redskins find a relief from their hard lot. The dreamers say that under the influence of the bean they are transported to a land where the wild game runs as it did in the days before the white man came. A sip of peyole tea is, in fact, a little journey to the happy hunting grounds.

The bean can be chewed like candy or made into a tea. You get the "pipe dreams" either way. The effects of the drug contained in the bean are all the more insidious in that the dreamer has none of the immediately disagreeable after effects experienced by the opium smoker.

In some of the tribes, the Indians have already devised a sort of ceremonial that goes with the intoxicant. So the whole tribe can go wandering off into dreamland together. Lately, some of the tribes have begun admitting children into the circle of the peyole dreamers. It is probable this fact will give the government a chance to break up the habit and the traffic. As long as the peyole dreaming is confined to grown people, the government has no reasonable excuse to interfere, for a grown man may eat any kind of bean that he prefers. But when it comes to intoxicating the children there is a chance to call a halt.

The present effort of the government is directed toward checking the passage of the peyole northward. The Indian Department is especially anxious that its use should not extend to the Sioux.

DANGER OF THE DANCE.

The peyole would be fuel to a small but troublesome fire already alight among the Sioux. To a small extent the Dakotas have gone back to their old curse, which was dancing. The tango may be harmful to the innocent white maiden; but the ghost dance everlastingly raised the dickens with the Sioux.

It was the ghost dance that wrecked the Sioux nation.

The Sioux were getting along beautifully until recently. They were settling down into a simple farmer people and behaving themselves like ndustrious ranchmen when dancing suddenly broke out again.

It began with showing some eastern people how the old dances were done. But once begun it was found hard to stop the Sioux from dancing. They found that the old dances were a whole lot more fun than the modern business of hiking down the furrow after the plow. And they have been doing considerable dancing ever since.

Father Hughes states that certain portions of the Sioux have experienced a severe setback on account of the resumption of the old dances.

The introudction of the peyole bean among them would just about finish the back-sliding.

MAY ASK PARDON.

Father Hughes is only here for a hurried trip of inspection and will leave tomorrow to take up his duties in Washington.

One of his objects in coming here at this time was to look into the case of the Indians convicted and sent to McNeil's Island for shooting the agent at Cahuila last year. Father Hughes went carefully over the testimony in the case and it is possible, as a result of his investigation, that a petition may be circulated for the pardon of some of the Indians concerned in the killing.

These Indians were all from the tribe to which Ramona, the heroine of Mrs. Jackson's novel, belonged—or belongs, as she is still alive at Cahuila. The village where the agent was killed is the place where Alessandro lived when he came down to the settlements and was shot for taking the wrong horse. Ramona's son was, in fact, one of the interpreters at this trial.

The Slim Woman Is Winning

The day of the slim woman's triumph has arrived. "The thinner one is the more stylish," say the dressmakers.

This would have been sad news for the fat woman a year ago. She would have had to try dieting or exercise. Nowadays, however, the woman who is too fat for the style goes to a druggist and gets a case of Marmola Prescription Tablets, one of which she takes after each meal and at bedtime, and so reduces her superfluous flesh quickly.

These tablets, being made in accordance with the famous prescription, are perfectly harmless, and they are, also, the most economical preparation a person can buy, for they cost only 75 cents a large case, one of which is frequently enough to start a person losing fat at the rate of 12 to 14 ounces a day. Pretty nearly every druggist keeps this tablet in stock, but should yours be sold out, you can easily obtain a case by sending to the makers, the Marmola Company, Farmer Building, Detroit, Mich.

To note the changed appearance in a woman's face caused by lines and wrinkles, hold a card over one-half and compare it with the other.

This constitutes, in condensed form, our reasons for existing, and our methods of doing business:

First—Innumerable people need and desire our work. All they want is to establish confidence. We furnish the highest business and professional references, and have a special arrangement with certain of our cases, some of years' standing, to demonstrate the work.

Second—We enjoy the permanent and exclusive services of a justly celebrated Eastern and foreign graduate as demonstrator. This man has been a potent factor in the scientific advancement of this work. Many of the most modern methods used in this work today have been created and perfected by him. Family reasons of health have compelled him to locate in this climate and thus we are able to offer to the people of this State the services of this very eminent man. Call and see him.

Third—Our work includes the following partial list, which we correct: Superfluous hair, warts, veins, moles, birth-marks, pimples, moth-patches, blackheads, liver spots, freckles, coarse pores, smallpox pits, sagging or fallen face, crows' feet, wrinkles, frown lines, enlarged or outstanding ears, misshapen or imperfect noses, loose, flabby or double chins, baggy eyelids, thick lips, weak, receding chins and hollows of neck, cheeks or arms. If you have any of these, call or write. We do the genuine Parisian-French peeling when advisable.

Fourth—We use no Paraffine or filling. All our work is painless and permanent. We try to correct others' mistakes. We tell you the truth about your case, and do not accept undesirable cases. Come in and see the finest sanitary offices west of New York. We will explain to you our original method for permanently correcting a sagging face, also our wonderful immediate method whereby we can in a few sittings permanently restore any face from five to ten years in appearance.

MEASURING THE INFINITE.

The Diameter of the Universe Determined by the Director of an Observatory in South Africa.

[New York Commercial:] Great credit is due to R. A. T. Inness, director of the Union Observatory at Johannesburg, South Africa, for measuring the diameter of the universe. He tells us that it is six quadrillions, three hundred thirty-four trillions, nine hundred fifty-one billions, six hundred eighty millions of miles through. Perhaps it is a mile or more under or over, although it would be carping to insist that the professor be exact. He also tells us that the planetary system of which the earth is a member is contained in a space girdled by the milky way and that the most distant star in that girdle is 540 light years away from us.

Presently some night rider amongst the stars will measure for us the diameter of the milky way, and perhaps, tell us what is in the space beyond, aside from the cold and the dark.

Gentlemen like Prof. Inness, we fear, do not view with a true sense of their importance, the events which are engrossing the minds of the great amongst the dwellers of the earth. For instance, the transcendant importance of the direct primary and whether the initative, referendum and recall shall apply to pound keepers as well as judges, move them not. Neither are they concerned with the open-faced skirt, the diaphanous gown, the minimum wage and the gynecological play with the great moral lesson.

They know that somewhere out there on a world whose reflected present light started toward us, perhaps on the day that Columbus began his voyage toward the mysterious West, they are wrestling with a "world's series" and are debating a Federal tax of 1 per cent. on incomes of 3000 or 4000 units of money.

The man who puzzles over the canals of Mars and pictures a people digging into the bowls of an exhausted planet, fighting for breath and heat, has an unusual viewpoint from which to survey the digging of the trench which separates the North and South American continents. The fuss and feathers attendant on the opening of that commercial highway after the workers have finished must move a man, whose mind soars as his eye explores eternity, to a smile.

It was Swift, the satirist, who constructed Lilliput and Brobdignag. It is Lodge, the scientist, who finds in chemistry, in the elements which, together, compose the animate body, the evidence of a separate and superior intelligence, the "destiny which shapes our ends." Solomon it was who sent the sluggard to the ant in pursuit of wisdom, and the astronomer conveys to the finite mind a hint of the bigness of things.

Which brings us once more to the oldest lesson in the world, that symmetry and order is the first of the laws of creation and that he who would progress through the "narrow vale between the twin peaks of eternity" must "imitate the divine plan" and do things "decently and in order."

Eliminating Danger.

[Indianapolis News:] "A Woman," writing to one of hte papers about a recent railway wreck, suggests that one or two empty wooden cars be put at the end of each train to act as a buffer when the inevitable crash comes. The suggestion is made seriously, but its impracticability brings to mind the proposal of the other woman, who asked the conductor what part of the train was the most dangerous. "The rear car," was the answer. "Then why not leave it off?"

The first reception for the season, by the Texas State Society, will be given on Tuesday evening at the Woman's Clubhouse, when there will be cards and dancing. All Texans are invited to attend and bring their friends.

Teach Your Child How to Be Healthy

Regular Bowel Movement From Infancy Insures Good Health In Later Years.

We cannot all start life with the advantages of money, but every child born is entitled to the heritage of good health. Through unfortunate ignorance or carelessness in the feeding of a baby its tiny stomach may become deranged. This disorder spreads to the bowels and before the mother realizes it the two chief organs on which the infant's comfort and health depend are causing it great suffering. If the condition is allowed to continue grave ailments often result.

There is, however, no occasion for alarm, and the sensible thing to do—but it should be done instantly—is to give the baby a small dose of a mild laxative-tonic. In the opinion of a great many people, among them such well-known persons as the parents of Bertha Lee Woodard, 3 years old, of Moultrie, Ga., the proper remedy is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mrs. I. N. Woodard says that little Bertha was troubled with constipation for over a year, and that after trying several different kinds of remedies she found her relief in Syrup Pepsin. It is a mild, pleasant-tasting laxative, which every person likes, does not gripe nor cramp, and contains that most excellent of all digestants, pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is especially intended for infants, children, women, old people and all others to whom harsh cathartics, salt waters, pills, etc., are distressing. In fact, in the common disorders of life, such as constipation, liver trouble, indigestion, billousness, headaches, and the various other disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels nothing is more suitable than this mild laxative-tonic, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

BERTHA LEE WOODARD.

Three generations of people are using it today, and thousands of families keep it constantly in the house, for every member of the family can use it. It can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, the latter being the size bought by families who already know its value. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

NOSE AND HEAD STOPPED UP FROM COLD OR CATARRH, OPEN AT ONCE

My Cleaning, Healing Balm Instantly Clears Nose, Head and Throat—Stops Nasty Catarrhal Discharges. Dull Headache Goes.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning! the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear. Agent, Sun Drug Co.—[Advertisement.

of America—academic though they have been— no doubt lent the first hint to practical Teutonic producers of a fresh, new romanticism and they seized upon the inspiration with avid longing for novelty. They clothed it with the depth and the thoroughness of Teutonic idealism, and they have given it back full panoplied as a great modern movement.

Wachler in Germany, Mistrel in France, Lorenz in Switzerland, have helped to crystallize the idea. Any intelligent man may put a small play upon a small stage. It is very simple, this finesse of realism, but a classic moving in a blaze of stormy words and great heroics requires the strategic skill of a generalissimo; requires the setting of the sky itself, the background of the virgin forests, the open arena where real deeds have moved.

Recently in Berlin in lieu of a stadium or auditorium sufficiently great in arena to accommodate Max Reinhardt's "Theban mob," the Oedipus Rex of Sophocles was given in a circus tent. It marked the high-water line of that wizard producer's power. It stirred Germany to an awakening. Out of it has sprung a new romanticism and the cult of the secessionists.

To behold that tragedy was to be transported to early Greece—to become for the moment a holiday making Theban, non-combative as it were, approaching the Dionysiac temple with a measure of respect and reverence. It was to become a worshiper of that integral part of the great moving spectacle itself. Neither curtain nor footlights disturbed the sensation of actuality; the gods themselves appeared to hover over the proscenium.

On the exposed stage there was a massive palace with steps descending into the circus ring itself, and those who visited from America realized that the great scale on which it was planned was small indeed when the wonderful setting that God has so superbly created in the far West was taken in consideration, and now at hand we have in the entrance to Griffith Park a common theater, created under the open sky, where the masses and the classes meet, bound together by a common impulse and a common purpose; wherein the intellectual appetite of the elect is whetted and the senses of the hoi polloi may be stirred.

Few realize the firm hold that the nature theater—but another phase of the arena theater—has taken on the mind of suburban Americans. It holds a place of significance in the salvation of the drama, an altar set in the highway where art for art's sake is the slogan of the woodland.

LIKE ANCIENT THEATERS.

As Ernest Wachlet of Weimar has builded in the Harz mountains, as Lorenz has builded in the Alps near Wurtemberg, so Griffith J. Griffith proposes to build for Los Angeles and Southern California a granite and cement semi-circle fitted simply to that wonderful amphitheater that nature has builded in the Hollywood hills an amphitheater rivaled only by the Colosseum at Rome and the Temple at Athens. Nature has been prolific; it has so surrounded this ideal spot that even the winds are bridled and an echo found impossible. By extending the tiers of seats a little further than the slope of the sides to the proscenium arch, and facing them with two triumphant pillars within whose recesses elevators may run, raising the public to the different landings or levels, 50,000 people may be housed at one setting, and 600 feet away a permanent gigantic stage be erected, fully 800 feet wide with a background built in the simple manner of the Athenian temples with its columns, and an arena in front, on whose stage thousands may take part in pageantry, dramatic fervor, or choral beauty, while closer in this amphitheater can be erected a sectional stage used for intimate productions with electrical, dramatic and musical surroundings, where under the queen orb of night or the sparkling sunrays of the day, can be given to unlimited spectators the beauty of the classics of yesterday, the creations of today, or plan for the brilliancy of the future.

Certainly it is an inspiration to go with this man who offers to do so much for Los Angeles, for the nature theater will exercise a greater influence on civilization than any other movement since the reformation. His plans are not of charity, not of a monument, not of publicity, but for a greater benefit to a greater number of his fellow men; where thousands at a minimum price may hear the maximum of art.

The work of Point Loma shows what may be done in a small way, but when Sarah Bernhardt first looked upon this little Greek temple when she visited the Pacific Coast a decade ago, her delight was manifest, and the two things that stand forth greatest in her memory of her many triumphs in America were the one at the Berkeley theater and the other in the theater built upon the end of a wharf at Venice, Cal.

To seek the forest theater is to find a respite in Walhalla, and there is no reason why Los Angeles cannot become the American Oberammergau if the citizens of Los Angeles, the governors of our park system, the City Council and His Honor, the Mayor, will indorse the ideas of Col. Griffith, accept his munificence and coöperate with him in raising this Athenian temple and all that it represents, crowning our hills with the temples of education that will not only redound to the credit of Los Angeles, the State of California, our own America, but to the entire civilized world.

Clerk Couldn't Stand It.

[New York Times:] The new bill clerk who was taken on only a few days ago at one of the big hotels was missing yesterday. He had resigned. Before he came uptown he had worked in the accounting department of a restaurant, where one may eat luncheon for 20 cents, or even 15, and where you can get enough food for 30 cents to make a dinner.

The newcomer struck the first snag when he came to a dinner for three persons which had cost $65.

"This must be a mistake," he said to the cashier. "I don't believe any three persons that ever lived could eat 65 cents."

When told it was correct his eyes bulged. According to the cashier, he was continually exclaiming at the size of the bills people were paying for their meals. Finally, on Thursday, he said he had had enough, and was going to quit. He added that he simply could not stand adding up figures that meant dollars when they ought to stand for cents, and he feared he would imbibe terrible notions of extravagance.

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS

Noble Poem in Blank Verse.

BY MRS. ELIZA A. OTIS,

Long with the Staff of the Los Angeles Times.

[Originally written apropos of the World's Columbian Exposition, October, 1892, and now reproduced on this 421st anniversary of the discovery of America, from the volume by Mrs. Otis, entitled "California Where Sets the

'Twas a fair city of those olden times
To which Columbus came, hugging his dream
Of undiscovered lands lying across
The shadowy sea, as yet unploughed
By keel of any ship than the blue, starlit
Skies more pathless. For years, by night and day
Had the great Pilot heard its voice calling
Him with enticing speech. Arise! arise!
The beckoning west seemed crying. Beyond
The horizon's purpling lines the lapping
Seas seemed kissing golden shores, and as he Breathed Seville's soft airs, heavy with odors
Of fragrant jasmine and spicy pomegranate,
And dreamed beneath her opalescent skies,
Or within her Moorish temples worshiped
Where saintly statues rose, or walked in courts
Of marble, where fountains sang in tinkling
Melody, and grand cathedral walls, set
With bright gems, echoed the music of the Swaying bells, and where he drank the lemon's
Spicy breath, or trod beneath green-needled
Pines, their aromatic wine inhaling,
And watched the ships lying at anchor by
The Golden Tower, and had speech with men
Of science and of thought, he nursed his hopes Anew, and the New World brightened to his Vision. O large-souled man! waiting and Waiting still, through weary years, till thy smooth
Brow grew furrowed, and Disappointment's stern
Winter whitened thy hair, divinest patience
Was thy crown until the New World, mid its Smiling seas, rose to thy sight, set in the sunset's haze.
But not from fair Seville, where
Guadalquivir's shining waters sunward
Flashed, sailed his proud ships toward the setting
Sun; but from small Palos, dreaming by the Wave, home of sea toilers, did at last—like
A star out of midnight—set the great Captain
Forth to find the waiting world within the Unknown West. The little town ran to and Fro to see the three small ships upon the Shining sea, mere motes upon the waters;
And women, with their babes upon their breasts,
Bemoaned his folly in defying death;
And some among the curious watching crowd
Talked scornfully, and winked their eyes, and shrugged
Their heavy shoulders, and called him madman,
Fool, and driveling foreign idiot, who
Yet should bait the fishes with his flesh when
In the restless deeps of unknown seas the Maddened billows raging in their wrath should Howl his requiem. The criminal with
The strong iron bars 'twixt him and freedom,
Shut from heaven's blessed air and day's sweet light,
The foul dungeon walls his sunless and his Starless firmament, his strong limbs cramped by Narrowness of space, scorned liberty when Offered at the price of sailing with this
So-called mad adventurer, and hugged his
Chains, and hugged captivity and noisome
Prison cell. Our God was there. The New World's Shores were not for such as he.
O ever
Blest Rabida! Beneath thy red-tiled roof,
Loved by the morning sun, kissed by his beams
When sinking to the west, beacon upon
The pine-clad heights of Palos, thou nursing
Mother of those mighty hopes cradling a World unknown! God touched the eyelids of Thy children, and friar and padre bridged
The deep with prayers, helped to swing backward
On their ponderous hinges the great Past's
Iron doors. And there with steadfast gaze walked Silently the noble Admiral, while
Scanning sea and sky, Hope's fire burning beneath
His lids, and his large-visioned
Eyes, forever seeing things unseen, turned
To his golden dreamland of the fair yet
Undiscovered world. Upon thy shores, O
"Memory-haunted Palos," the midnight
Of Time's past gave place to golden dawn of Freedom, and those rude caravels, like specks
Upon the great sea's breast, saw a New World
Rise upon far western waters, where, sleeping,
Lay the whole world's hopes, broad'ning the round, sweet
Earth, and broad'ning man as he inhales
Its atmosphere of freedom. O dawn most Pregnant when these small ships sailed from Palos!
The starlight pales within the glowing east.
From La Rabida's heights Columbus comes
With hurrying feet; youth's heart seemed stirring
In his breast once more. The years of waiting
Are behind him now. The fluttering sails
Move him like angels' wings. The hurrying
Steps of sailors on the decks is music
To his ears. The boatswain's whistle is like Gabriel's horn. The Cross is there above
His vessel's spars. The rising breeze swift fills
His waiting sails. Farewells are said, the anchors Weighed, the unknown sea before them, but
Mystery beyond the blue horizon's walls.
O days and days with naught but sky and Sea! the blazing sun, the far and silent
Stars, or clouds and rain and howling tempests'
Wrath, and those small ships upon the boundless
Waste of mighty waters. A mocking ghost,
Despair, sits at the helm and clutches each
Sailor's heart; only the leader's soul lost
Not its faith; only his dauntless courage never failed.
But one sweet morn, when purple
Lay the West, and Morning's star shone on
The sleeping skies, and calm was on the sea,
And white birds floated on the rippling waves,
And berry-brightened boughs seemed laden with Hope's wine, floating the deep, sweet as the starry
Paean at Creation's birth, when sang the Morning stars together, one glad note ran Across that unknown sea. "Land! Land!"
Then pealed
The signal gun and shouts and joyous cries
Of sailors swept the air, and glad Te Deums Broke upon the decks. At last! at last! the Waiting years were crowned.

Four hundred years! four hundred years!
And a continent we bring,
Where from ocean unto ocean
Each man's a sovereign king.
Fling wide our starry banner,
No slave beneath its fold,
And tell our children's children
This deathless story old.

THE PHYSICIANS' GRAFT.

The Employees' Compensation Act in Michigan Changes the Direction of the Commission.

[The Square Deal:] "Michigan employees' compensation act, which went into effect last September, is working out more successfully than the compensation law of any other Stathe," said Cyrus W. Phillips, of Rochester, N. Y., in Detroit recently, "but there is one graft being operated within the shadow of it—a physicians' graft—that must be exterminated."

Phillips is chairman of a joint commission appointed by the National Civic Federation to investigate the workings of compensation laws in various States. Six members compose the commission—two representing the nation's employers, two acting in behalf of all workingmen, and two representing the public.

"The physicians' graft is simply a case of brazen overcharge," said Phillips. "Under the old liability act, where cases of injury had to be taken into the courts, the lawyer, in numberless instances, took half of what the injured man received.

"Now it's the physician who 'rakes down' half, reckoning that the cost comes out of the employer's pocket, and that therefore he might as well get all he can. But it's [illegible] poor victim of accident who [illegible] financial loss in such a case. [illegible] had many complaints of these charges by physicians, both in Michigan and Massachusetts. We [illegible] to devise some way to eliminate evil."

More manufacturers and [illegible] in Michigan have accepted the [illegible] pensation act there than in the [illegible] in any other State. As a [illegible] proposition, employers in [illegible] prefer the present law to the old, though it costs them twice as [illegible]. It has done away with [illegible] injury awards. Eight thousand [illegible] been made since September, and eight cases have gone into the [illegible]

A Comfortable Jail.

[Junction City Union:] When [illegible] Cullinan was chief of police of Junction City, in fact the police force, [illegible] had eleven prisoners in the jail [illegible] wanted to get rid of them. "[illegible] you feed the critters," he said to the jailer, "just accidentally leave the jail door open." But these were [illegible] and picking up a living outside [illegible] so easy. Tom hadn't figured on [illegible] but he did when he came back in the evening and found the eleven prisoners still there and two others had slipped in while the jailer [illegible] looking. Living was better [illegible] er inside the jail than it was [illegible]

NIGHT AGLOW IN STUDENT CITY.

Biggest Evening School in West Is Polytechnic.

Enrollment More Than Doubled Since Last Year.

Features New and Old in Many Departments.

A night-blooming city of 3000! A city housed all in one building, too, whose every lighted window throws out a cheerful nightly welcome to the inhabitants.

That's Polytechnic Evening High School, filled every night, from 7 to 9 o'clock with an earnest, enthusiastic crowd of people, mostly young, but some old, who come to take advantage of some one or more of the twenty-odd courses offered.

A very democratic crowd, too, for there are elevator boys and motormen, shop girls and telephone operators, teachers and clerks of all descriptions, as well as foremen of down-town shops; and I saw ladies arrive in their autos, park them, and hurry through the big portals to mingle with the crowd inside.

Polytechnic Evening School is now the biggest night school in the West, and one of the four largest in the United States. It has grown mushroom-like from a total enrollment last year of 1200 to 3000 at the present time. Also there is a waiting list of 500, mostly composed of those who want work in commercial subjects, forge-shop, engineering or foundry work.

Photography, automobile-making, steam engineering, mechanics and strength of materials, forge-shop, Indian basketry, metal work and art embroidery are new courses which have been added to the old curriculum comprising wireless, electricity, languages, woodshop, commercial, science, art, architecture, dress-making, millinery, cookery, folk dancing and gymnastics.

A new feature shortly to be introduced is a social feature interestingly described by Principal Hatherell.

NURSERY NEXT.

"We are hoping to have a nursery where parents may leave their little children while they take work with us," he said. "There are many husbands and wives who would like both to attend, but cannot on account of small children. In New York the women who volunteer to do this work are known as 'mothers.' They are kindly disposed ladies who volunteer their service.

"We also hope to have these ladies act as hostesses, to meet the young men and women when they come to us, help them to become acquainted with others, and encourage and cheer them when they find the school [illegible] lonesome and the work hard."

The classes in art embroidery, photography and Indian basketry are really self-directing clubs, except in cases where there is a volunteer teacher. The teachers of these classes are not paid, unless by the students themselves.

The orchestra of thirty pieces, under Miss Jennie Jones, has accomplished great things, and is in demand for entertainments throughout the city.

The dramatic club, under Mrs. [illegible] Wallace, is at present preparing to present 'The Lion and the Mouse,' the characters of which will be rotated for each act, to give everybody a chance."

The auto class is full to overflowing with a long waiting list. It is in point of fact a chauffeur's class. Two women are studying hard to become chauffeurs and, in their blue-check aprons, were in the big group which hung over a piece of apparatus, the other night when I visited them. The manager of the Oldsmobile Company is a student here.

The photography class is just being initiated into the mysteries of lenses and time exposures and developing rooms, but is soon to take to the mountains and seashore in search of artistic subjects.

IN THE FORGE SHOPS.

Down in the forge shops the rooms are full. There were fifty-four students, mostly employees of machine shops throughout the city, who desire to learn everything pertaining to their trade, a thing they cannot do in the shops where they are employed because of the habit of specializing, which keeps a man at one sort of work all the time. Under Mr. Tunison, their instructor, the class is making a gas engine.

The electrical department is made up of men from the various electrical concerns of the city. There are two large classes in beginning problems and in direct and alternate currents, the latter course involving some complicated problems. In this class an inspector from the city department told of the work he was taking. "We learn to do our work by rote," he explained, "but we want to know why; we want to learn the science of the thing.

"New problems are always arising in our trade, and we want to be able to meet them intelligently." Besides the city inspectors there are foremen from some of the largest electrical shops in the city. This department is at present engaged in making some improvements in the school building.

In the architectural department, which is full, four women are studying. Two of them are employed in architects' offices. The other two are [illegible] women, who wish to learn the art of planning houses.

[illegible] were working in the [illegible] shops. I saw a beautiful [illegible] table which two of them are making. Most of these women—[illegible] are teachers, who want a further knowledge of the [illegible] which they teach during the day, but there are two or three who [illegible] to make furniture for their own homes. One woman has built a very [illegible] sideboard, every bit of it with her own hands.

"The class in mining engineering," [illegible] Hatherell, "simply organized itself [illegible] and demanded the [illegible], so we formed the class and [illegible] them a teacher."

[illegible] other request was be[illegible] for new classes, Hatherell [illegible] there was a great demand for [illegible] in salesmanship, in building [illegible] and gymnasium.

In the millinery and dress-making [illegible] there were great classes of [illegible] making hats and dresses. Said [illegible], fingering tenderly the [illegible] she was making: "Some [illegible] sewing for ourselves and [illegible] for other people. Many of us come here to make garments for charity. I'm making this little dress and a dozen like it for the orphan asylum."

And then the great gong downstairs sounded for 9 o'clock, and the city of students vanished.

"REPENTFULLY" APOLOGETIC.

HONEST JAPANESE CAN'T PAY; POLITELY TELLS WHY.

Letter to Creditor Gracefully Tragic in Explaining Why Money Is Not Available and in Describing Conflict of Emotions in the Breast of the Writer.

E. B. Rivers of Rivers Bros. Company recently received the following letter from a Japanese, who explains why he has not paid the balance due on the purchase price of a horse:

"Mr. Rivers,

"Dear sir:

"Kindly let me have the honor to write you. How are you getting along in these burningly hot days? I deeply glet I have long a while neglected to see you since, in spite of not only to pay you my respect, but also I have been persuated by the duty of payment of 10$ and interests. I am used to think awfully that you might think me—. Ah! Kindly pardon me, my respectful personage, Mr. Rivers. I had been, I'm sure, dutiful, responsible and confidentable to others.

"But please suppose poor fellow's circumstance and his feeling, especially that of whom suddenly met with unexpected hardship. He would struggle to answer to his duty by any means.

"Finding every means gone to him, what steps he would take next? He can stand no more, but break down powerfully and clazyly with despair. If he were one of his ancestors he would have performed Harakiri.

"He might awake with courage again, but it is too late—the feeling of too late keeps him back yet. One who has good experience with the world affairs might laugh at his foolish.

"But there is a Japanese proverb as following: 'Fall in poverty, driven into folly.' Soon after I saw you last time, my poor croping began, so that I worked day and night for a little money. Catching a time, I went to see my friends to hunt money late in the evening, one at Glendora having a sick friend at Japan (went back there three months ago) whom he help, another at Laguna, being in unsuccess with his garden business, they couldn't let me have it.

"As this, I desired to make it from my own garden as quick as possible. By making shift, I saved hardlye 50$ at about the middle of this month. Then I called on you courageously and repentfuly with it. Lucky or unlucky to me!

"I could not find you there. Too much unexpectedly it became clear that the crop would not amount so much as I want to put next seeds in. It is of a little gold, all shame to speak, but I far beyond the reach of my power at present. However poor I may, I must put next seeds in for love and money, though.

"I confess you now that it was just that time that I felt it started boldly to move in my imagination that it is the best and only way to ask your pardon for longer delay of my payment. But, I thought again, it is too late. I can't push a step and utter a word before you. Then, how!

"Pardon me, please, Mr. Rivers, I, at last, have made up my mind to ask you it by a letter. I haven't courage to see you until next December, when the second harvest favours me to pay you all. But if the flost disfavor me, then pardon me to take the very horse right back to your stable.

"It is, of course, hard to me, to even finish this time sowing of seeds. But I will daringly push on to success. The great stern obstacle in the passage is of water. Mr. Baldwin kindly told me he gives me all water I want this time. If the ditch man declines to supply it, as he has been used against me, then my life will be stopped here.

"Of course, the garden business is my life, so that I can't be stand still any more than the ditch man scares or injuries my life as ever. In this would-be ease, I will not fail to take the horse back to your hand.

"In closure of this letter, I beg again your pardon for the past negligence of my duty and courtecy; and if you find any mistake in my letter kindly think it is from my poor English, but not from my will.

"I heard your honorable family are going to east for recreation, heartily I hope you all will be so happy and so lucky during your long journey.

"Hoping your kind acceptance of this letter. Yours respectfully,

"M. KAKURAGI."

The only thing graceful and polite omitted from the foregoing letter are the descriptive words, "your honorable horse" and "your honorable stable." Otherwise it is a gem of purest Japanese ray serene.—[Editor.

POLITICAL TIPS.

There's a decided difference in the ways in which the Republican and Democratic candidates for Governor of Massachusetts have started their campaigns. Congressman A. P. Gardner, who was given the Republican nomination, wanted four planks that he declared "cardinal," put into the platform adopted by the State convention, but they were each separately rejected by the convention. Nevertheless Mr. Gardner, in thanking the convention for his nomination, announced his intention of standing on those planks regardless of the convention. David I. Walsh, the Democratic nominee for Governor, submitted two planks to the convention for incorporation into the party platform, but they were rejected and a plank was adopted to bind all candidates to file with the Secretary of the Commonwealth a statement that they substantially agree with the platform of their party, failing which they shall be penalized by not being permitted the party designation against their names on the ballot. And with all this humiliation, Mr. Walsh himself read to the convention the platform just as the committee had trimmed and prepared it for him.

Chairman Hilles of the Republican National Committee has called the committee together on December 16 in Washington to consider several questions regarding the next national campaign. Among these will be the problem of curtailing the southern representation to more nearly agree with the Republican vote cast in each State, and popular primaries. As regards the latter a deliberate effort has been made on at least one occasion by the Legislature of Arkansas to make the election of Republican delegates illegal, and, irrespective of the progressive sentiment in the Northern States, the Southern States may be counted on to exert all their influence to prevent anything approaching the legalization of primary selection of delegates.

There seems to be little comparison between Secretary of State Bryan and Speaker Champ Clark, both of whom have essayed to secure an election to the Presidency. The former having filled his Chautauqua lecture engagements and his pockets to the tune of about $7000, has gone on another lecturing tour through the South on his own booking and not under the Chautauqua. Coincident with Secretary Bryan's announcement that he was going to take the road, Speaker Clark announced he had canceled all his Chautauqua dates and would devote all his time to his duties as Speaker of the House and a Representative in Congress from Missouri. Mr. Clark has some fifteen engagements scheduled for the Chautauqua for October, and stands to lose $5000 or more by abandoning them.

Ex-President Roosevelt left one of his classic expressions behind him to keep his memory clear during his absence in South America. Just before the boat sailed Mr. Roosevelt held a reception in his suite and replied to William Barnes, Jr., chairman of the Republican State Committee of New York, who had issued a statement saying the Democrats and Progressives were in league to nominate Justice Seabury for the New York Court of Appeals. "That is one of Barnes's habitual lies," said Col. Roosevelt.

Mayor Shank of Indianapolis is arranging to repeat his famous potato sales of two years ago, when he "imported" about 8000 bushels of potatoes from Michigan and sold them in the city market at 75 cents a bushel, if the purchaser carried them away, and at 85 cents a bushel if delivered. At that time potatoes were selling in Michigan at 50 cents a bushel, and $1.05 wholesale, and $1.40 a bushel wholesale in Indianapolis. The potato market is about as it was two years ago. Although it was announced a day or so ago the Mayor was going to Chicago, as a matter of fact he made a trip to Michigan and arranged for potatoes to be shipped soon. It is understood he has also arranged for a supply of turkeys for the Thanksgiving trade. During the remainder of his administration the Mayor proposes to take another "swat" at the high cost of living.

Representative Underwood, after whom the new tariff law is named, is already warning people against expecting a cut in prices "for many months." He does not believe that the new tariff rates will cause merchants to reduce the selling price of goods they bought under the old tariff law, and says that "until those goods are sold out the merchants will not accept the basis made by the new law. The effect on wool," he says, "probably will not show until next spring, and the full effect on sugar not for several years." He is certainly contributing cold comfort to the people who have been expecting the cost of living to be reduced by the new tariff.

Gov. Foss of Massachusetts will again run for Governor, but this time on nomination papers. This may split the Democratic vote and aid the election of the Republican candidate. As an element in aid of his campaign it has just been announced that he will this year pay a tax on $700,000 of personal property, and $1,741,700 real estate in Boston, and ing for a total payment of $41,996. This does not include the property of the B. F. Sturtevant Company and the Becker Milling Machine Company, control of which is owned by Mr. Foss.

Gov. S. E. Baldwin of Connecticut, who caused Mr. Roosevelt to take back some disparaging statements he made in last year's campaign, has announced that he wants no third term for Governor, but he is a candidate for the United States Senate to succeed Senator Brandegee, whose term expires in 1915. He, however, says he will not stand for the nomination if he has to make a contest for it.

Former Senator Shelby Cullom, at present resident commissioner of the Lincoln memorial in Washington, while reminiscing the other day, said he had been nominated for the Senate five times, and every time he had been scared about to death. "One faces a responsibility that does not become common. I have had the feeling that I was facing a heavy task." The ex-Senator evidently felt the responsibility of his position more keenly than some of the other members of the Senate, who are noted more for some other things than for their legislative ability.

Gov. Locke Craig of North Carolina has designated November 5 and 6 as "good roads days," and calls on all patriotic people throughout the State to work upon the public roads of the State on those days. He urged the importance of this by declaring that the people of the State have lost $12,000,000 annually because of the poor condition of the State's highways.

Business Announcement.

THE WORLD LOVES PROGRESS. HERE IS SOMETHING TRULY PROGRESSIVE.

Up on the Sun-Parched Mojave Desert Something New In Mechanics Discovered.

The engine in an ordinary 60-H.P. automobile weighs, with radiator and all paraphernalia necessary, from 1100 to 1700 pounds. Think of a 60-H. P. engine that weighs only 250 pounds. This is the new invention that bids fair to revolutionize the automobile business in the United States, and incidentally it is the biggest business extant today in the commercial world. If you would like to post up on this new mechanical discovery, call at 419 South Main Street and see the free demonstration that is now being given, both day and evening. If not convenient to visit these rooms, address The Empire Sales Company, Suite 318 Delta Building, and literature giving fullest information will be sent you free.

STOMACH AND BOWEL TROUBLE

Worms Afflict All Ages of the Human Family.

SYMPTOMS—Children and grown people, when troubled with worms, have more or less of these symptoms, or at least, worms have caused all of the symptoms given below, in different individuals at certain periods of their life; sallow complexion, with white or livid circles around the mouth and eyes. In some cases lower eyelids and upper lips are sometimes swollen, unnatural looking tongue covered with whitish-looking fur, sometimes speckled with small red points or dodder elevations; others drooling from the mouth or excessive flow of water (saliva,) with a foul, offensive-smelling breath. Some cases are constantly rubbing or picking their noses, others are restless at night and grind their teeth, also have frightful dreams and start up with terror when asleep.

Passing of mucous or slime from the bowel is an important symptom of worms.

My treatment is pleasant to take. There is no detention from business, no bad effects and can be taken by the youngest child or most feeble person.

The treatment is also a boon in cases of stomach and bowel trouble not due to the presence of worms. It is a fine general tonic, and thoroughly rids the system of all accumulations.

Romance.

WEALTHY YOUTH HANDLES BROOM.

Spends Money on Actress, Sweeps Crossings.

Love for Russian Dancer Proves His Downfall.

Gives Farewell Feast Then Sinks His Yacht.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 24.—Wherever one goes in society in St. Petersburg just now one hears the name of Vladimir Njedochin. Three weeks ago he was merely the ordinary rich young Russian, who had unexpectedly inherited a fortune of $312,500 from his mother some twelve months previous and had determined to have a good time in the freest sense of the term. Today he is a crossing swepper in the employ of the municipality of St. Petersburg at the wages of $15 a month. What has caused this extraordinary transformation?

If you trust the gossip of St. Petersburg you will be told that he was merely one of a type of numerous Russians who determine to live either at the top of the ladder or the bottom—men who have no use for the middle classes or the middle rungs. He never expected to become a man of wealth, but when he did acquire a fortune a year ago he began to live in the most expensive manner in St. Petersburg, keeping a yacht and race horses. He gave the finest entertainments to his friends, in the course of which mirrors in the restaurants were frequently broken through the throwing of champagne bottles and glasses, but he cheerfully paid the bill.

SINKS HIS YACHT.

At last, discovering that he had come to the end of his money, he invited all his friends to a fete on an island, whither they were taken in his yacht. The day was passed in revelry. When the last visitor had been landed on the way home, Njedochin sank his yacht so that no one should use it after him, and the next morning saw him busy as a sweeper, a common municipal workman in workman's rough clothes.

This is the tale that is told to all inquirers by the people of St. Petersburg who get their information second-hand, but it really does not represent the exact causes that led Njedochin to sacrifice so cheerfully his money, his friends and his position. Njedochin is, in no sense, an ordinary Russian. He is an artist to his finger tips, and before his mother made him so rich he had a studio in St. Petersburg and used to paint the most illuminating and effective portraits of a post-impressionist stamp. About this period two women unfortunately entered his life—one the daughter of a well-known Russian Grand Duke who need only be known as Maria; the other, Paula Mickelovich, the famous dancer in the Russian Ballet at the Imperial Theater. Both apparently fell violently in love with him, but his heart went out to Paula Mickelovich, the fierce, ardent, impressionable "star," a keen favorite with the Czar and a girl with the Titian locks that all artists love, and with the vibrating, sensitive temperament that takes everything up like a sponge but in reality gives nothing of sympathy, insight or affection in return.

Poor Vladimir was too much in love with her to realize this inherent selfishness, and he wrote and sang and painted, and moved every force and lever that he could control to promote the success of this fascinating but unstable and heartless Paula. She took his devotion as her right. There were dozens of others like him and much more fun than he was, but when he became suddenly rich she saw increased use for him and paid him redoubled devotion. She it was who led him to keep the yacht and race horses, to give those expensive entertainments whereat all St. Petersburg marveled, and to spend his money like water on vanities that would make her and him infamous. "I can make millions for both of us," she told him as the champagne bottles crashed through the mirrors. "Only make the pace—let me be talked about!"

MARIA NOT IDLE.

Meanwhile poor Maria was not idle. In the quiet thoughtful moments that come to the most dissatisfied she sought out Vladimir, and told him there was only one end to such an infatuation as his—ruin and suicide. He thrust the advice aside. Nothing could separate him from Paula, and nothing did—till he came to his last 100 roubles. Then he got in a panic and sought out the dancer and pressed her instantly to marry him.

Womanlike, she made some excuse why she should not do so. He had neglected her overnight; he had talked too much with her bosom girl friend; she felt she could not suddenly trust him; he must wait; all would come well in the end. Heartbroken he staggered out of her apartment. His reason reeled. He saw eventually there was nothing for him but death and disgrace and—to leave Paula. He returned to Paula's home to tell her he was not worthy of her and that that was the end. Horror-stricken, he discovered she had already fled out of his reach to Vienna.

Then it was he hit on that final spectacular feast, but even as he stood alone and watched his yacht sink with a hand clasped about a revolver, Maria again appeared to him.

"Do not take the coward's refuge," she pleaded. "I love you. If you kill yourself I shall die. Live—live for my sake, and redeem the past."

They say a woman's love can accomplish anything. Certainly it accomplished the miracle that all Russia is now talking about—the appearance of Vladimir as a crossing-sweeper. His friends who know him well declare that he will yet "make good" and win the faithful Maria as his bride. His acquaintances smile, raise their eyebrows and murmer, "Wait—wait till the fascinating, but fragile Paula returns from Vienna."

William Sustains Reputation as a Speechmaker.

Proudly Proclaims Himself Healthy Optimist.

He Gives Some Lusty Raps at Suffragettes.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—The volume of the speeches of Emperor William, delivered during the 1906 to 1912, has just appeared, 326 pages crowded with addresses toasts on all kinds of subjects, taining his reputation as the royal speechmaker of the present

The collection contains many of the epigrammatic utterances of uous political declarations have from time to time created in Germany and in the world, his declaration on woman's and divine right, at Koenigsberg 1910; his proclamation of himself optimist and believer in his men; his contempt for repeated expression of his belief Divine Providence and his against intemperance, delivered to students of the academy at Among the most interesting and acteristic passages in the new tion are the following:

"The world belongs to the and the living know best. I will erate no pessimists; whoever ready to work may drop out he wishes, hunt up a country suited to him."

BACON CARRIES OLIVE BRANCH.

WILL VISIT SOUTH AMERICA IN CAUSE OF PEACE.

Former Secretary of State Goes Under Auspices of the Carnegie Foundation and Will Seek to Better Relations Between the Nations of the Western Continent.

[A. P. Correspondence to The Times.]

LISBON, Sept. 27.—Robert Bacon, at one time Secretary of State in the second Roosevelt administration, spent several days in Portugal previous to sailing for South America, whither he has gone in the interest of better and closer relations between nations.

"Personally, aside from my mission," said Mr. Bacon in this connection, "no country holds for me more interest than South America. When I was in the State Department South American affairs had a peculiar interest for me. Now more than ever the attention of the world is being directed to the continent south of the United States, which is developing in a way that has no comparison in history except with our own development. In a little while the Panama Canal will increase this rapid growth, particularly on the western coast. Our intellectual and commercial relations, already very important with South America, will grow, and the isolation that now prevents many persons from the United States from traveling to southern continent will largely disappear."

Mr. Bacon is visiting South America under the auspices of the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace. In further explanation of his journey he said:

"The movement which has behind it, in America, Senator Root, President Nicholas, Murray Butler of Columbia College, James Brown Scott and others associated with them, has very definite and specific purposes and practical methods of accomplishing them.

"The membership of the Institute of International Law comprises some of the most learned men of Europe and America, who hold regular meetings to discuss the laws that govern the relations of nations. Now a similar institute has been established for South America, and a part of my work will be to encourage the formation of branches of this society, of which Senator Root is president.

"I will discuss also the arrangement of exchanges between the universities of South America and those of the United States, of both professors and students, and also the exchange visits of individuals. By these means the nations must acquire a more intimate understanding of the problems that each one faces, and the peoples must be drawn into a closer intellectual and spiritual relationship."

Mercer Roadster's Tour.

Mrs. C. P. Thomas, accompanied by Mrs. Tom Bundy, motored to San Francisco lost week in the former's Mercer roadster. In a letter to the local Mercer agency, Mrs. Thomas stated that the trip was made without any kind of mechanical or tire trouble, the Mercer performing in great style. No fast time was attempted by Mrs. Thomas, the first all-night stop being made at Elizabeth Lake, the second at Bakersfield and the third at Fresno. The fourth night was spent in the Bay City. As a result of the work of the Mercer car, Mrs. Bundy expects to purchase a duplicate model in the near future.

HYOMEI SOOTHES, PURIFIES, HEALS CATARRH ILLS

When you have frequent sneezing fits, tickling in the throat, crusts in the nose, spasms of coughing, raising of mucus, droppings in the throat and offensive breath, you are affected with catarrh. Immediate steps should be taken to remedy this condition or the ailment will increase and spread through the air passages, and a chronic and serious stage of disease may result.

At the first symptoms of catarrh, use Hyomei as sold by druggists everywhere. There is no other treatment like it, or just as good; none that can take its place and relieve so surely, so quickly and at so little cost. It is a scientific medicated air treatment, that does not drug and derange the stomach, but is breathed in through the Hyomei inhaler, destroying the disease germs that may lurk in the nose, throat and lungs, and soothing and healing the irritated mucous membrane.

Hyomei is offered to catarrhal sufferers with the agreement to refund the purchase price to any one who is not satisfied with results. You certainly can afford to test Hyomei with an offer like this. Get it now, and be cured of catarrh. Hyomei does not contain cocaine, or any other habit forming drug. Complete outfit including inhaler and bottle of liquid, $1.00. Extra bottles of liquid, if later needed, 50 cents.—[Advertisement.

READY TO ACT ON OCEAN WAY.

Short Cut from Pico Through Santa Monica.

Fremont Avenue Improvement to Be Ordered.

Supervisors Favor a County Road to Connect.

Effective steps toward the improvement of Fremont avenue from the Santa Monica city limits to the sea will be taken tomorrow night by the City Council of the beach city, according to their expressed intention. This action will undoubtedly be followed by an order by the Supervisors of Los Angeles county to build a highway from Pico street through Wolfskill ranch to connect with the new Fremont-avenue boulevard and thereby create a short direct paved way from this city to the ocean.

The proposed improvement of this avenue has been the subject of long-drawn-out controversy in the beach city for nearly three years. Seventy-two ordinances were drawn and passed after the people composing the assessment district had united in favor of the work.

Time after time the proceedings were invalidated by some technical error. Each time the property owners insisted on the improvement and the proceedings were started again. Twice the matter went so far that bids were advertised for and the contracts let.

Last winter the contract was awarded to a Los Angeles contracting firm and the contractors hauled part of their outfit to the avenue. Then another technical error was discovered, the contractors refused to sign the contract and the matter was back again where it started.

MAYOR FOR PROGRESS.

Allegations and insinuations of undue influences working against the improvement were made from time to time by indignant property owners, but nothing definite was evolved along this line. The City Attorney, City Engineer and Mayor Dow were involved in disagreement. The Mayor, who has been strongly in favor of the improvement from the beginning, requested the City Council to remove the City Attorney. No action was taken at that time, but later a new City Attorney assumed the duties of the office.

Mayor Dow said yesterday that he believes nothing can now prevent the consummation of the work. He is for it, the City Council is prepared to pass the necessary ordinance and the property owners are agreed on the kind of improvement to be made. It is possible that the ordinance of intention will be prepared and ready for acceptance by tomorrow night's meeting. In any event it will be ordered.

The plan now is to pave the avenue from Eighth street to Ocean avenue, according to the original specifications, which called for as high a class of work as has ever been done in the West. The avenue will be widened to eighty feet and will have wide parkways, elaborate ornamental lights and palm trees.

The Eighth-street improvement will cost about $40,000 and the Fremont-avenue work will exceed $100,000. SUPERVISORS LONG READY.

More than three years ago, when the Fremont-avenue improvement was taken up, the Board of Supervisors informally agreed to build a road connecting Pico street with Santa Monica at that point. Definite action by them was not possible at that time because of the repeated failure of Santa Monica to carry out its part of the programme.

Supervisors Butler and Hinshaw, in whose districts the proposed road will go, are in favor of building it as soon as the Santa Monica work is under way. They have been in conference with Santa Monica officials and have approved the plan of action to be begun at tomorrow night's meeting.

Supervisor Pridham of the board said yesterday that he favors more roads to the sea and thinks well of the Santa Monica direct-cut project. Supervisor Manning also favors the plan of connecting Pico street and Fremont avenue. He prefers narrow roads so that a large number of outlets to the sea can be secured. [illegible] the board is now on record as favoring the extension of Pico street as well as other streets leading to the ocean.

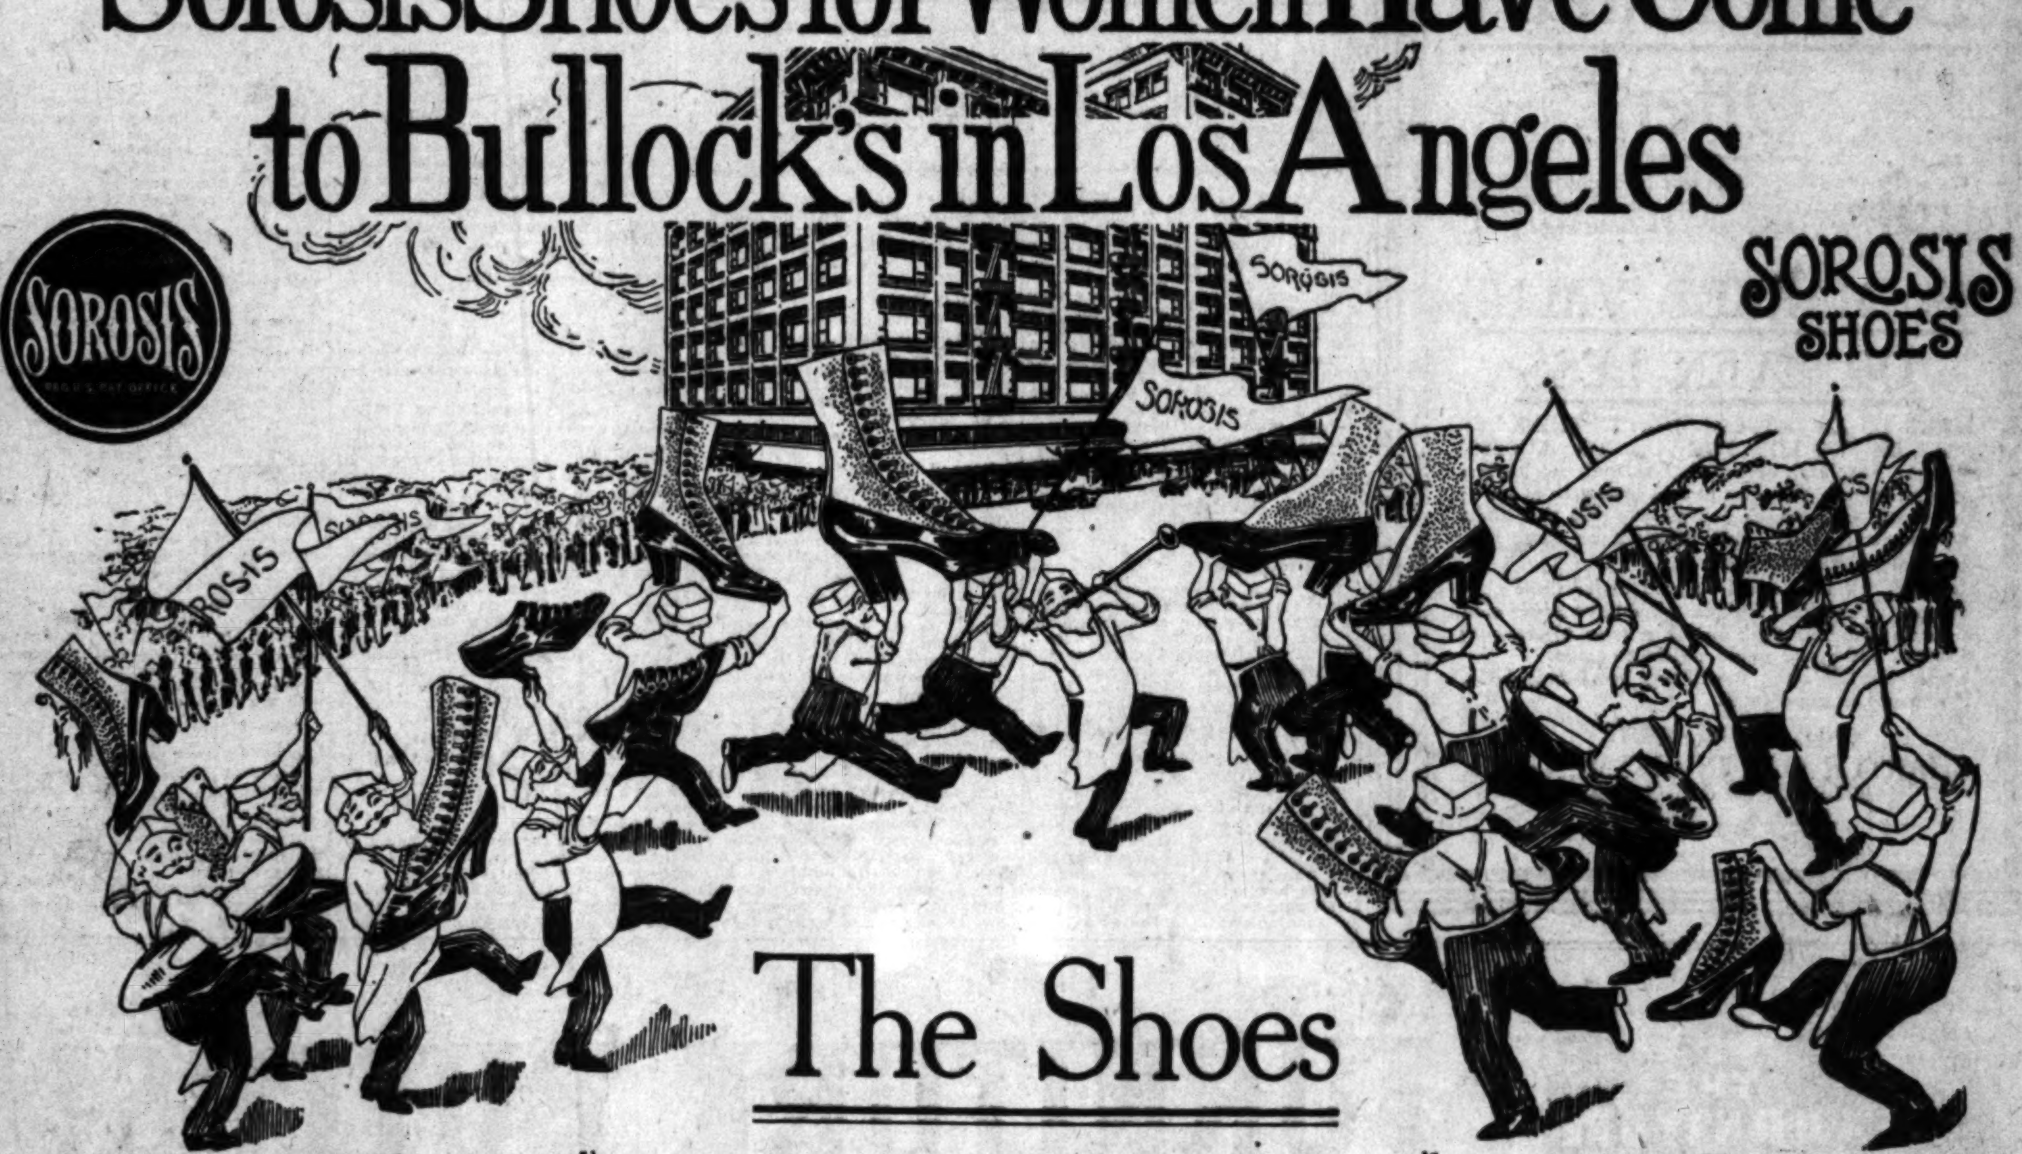
Sorosis Shoes for Women Have Come to Bullock's in Los Angeles

SOROSIS

SOROSIS SHOES



The Shoes

—that are famous the world over for their style and their perfect fitting qualities; for their exceptional shoe making and high standard of value.

—The shoes that are built upward to an ideal, have come to the store that is building upward to an ideal, for the pleasure, convenience and satisfaction of Southern California women—

See the great window display Sorosis Shoes, including the magnificent coronation exhibit.

—Bullock's considers this one of the most important announcements that this business has ever made—

—The importance of the alliance formed between the manufacturers of Sorosis Shoes with their high standards; and Bullock's with the standard of merchandising for which the business is well known — can hardly be overestimated—

—It should result in benefits to the thousands of women who want shoes and values—

—The name "Sorosis" is too well known to need much exploitation here——To the great numbers of women who know Sorosis Shoes and have worn them, this announcement will come as delightful news—

—To all of these and to the great numbers of other women, who do not know Sorosis Shoes—we extend this

Cordial Invitation to Visit Bullock's Shoe Section

—and be shown the beautiful styles; the different, splendidly designed models; the remarkably careful, expert, painstaking workmanship; the perfect leathers and fabrics that have had so much to do with making "Sorosis" the synonym of Shoe Quality around the world—

Sorosis Shoes Will Be Found at Bullock's Exclusively in Los Angeles

—A few of the styles are pictured on this page, and merely a few—

—Some more are shown in a brilliant window exhibit—which includes the famous Coronation exhibit, shown in London during the ceremonies attending the accession of King George and Queen Mary.

Sorosis Facts

1. Sorosis sets the shoe styles for the world. No other high-grade women's shoe is produced on so large a scale.
2. Sorosis Shoes can be purchased in every important city on the globe, and, notwithstanding the opposition encountered by what was called The American Invasion, Paris now requires three Sorosis stores and London eight.
3. —Highest grade material, superior workmanship, scientifically constructed lasts and patterns, and satisfied customers are the foundation upon which the Sorosis business has been built.

A Merit Corps of master mechanics, trained for at least ten years in the Sorosis factories, offer an incentive to progressively skillful workmanship. They produce luxuries in footwear, some of which sell at Fifty Dollars a pair.

Sorosis is the only establishment in the world making all its own lasts and patterns, which are the result of years of study. They make possible such excellent fitting that orthopedic physicians now almost invariably prescribe these shoes. Style is not sacrificed for comfort—something unusual.

4. When once you are fitted with a Sorosis Shoe you have the equivalent of a private last, on which shoes can be obtained in any important city in the world.
5. Twelve years ago Sorosis promised to give the women of America a high-grade shoe at reasonable price. Sorosis is doing this today. Constantly improved methods and enormous production have offset the increasing cost of materials and of labor. These Sorosis staples are the greatest shoe values in the world.
6. Every Sorosis Shoe is adjusted to the betterment of the human foot. They will not heal crippled feet, but will help small ailments caused by wearing other shoes.
7. With Sorosis your feet will be comfortable, and in style, at the same time.

FACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES.

BY OLIVE GRAY.

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: Probably there is nothing more injurious to the complexion than poor soap. I believe in the use of soap for the eradication of dirt; but the soap should be of the purest. There is a French complexion soap which does not injure the skin and which will not promote the growth of fuzz. This soap is delightful to use and is not expensive.

If you are a genuine lover of beauty you will manage to have it about you in some form.

If, for instance, you are fond of plants you can contrive to have them, wherever you may reside.

I noticed in the tower at a corner of Broadway, where the director of a big building is temporarily residing, that he had placed window boxes around his small perch and had these filled with ferns and plants, while above the windows were brackets for hanging baskets of trailing vines.

Many might have thought it impossible to have anything beautiful in such a place; but it was probably little trouble to arrange the matter and in so unexpected a spot the plants look even more beautiful than ordinarily.

Please, Dear Lady!

If you are not absolutely certain that the handwriting of age has made no tracery upon your countenance, do not—oh, please do not, dear lady—wear a "bride" beneath your chin!

While the little velvet or satin ribbon is bewitching when worn by a youthful woman, it looks unspeakably malapropos when the "bride" is buried in depths of a set of chins.

Plant Roses.

One of the big stores is this week holding a sale of Cecile Brunner rose bushes, all ready to set out.

The price is so slight that every one who loves these tiny roses should be able to have plenty by next season's blossoming time. No rose is so pretty for boutonnieres, and the odor is so pungent, as well as sweet that it cannot fail to appeal, even to the most fastidious. The fragrance is, in fact, like the old-fashioned sweet briar.

A Family Pair.

After all, there is economy in sight for the family which has been lamenting the high cost of living.

You can purchase one pair of tango garters and it will do for both sisters, since there is but one slit in most of the slit skirts.

A Bevy of New Shops.

If you have not inspected the bevy of new shops which have opened on lower Broadway, you have a treat in store.

All are, in truth, well known and long established, but so fine is their new attire that they are almost unrecognizable.

There is the book and stationery shop which has for its opening a beautiful autumnal color scheme, carrying out the browns and yellows of the great vaseful of oak branches and leaves, around which are grouped rare editions in fine leathers. It is a window which arrests the gaze of all who pass along.

Then there is the House of Beautiful Ready-to-wear. In one of its window spaces are arranged those articles intime for women, such as dainty camisoles, crepe undergarments, beflowered garters, and the many sachets and pretty nothings, which form so important a part of feminine attire. It might be supposed that the kewpies had brought these together, for the lovable sprites are here disporting themselves among the rose satin ribbonry.

Another window of this feminine establishment holds traveling clothes and etceteras for traveling. All are in royal purple and are of royal quality. Fine blouses occupy another space.

Twin to this shop is one for the clothes of men and the accessories which are as important to his lordship as are the articles in the other shop of importance to milady.

A large jewelry house, for many years located upon another street, has opened its spacious quarters in this group. The windows here are filled with silver. Upon one side is shown the latest developments in household silverware; and in the other is displayed personal silver, such as fine mesh bags, and the many toilet articles which are essentially personal.

Taken as a whole, this group of shops is as fine as anything in any part of this or any city.

For Hallowe'en.

When planning for your Halloween party, you should have for reference the little book on games.

It is most interesting and instructive and will be a great help in planning both the games and the decorations. It takes cognizance of the many superstitions in connection with this festival and utilizes them for fun-making.

For instance, when you have decided to decorate your rooms in Jack o' lantern style, placing pumpkin shades over your lights and using the pumpkin printed napkins and menu cards upon your table, you may introduce the sports by playing the pumpkin game. A huge pumpkin which bears, upon its sides the letters of the alphabet, is set firmly upon a table and each guest is armed with a hat-pin. Blind-folded, he or she approaches and sticks the pin into the good-natured pumpkin. The initial, or initials nearest to the hat-pin are those of the future lover.

A Cami-Skirt.

Now comes the cami-skirt, as a rival to the cami-drawers of which I have heretofore written.

These are quite as flimsy, as inconsequential, as are the former and in fact their only raison d'etre is their prettiness. Cob-webby lace, thinnest net, satin ribbons and flowers are their "substance."

Do not search Broadway, however, for anything bearing the name which I have given to these dainty garments. Just look until you see them; and you may need at least a monacle to espy them.

The New Sash Blouse.

The peplummed waist must make way for the sashed blouse.

The latest fine blouses of lace, mousseline and chiffon, and some of the plainer ones as well, have sashes of silk tasselled with silk sewing thread, or fancy ornamental ends. As a rule these sashes are of brilliant coloring and many times take on the tint of the Roman scarf, or the waist girdle of Mexico. Some are in plain sky blues, pinks or cardinals.

New Fabrics.

Among the new and luxurious fabrics is a plaid moire velours in most rich and gorgeous coloring.

Used for waistcoats, or to form the collar, cuffs and in touches here and there upon the costume of a plain color, this material would be excellent. Or, if one has the taste for greater brilliance, the plaid can be used to form the entire bodice and the pannier tunic.

The Bead Craze.

In response to the craze for beads, one of the big stores has brought out a fine line of these ornaments in necklace shape, in every color and shade. When one looks these over, one is not at all surprised at their popularity; for they are certainly tempting. Particularly do the odd and almost bizarre beads of oriental coloring and shape appeal, since they go so well with the present mode in dress.

Fashion's Chosen Ones.

Beautiful shoulder scarfs are made of brocaded velvet, bordered with fur.

The combination of white cloth and sil kwith dark fur is still good.

Rose-embroidered chiffon borders the bodice and tunic of some of the new gowns.

A charming combination is the Dresden silk frock with changeable taffeta jacket.

PHOSPHO FOODS

GLIMPSES OF SAN FRANCISCO.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—It is no use. A few sane people are trying to talk about some other topic than baseball, but the rest of the country is talking of what is going on in Philadelphia and New York. Truly a grand struggle for supremacy of the diamond. Philosophers, poets, dramatists and even clericals are writing about it regardless of expense or intelligible English. Sporting writers have been shamed into lucid descriptions.

Because of the world's series in baseball the All Blacks football team from New Zealand has been almost obscured. They are sturdy players and well able to show our boys how Rugby can be played. Fleet of foot and quick of arm they are worth the price of admission. When they give their Maori yell, one feels that he has received more than his money's worth.

With all due deference to the fair sex, it is right to say that there is a feeling of relief now that the Portola pretty girl contest is over. For weeks there has been urgent solicitation to vote for some one. Sometimes it was because she was a blonde; sometimes it was because she was a brunette. At last twelve beautiful dames were elected to tour the Coast in the interest of the coming celebration, and the humdrum of life is once more resumed.

An official dentist has been appointed for Folsom penitentiary, because the warden says the men are bad on account of bad teeth. That may be true of inmates from other sections but some of the lads from this city are wicked from pure cussedness. However, if the salaried tooth fixer can improve their morals it is not meet to begrudge his pay.

Last week an actress was advertised by her press agent as having insured her back for $35,000. It took well and crowds went to see a remarkably fine dorsal exhibition. This week a grand opera singer was well advertised because a canary bird flew into her room at the St. Francis. The inference is that she has a birdlike voice. Next week some male Thespian may advertise himself as a good actor.

Aggressive club women, campaigning for a clean town, deny responsibility for the attempted suicide of two dance hall girls. The young women admitted that love affairs and not lack of work prompted their action. After being revived at the Emergency Hospital they went home in a taxicab. The Barbary Coast is as dead as a cemetery and the dive keepers are on a still hunt for other occupations.

In a meek and lowly spirit the proprietors of the beach resorts have adopted new rules. They promise to close at 2 a.m., and not sell liquor to drunken men. To show their approval of a clean town movement they say that they will not permit women to smoke on the premises. Next week they may add a new law that chauffeurs must not take snuff while cranking up.

Stingy members of a leading improvement club ask the authorities to reduce election expenses. At the last primary there were 673 polling places and eight officials to a booth. The total cost was not far from $100,000. The vote was 66,853, thus making the expense of each elector $1.50. The economical citizens urge a reduction in the number of officials and voting places. They do not seem to appreciate the fact that all those election officers are good to their families and that a suffrage right in a republic ought to be worth more than $1.50.

State Printer Richardson has saved the commonwealth $265,473 in the publication of text-books needed in the schools. This is interesting news to the taxpayer, harassed by burdensome tolls and with the promised relief of the new tariff a year off. But if it was left to the kids they would save the whole amount by abolishing school-books.

Capt. Johnson is coming all the way from New Jersey in a whale boat to visit our fair. We are ready to welcome the skipper no matter what kind of a craft he comes in. As far as comfort is concerned, it would have been better for him to come in the Congress, the million-dollar steamer built especially for us.

TWO INFINITIES.

Mathematicians Know Better Than to Begin to Think Eternity or Hope for a Glimpse of It.

[Edgar Lucien Larkin, in New York American:] Can there be two kinds of infinities; or two infinite spaces? The nearest star is distant 25,000,000,000,000 miles. Go write a row of units 111111... to the star and let each unit represent 1 mile; then the distance represented by a line of 1s, 25,000,000,000,000 miles long, submerges all human powers of imagination. But write a row of 222222.. 25,000,000,000,000 miles long, then the number of miles represented would be twice as great. Then write a row of 999999... equally as long, and the distance expressed would be nine times as great as that represented by the 1s. But no human can think of the distance expressed by the 1s. Let the first row of figures extend 25,000,000,000,000 or 50,000,000,000,000 or 1,000,000,000,000,000 miles to the east; then a row could be extended toward the west. Many millions of years would be required to write the long rows. Suppose you write 9s both ways during 1,000,000,000 years each. Then the distance in miles would be thinner than a spider's thread compared to an infinite distance. There are possibly fifty persons now living able to think one new thought; they are the mighty of the earth; and are all transcendent mathematicians. Not one of these even tries to begin to think of infinity or eternity. They all know better. Only the superficial strive to think of the two words. I cannot even hope to secure a glimpse, lasting a thousandth part of one second of the meaning of one of the following list of words: Mind, space, time, duration, infinity, eternity, beginning, end, space, and electrons.

Coughed Up a Bullet.

[Chicago Inter Ocean:] While testifying against E. N. Pigg, a car inspector who had shot him September 12, Clifford Johnson, a stationary engineer at Wister, Okla., was seized with a violent fit of coughing, which terminated when a bullet that had lodged in his neck was expelled.

The bullet had lodged near the brain, and for weeks had defied all efforts of physicians to dislodge it. Physicians say had it not been expelled it probably would have driven Johnson insane.

Pigg was fined $50 as a result of the shooting. He mistook Johnson for a burglar. Johnson had lost his way en route to Van Buren, Ark., and was looking for a telephone when shot.

341-343-345 S° BROADWAY
In the Heart of the Shopping District.

In this lot of a hundred or more suits there are scarcely two of them alike—and each one displays some eccentricity or fad. There are plain-tailored models of heavy serge in midnight blue; Chiffon broadcloth suits with one and two-button cutaway vests; also a lot of handsome novelty suits of eponge, wool poplin, rep, matelasse and fancy weaves. Collars of fur, velvet many with draped skirts including the peg-top models. The coats fasten with fancy frogs or buttons. A full line of colors and Winter, including mahogany and Bengain blue. Sizes from 14 years for misses to 44-inch bust measure for women. And that is marvelously low—$25.00.

Alterations Made By Experts Guaranteed to Give Satisfaction

Clearance of Women's Suits $14

Plain and Fancy—$20.00 to $32.50 Values at

A clearance sale of suits that have formerly borne price marks as high as $32.50. Up-to-date plain-tailored and fancy models of eponge, Bedford cords, broadcloth, diagonals, whipcord, French and storm serges. A vast range of colorings in plain and striped patterns, also black and white checks. Skirts in plain and draped styles, and the coats are lined with Skinner's satin. POLICE AND PARADISE.

Only in Drama Are They Ever Found Together.

First at Morosco, Second at Majestic.

New Bills in Vaudeville and Picture Houses.

The first play of "America Outside America" to ring true and strike a note of deep and lasting philosophy is Richard Walton Tully's "The Bird of Paradise," which Oliver Morosco is to present here, in its original sumptuous production, at the Majestic Theater for one week, commencing this evening, with the usual matinees.

"The Bird of Paradise" is a story of modern Hawaii, and, in brief, might be termed a splendid satire on the futility of attempting to reverse the anti-civilization of 10,000 years in a score of years, or to turn back the hot surf of the indolent tropics with the icy currents of the North.

Mr. Tully, its author, is one of the most deeply versed of America's literary men. He is more than a literary man and more than a dramatic craftsman; while he was still at college he achieved his first dramatic success, with a well-known farce, "The Strenuuous Life." And after he left college, and before he attained the international celebrity deservedly won by such plays as "The Bird of Paradise" and "The Rose of the Rancho," he was a globe traveler, and, in particular, an intense student of Hawaiian history, customs and people.

Consequently the drama, which is to be seen here, is redolent, not only of genuine Sandwich Island atmosphere, but its satire is of the deep, true, kindly sort; its humanities are real; its race distinctions are absolute; its lessons are unavoidable and inevitable, and will be remembered long after the play is gone.

The love stories of Paul Wilson, the American in the tropics, and Luana, the beautiful Pele girl; and, upon the other hand, of beach-comber Dean and the resolute American Diana, are absolute vital humanities—worthy any dramatist in Europe today.

Tully has told his story with unflagging interest. From the time the lovely, half-nude Luana drops her melting eyes upon the handsome young American; from the time the American girl sees the shabby, shambling, South Sea derelict in his bamboo jungle by the coral-bound wavelets, there is rushing action, pulsing emotion, genuinely throbbing humanity. As a play of absolute originality this piece held New York spellbound; it cannot be otherwise wherever presented.

Miss Lenore Ulrich fills the eye not only with Luana's beauty, but with her youth as well; William Desmond as Paul Wilson and David Landau as Dean, the beach comber, will present striking portrayals. There are some complex bits of mechanical detail in the production, notably in the volcano scene, described in New York as "the most perfect bit of striking stage mechanics ever seen outside of a heavy Drury Lane melodrama."

Morosco.

Charles Bradley and Edward Paulton's new play, "Police," will be given its first production on any stage at the Morosco Theater this week, beginning with the usual matinee today.

The premiere of a new play is both important and interesting and in "Police," Manager Oliver Morosco has discovered what promises to be a truly unusual and quite remarkable comedy-drama that stands an excellent chance of proving a success of more than ordinary proportions.

"Police," as the title would indicate, has considerable to do with the police system of New York, the authors having laid much of the action of their play in the tenderloin district of New York, which, during the recent Becker trials, was shown to be the hotbed of police corruption in the metropolis. Indeed, the authors have not had to draw on their imagination for many of the surprising situations in their play, for just as sensational and extraordinary situations were exposed at the recent investigation by Dist.-Atty. Whitman.

"Police," however, could not exactly be termed a play of the underworld, for it has little to do with the lower type of criminal, but with the higher grade of lawbreaker—the kind that has money and uses it to buy police protection.

The authors in constructing their play and telling their story have developed some most surprising twists and there is an element of constant anxiety that runs through the four acts that should keep an audience guessing every minute as to just what will happen the next.

The first act is laid in Police Captain Kruger's office in the tenderloin precinct in New York City; the second act takes place in the drawing-room of Archibald Royce, and the third reveals the interior of Maury Burns's very fashionable gambling-house. In this act Stage Director Underwood endeavored to acccurately and exactly duplicate the type of New York gambling-house that recently figured so prominently in the Becker trials. The fourth act takes the action back to the drawing-room of the Royce home.

The chief male role will be played by Henry Kolker, while the production is made doubly interesting by the first appearance of the new Morosco leading woman, Cecil Kern, in the splendid part of Nancy Royce. Harrison Hunter will be seen as Prof. Warren Harvey; Grace Valentine will return after a week's absence as Lulu Harvey, while James K. Applebee, Florence Oberle and the others of the company will be seen to exceptional advantage. Following "Police," Mr. Morosco will offer for the first time on any stage the new comedy, "The Prodigal Parent."

Burbank.

Selma Paley, who leaped into public favor three months ago by her remarkable singing of the prima donna role in "Madame Sherry," will return to the Burbank stage this afternoon in a big revival of Charles Klein's gripping play, "The Third Degree."

In "Madame Sherry" Miss Paley demonstrated her splendid worth as a prima donna, and now Manager Morosco will allow her another chance to prove her worth by casting her for the part of Mrs. Howard Jeffries, Jr., one of the biggest emotional roles brought forth in any play of the last ten years, and a part that was created and played in New York by Helen Ware.

Miss Paley has before shown her histrionic ability in "The Escape," "The House Next Door" and other Burbank and Morosco successes, but no young actress on the American stage today has ever been intrusted that calls for such a tremendous play of power as the leading role in "The Third Degree," and it will surely prove a test fully as interesting as was Yvonne Sherry for this young actress.

Besides Miss Paley in the chief feminine role of Mrs. Howard Jeffries, Jr., Grace Travers will return after a week's absence from the cast in the splendid role of Mrs. Howard Jeffries, Sr.; Thomas McLarnie will be seen in the great role of Richard Brewster, a part splendidly suited to his forceful style, and one which will allow him the best chance he has ever enjoyed on the local stage. Mor-

An artistic pen and inkling of Lenore Ulrich in "The Bird of Paradise."

This young woman, of whom local playgoers have heard much, is the latest "youthful" discovery of Oliver Morosco. She is here shown in sketch and portrait as she appears as Luana, the wonderfully pathetic little heroine of Richard Walton Tully's romantic Hawaiian drama, which comes back to the Majestic Theater tonight, and in which Miss Ulrich has scored one of the most notable hits of the year.

Fate Intervenes.

BAR ALMOST GOT TULLY.

Author of "Bird of Pardise" Playwright by Chance.

College Play Pointed Out Way to Fortune.

Calls Miss Ulrich, Who Stars in Play "a Find."

Richard Walton Tully, successful playwright, author of "The Bird of Paradise," "The Rose of the Rancho," etc., might have become a lawyer, but he didn't. The escape of this brilliant young author from a legal career was the real turning point in his life. Tully thinks it was the best thing that ever happened to him, and Tully is right.

While a junior law student in the University of California in 1900, Tully was slated to write the junior farce. He got busy and the result was 17,000 words of side-splitting comedy. Was it a success? It was. The title was "A Strenuous Life," and it was strenuous enough to impel a San Francisco manager to offer Tully $250 a week for the producing rights.

From that day on, the young author could see nothing in the study of law. He figured that if he could earn $250 a week for doing something that was mere fun for him, the study of law had lost its attractive force. He immediately dropped everything but dramatics, and has concerned himself with little else since. His junior farce was the best work that had ever been produced at the university, and still holds that record.

WAS WELL QUALIFIED.

At the time he wrote the farce, the author was well qualified to discuss strenuosity from either a humorous or serious side. He was an active student. He was manager of the university glee club, manager of dramatics, chief comedian and playwright, secretary of the associated students, editor of the college weekly and boss politician. When President Hadley of Yale visited Benjamin Ide Wheeler, Wheeler said in introducing Tully: "Hadley, I want you to meet 'Dick' Tully. He is the man who is running the University of California, and not myself."

"Dick" Tully is a western man and proud of it. His father was a "Forty-niner" and became wealthy in the mining game. After amassing his fortune he moved to Stockton and became a banker. He was the first and only Democrat ever elected Mayor of Stockton since the Civil War. Reverses came later and he lost his fortune. "Dick" Tully was born in the mining town of Nevada City, thirty-six years ago.

Tully's theatrical experiences are most interesting and they go to show that he is wonderfully well equipped for a successful playwright.

WORKED IN THEATER.

The young author sold candy in the theater at Stockton when he was 13 years old. He later became head usher. He had the opportunity of watching the best plays and observing the best talent for years. When in High School he was well qualified to handle amateur theatricals, and it was this early training that prompted him to write his college farce. His father wanted him to study for the bar. He told young Tully that writers starved to death, while lawyers prospered. His belief in this was strengthened from the fact that the lawyers got most of the elder Tully's money away from him during his reverses.

He went east in 1901 and wrote "The Rose of the Rancho." A year later he worked it over with David Belasco. It ran an entire year on Broadway in 1906.

He worked three years on "The Bird of Paradise" and it was one of the three greatest successes of the past two seasons. He never attempts to write a play in less than two years, and is now working on a play for Guy Bates Post and has in mind another play which he has been commissioned by Oliver Morosco to write for Lenore Ulrich, and in which Morosco will star her next year. It will be an atmospheric play with picturesque settings. Further details Morosco or Tully refuse to reveal, saying that "In this day of moving pictures, to say nothing of the activities of Broadway managers, it is simply suicidal to announce anything before it is ready."

Tully is pleased to say that he is a disciple of Belasco. The latter contends that "genius is an infinite capacity for taking pains," and Tully believes it implicitly.

GOOD WORK TAKES TIME.

He has no patience with playwrights who believe they can write a successful play in two or three weeks. A successful play is worth at least $25,000 to the author, and Tully thinks it is either luck or the use of somebody else's work when an author earns that amount in so short a time. He believes in the dynamic theory that if he works along proper lines for, say, two years, and then unloads his efforts in two hours and a half, there is a chance of the result being a success.

Outside of writing plays, Tully has one hobby. It is Arabian horses. He has nine full-blooded desert Arabian horses at the big El Tejon ranch here in California. He will supply horses of this breed to the United States government later on. Some of his horses were secured from the late Homer Davenport.

In 1901 Tully was married to Eleanor Gates. The young people were both students in the University of California at that time. Mrs. Tully is a writer of wide reputation. She is the author of "The Poor Little Rich Girl," which has made a notable success on Broadway. Tully staged and produced this play for his wife. He declares that Morosco has a great find in little Miss Ulrich, who is a St. Paul (Minn.) girl and only 19 years old, and who will be seen for the first time here at the Majestic Theater tonight.

MUSICAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Tivoli Opera Company's First Appearance Here.

Verdi's Centenary Fete at Auditorium Today.

Notable Additions to Symphony's Orchestral Forces.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

Owing to the appearance of the Western Metropolitan Opera Company at the San Francisco home of the Tivoli, the latter company in its entirety will be heard here for the first time at the Auditorium tomorrow evening, in a limited engagement.

This marks the first tour of the company since its organization last May.

The Tivoli company is a distinctive Californian enterprise, composed of high-class artists of recognized talent.

The first offering of a four weeks' engagement will be the most popular of light operas, "The Bohemian Girl," whose light and catchy songs are known and enjoyed by all lovers of popular music.

The manner in which the Tivoli company is offering this opera is as near perfection as it is possible to give it, for it unites the traditions of years, with modern stage craft and scenic investment.

The various roles will be well filled with Leahy's big company and every gem in the score will be sung to its full value.

The cast includes Henry Santry as Count Arnheim, John R. Phillips as Thaddeus, the proscribed Pole; Charles E. Galagher as the gypsy chief, Devilshoof; Rena Vivienne as Arline, the daughter of the Count, and Sarah Edwards as the queen of the gypsies.

Before going to San Francisco Miss Vivienne, Mr. Phillips and Mr. Galagher played these roles with presentations of "The Bohemian Girl" in the eastern revivals, each with great success, and in the recent run of the opera at the Tivoli the entire cast was received with acclaim.

One of the features of modern interpolation will occur in the third scene of act II, the grand fair in the plaza at Presberg, when the great Basy troupe of Russian acrobats, dancers and musicians from the Imperial Theater at Moscow, under Alexander S. Basy as musical director, will appear in varied entertainments of Russian dancers in balalaikah music and adding much to the beauty and picturesqueness of the kirmess.

The young, large and splendid voiced chorus comes highly trained and the entire production from the point of scenery, costumes and accessories under the experienced direction of Charles H. Jones, will be memorable. The augmented orchestra will be under the baton of Hans S. Linne, one of the foremost directors of the day and a composer of note.

The popular Tivoli prices will prevail.

People's Orchestra Concert.

The People's Orchestra programme for today is the most pretentious one so far presented by this organization. It is a fine opportunity for the music lovers of Los Angeles to see one of the greatest compositions that has been written in the field of church music. Verdi was one of the greatest and most progressive musicians of the Italian school, in that he began with the early school of opera and then evolved, with Wagner, into the modern.

In presenting the "Requiem Mass," it is interesting to know that the chorus began work on it last April, and all through the summer months, no matter how hot the night, the faithful members would climb the hill to the Normal School and attend the rehearsals. Los Angeles has been in need of just such a chorus for many years; a group of musicians who would make a serious study of the works of the great masters, and present them to the people in the form that they can best understand, and it is interesting to note that this presentation will be given in English, which is another step in the right direction.

Mr. Lebegott has drilled the chorus until it is in splendid condition, and, after this concert, it will be ready to receive new members to prepare for the big performance that it is hoped to put on at Christmas.

The concert, owing to the length of the performance, will begin at 2:30 p.m., sharp, instead of at 3 p.m., as heretofore.

A fine souvenir programme will be given to each attendant at the Sunday performance. There will be six Egyptian trumpets used in the grand march from "Aida," and the performance of the mass; they are very delicate instruments, and it is necessary to tune them very carefully before the performance, and to take particular pains that they are not injured. This is only one of the side-lights of the work entailed in the production of such a performance.

The soloists will be Bertha Winslow Vaughn, soprano; Mrs. L. J. Selby, contralto; Roland Paul, tenor, and Fred C. McPherson, bass. Preceding the performance of the mass, the overture from "La Forza del Destino" and the grand march from "Aida" will be given by the orchestra, and the Credo from "Otello" will be sung by Fred G. Ellis.

John R. Phillips as "Thaddeus"
Sarah Edwards Contralto
Charles E. Galagher as "Devilshoof"
Rena Vivienne as "Arline"

Tivoli Opera Company,

Which is coming for an extended engagement at the Auditorium.

Estelle Heartt Dreyfus.

With the assistance of Ott Kunitz, pianist, Mme. Estelle Heartt Dreyfus will give a recital at the hotel at Beverly tonight. Traditional and modern songs from Iceland, Scotland, Italy, Spain, Russia and France will be given. Many of these compositions are new and were brought from Europe by Mme. Dreyfus a few weeks ago.

Egan Faculty Concert.

Arrangements were perfected yesterday to make the Egan school faculty concert one of the most important school musical affairs ever presented.

The event is scheduled for Friday evening, November 21.

Herr Brahm Van den Berg, the noted Dutch pianist who has not yet been heard on the Coast in connection with the orchestra, will play the Grieg A-Minor concerto with the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra, which has consented to play on this occasion under the direction of Herr Adolf Tandler. Others of the faculty to appear upon the programme are Thomas Taylor Drill, basso cantante; Grace Widney Mabee, soprano; Vernon Spencer and Edith Lillian Clark, pianists; Axel Simonsen, 'cellist; Francisca Nast, violinist; Charles H. Demorest, organist, and Frank C. Egan. The latter will read Schilling's beautiful "Des Hexenlied," with orchestral accompaniment.

Upon this occasion Herr Tandler will play one of his own orchestral compositions for the overture number, and Charles H. Demorest will play a Bach-Guilmont selection, with the orchestra, as the closing number.

Musicians for Symphony.

The well-known violinist and conductor, Richard Schliewen, has been appointed by Herr Tandler as second concert master of the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Schliewen is well known in Los Angeles through his public work here and in San Diego.

Mr. Axel Simonsen of the Brahms Quintette will be the solo 'cellist of the orchestra during the coming season.

The engagement of Mme. Jeanne Jomelli, soprano, as soloist of the fourth pair of concerts, February 6 and 7, is announced. Mme. Jomelli is one of the most popular of the younger generation of prima donnas. She is a native of Holland and like Mary Garden, Dalmores and Tetrazzini, her introduction to the American public is owing to Oscar Hammerstein and his Manhattan Operahouse. Since the closing of the Manhattan Operahouse in New York, Mme. Jomelli has toured extensively in the United States and England in concert and has been one of the important members of the London Operahouse. Hammerstein's faith in this soprano's worth is shown by his recent engagement of her as leading dramatic soprano in the third of his famous operatic ventures, the National Operahouse, which is this year entering the field in competition with the Metropolitan.

The public sale of season tickets for the orchestra opens Wednesday morning, October 15, at No. 446 South Broadway, George J. Birkel Company building.

Symphony Study Club.

Mme. Dudorf has taken the direction of the new Symphony Club, whose place of meeting is No. 628 South Westlake avenue; the principal composers of symphonic music will be studied in turn, the first programmes being devoted to Haydn, Mozart and Mendelssohn.

Alfred Wallenstein.

Alfred Wallenstein, a young and ambitious 'cellist who desires to perfect himself by study in Europe, will give a recital at the Gamut Club on October 17, assisted by Miss Grace Freebey, pianist, and Theodore Gordohn, Russian violinist.

This occasion will be his first public concert.

THE UNCHLOROFORMED.

Lieut.-Gen. Simon B. Buckner of the Confederate Army in the Civil War, who was a pallbearer at Gen. Grant's funeral, is still living at 90 years of age.

Mrs. Anna M. Bruen, aged 91, has taught in Sunday-school in Belvidere, N. J., seventy-eight years and is still at it.

Mrs. Louise Waterman Carpenter, a direct descendant of Roger Williams, and the oldest living member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, celebrated her one hundred and seventh birthday recently in Worcester, Mass. She received many gifts and messages.

Gertrude Alto, of San Diego, Cal., is probably the oldest person in the world, having recently celebrated her one hundred and twenty-fourth birthday. She is of Mexican-Aztec-Indian blood.

The grand old woman of Sunbury, Pa., Mrs. Amelia C. Fisher, celebrated her one hundredth birthday recently. She took part in a family reunion held in her honor, ate a turkey dinner, scolded her 68-year-old son for smoking and not going to bed at 9 o'clock and sang a solo. She raised ten children, four of whom are living. She has spent her whole life in the house where she lives and is happy and well preserved.

Dr. Robert O. Treadwell, who, according to his friends, slept at night in a wooden box in order to avoid the possibility of a draught, died at his home in Portsmouth, N. H., aged 90 years. He was once an instructor in languages at Harvard University.

Wallace will play Howard Jeffries, Sr., Donald Bowles will have the important role of the young Jeffries, James Corrigan will play Capt. Clinton, Jack Belgrave will be seen as Dr. Bernstein, and all of the others will be found in the supporting roles.

Orpheum.

Attempts at musical comedy have often invaded vaudeville, but at last the Orpheum is ready to announce a real, complete production of this sort, in every detail as accurate as the usual evening's show, save in length of time. "The Little Parisienne," it is called, and it tops the bill opening Monday afternoon. This operetta required no fewer than four men to write it, all well known—Robert Hood Bowers, Cecil de Mille, William LeBaron and Deems Taylor, and Jesse L. Lasky is the producer.

This combination has turned out what all have acclaimed as the best light operetta in years, and Mr. Lasky has given it a production well worthy of its merit. A company of twenty-four is engaged in its production, headed by Valerie Serice, a prima donna of international note, and an able cast. Naturally, it is provided with ample scenic investiture, and its gowning will be found exceptional. It bristles with bright song numbers, and pretty dances and stage pictures, and is in every way, frankly and unequivocally, a world beater for vaudeville. It runs about forty minutes and save in length is fully up to the standard of the most pretentious musical comedies; its lack of length is indeed a favor, in that many longer productions are so encumbered with "padding" as to be tiresome, whereas "The Little Parisienne" is all meat, boiled down to the shortest possible terms.

Also the Orpheum is offering an exceptional bill, with Hoey and Lee in line. These are two smart men who are both comedians and singers; they make a lot of fun out of present-day happenings and their humorous lyrics are exceedingly bright.

A. Delmore, singer, and his light, ragtime pianist—well, everyone knows what style of work he does—it is only fair to add that he does it supremely well.

McCullough, "the joy germ," has a new line—footlight impressions of men. These are not imitations or parodies; they are impressions, as he has gained them in his own stage experience, especially when playing with McIntyre and Heath. They are unique and dissimilar.

with Mlle. Margaret, has a line of mystifying tricks that will make the most blase sit up and take notice. One cannot describe them, they must be seen. To complete the bill have been retained Jack and company, the twelve girls, and Buckley's clever animals, with the orchestral concerts and the world's news in motion views.

The reception accorded Dillon and King with Maude Amber and the Ginger Girls at the Lyceum last week, proved conclusively that Los Angeles is ripe for high class musical comedy at popular prices. In selecting their second week's bill, Dillon and King have chosen from an extensive repertoire, a comedy of exceptional merit entitled, "Parisian Follies." thirty, girlie, nonsensical bit of comedy, with its new and popular songs, amusing complications, entrancing music and gorgeous costumes, is one of the most pleasing of recent successes.

In the leading comedy roles Ben Dillon and Will King will again take you into the realms of mirth and laughter. Maude Amber, the comedienne, will appear as the charming Parisian while Robert C. Ryles will appear as Willie Wise, an American in Paris for the fun of it. Others who have important parts in the forthcoming production are Ernest Blanche Trelease, Jack and Mercedes Temple.

"Parisian Follies" is just one big combination of pleasant surprises, sparkling comedy, humorous and ludicrous situations. There is little to the plot but it is in its rejuvenation, nevertheless. The story the players tell concerns the antics of those Mike and Ike, at a popular in the Parisian capital. The is decidedly fast throughout the piece, and in several places exceeds the speed limit.

Ben Dillon and Musical Jack Hayward have in preparation an unusually attractive musical programme. The Columbia Four, the quartette that made such a favorable impression last week, will be heard in several new song successes. is in three parts and of the following songs: "A Highball," "That Mellow and "I'm Going Gack to The latest Broadway hit, Heard of Anybody Dying Em," will be sung by Jack and chorus, while Maude Amber, by the Ginger Girls, will her melodious number, Love, Love." "That Society will be sung by Blanche Trelease and chorus, while Robert Ryles quartette will sing "Absinthe the new Sullivan & Considine bill which will open at the Empress Theater tomorrow afternoon is the world-renowned athletes, Bracks, presenting what is the greatest gymnastic act that has ever been seen, under the "big tops" or on the stage.

most gifted entertainers. Gibbs has a natural talent for mimicry and his ability in this direction is far more interesting and amusing than the work of the usual run of artists in this particular field of endeavor.

For thrills and sensations the famous Le Franc Brothers with their equilibristic feats and head balancing are all that could be asked for. They offer a series of tricks that are absolutely new, and their own.

Exclusive of these new acts will be the new Keystone comedies, in which the popular comedian, Ford Sterling, figures as the star.

Pantages.

A flirtatious widow chaperoning a quartette of sweet young things at the seaside, a traveling salesman, and plenty of stage moonlight are the elements which Menlo Moore has woven into his musical and scenic production, "The Summer Girls," to be headlined at Pantages starting Monday afternoon. What one lone traveling man could do against such a phalanx of femininity in real life is scarcely worth considering, but on the stage the man has winning ways that accomplish wonders in such cases.

How Monty McNair will appear against such a background can only be guessed by his previous performances in musical comedy. The other names in the cast are strangers in the West, but advance reports credit them with beauty, vocal talent and terpsichorean grace. "The Summer Girls" is classed as the best of the Menlo Moore vaudeville production of the season.

Albert Chevalier, the famous English music-hall favorite, has an exact counterpart in James Brockman, who will be featured with this show. Brockman's comedy and his character songs fully sustain the reputation of his famous English friend.

An old friend and a tried one returns—Charles King—presenting with Virginia Thornton and their company, a playlette of life on the East Side. The title of the little drama, "The Counsellor," is somewhat ambiguous, but the essential facts are that Mr. King and Miss Thornton head the cast. They have not been seen here for nearly two years, and the welcome will be proportionately enthusiastic.

The Mus-Art Trio, Marshall Brothers and Harry Montell, and the Aerial Bartletts, bring specialties new here on this side of the vaudeville world. The DeVon Sisters, a duo of petite beauties, offer a singing and dancing specialty. This is not what is ordinarily known as a "sister act," though the DeVons are sisters, and twins.

The Universal Animated News pictures, and Prof. Rathmann's Sextette complete the list of nine features, and round out one of the most popular programmes of the season at Pantages.

Mason.

"Les Miserables," the greatest motion picture ever made, a magnificent $100,000 production of the literary masterpiece of Victor Hugo, acted by a splendid cast of French stars, will be shown at the Mason Operahouse, week commencing October 13, with daily matinees at 2:15 o'clock. The evening performances will commence at 8:15 o'clock, sharp.

This great drama of humanity, adequately done in full for the first time, marks a distinct epoch in the educational work of motion pictures and will prove a rare treat to the public.

"Les Miserables" in picture form is a faithful portrayal of every detail of the Victor Hugo story. It is far more vivid than the book story and more satisfactory than the dramatic version. The acting is superb and the scenic effects beautiful, showing as it does some of the prettiest countrysides in all Southern France.

The film is in nine reels and provides an entertainment of approximately three hours with but one brief intermission. The leading role, Jean Valjean, is played by Henri Krauss of the Theater Sarah Bernhardt. Fantine, the unhappy mother, is enacted by Mlle. Ventura of the Theatre du Vaudeville. Javert, the relentless prison guard and the Nemesis of Valjean, is powerfully portrayed by M. Ettevant of the Theatre de la Porte Saint Martin.

The dramatic intensity of the story and the strength of its portrayal fairly hold the audience spellbound. The battle scenes between the mobs and soldiers during the Reign of Terror in Paris are triumphs of realism.

Tally's Broadway.

Henry E. Dixey, one of the foremost favorites of the American stage, will make his first appearance in motion pictures, in his characterization of Detective Kirby in "Chelsea 7750," an original detective play to be shown at Tally's Broadway Theater next week, commencing Monday matinee. In the role of an eminent detective, Mr. Dixey is provided with a strong and novel part, and the battle of wits which occurs between him and the gang of counterfeiters, whose trail he follows, is intensely interesting and will grip the attention of the onlookers throughout the four acts. He is ably supported by Laura Sawyer and House Peters.

Mr. Dixey will be remembered by theater-goers by his fine character acting in "The Man on the Box" and as Pa in "Mary Jane's Pa." He made his greatest success in a play called "Adonis," in which he appeared continuously for almost five years. The picture play chosen for his first screen appearance is admirably suited to him and the combination of famous star and thrilling plot should form a great attraction.

Clune's.

"In the Shadows of the Mountains," a stirring two-reel Edison drama, will be the headliner at Clune's Broadway Theater for the first three days of next week. This is a film full of realism and with a strong undercurrent of heart interest running all the way through. Stellar performers of the Edison company take the leading roles in this big dramatic production. This picture will headline a varied bill of single-reel pictures, illustrated songs and vaudevile. For the last three days of next week, W. H. Clune has a number of surprises to spring on his patrons. These will be announced later.

"Two Mothers," a strong and yet pathetic two-reel Pathe picture, will be featured at Clune's Fifth and Main street Theater for the first three days of next week. This is headlining an entirely new bill of first run pictures, supplemented by a number of clever musical specialties. Some surprises will be sprung at this theater for the last three days of next week also.

IRREGULAR RELATIONSHIPS.

The Stage Offers Some Shining Examples, But They Are Not Happy.

BY HENRY CHRISTEEN WARNACK.

THE stage has the best of it when it comes to complex relationships. Playwrights lead us to a door and leave us there, wishing us a very happy goodnight. In the play we are presented with a theory. In life we are confronted with a condition. One may speculate about theories, but conditions are: They seldom admit of precedent and they cannot be argued away. They must be faced, and only the persons concerned know what to do about them.

Life is funny that way. A minute may make all the difference in the world to a man or a woman. The hand is placed lightly on a doorknob, the door opens and straightway one enters a new chamber where everything is different. After that determining moment a man is not like his old self. Affairs that were previously his largest concern appear as trivial incidents. Other points which meant nothing before suddenly assume vital significance.

Take a man who commits murder in a moment of passion. All there is of life for him after that is a mere defense. He is in a world by himself. Everything that counted for him before that time, falls away. If he escapes the law, he still faces a conscience that he cannot escape. He is in a world nobody else understands and this is something that he himself cannot comprehend.

This aloftness, this strangeness, this being removed from the common experience by special experiences makes it hard on the playwright who undertakes to offer any explanation of entanglements between the sexes. The people are living one life; the characters in a problem play are living another, and there is no hope of making these opposites understand one another.

It is a blessing to the people that this is so. Men and women who find themselves enmeshed in any kind of outlawery become so accustomed to the new set of facts regulating their lives that they cannot see where they are completely out of order and they cannot allow for the shocks which their standards would be to society at large. Unless the builder of a play can keep both viewpoints constantly in mind, he is likely to do more harm than good.

No happiness ever came out of an irregular relationship and I think it speaks well for the soundness of stage genius that no play of any merit ever undertakes to apologize for the unconventional, the illegal and the free alliance. The world is still old-fashioned enough to believe in sin with its wages of death and to admit, even in its most modern drama, that wrong-doing leaves but ashes on the lips.

There is a sophistry in the world which is shared by many individuals at dangerous stages in their lives to the effect that man is naturally polygamous and that many women take just as naturally to polyandry. Those who pretend to believe this are usually inspired by personal motives or misconduct and they fall back on biology and on ancient history to support their uncomfortable view.

When a man falls in love with the one woman he gets over all this and is very much ashamed of himself into the bargain. He desires nothing so much as that the one woman shall forget all about the other women. He is no longer vain about his conquests, but denies them even to himself. If he is ever untrue for an hour, he returns to his home feeling like a whipped dog and puts himself through months of pennance regarding himself as unfit to touch his wife's hand.

This is no picture of the exceptional man, but is the way every man feels at heart if he is fit to live with, or to encumber the earth.

The sophist who tells women that sex expression is as natural, as sweet and as free, as air, food or clothing never says anything of that sort to the woman he finally loves, and he would kill any other man who said it.

This bluff about persons being able to be in love with two or three persons at the same time is merely a pose or else it is a sickness. A natural man or woman likes nothing so well as losing themselves in one great, sweet nature and being everlastingly true to the one. There is really only one wife for a man in all the world and only one husband in the world for a woman, even if some of us do stumble about a lot and make many mistakes in seeking and finding the one.

I don't know whether the book was ever dramatized or not, but Thomas Dixon, Jr., in "The One Woman," handles this proposition deftly and with dramatic intensity. A minister finds his wife and marries her. Another woman persuades him that he needs a greater church and a broader work. She builds him a cathedral, which is more of a theater than a temple, and he uses its platform for liberal utterances. He leaves his wife for this woman and his usefulness is at once impaired. His mastery decays. A banker who is one-eyed and hideous, finally fights the minister in a dark room with a wicked knife for possession of his mistress and the preacher leaves the place with blood on his hands. It is his wife who gains his pardon and to whom he offers the broken threads of what life is left in him.

This is one of many dramas which make the same point. Emil Zola's "Page of Love" is in two volumes, which it would be hard to build into a play, but which is searching and exquisite in motif and execution. A widow of rare loveliness takes away the husband of another woman for an hour and this one lapse into folly

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS

BY SYDNEY FORD.

IF LOU have ever visited France, you are bound to be intensely interested in the art and travel section of the Ebell this year, which opened last Thursday morning with an attendance that two-thirds filled the big auditorium of the clubhouse—the largest enrollment for a single section that has ever been numbered in the club history.

If, on the other hand, you have not yet visited France, but plan to do so in the future, then you can by no means afford to miss this opportunity of getting thoroughly en rapport with that most interesting country.

If, on the contrary, you never have been to France and never expect to, then you stand most of all in need of this delightful chance of traveling by proxy.

About a year or so ago, I chanced to meet Miss Helen Brooks, who has just come to Los Angeles to reside—a woman of such charming personality and address that one is inevitably attracted and impressed. When I heard that the art and travel section of the Ebell had secured the services of this gifted woman as instructor, I promptly checked off the second and fourth Thursday mornings of each month as reserved for these delightful journeys through France under the leadership of Miss Brooks, who has three times visited Europe and who is therefore, thoroughly familiar with her subject.

That she charmed her large audience on her first appearance was most evident by the breathless interest shown in her opening address last Thursday morning when she gave a general resume of the supreme art expression of France. Her voice is admirably adapted to public speaking and her clear and concise presentation of her subject met with instant appreciation. She called attention to the fact that a nation's highest life is expressed through its arts. The supreme expression of Greece is through her sculpture; of Italy, through her paintings; of Germany, through her music; of England, through her poets, and of France, through her architecture—the most perfect in all the world. Nowhere do we find such perfect examples of Gothic architecture as in France, or that of French origin in other countries. She pointed out that both England and Germany got their ideals and plans for their Gothic cathedrals from Franc and that the cathedral at Milan, the finest example of exterior Gothic architecture in the world, was planned by a German architect who got his original ideas from France. Whereas Greek art sculptures light, the Gothic architecture sculptures shadow—the one appeals to the intellect, the other to the emotions. To illustrate this, she referred to the subtle curves in the Parthenon at Athens, which invariably appeal to the intellect, while the beauties of the great French cathedrals of Gothic architecture appeal to the emotions, and yet both are founded on pure art principles.

The Ebell has purchased a fine post card projector for use in this section and, by means of this, views of the leading Gothic cathedrals of France were thrown on the screen, beginning with the famous Church of Notre Dame in Paris, and Miss Brooks pointed out the various details and points of opposition and subordination which make up the perfect whole, giving one the satisfying sense of rhythm.

The next meeting of the section will be on Thursday, the 23rd inst., when we shall have a bird's-eye view of Paris, for the course of study will be principally in and about the French capital.

In the absence of the new curator of the department, Mrs. C. Q. Stanton, Mrs. E. R. Potter, who has so acceptably filled that position during the past two years, served.

An Economic Problem Solved.

The high cost of living incidentally played quite a part at a club meeting the other morning, when the question came up concerning the serving of lunches and cost thereof. One of the members said that it was quite impossible to get up a satisfactory lunch for 35 cents—the price fixed for last year's lunches and which, she explained, had invariably been supplemented from the private larders of members.

A discussion at once arose as to whether the price should be fixed at 50 cents, with a kuarantee that no one should go away hungry, or should they scimp along on the 35-cent luncheons. It was right here that the splendid economic spirit was shown. Mrs. W. J. Chichester promptly moved that the appetites be sufficiently curbed to suit such a menu as the cateress could provide for 35 cents. Mrs. John H. Francis quite agreed with her. Another woman, whose name I did not learn, said that if a little Christian Science were used and we could hold the thought that a 35-cent lunch was sufficient to satisfy a normal appetite no one would think of complaining.

After considerable discussion, the question was put to vote and the 35-centers won out by a big majority.

It happened that immediately after this interesting discussion of an economic problem, I went to an all-day missionary meeting and sat down to a 20-cent lunch that was ample enough and excellent enough to satisfy any sensible Christian woman with a normal appetite—and those church women assured me that they cleared expenses beautifully. According to this reckoning, the 35-cent club lunch leaves a margin of 15 cents per plate profit to the cateress, which ought to be sufficient compensation.

At the Friday Morning.

The auditorium of the Woman's Clubhouse was crowded last Friday morning, as it is always sure to be when a musical programme is announced. This time we were privileged to hear Mrs. Willis N. Tiffany in her last recital before going abroad for a year's study in Germany. All her songs were from the works of Grieg and the two final numbers, "Outward Bound" and "In the Boat," are peculiarly significant of her departure. So delighted was the audience with her sweet soprano voice that enthusiastic encores recalled her repeatedly.

France Woodmansee at the piano and Axel Simonsen at the 'cello, both of whom were personal friends of Grieg, interpreted his compositions with great skill and feeling. Mr. Simonsen was, in fact, a student of Grieg and the final sonata for piano and 'cello put a delightful period to a programme of exceptional merit.

Mrs. L. J. Selby, chairman of the Music Committee of the club, in her preliminary announcements called attention to the concert which will be given this afternoon in Temple Auditorium by the People's Orchestra, commemorative of Verdi's centenary anniversary, when a feature of the programme will be the requiem mass.

The Missions of the Orient.

The all-day meeting of the women of the First Congregational Church, on the second Thursday of each month, affords a fine opportunity to get in touch with the activities of the women's foreign and home missionary work and of the church work society. Mrs. Mary Porter Haines is president of the former and Mrs. J. C. F. Atsatt of the latter organization. There was a very large attendance last Thursday and a feature of the morning session was the address by Miss Mary Knox, who has recently returned from the Orient, where she visited the missions of China and Japan, going as far south as Hongkong and Canton. Her experiences were listened to with the greatest interest. She spent three weeks in Nanking and a considerable time in Shanghai and had opportunity to study the work at first hand. At Nanking she spent some time with Miss Jean Loomis, who went out from Pasadena a year ago as teacher in a girl's school. "Tell the home folks I am ridiculously happy," was the message sent back by this former Pasadenan.

Miss Knox explained something of the difficulties experienced by missionaries, chief of which is in learning the language, which is a bad handicap on account of the [illegible] which change with every [illegible] even though it be but a [illegible] few hundred miles.

"Why," said Miss Knox, [illegible] course of her interesting talk, [illegible] are no less than five different [illegible] for one word, frequently. A [illegible] was telling a girl the story of [illegible] one day and she noticed [illegible] seemed to be more amusing than [illegible] pressing. Finally she [illegible] through an interpreter that, [illegible] son of a wrong accent, the [illegible] understood that she was [illegible] story about a pair of shoes [illegible]

Illustrative of the new type of [illegible] an in China, Miss Knox told of [illegible] ing the beautiful home of a [illegible] woman who was supporting and [illegible] cating ten children, and was [illegible] ested in a hospital and [illegible] who planned to go to [illegible] this winter. This type of the [illegible] woman in China came in her [illegible] touring car to take Miss Knox [illegible] her home and the various [illegible] in which she is interested.

After leading a strenuous [illegible] some weeks, visiting [illegible] mission, Miss Knox embarked [illegible] home at Yokohama and planned [illegible] spend her time on the home [illegible] in reflection and quiet [illegible] her trip, but the following [illegible] when she went on deck [illegible] posed seclusion of her [illegible] steamer chair, she found [illegible] cut out for her. She was [illegible] rounded by a group of [illegible] Chinese men who were [illegible] America and who thought [illegible] grand opportunity to learn [illegible] of the intricacies of the English [illegible] guage. One of these was the [illegible] secretary of Sun Yat Sen; [illegible] were newspaper men, and [illegible] bound for Columbia University [illegible] upshot of the thing was [illegible] Knox taught English all [illegible] and, when the bunch of [illegible] dents bade her good-by in [illegible] cisco, every one of them [illegible] command a goodly number [illegible] lish words and phrases.

At noon luncheon was served [illegible] parish hall of the church [illegible] novation was a birthday table [illegible] with the pastors and their [illegible] whose birthdays come in October [illegible] seated. This birthday table [illegible] iginated with the [illegible] terian Church, is a clever [illegible] special fee is paid for [illegible] thus celebrating one's [illegible] fund therefrom being [illegible] special missionary work.

The afternoon was given [illegible] church work society and [illegible] formulated for the annual [illegible] which comes off in November.

On Tuesday evening a reception [illegible] be tendered the pastors of [illegible] and their wives and the [illegible] and on Wednesday evening [illegible] regular mid-week service [illegible] will tell of her visits [illegible] Japan.

Sierra Madre We[illegible]

The Sierra Madre [illegible] will hold its first meeting [illegible] tomorrow afternoon when [illegible] reception will be given [illegible] house to the members and [illegible] the club. The past president [illegible] gether with the present [illegible] the board of directors, [illegible] hostesses of the afternoon [illegible] dress of welcome will [illegible] Mrs. J. A. Osgood, the [illegible] which will be followed [illegible] gramme of music and [illegible] refreshments will be served [illegible] young women of the club.

The annual chrysanthemum [illegible] will come off on the [illegible] November with Mrs. F. F. [illegible] chairman. Mmes. M. A. [illegible] and C. C. Montgomery will [illegible] charge of the cotillon, which [illegible] a feature of the last [illegible] fete.

Ebell Shakespeare [illegible]

The Shakespeare section of [illegible] will open next Tuesday morning [illegible] Edward North is again instructor [illegible] the first play to be considered [illegible] "King John," and, since it is [illegible] ical, there will be several [illegible] tory topics considered. Mrs. [illegible] R. Read will take up that of [illegible] litical and social England of [illegible] peare, dating from the period [illegible] 1216; Mrs. E. C. Bellows [illegible] period 1564-1616; Mrs. William [illegible] Mayne will discuss the real and [illegible] ideal Richard I, and Mrs. Anna [illegible] Lane will give an outline of [illegible] troublesome reign of John, [illegible] England. Act I will be discussed [illegible] the class as a whole.

Ramblers Present Play.

The Ramblers made a [illegible] with their play before the [illegible] Morning Club last week [illegible] transported their audience to a [illegible] tain camp in the fastnesses of [illegible] Sierras. The stage was set as [illegible] and the camp-fire trappings and [illegible] costumes of the Ramblers gave [illegible] most realistic atmosphere. [illegible] Spencer, the author of the play, [illegible] James Calderwood, the [illegible] Mrs. D. D. Ryus, fire-making [illegible] and Mrs. Harold Bailey, the [illegible] bird, contributed largely to the [illegible] cess of the presentation. [illegible] clever participants were Miss [illegible] Bailey, Phil Utter, Philip [illegible] H. Harrison, Charles Knapp [illegible] Braun and Miss Ella [illegible] stage manager, Mrs. Henry [illegible] a tremendous success.

As a token of appreciation for [illegible] pretty nature play, the club [illegible] presented the author with [illegible] a copy of John Muir's "My First Summer in Yosemite." Next [illegible] the Ramblers will take a hike [illegible] lard's Canyon.

Their Annual Breakfast.

ART AND ARTISTS.

BY ANTONY ANDERSON.

Constancy.

I am not constant as you constant rocks,
That have their bases under ocean's floor,
That yield no piteous span, receive no more,
Though ships make thither, waves deal shocks on shocks.
I am but constant as the sea, whose flocks,
How wide soe'er they wander, evermore
Morning and evening crowd the vacant shore,
At back of her who smiles through silvery locks;
Constant, but as the oak, now bare and dry,
That soon the genial season shall restore,
And in gray arms with fluttering honors fill;
Or, as the violet, that seems to die,
But can its azure angel raise it still,
To greet the coming springtime as before.

—[Edith M. Thomas.

From Near and Far.

Autumnal activities are beginning in what is sometimes known as "art circles."

Nellie E. Duvall is holding a large and interesting exhibition of her work at the Friday Morning Club. It will remain there to the end of the month and will receive extended notice in this column next week. The California Art Club is busily preparing for its annual exhibition, probably the most important show of the year, to be held in the Blanchard gallery for two weeks from October 21. Jules Page will come forward with his latest and best work early in November, exhibiting at the Steckel. Other interesting things are on the tapis.

Meanwhile, Ralph Davison Miller's landscapes are still to be seen at the Steckel, and Duane Lyon's colored drawings in the public library of Hollywood. About fifteen pictures by American and European painters are now shown at the Merick Reynolds gallery, No. 341 South Broadway.

These canvases from near and far are characteristic examples of the work of the various painters represented. Men from Germany, Holland, France, Italy and America are given a showing, generally with only one canvas. There is, therefore, a happy variety, something that will please everybody, though everything may not please everybody.

But universal approval will come, I think, to the two studies of roses from the brush of Florine Hyer, the well-known Los Angeles flower painter. Both are exquisite. The pink and yellow roses strewn before a brass bowl are as crisp and dainty and dewy, as if they had just been plucked from the artist's garden. The same feeling for form, for fragile beauty and elusive color, is seen in the Gold-of-Ophir roses scattered in careful and artistic disarray over the second canvas by Miss Hyer.

Carl Marr still calls himself an American, no doubt, though he has lived, painted and taught in Munich so long that he may be regarded almost as an expatriate. He is so notable a painter, however, that we'll hold on to him as we have held on to Whistler and Sargent. Marr was born in Milwaukee, where his father was a wood engraver of considerable reputation.

Marr has a charming example of his work in the Reynolds gallery, a young girl's head and bust, the face seen in profile, all in pale tones of [illegible]. The girl wears a white linen cap and a flowered bodice, with dainty lace around her slender throat. The head and its accessories are perfectly painted by a man who is master of the brush.

Another well-painted head, though entirely different in treatment, is that of a little German girl-child with golden brown eyes, by J. Stolz. A simple bit of work, nothing to startle you, but thoroughly good and workmanlike, thoroughly German in sentiment.

To pass from the Deutschers to the Dutch: There are two pictures of women cutting bread for little hungry mouths. Women seem to be always cutting brown bread over brown tables in Holland. Our modern Dutch school of painters compels them to, for without these busy bread-cutters there would be no "Dutch interiors" and what would our American collectors do then? Buy American landscapes, perhaps—the best landscapes now being painted in the world. What a calamity for the collector!

But let us return to our muttons—our brown bread. "With Grandmother" is the title of the small canvas—almost all Dutch pictures are small—by J. F. Sluyter de Jong. It is a beautiful picture, well worth the attention of the collector, after all. Nothing new, of course—the same old man on one side of the table, smoking the same old clay pipe, the same expectant child with his back turned to us, the same window in the background. But how wonderfully subtle is the gray light creeping through the [illegible] window. How true the genuine character the three people in the room, grandma, grandpa and little Willem. Study the small canvas and see how good it is.

In the interior by C. J. Thijsen there is a sharp sunlight from the window instead of diffused grayness. It floods the red-brick floor and brown walls with cheer. Against the usual window we see the bright green of the garden. Mother, this time, not grandmother, is cutting bread for two tow-headed children. Though this picture lacks the subtle beauty of the one by Jong, it is well painted and interesting.

Another contribution from Holland is the study by H. W. Van Voorden, "On the Docks, Rotterdam," a lively scene of men and horses loading and unloading. The picture has a fine air of truth, a genuine feeling of light.

Gallinberti's "Interior of Milan Cathedral" shows us a procession of priests and acolytes under lofty architectural columns, in subdued glories of red and blue and gold. Through the stained Gothic window falls a dim religious light, still dimmer and colder in the vast auditorium of the cathedral, which holds a few kneeling worshipers.

In "Old Dutch Marine Vessel," by Gaston Roullet, we have a model of the fighting ships of the seventeenth century, those that did such deadly work in Spanish and English wars. This particular one with its red sails, is out at sea in a spanking breeze, speeding toward a horizon of gray clouds. Roullet's handling is vigorous, he puts a fine play of colors into a lively sea.

The low-toned landscape by Walter C. Hartson, "Evening, Litchfield Hills, New England,' shows us a yellow and orange sky over autumnal meadows. It breathes the poetry of the hour.

California Art Club.

The coming exhibition of the California Art Club will prove to be one of the most interesting art events of the season. It may be confidently counted on that this, its fourth annual exhibition, will be the strongest in its history. The club is composed of excellent painters, some of them men of national reputation.

Blanchard gallery has been chosen as the largest available exhibition room. The gallery will be open to the general public every day, except Sunday, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., beginning October 21 and closing November 1. On the evening of October 20 there will be held a private view and reception. Press view on Saturday and Monday, October 18 and 20.

The following painters of Los Angeles comprise the jury of selection: Franz Bischoff, Benjamin Chambers Brown, Edgar Keller, Aaron Kilpatrick, Hanson Puthuff, Jean Mannheim, Jack Smith and Karl Yens.

ART NOTES.

The first meeting of the Palette Club of the Los Angeles School of Art and Design took place on the evening of Tuesday, October 7, when Hamilton Achille Wolf, instructor in the life classes of the school, was elected president for the coming year. The club, which is composed of students of the school, will discuss the compositions of famous pictures of today, and for its own composition will devote itself to episodes in the history of California.

The twelfth annual exhibition of art crafts opened in the Art Institute, Chicago, October 7. The annual exhibition of the Chicago Ceramic Association opened on the same day. On October 10 a special exhibition of the paintings of Alexander Harrison and Birge Harrison was opened. Elisabeth Buehrmann, recently of Los Angeles, was invited to show her artistic work in photography in the gallery devoted to art crafts.

On the afternoon of Wednesday, October 8, an art conference was held at the Friday Morning Club. Esther Hunt, portrait painter, gave a talk on "A Portrait in the Making."

Louis Fleckenstein, artistic photographer of Los Angeles, was made judge in the photographic department of the Utah State Fair, recently held in Salt Lake City.

F. W. Felton of Topeka won first prize in the embroidery contest at the Kansas State Fair. Pieces of exquisite needlework were entered in the contest by 1073 women, but Mr. Felton's dainty centerpiece won the favor of all the judges.

Actress Tells Secret

A Well-Known Actress Tells How She Darkened Her Gray Hair and Promoted Its Growth With a Simple Home-Made Mixture.

Miss Blanche Rose, a well-known actress, who darkened her gray hair with a simple preparation which she mixed at home, in a recent interview at Chicago, Ill., made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray hair and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe, which they can mix at home. To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the required shade. This will make a gray-haired person look 20 years younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of hair, relieves itching and scalp humors and is excellent for dandruff and falling [illegible]

The Ankle-length and Shoe-top
Young Girls—Fall Fashions Girlish

J. W. ROBINSON CO.
Broadway and Third

A Part of Christmas is Here!

ARRIVING daily—are the quaintest of new toys, toys that show, chiefly,—they were planned to teach and inspire—as well as amuse.

New dolls; loads of new story books (especially interesting Christmas animal story books;) every size of crispy green Christmas tree. We should be glad to have you come and see these new Christmasy things that have been planned for the children.

The College Girls' One-piece Cloth Dress

THIS fall, the one-piece cloth dress designed especially for college wear—has new possibilities.

It has been so artistically fashioned as to be attractive for both college and informally "dressy" affairs.

Take this model of russet-colored French serge—the sleeves and vest-points of brocaded silk crepe in the russet and Madonna blue shades—give it a dainty, girlish look—without sacrificing its appropriateness for college wear.

Young Girl Coats—Sport Style—and Long! New Chinchillas!

ZIBELINES, soft silky—tailored corduroys—tweeds, plain and novelty chinchillas—caracul.

In Sport Style—very good looking girlish coats in white chinchilla, and the long coats of white chinchilla. Soft zibeline models—tailored with deep yokes that hold in the fullness of the fabric—and with deep back plaits held by odd strappings, quaint buttons.

The new Gossard models have arrived.—Corsets for "tailored" wear and "dress" models.

Young Girl Suits Tailoredly Girlish

VERY simply fashioned from soft wool poplins, broadcloths, Scotch fabrics in warm plaids—mannish and French serges.

They are Tailored so—but each with some individual touch of girlishness—a broad collar, a band of fur, bright touches of contrasting color—odd draperies and blousings.

A Gossard Corset Easy Grace—Naturalness!

NOW that we have arrived at an appreciation of naturalness—free, easy grace—a Gossard Corset creates the necessary harmony of Fall Fashions and Your Figure. For it is—the natural corset—a corset that carefully, thoughtfully, creates the effect of lithe slenderness without effort—naturally.

Orientally Designed Wiltons—Splendid Rugs—and Reduced!

JUST twenty of them in the 9x12 and 8.3x10.6 sizes—have been specially reduced.

These Orientally designed Wiltons for $45—were $60; and the $47.50 rugs—were $63.50.

In the soft Oriental colorings—and patterned in small, all-over design or with the center medallion—these are attractive rugs—and splendid wearing.

Oriental Rugs at $15.00

A FEW genuine Oriental Rugs have been priced at $15—instead of $25 and $35.

Hamadans, Sherivans, Daghastans—genuine Orientals—the colorings so woven in that they may be literally scrubbed without fading.

Very New Developments In the Always New Black Velvet Hat

A MODERATELY large black velvet comes from the designing rooms with a wired flare of Chantilly lace circling the crown and edging the brim—at one side a cluster of black Paradise.

A quaint Charlotte Corday reminder is brightened by a band of Prunelle velvet and a dull yellow rose.

A "Hieland-Tam" of rich black velvet is simply circled in a swirl of Numidie.

And a theater hat—the crown of black velvet—is softened by a brim of lace, wired in points and a quaint cluster of tiny flowers.

The New Negligees ARE New! Practically Becoming!

OF soft nickel gray silk crepe—silk crepe in the midnight blue and Delft shade of blue. negligees in deep violet and Old Lavender—and lovely rose color.

These are very practical silk crepe negligees—Dainty, as much so as the more perishable, pink and blue negligees—but nevertheless practical.

And they're made very much like an afternoon dress with accordion plaited skirts, quaint Japanesy jackets, fichu effects and embroideries.

Brocaded Velvets—Ribbons for Sashes

GORGEOUS brocaded velvet ribbons—in bouquet design—the flower-pattern on every color of background, Prunelle, Limoges Blue, Vatican purple, hammered brass.

These are lovely ribbons for fashioning into the broad sashes that are a part of Fall Fashions—lovely in the trimming of a hat—for fancy little vests.

Are a Third Reduced.

And there are petticoats—of domestic make—at half price—lace-trimmed, embroidery flouncings—ribbon-run.

Now Violet Has Sent Us Violet and Yellow Face Powder

NOT the usual violet and yellow, however—but a delicate flower-tint, an ashes-of-violet shade and a creamy flesh-tone yellow.

And the plan is—yellow for day-time wear; violet for evening wear.

Paris decided about these two new face powder tints a short time ago. And right away they were put into the velvety transparency of Violet's Ambre-Royal Face Powder.

THE care of the skin and scalp—keeping them resupplied with the life that California suns exhaust from them—This is indeed a problem—one we shall be glad to help you to solve.

ECZEMA ON BACK, ARMS AND CHEST

Broke Out in Pimples. Itching and Burning Seemed Unbearable. Hair Fell Out Terribly. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Pierson, N. Dakota.—"The eczema started on my scalp. It finally went on to the back of my neck, then on to my back, arms and chest. It broke out in pimples first and then seemed to run together in some places, making a sore about the size of a dime. At times the itching and burning were so intense that it seemed unbearable. The more I scratched it the worse it became, and there would be a slight discharge from it, especially on my scalp, so as to make my hair matted and sticky close to the scalp. The hair was dry, lifeless and thin. My hair was falling so terribly that I had begun to despair of ever finding relief. My clothing irritated the eruption on my back. The affected parts were almost a solid scab.

"I tried using ——— at first, then I tried using ——— and after an hour or so washed it off with good ——— Soap. Neither of the remedies gave any relief only for the time being. I had been bothered with eczema for about a year and a half. Then I began using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I first bathed the afflicted parts with the Cuticura Soap and then applied the Cuticura Ointment. I used them daily for two months and I was cured." (Signed) Miss Mildred Dennis, Apr. 30, 1912.

Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold throughout the world. A single set is often sufficient when all else has failed. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Irregular Relationships.

costs her the life of the child she worships.

Sudermann is prolific in plays and stories abounding with illustrations tending to prove the emptiness and disillusionment of everything irregular between lovers. His "Song of Songs" treats with the unhappiness which is always the bitter fruit of loose conduct. In it the woman becomes the mistress of a rich nonentity. After that she falls in love with a youthful architect of fine character and ability. He persuades her against her better judgment to engage herself to him, after the unwisdom of a pre-nuptial alliance. He confronts her with his wealthy uncle and guardian, with the result that this wicked old connoiseur of forbidden vintages breaks through her good intentions and her veneer and shows her up to her lover in a hideous light.

The book is ghastly uncharitable, but in nine cases out of ten this is exactly what would happen under the circumstances of like unhappy nature. She could have transcended, but she did not. Women sometimes do and these are blessed and wonderful, but more often they fail.

In his "Magda," Sudermann contradicts himself by letting the woman win. In that case, however, Magda becomes a mother at the outset of her unconventional life and devotes herself through the inspiration of mother love to overcoming the world. In the end she crowns herself with the triumph of a great art.

Sudermann's woman in "The Indian Lily" is one of the gentlest and most beautiful of creatures, but she fails at the last. Sudermann seems to have allowed this as a fit punishment for the old roue who has ruined her in the first place. This woman and man have always had a wonderful friendship. He grows tired of her simply because he is disloyal. Finally, he decides that he wants to marry. He is afraid of loneliness and he wants children. He is tired of the cheapness and the confusion of the many. He yearns for the peace of the one. He remembers his old love, as a sort of inspiration, and recalls all that she has been to him and that she might yet be in the peace of a home. He hastens to her chambers only to hear another man's voice in honeyed whispers within her boudoir. She is living and loving and he is in hell.

"The Joy of Living" was the first great stage success which scored Sudermann's triumph, and this contained the same urgent lesson. Two great men of the German empire are cousins. Both are married. The one has a daughter and the other a son. One falls in love with the other's wife. He is the weak character of the two men and she is the strong character of the two women. She is stronger and better than either of the four and is the brains and the inspiration of both families. The lovers live together for two years, but the man is too weak to go on with their happiness. He calls it conscience and the woman lives a starved life with the cold consolations of his friendship between them for fifteen years. Then something of their romance comes to light in the heat of a political campaign and, under a threat which is only a bluff, the man who is in the wrong confesses. As a result of this ultimate weakness the beautiful woman dies of her own will.

Suderman evidently intends to hold the man in contempt, but he succeeds better in showing the price life always collects from those who disobey her natural laws.

I do not mean to criticise the love of a woman of that caliber. I do not mean to question love, wherever it may be found. There must be, however, a sinless and happy way of love if only the people concerned were noble enough to find it. I do not want to see love wasted, but compromises and discounting will never save it. Irregularities do not spring from love, anyway, but only from its most miserable counterfeits.

Acting under instructions and authority of the National Museum, Washington, Raymond Armbruster of Cumberland, assisted by several laborers, is excavating for fossils in the cave deposit in the Limestone cut of the Western Maryland Railway near Corrigansville. Mr. Armbruster, over a year ago, called the attention of the authorities of the National Museum to the finds of this cut, which were later investigated under the direction of J. W. Gidley, assistant curator, and many specimens were found hitherto unclassified and one was named for Mr. Armbruster.

MRS. WILLIAM P. BORLAND.

Does Her Knitting in the Gallery—Wife of the Member of Cong Kansas City, Mo., Discusses College Education for Wom What It Has Accomplished in the Forty Years of Exis

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

Mrs. William Patterson Borland of Kansas City, I

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—"Forty years ago," remarked Mrs. Borland in her cosy drawing-room, after the question of suffrage had been touched upon lightly, "women were striving as earnestly to get higher education as they are now for the ballot, and they had a much more serious time of it, too. Just read of some of the struggles and how grudgingly our gallant men in the early fifties and sixties regarded the desire of woman to learn more than the mere rudiments, reading, writing and arithmetic and to be content with the superficial accomplishments of the era. A recent brilliant writer on the subject of the higher education for women says that in this country there were three distinct periods; first, that of quiescence which ended in 1830, second, the period of agitation which ended about the same time as the Civil War, and lastly, the period which we now all see spread before us, that of accomplishment. Naturally I can talk with more certainty of what I know myself than what I merely hear of. The period of accomplishment is a theme which opens many avenues of thought.

"I believe firmly in educating women just as extensively and expensively as personal and individual circumstances and talents permit. Many of my friends ask if I think women have, as the phrase goes, made good in this matter of college training. I think they have and that it is apparent everywhere. Smith College boasts forty years of existance and its career has been honorable and inspiring. To me it is the ideal college to train the responsible women. What I admire most, is that we were taught to be good, useful and studious as women, and not as college women. All that affectation applying to college girls was frowned on. For instance, personal neatness was required and such performances as wiping one's pen on her gown to imply deep concentration of thought or going about with hair all tumbled and pens and pencils stuck over the ears was not permitted. Colleg was incidental and accide real part we were to play in of life. Cupid in Uniform.

CHIEF LOVED POLICEWOMAN.

Norwegian Sleuth in Mix-up With Skirted Officer.

Gets Eighteen Months for His Slanderous Talk.

Christiania Club Circles All Wrought Up Over It.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

CHRISTIANIA, Sept. 27.—The eternal "women's rights" problem has displayed a new phase here, where the first uniformed policewoman ever appointed anywhere, Miss Henriksen, has had to fight for her character in the Norwegian law courts, and has won a brilliant victory.

She has had to proceed against her immediate superior officer, Police Inspector Haraldstad of Christianssand for gross insults and slander. He made love to her first, and then hated her, and attacked her where, as a woman, she was most vulnerable—in her honor.

The case has caused an enormous sensation throughout Norway. After an investigation lasting several weeks the court has found Inspector Haraldstad guilty and has sentenced him to eighteen months' imprisonment and to pay Miss Henriksen damages of $275.

The story unfolded before the judge was so dramatic that it may be told thus:

Act 1—About two and a half years ago, Miss Henriksen, a very pretty blonde of engaging manners, barely 20 years old, was appointed to her post out of 117 applicants. Similar appointments were soon afterwards made in a half a dozen other Norwegian towns, at the instigation of a powerful Norwegian women's organization with branches all over the country. Inspector Haraldstad, the officer in direct command of the local police force, under supervision of the Chief Constable of Christianssand, is a fine-looking young man, belonging to one of the best families. He had made himself exceedingly popular with the townspeople, and it was generally predicted that his official career would be unusually brilliant. He had already been elected a member of the local Town Council and occupied a number of other public positions of trust.

Act 2.—The inspector fell madly in love with the beautiful policewoman, who, as a matter of course, was placed under his command, and it appears that his advances were favorably received by the young lady—at least, to begin with.

Act 3—For some reason undisclosed her affection cooled, and the lovelorn inspector was seized with fits of violent jealousy, which eventually turned into deadly hatred.

Act 4—One day a couple of months ago, the inspector handed in a report to the Chief of Police accusing Miss Henriksen of leading an immoral life, and naming a number of well-known citizens as her lovers. The report concluded with a formal declaration from the inspector that he had himself been guilty of an intrigue with the fascinating policewoman. To aggravate matters he even sent a number of circulars to private people reiterating the charges against Miss Henriksen, and as a result he was suspended and arrested.

In the course of her evidence Miss Henriksen emphatically denied that her relations with Inspector Haraldstad had ever exceeded the limits of propriety. They had exchanged declarations of mutual affection and love, but nothing beyond that.

Her evidence was supported in detail by a number of independent witnesses, and the court gave judgment in her favor—the conclusion of Act 5.

The principal duties of the Norwegian female police are confined to matters of public morality. They are not, for instance, expected to interfere with male prisoners except in cases of extreme necessity.

Female prisoners arrested on social or criminal charges are handed over to the policewomen, who have exclusive powers to deal with them. They may also place women loitering in public thoroughfares under arrest, and hand them over to the nearest male constable, who acts as an escort as far as the station.

She is further empowered to take the statement of her prisoner "in camera," and to make out the report for the court, where she also has to appear in person and give evidence.

Coincidence.

SAYS PARISIAN CULT SAVED TITANIC BABIES.

Beautiful French Woman Preaches the Doctrine of Universal Love in Luchon's Vale of Lost Altars, Where the Mephistopheles of the Boulevards Sought the Lost God of Abellion.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

BAGNERES-DE-LUCHON (Pyrenees Mountains) Sept. 27.—Strange surprises happen.

Many signs show that Paris is entering on a spiritual period; here is another:

Who would expect to see a kind of religious revival stirred up in a fashionable French watering-place?

Ten years ago, it would have been impossible. Yet who can count, today, the number of elegant women and seemingly blase men-of-the-world who have been profoundly moved by Yvonne Chazel and her disciples in Luchon Vale?

And she? Type of the movement and first sample of her own work, inspired by the solemn mountain heights—and by the brooding Valley of Lost Altars—Yvonne Chazel, rich, fashionable and beautiful young Parisienne who had previously intended to make the stage career her chief end in life, felt suddenly a call to cry against the emptiness of modern life.

"Why is everybody so unhappy?" is the call of this beautiful Parisienne and her lovely sister-disciples who seem to have everything to make life happy. "What is this void we feel, and this dissatisfaction? Happiness is harmony with our environment—and what is our environment but God, in whom we live, and move, and have our being?" Harmony with God, and love of fellow-men, they preach.

DOCTRINE OF BEHA.

They call it Beha-ism. Yvonne Chazel tells the doctrines of Abdul-Beha, Persian sage, of which America knows much. It is vague. Love God, love one another! It is vague; yet when great audiences of rich and flinty-hearted fashionables are moved to the depths what true religion may not blossom from the vagueness of it?

She will build a temple in this Valley of Lost Altars, on the site of an antique ex-voto place beside a healing spring, dedicated by the Emperor Augustus, and a crowd of unknown ancient Pagans, to "The Nymphs." The old inscriptions, reliefs, ex-voto monuments, and even a stone bathtub are preserved in the Hall of Honor of the modern Luchon Baths. Hot springs gush from these mountains, earthly paradise of beauty! They were felt to be the gifts of higher powers by the vague world before Our Lord. "Nymphis AVC sacrum"—"Nymphis T. Clavdivs Rvfvs V.S.L.M."—"Nymphis Mvmin many sacra Rvia V. S.L.M." So read the battered marble chunks that have almost lost their form, buried 2000 years, squared columns three feet high, with vase on top for flowers. "Tiberius Claudius Rufus, liberated from sickness, paid his vow to the Nymphs."—"Ruia, with religious hand, paid his gifts liberally to the Nymphs of Luchon Waters" . . . So they run, with little variation, dozens of them. The letters "V.S.L.M." were a formula that might mean "paid his vows after cure"—L(iberatus) M(orbo:) but are at times spelled out in full: "V(otum) S(olvit) L(ibens) M(unere,) that he paid them liberally.

LOST ALTARS.

Lost altars! The temples of the local Gaulish god, Abellion, were overthrown by conquering Rome, when Pompey settled here his "brigands of Sestorius" in the year 72 B.C. In the time of Augustus, the rich valley, with its torrents, scenery and healing springs of mysterious hot water, had become a brilliant Roman center. As the rich today, so patrician Roman families had their villas in toy cities round the Aquae Convenarum—Waters of the Tribe of Convenes—all around us in these valleys, Luchon, Bigorre, Capvern, Cadeac and Barbazan. Where now lone peasants, grubbing potatoes, hit buried pavingstones and cuss them, stretched the smooth Roman roads to Dax, Agen and Arles—where gilded litters of imperial beauties flashed past. Caesar's families, even, and the Princes of Youth, come to preside, laughingly, over the Games! Jupiter was the great god. "Jupiter, Most Powerful and Most Clement!" So run the inscriptions.

Broken altars! In the walls of St. Just Church are bits of broken altars, with the names "Abellion" and "Jupiter" alike contemptuously placed upside-down. The broken bits were Christian trophies, sunk deep with cement in Christian walls. It is the queerest sight! The churches of these valleys are extremely ancient—St. Just dates from the sixth century; and the top stone of the Christian altar table is an old sacrificial stone of Jupiter, with raised edges to hold the blood!

Lost altars! The Huns, Goths and Franks—barbarian hordes—swept down on Gallo-Roman Christian peace and prosperity. And Christianity, to save those hateful hordes from barbarism, had to temporize with sword and fire. Lost altars! Ruined churches, up and down these valleys, mere foundations, mere names, tell the story. Always faith looked up and plodded onward. Every town's name commemorates a saint or martyr. . . .

Broken altars of the Christian Franks! The Saracens came up and razed the land. We find their mosque foundations in this valley. Some remote spots they held full 200 years. Lost altars of Mahomet! Peasants dig up Arabic inscriptions in their ploughing. . . .

YVONNE'S MUSINGS.

"All in one small valley," muses Yvonne Chazel. "How can one not feel the influence of so much faith—continually downed, and yet aspiring ever?"

Yvonne Chazel is sensitive to influences.

During her first work in Luchon, she felt an obsessing influence that haunted her, and bore her down.

She said: "My work does not go forward."

Her lieutenants wondered. When they saw the crowds of fashionable—regularly worldly, pleasure-seeking and hard-hearted—sitting rapt and silent at the meetings in the Quinconques, they felt that the work was going wonderfully. But Yvonne Chazel felt the opposing influence.

One day, walking down the Allee, which is Luchon's main street, a strange, dark-faced young man passed her. She fell back, and said: "Oh!" (But he did not hear her.) To her fair lieutenant Henrietta Fullerton, an English girl of singularly spiritual temperament, Yvonne Chazel murmured: "That man!" Then she shuddered: "He is Chitan!" (Chitan means the devil.)

Certainly, he had a strange look, somber, tall and slender, of dark dignity, smooth-faced, thin-lipped, with a long nose and oblong eyes that burn beneath the brows. (Chazel has beautiful blue eyes.)

MEETS AN ACTOR.

Friends laughed at her.

"Why, don't you know," they said "it is Claude Garry of the Theater Francais, the best-liked, probably, of young romantic actors." In vain they told her: "Garry is the kindest and the best of men." She simply answered: "I feel his opposing influence." She refused to meet him, though they had a dozen friends in common.

Meanwhile, Claude Garry, innocent of the trouble he was causing, had made the acquaintance of two little French boys who are known to everybody in America.

It is an idle life in Luchon. People sit beneath the trees and chat, to music of the orchestra. The lovely mother of the boys had her embroidery. She smiled gravely, as Claude Garry told her why he was at Luchon.

"Why not?" she said. "I can tell you of a stranger quest than yours. It was successful."

"But my idea is absurd," said Garry. "Yet it haunts me."

Where had he first heard of the lost god Abellion?

Only the name is known. It haunted Garry. Obscure god of Gaulish tribes, of unknown cult, what atavistic throwback in the mind of Garry made the name Abellion haunt him? Doubtless, he first struck it in some Luchon guide-book, for Abellion was worshipped only in these valleys.

"My ancestors must have come from round about here," argued Garry. "The Garumni were the local tribe who took their name from Gar, the river, now the Garonne; and my name has the same root, you'll notice."

Garry bought the learned brochures. Archaeology of Luchon Valley was his hobby. He had mused before Abellion's broken votive stone

WHAT EUGENICS REALLY IS.

Oxonian Writes in Defense of New Science.

Controlled Heredity Best for Human Race.

Wrong to Have Children When There Are Defects.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Many people in England, misled by extravagant controversialists hold today erroneous views as to the real meaning of eugenics. "Oh," these persons assert with an airy wave of the hand, "I know what you men preach—the marriage of couples at the command of an official like a prize-cattle breeder, the extinction of poor wretches who do not look fat and healthy and smug and weigh so many pounds at date."

"This is all wrong," says Dr. Edgar Schuster of Oxford, the recognized authority on eugenics in England, in the course of a defense of the science which he is just about to issue as a pamphlet. "If those who are fortunate enough to suffer for some hereditary defect can be convinced that it is all wrong to have children, of whom many will probably suffer in a similar way, some at any rate will refrain from having them.

"That this is so is shown by records of the marriages of the deaf and dumb. Deaf-mutism, as this condition is called, has been recognized for many years to be inherited and deaf mutes are for the most part educated in institutions in which this fact is likely to be brought to their knowledge. As a result, statistics taken both from England and America show that, although they frequently marry, their families are usually very small.

"In some cases, however, the very nature of the defect—for example, feeble-mindedness—makes an appeal to reason impossible, and here there may be some scope for judicious legislation following the education of public opinion.

GROWING LESS PROLIFIC.

"To persuade the sounder and more able members of the community, who in the interests of the race should propagate their kind, to do so in any large degree is a more difficult task. There is reason to suppose that at the present day these are becoming less and less prolific. If this is so, it is obviously a state of affairs of great import to the nation, which calls for the serious consideration of statesmen. The first step to be taken must be to define the conditions which impose peculiar hardships on the parents of large families, and where possible to alleviate them.

"It is difficult to see how anyone with a disinterested desire for human progress can quarrel with this object. Rather he must ask: 'By what means can it be achieved?'

"The answer to this question must be given in the first instance by the science of eugenics, which was defined by Sir Francis Galton as 'the study of agencies under social control which may improve or impair the racial qualities of future generations either physically or mentally.'

MUST STUDY HEREDITY.

"This science must center round the study of heredity, as it is by heredity that various qualities of mind and body, insofar as they are inborn, are passed on from one generation to another.

"The power of heredity when controlled by selection to adapt a race of living beings to a desired end is well seen in the domestic animals. The speed of the greyhound, the strength of the cart horse, the egg-laying capacity of a really good hen, the extraordinary powers of milk-production shown by some cows, are all largely due to the selection by man for breeding purposes of the swiftest among the hounds, the strongest among the horses, the best layers among the hens, and the cows which give the largest yield of milk—together with the fact that these qualities are inherited.

"It is asserted by the more ignorant and unscrupulous of their critics that Eugenists desire to interfere with other people's love affairs and to say to these two, 'You must not marry,' and to these two, 'You must do so,' much in the same way as the horse-breeder chooses the sire for his mares.

"It is quite clear that action of this kind would not be tolerated for a moment, even if our knowledge of the laws of heredity were such that a perfect race could be produced by these means in the course of a century or two.

"In the present state of our knowledge, no such hopes can be held out. We do, however, know enough to make it worth while to institute a search for all reasonable methods of applying what knowledge we have under present-day conditions."

HELLO GIRLS ACCUSED.

Paris Grain Broker Alleged to Have Bribed Them to Allow Him to Tap Wires.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PARIS, Sept. 20.—A grain broker here is suspected of bribing telephone girls to let him hear private business communications of important firms in the same line of business. He protests his innocence, though he confesses to certain slight irregularities by which he managed to get communication of the state of the grain market sooner than his rivals.

He energetically denies the principal charge brought against him—that of having branch telephone lines from the offices of the leading grain brokers led to his office so that he could tap the wires and anticipate movements in prices and sales.

Several of the girl telephonists involved have been suspended, and if they are proved guilty it must be admitted that the temptation put in their way was extremely difficult to resist. It is said that the broker paid as much as $120 a month to several of them, and that he gave others of them dresses and hats of the latest fashion. For this they are alleged to have kept him informed when the houses whose affairs he wished to know spoke over the telephone.

M. Hasse, the Minister of Commerce, is actively engaged in disentangling the affair.

Emerald Isle.

NEW SLOGAN ON BANNER.

"Ireland for the Irish" Stirs All Hearts.

Government Pledges Must Be Carried Out.

Scots Helped by Fighting for Home Rule.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

DUBLIN, Sept. 27.—Labor troubles no longer monopolize Irish attention. The utterances of ex-Lord Chancellor Loreburn in favor of a conference over home rule have had a more disturbing effect on the Irish mind than all the wild fulminations of "Jim" Larkin and his syndicalist English supporters.

Ireland wants home rule, and if the present government does not carry out its pledges and bring it along there will be greater trouble than the "civil war" which a small section in Ulster threatens if an Irish Parliament is set up in Dublin. If, by any chance or accident, the Liberal Cabinet refuses to pass home rule before a dissolution of the British Parliament, John Redmond and his followers will be discredited in Ireland and the "Sinn Fein" element will at once become an active and powerful force in Irish politics. The "Sinn Feiners" are not "half-measure" politicians; they would demand bigger concessions, and if those demands were disregarded there would be a return to Fenian methods with their usual deplorable consequences.

With the exception of a few, English politicians generally do not realize that Ireland is more Irish today than she was thirty years ago, when her discontent was mostly agrarian. The agrarian troubles have been practically removed, but in the meantime a new generation of Irishmen has grown up whose banner is inscribed not the "Land for the People," but "Ireland for the Irish."

WILL ENCOURAGE RACING.

Following the example of her friend, Lady Decies, Mrs. Spender Clay, who is a daughter of Waldorf Astor, has an ambition to take a hand in encouraging racing in Ireland. She has recently vicited Adare Manor, Lord Dunraven's beautiful place in the county Limerick, and it is understood that she received some useful tips from His Lordship, which will help her materially in her new and expensive enterprise.

Her brother patronizes the English race track pretty considerably, but he is not particularly in love with Ireland or Irishmen since Michael Flavin, the giant member of Parliament from Kerry, hummed in his ear in the smoke room of the House of Commons the unflattering refrain: "True Yankee I, for be it understood, I left my country for my country's good." The lines, of course, refer to the action that the Astor family took when they renounced their American citizenship, but whatever the feelings of her brother may be towards Irishmen, Mrs. Spender Clay is intensely fond of the country and spends a considerable part of her annual holiday among the beauties of Killarney and Connemara.

Her husband, Capt. Spender Clay, is also fond of the race track and prefers its excitement to the controversial atmosphere of politics. Mrs. Spender Clay will train on the Curragh under the management of Parkinson, who was for some time associated with Richard Croker.

SCOTS HELPED IRELAND.

To Joseph Devlin, the fiery and eloquent member of Parliament for Belfast, belongs the credit for calling attention to the big debt which Irishmen owe to Scotland in their battle for home rule. Indeed, the "Celtic Fringe," as a celebrated master of gibes and sneers called it, has stood manfully by Ireland and in the day of her triumph she can never thank sufficiently Scotland and Wales for their unselfish and unswerving support in her national struggle.

Devlin has been able to assure himself that Scotland is as sound as ever in that friendly compact. As he said: "Sir Edward Carson and his troupe of political panic-mongerers came to inquire—'Stands Scotland where it did?' on the question of home rule, and the answer was given in thunder tones that Scotland was more than ever determined that the Irish question should be settled once and for all in accordance with the wishes of the overwhelming majority of the Irish people, and on the lines of the government home rule bill.

"The Scottish," Devlin went to point out, "are a logical and a practical people. They cannot understand why in a constitutionally governed country the will of the majority of the people shall not prevail, or why a fraction of a fraction of the Irish people shall have the right to impose its will, not only upon Ireland, but upon Great Britain and the Empire."

It was from the first an excellent augury for the success of Home Rule that a great and independent race like the Scottish people should have been with it heart and soul.

TO MARK BATTLEGROUND.

While the Irish Board of Agriculture is seriously perturbed over the invasion of Ireland by Danish butter manufacturers, there is another section taking stock of quite another phase of Danish activity in the Emerald Isle.

Next year will be the ninth centenary of the Battle of Clontarf, where Brian Boru routed the Danish invaders of that period, and it is proposed that a Celtic cross shall be erected on the scene to commemorate the brilliant exploits of that hero. It is not generally known that there is already the nucleus of a fund for the purpose in one of the Irish banks, deposited many years ago when the project was launched, but suspended on account of the huge demands that were at the time made on the Irish people.

It is pointed out that 1914, when it is hoped an Irish Parliament will be set up in Dublin, would be a fitting year for unveiling such a memorial. Irish sculptors are invited to send in designs and according to all reports the memorial will be the biggest thing of its kind that has been done in Ireland since "Nelson's Pillar" was set up in Sackville street, Dublin, to disfigure one of the finest thoroughfares in Europe. It is not suggested that the "Clontarf" memorial is meant to disfigure the beautiful new park into which the famous battleground has been now converted.

Saved Titanic Babies.

cemented in the wall of the Church of St. Aventin: "To Abellion, Cisonten, son of Cissonbonnis." And that of the Church of Burgalays: "To Abellion, Derron, son of Borrocon, paid his vow with willingness and thankfulness." (They were cemented in the church walls in obedience, doubtless, to the famous Ordonnance of Charlemagne.) He knew Abellion's altarstone in the Toulouse Museum, made by "Fortis, son of Sulpicius."

FINDS STRANGE THINGS.

In obscure mountain hamlets above Luchon, Garry found strange things, unknown to archaeologists. He found old men who could not read. They knew Abellion's name! When eating they threw salt upon the ground while saying "Hilloun." To these benighted peasants—who received it by tradition—Hilloun was a "spirit" who might bring them good luck. Somewhere in the valley he learned there was Hilloun's Hill, protected by the Incantades—angels who remained neutral in the great struggle between Almighty God and the bad spirits. They told him of the twelve strong men of Larboust who had sought it; of Garialana, heroine of the Valley of Oueil, to whom the wild man Tubet offered it, and she refused it. All these names seemed, somehow, to be quite familiar to him. . . .

"Now, what is Hilloun's Hill?" mused Garry to the mother of the little French boys.

"Ask my kidlets," said the mother, smiling gravely. "They may take you to it. They find lost things. I was lost to them, across the ocean, and they called to me and drew me to them!"

THE TITANIC BABIES.

You know who these boys are. Mme. Navratil, who spent the summer at Luchon, never tires of expressing her admiration for the generous American nation, and her gratitude to Miss Hayes for mothering the unknown little cherubs amid the horrors of the escape from the Titanic.

"I cannot tell you now kind and sympathetic all America was to us," she tells the admiring French, who never tire of hearing her story. "Everywhere we went, it was like meeting dear friends, the Americans so flocked around us with their hearts shining in their eyes. They knew us only from our story and the babies' photographs in the newspapers; it was enough, they were the Titanic babies!"

The "babes" are now grown to chubby, sturdy boys with appetites for ice-cream that delights their lovely mamma. "They learned the ice-cream habit in America," she says with her grave smile. (Her smile is always grave.)

Yes, Madame Navratil is grave. Her sad experience preceding the Titanic horror, when her husband went off with the babies—where?—she knew not; the "chance" that led her, remote from the world's news, to come across the item of two unknown rescued babies; the impulsion that would not cease tugging at her heart to make the trip and see their faces—could they be her darlings?—and her husband's tragic death, unreconciled, have mellowed the beautiful young widow's character and turned her mind to grave preoccupations.

Among the throngs that heard Yvonne Chazel at Luchon, Madame Navratil was never missing. The Persian sage's mystic doctrines of universal love found a strange echo in her. With Abdul-Boha and Yvonne Chazel she lauds its gentle power. They talked much together. Said Yvonne Chazel to her:

"It was universal love that saved your little children. It was universal love that took a message to you from your baby boys across the wide Atlantic. Like the universal ether that conveys the Hertzian ray, so universal love bathes every human heart—ah, why resist it?—and sets up mysterious oscillations, far and near—or how would there be women like Miss Hayes to hold your babies for you till you came to find them?"

MME. NAVRATIL'S CHILDREN.

Something like this Madame Navratil told Garry.

He smiled. "It's poetic," he said, "but you know you found them through the papers."

Madame Navratil replied: "How did I come to glance that day, against my habit, into a Paris paper two days old, the very one that had the item that set me to thinking?"

And she added:

"No, my little innocents were seeking mamma through the void of space. If you desire to find your Hill of Hilloun, take my Raymond with you. He has great affection for you. Let him know you seek a thing—don't tell him what. A child's pure heart can see more than a man's eyes."

Now, Garry tells the rest of it.

Call it coincidence, but not exaggeration.

He admits that he was near to what some folks call "superstitious" in his quest to find Abellion's or Hilloun's Hill. (Some folks call "superstitious" all that is not crawling flat upon your belly.)

Also, it may have been politeness, and because the kid was a good sport. In any case, Claude Garry automobiled about the valley, up and down, of afternoons and mornings. All he said was: "We are hunting something." Little Raymond did not know what.

Well, one day when they were thirsty and went to drink at a spring beside a mountain's foot, the kid went pottering about among the bushes. "Come back here!" called Garry. "There are vipers in those bushes!"

But the kid was looking at some object. Garry hastened to him. He stood looking at a mass of granite, "in place," a part of the mountain's foot. It had been smoothed some five feet square, and Garry read the antique Latin letters:

"Mons Ccaavvss"—Mons Cabus—"The Hollow Mountain!"

All the old tales of Hilloun's Hill rushed to his mind. The Venus-burg of German legend has the same roots—the tradition of a hollow mountain filled with treasure, hid for ages! The Twelve Strong Men of Larboust sought it—Larboust Valley is just south of Luchon. The Wild Man of Tubet found it—Tubet is the forest just above us!

Feverishly Garry sought an entrance. All was solid rock around him.

"Where's the way in?" he cried.

Little Raymond smiled upon him blandly. He had found enough for one day. Garry recognized this; and when they returned to Luchon he was dreaming.

"I will let that kid play round the Hollow Mountain till he finds the entrance," was his meditation.

At Luchon he told the strange experience.

Yvonne Chazel heard of it.

"It's poetic," she said, "but why don't the man apply himself to something noble? The entire world is unhappy. Introduce him to me!"

They met.

Gravely, with growing understanding, they explained themselves together.

"No, you are not Chitan," she said, her great blue eyes beaming.

"Tell me of the Persian sage and universal love," said Garry.

PRINCE TO WED IN GREAT POMP.

St. James's Chapel Scene of Ceremony.

London Populace Will See Bride and Groom.

American Women Pull Wires to See Wedding.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Sir "Duggie" Dawson, the comptroller of the Lord Chamberlain's department, is probably the most badgered man in England just now. By reason of his position, he is in charge of virtually the whole of the arrangements for the wedding of Prince Arthur to the Duchess of Fife on October 17, and he declares he is having "quite a beautiful time of it."

Not a day passes but what he is besought for tickets, either for the wedding or the reception in St. James's Palace, and all sorts of reasons are brought forward as justifying the appeal. One lady asks for "two good seats in the chapel royal," because she distinctly remembers pausing on the sea front at Brighton years ago, to tie up the shoelace of the Princess Royal!

However, the limit in coolness in demanding tickets for admission to a royal function was reached during the preparations for the last coronation. An American lady wrote for two seats in Westminster Abbey for herself and her daughter, and wound up by adding "that as she was not quite sure of the price of these, she enclosed a blank cheque, which she would be obliged if the Lord Chamberlain would fill in for the necessary amount."

American women folk are certainly striving hard to get a glimpse of the royal wedding, and Dr. Page, the Ambassador, is having a brisk time. He is a hard worker and is getting into his saddle, using his office in Victoria street to the full. He has to take a very firm line with the ladies who are urging their claims to be at a royal wedding. None of them have any claims to be there at all, but they seem convinced that if necessary, the choir should be crowded out to make way for them.

The scene in the church will be well worth seeing. Not only will Queen Mary be there, but Queen Alexandria and the Queen of Norway. On these occasions the dresses of the royal ladies require the greatest care so that they may not clash, and arrangements are made by which this is avoided, indications being given as to what each desires to wear, and harmonizing modifications being introduced if necessary.

The ceremony will take place punctually at noon in the Chapel Royal, St. James, the clergy being the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of London and Canon Edgar Sheppard. The two latter are respectively dean and sub-dean of the Chapels Royal. Dr. W. Alcock, organist and composer to the King, who is responsible for the whole of the musical portion of the service, will play the organ.

MANY PROCESSIONS.

The first procession, which will also be the longest, will leave the Palace at about 11 o'clock, and will consist of such of the royal guests and foreign representatives as are not taking any actual part in the ceremony. These will drive in semi-State landaus drawn by bay horses and escorted by Life Guards. Five minutes later the King and Queen will leave, His Majesty wearing the full dress uniform of a field-marshal with the Order of the Garter. They will have their sovereign's escort of Life Guards in attendance, and will use their semi-State glass coach drawn by the well-known cream ponies.

Following Their Majesties, the bridegroom will leave the Palace in a State landau drawn by four black horses. Prince Arthur will wear his uniform as a captain of the Royal Scots Greys, and will have with him the Prince of Wales in naval uniform, and the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, wearing his picturesque dress as Colonel-in-Chief of the Seaforth Highlanders. Each will likewise wear the ribbon and star of the Garter. The bridegroom will be escorted to St. James' Palace by his own company of Scots Greys. There will be a brief interval, and then the bridal procession will leave, also escorted by Scots Greys.

PEOPLE TO SEE BRIDE.

It was the first desire of the Princess Royal that her elder daughter should be married from Marlborough House, and not from Buckingham Palace. The King, however, pointed out that by so doing she would deprive the people of London of any opportunity to greet the fair young bride upon her wedding day, and Her Royal Highness at once gave way in the matter. It is not yet decided whether the Princess Royal shall ride with her daughter in her carriage, or whether her Royal Highness shall have her uncle, the King of Norway, as her escort.

It is highly probable that this latter course will be adopted. In this case the Princess Royal will drive with Queen Alexandra and the Empress Marie of Russia in the following carriage, and the eight bridesmaids will come directly after.

The general company invited to Chapel Royal at St. James' Palace will have to be seated there by 11:30 at the latest, as the royal visitors will begin to enter ten minutes afterwards. So soon as the members of the first procession have taken their seats, the bridegroom and his supporters will pass up the aisle to the altar rails, where they will await the coming of the bride and her retinue. As soon as the bridal procession moves forward, the King and Queen, who will be resting in His Majesty's private closet, close at hand, will proceed to the chapel, entering punctually at 12. The King will leave his seat for a brief moment in order to formally hand the bride to her husband on behalf of the Princess Royal.

It is not anticipated that the ceremony will last for more than three-quarters of an hour. Immediately upon its conclusion, the King, escorting the Duchess of Connaught and the Duke the Queen, with the other royalties present, will proceed directly to a specially-prepared apartment in order to witness the signing of the register.

This formality at an end, the procession will once more be re-formed and will pass direct to the banqueting hall, where a large general company will be awaiting them. In conformity with precedent there will only be one toast offered, that of the "Bride and Bridegroom," and this will be proposed by the Earl of Chesterfield, as Lord Steward of the King's household, who will be in charge of this reception.

Almost immediately after the toast has been proposed, the bride, attended by her bridesmaids, will formally cut the huge wedding cake. The bride will then retire to change her wedding dress for a traveling costume, in which she will appear in the banqueting hall. She will subsequently be escorted to her carriage by the King.

In the evening there will be a dinner party at Buckingham Palace, at which the royalties present at the wedding and a few specially selected guests will be present. York cottage has been lent by the King and Queen for the honeymoon.

BETTER LEFT UNSAID.

A countess who has just had the honor of staying with Queen Mary at Buckingham Palace must feel exactly like the parrot who came to the conclusion that it talked too much.

King George and the Queen do not, as a rule, trouble their guests at breakfast time, and her ladyship (who thought her husband was following at her heels) on hearing the door open, called out from the other side of the room, where she was contemplating the breakfast dishes: "Well, I hope you'll have better luck than I have. I can't find a thing to eat!" and turning around found herself face to face with—the Queen!

Although the royal family live very simply while at Balmoral, it is now by no means an uncomfortable castle. King Edward saw to that, had it thoroughly done up, and all the heating arrangements renovated before ever he spent the fall there. People who are lucky enough to be invited there now do not return from Scotland with the "Balmoral cold," which in Queen Victoria's day was de riguer if you had any pretensions of being anybody.

An acquaintance of mine, by the by, had occasion to call at Balmoral Castle recently and tells me a story of Prince John which illustrates excellently the pertinacity which is one of the chief characteristics of the King's youngest son. As my friends walked through the grounds he espied the little lad enjoying himself heartily with a hose. Evidently he had been seen from the castle, for as my friend came closer a groom approached and asked him to desist from his somewhat destructive pastime.

The boy laughed and promptly turned the hose on the groom. The groom was followed by a governess, but by now the spirit of mischief had taken too strong a hold on the little prince, and she, too, came in for a liberal spray. Finally a numerous detachment of the servants surrounded him, and the prince, realizing the inevitable, thrust his hands into his pockets in token of surrender.

GREAT CATCHES SCANTY.

Mothers with marriageable daughters and chaperons generally are having an easy—or uneasy—time just now.

Since the marriage of the Marquis of Anglesey there has been no particular eligible young man in the social world. There are hopes about the Marquis of Northampton, but at the moment he is not matrimonially inclined. Within a couple of years three distinct "catches" will have made their bow, the Marquis of Titchfield (the Duke of Portland's son,) the Marquis of Hartington and Lord Ednam (Lord Dudley's eldest son.)

PASSING OF THE STOUT.

There are not so many stout ladies in the aristocratic world as there used to be. One might at first be disposed to question the truth of this somewhat startling statement, but it comes from the manageress of one of the best-known dressmaking establishments in London, who is well qualified, in view of her daily experience, to speak on this subject with authority.

Her conversation with a lady of my acquaintance had turned on the difficulty stout ladies would have in wearing the new-fashioned skirt, heavily frilled as it is at the hips. Her reply was: "You would be surprised how few stout ladies there are today. I have been in this business for twenty years, seeing ladies of all ages and of all nationalities, and I find from actual meaurements that today ladies' waists and figures are much smaller. The reason, I suppose, is to be found in the stricter regime to which ladies who find themselves growing stouter subject themselves, and to the general use on the part of the ladies of weight-reducing baths. More care is taken in diet than formerly; there is less tendency to eat such fattening dainties as cream cakes, and less reluctance to walk a mile."

The sacrifices women make on the altar of fashion are, indeed, manifold.

CRITICISES OUR POLICE.

Paris Official Says We Do Not Pay Enough Attention to Characters and Record of Recruits.

[A. P. Correspondence to The Times.]

PARIS, Sept. 27.—Every summer brings to Paris, among the hordes of American visitors, a number of men vitally interested in the administration of the police departments of various American cities. They come to investigate how "these things are done in Europe," with the view of improving their own departments at home. They are welcome visitors at the Paris Prefecture of Police, and in the person of Emile Laurent, General Secretary of the Paris Prefecture, they have found a courteous host, but at the same time an official who has asked almost as many questions as he answered. M. Laurent's curiosity as to police conditions in America has given him a rather definite opinion as to what may be the matter with the American system. This is what he has to say on the subject:

"It is not my business to criticise the American police, but I venture to express my personal opinion that a fundamental error in the American system is that insufficient attention is given by the administrations of police in American cities to the characters of the recruits. Our system in France is to make a minute examination into the record of the applicant for admission to the force. We assume that a man who has at any time been guilty of the least dishonesty has a flaw in his character which will affect his conduct when he is exposed to the temptations of a policeman.

"The prefectures of police assume that if a man has reached the age of 24 without a blemish on his character, he will remain honest for the rest of his life. Candidates must have their written records of conduct while in the schools and in the army. Even a single bad mark often disqualifies. I do not consider the French system infallible, of course, but the rarity of scandals indicates that it is a good one."

Matheson Lang, who is pulling them in at the Strand Theater in "The Barrier" by the thousands weekly, has been telling some of his experiences. "So you enjoyed my 'Hamlet,' " he said to a dear old lady who had been saying complimentary things. "I am particularly pleased at that, as so many people nowadays profess not to enjoy Shakespeare." "I know that, but the way you play it doesn't seem the least bit like Shakespeare," said the charming old dear.

French Woman's Experience Being Investigated.

Recalls Terrible Tragedy of the Charity Bazaar.

Society of Psychic Research Will Make Report.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PARIS, Sept. 20.—The Bulletin of the Society of Psychic Research publishes an extraordinary story about a vision seen by a Mme. X. (whose name is given) on the night of the fearful fire of the Bazar de Charite in Paris.

Returning home soon after 6, the lady was overtaken with a curious torpor, and when she had eaten a few mouthfuls she retired to bed. Toward 1 o'clock she awoke, terrified, by a nightmare, of which she told her husband. She said that she had seen a sort of fragmentary hand crushed and burned, and round this hand a second one, also bruised and battered, and yet a third larger shadowy hand covering the others, and gradually assuming consistence until the other two disappeared. Then the third one was reduced to the normal appearance of a woman's plump left hand, with a large turquoise ring on the left of the fingers, and the wrist wrapped in black brocade with violet trimming.

This hand took hold of her and compelled her to follow it against her will, resistance being overcome by her hearing thrice: "It is your duty; you are needed." So she went, without knowing where, and saw as it were a battlefield, sickening with a stench of corpses and burning. The hand showed her something stretched on the ground, and then led her to a man upon his knees, and she heard a voice saying: "Quick, quick! Show me to him, for he must recognize me. Show him my hand, and he will remember the ring."

TELLS HER EXPERIENCE.

"And for long," says Mme. X., "this poor hand forced me to pass and repass with it before blind, unseeing eyes. Its despair increased—the despair of a hand! It is ridiculous, unheard of, and yet so it was," the lady told her husband, "and the woeful plaint was repeated: 'Let them recognize me, and do not leave me here. For pity's sake let me be recognized!'"

Whilst relating this horrible vision to M. X., his wife was all the time haunted by a smell of burned flesh and putrefaction and kept asking if he did not notice the insupportable stench. Finally she went to sleep, and woke quietly in the morning to read in the papers of the great fire at the Charite Bazar. Many of her friends were among the victims, and one of the first to be identified was a companion of her childhood.

The toilet was described—black brocade, trimmed with violet plush at the neck and wrists. The funeral was fixed for a few days later, and on going to the house she saw the victim's husband for the first time, and recognized him as the kneeling man of her nightmare. He startled her by telling her that there would be no funeral.

VISITING CARD FOUND.

"There was a mistake," he said. "A visiting card found upon one of the victims on the night of the fire led to some remains of a woman about the same size as my wife and dressed in the same way, being taken for hers. This morning the error was discovered through a case full of letters being found in one of her pockets as she lay at the mortuary for unclaimed bodies. On being notified, I went there at once and recognized these poor remains, left uncared for during six days, while I had brought those of a stranger to our home. Different small objects found intact upon her person made me quite sure, in the absence of any possibility of otherwise recognizing. I wanted to identify her with absolute certainty by a turquoise ring of a particular shape she always wore upon her left hand. But she had no left hand—it had been burned off at the wrist."

The paper that publishes this story is the official organ of a very serious society presided over by Prof. Richet, so that there can be little doubt of good faith, but it may be observed that although on that awful occasion there were certainly several ghastly mistakes, and that in many cases the remains had to be identified by some slight peculiarity in dress or person by maids or other intimate companions. It was the rule before sending any human unrecognizable relics to the morgue that all possible clews should be verified and all pockets searched. It is incredible that letters should only have been found on the sixth day at the morgue itself.

FORCED TO DRINK VODKA.

Russian Government Monopoly Fairly Compels Its People to Consume Fiery Liquor.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

ST PETERSBURG, Sept. 20.—According to an official treasury note, the Minister of Finance bases his estimate on a steadily increasing consumption of vodka during the next five years. He forecasts a gross revenue next year of 900,000,000 roubles and a net profit of about 820,000,000 roubles from the sale of spirit, the manufacture of which is a government monopoly.

Last year the net revenue from the same source was 680,000,000 roubles.

To speak plainly, it seems obvious that when Count Witte introduced the spirit monoply he laid a curse on the country, more especially on the agrarian proletariat. The crown commands ways and means of pushing the sale of vodka in every village and hamlet in the empire, and those villages which would gladly exercise the right of "local option" are not permitted to do so.

The temperance societies, composed of earnest and devoutly laborious and conscientious people, are grievously handicapped by the Vodka Regie; their best efforts are nonplussed.

The marked increase in the sale of vodka means a marked and lamentable increase in national drunkenness. The Russians are physically a robust nation, but they are bound to deteriorate, both morally and physically, by this enormous and ever-increasing consumption of spirits, furnished by the government for the sole reason of filling its coffers.

The vodka monopoly maintains the Russian army and navy, and the revenue will be made to increase in accordance with the increase in the national armaments.

Austrian King a Keen Sportsman.

Emperor Francis Joseph,

Oldest monarch of Europe, who spends most of his time in a castle in the Alps, where he indulges in his favorite pastime of hunting.

Nimrod.

EMPEROR FRANCIS JOSEPH IS NOTED AS A HUNTER.

Most Lonely Monarch of Europe Spends Most of His Time at an Isolated Castle in the Alps Where He Transacts Business of State and Follows His Favorite Pastime at Odd Hours.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

VIENNA, Sept. 27.—The empire-kingdom of Austria-Hungary is not so well known as a happy hunting-ground as are other more widely-advertised countries of Europe. Nevertheless, the chase in many varieties occupies a great number of Austrians, Hungarians and others who live in the dominions of Emperor Francis Joseph.

The Emperor, who is often spoken of as the most lonely monarch in Europe, is himself a famous shot and is descended from a race of keen sportsmen. It was, in fact, on a hunting expedition that the first Hapsburg to come into prominence met with an adventure which helped him to the crown of what was then "The Holy Roman Empire of German Nationality."

Rudolph von Hapsburg was a simple Ferman baron who led a quiet life in his castle, Hapsburg, among the Alps, and did not concern himself with the troubles which rent the empire into warring factions. He was riding home one evening after a day's hunting when he came to a swollen mountain torrent. The tinkling of a little bell on the further bank attracted his attention. He saw a priest and an accompanying acolyte carrying the viaticum of some dying sinner, and their way was barred by the stream. Rudolph von Hapsburg set the priest upon his horse and not only helped him safely across, but escorted him, cap in hand, meekly and on foot, to his destination. The recital of this graceful act to the German Princes assembled for the election of an Emperor is said to have induced them to vote in favor of Rudolph von Hapsburg. At any rate, Rudolph was crowned Emperor and managed a very difficult empire with considerable skill.

His sporting proclivities descended to those who came after. The empire extended as one Hapsburg after another, following the motto, "Bella gerant alii, tu, felix Austria, nube," added to it by marrying wisely.

THE SHOOTING BOX.

Thus the empire of Kaiser Franz Josef is greater in extent than any European state, save Russia, and wherever you go in it you will find a "Jagd-Schloss," a shooting box, where the mighty lodge when following their favorite sport.

Whitewashed, with red-tiled roofs, and flanked by little round towers, these castles stand among clumps of trees in the fertile Duchies of Austria, or rise up on a mountainside dark with fir trees. They look so peaceful, but heavy cares intrude even here, and the spirit of the place is not in harmony with its outward semblance.

The guns had hardly ceased speaking in the Balkans when Emperor Francis Joseph sought rest and peace in his castle among the Alps near Ischl.

When Archduchess Sophie, the Emperor's mother, bought this chalet it was a very unpretentious place, with scarcely enough room for the owner and none at all for the household servants. But it has gradually been added to, chiefly to provide room for the growing families of His Majesty's two daughters, until today it has become quite a respectably good-sized house. But it still retains its original simple character. Every room looks as if it were lived in. There's everything for use and nothing for show. The furniture and fittings all belong to the locality, and indeed most of the contents of the villa were made in the neighborhood.

The halls and reception-room are fitted with trophies of the chase, chiefly magnificent antler heads, all bearing evidence of the Emperor's hunting prowess. Each head is carefully mounted, and bears a brass plate telling the date and place where the animal was killed. The imperial owner's living apartments are as simple as, or even simpler, than the other rooms. He sleeps on a small camp bedstead, and a big workmanlike-looking writing table is the principal article of furniture in his study. The only really magnificent thing about the place is its charming situation and its superb views from every window and balcony, embracing a panorama of mountain and forest, with well-kept lawns and terraces and flower gardens in the immediate foreground.

EMPEROR'S DAILY LIFE.

Francis Joseph's daily life is in perfect harmony with these plain surroundings. He rises between 4 and 5 every morning, and after a cup of coffee and roll, wtihout even butter, goes straight to his desk and begins the work of the day. Couriers from Vienna are constantly coming with dispatches from the Foreign Office and documents from the War Office, and other ministries requiring the sovereign's attention and signature. Although far away from the seat of government, he cannot escape the affairs of state.

Usually the Emperor works steadily until about 8 o'clock, when he goes for a quiet stroll in the forest for an hour or so. Then he returns to his desk, and about 9:30 has a sort of light preliminary lunch, a chop or cutlet, wtih one glass of beer. This is brought on a tray to his writing desk, and is not permitted to interfere with the progress of his work. With occasional interruptions, work goes on until midday, when a family luncheon is served.

No matter what delicacies may be on the table, Francis Joseph confines himself to a slice of "rindfleisch," that boiled beef of which the Austrians are so fond. But it has to be very good, the Emperor being as particular about the cut and quality as any Viennese citizen.

One glass of Austrian wine, red or white, as he may fancy, or the doctor may direct, but never more than one, is all that he drinks. This is followed by a mild cigar, smoked from a long holder, to keep the smoke out of the eyes. At one time the Emperor was very fond of good Virginia cigars, but his physicians cut off that form of enjoyment.

In the afternoon, between 4 and 5 o'clock, a carriage is brought oround and the Emperor goes on a long drive through the forest. He never fails to take his gun along, and usually manages to have a little shooting on the way. If the weather is favorable he may stay out three of four hours, returning home about 8 o'clock.

As a rule, he avoids the formal evening dinner party, and has a modest supper in his study, going to bed about 9 o'clock, sometimes even sooner. Such is the even tenor of His Majesty's lonely life at Ischl, except upon the days when he is hunting.

Hunting is the Emperor's one form of amusement. He never goes to races, and doesn't care at all for cards. But he is always ready for a shooting expedition. He began early, killing his first stag as a boy of 14.

THE SHOOTING PARTIES.

The imperial shooting parties at Ischl are organized with the greatest care and forethought. The Emperor himself plans every detail and settles the position each gun is to take. Everything is done in the most precise order. And at the same time it is all as simple as possible. There are no hot luncheons or champagne and no superfluous court lackeys are taken along.

The start is made sometimes overnight, or at any rate very early in the morning. A special train takes the hunters the first stage of the journey. Then carriages are used as far as the road is available. After this ponies may be employed up to a point in the mountains where the real climbing begins.

On these excursions he wears the ordinary country garb of the Styrian peasants. A gray jacket of "Lodon," an all-wool fabric made in the Tyrol; leather breeches, which leave the knees bare, thick stockings and heavy hobnailed boots and a Tyrolean hat with plumes, make up the entire costume. The Emperor wears only two kinds of clothes, a military uniform or this shooting costume. Of uniforms he has, of course, an endless store, but it is doubtful whether he has any "civilian" garb at all.

Attractive, however, as these hunting expeditions may seem, his castle in the Alps in reality is the haunt of great loneliness. Here is an old man who has lost most of those things that men hold dear. His wife, Empress Elizabeth, fearless horsewoman, was murdered on one of those restless wanderings to which she was driven by the events of that awful thirtieth of January, 1889, when their son, Crown Prince Rudolf, died a violent death. The real facts of the case are known to few and were of such a nature that the Emperor, good Catholic as he is, preferred to let the world believe that Rudolf had killed himself.

TALE OF A FORESTER.

One of the Crown Prince's foresters still lives near the scene of the tragedy. He tells of those wild nights when after a day's shooting the Prince would be driven at a reckless gallop to Vienna, returning to shoot in the morning, snatching what sleep he could on the way. But when you ask the forester about that 30th of January, he shakes his head and walks away. So when the Emperor returns home after a day spent hunting in the mountains, it is a very lonely old man who sits brooding in the castle among the fir trees.

Emperor Francis Joseph entered on his heritage sixty-five years ago when his predecessor resigned, being no longer able to cope with the increasing difficulties of sovereignty. Hungary was then in open rebellion. Not many years later Austria was obliged to assist Prussia in dismembering gallant little Denmark. Two years after this Austria suffered defeat at the hands of her ally in the preceding war. The short war which ended in the peace of Prague laid the foundations of a rival empire of German nationality and left to Kaiser Franz Josef an aggregation of divers nationalities—Germans, Magyars, Poles, Czechs, and Slavs of all kinds, with a sprinkling of other races. Numerically the Germans are in a minority compared with the heterogeneous mass which makes up the population of the dual monarchy.

Religious differences made themselves felt from time to time, for though Roman Catholics preponderate, there are many Protestants, a large number of the Greek Orthodoxy, and, in Galicia especially, a seething mass of Jews to complicate the already intricate affairs of the state. And it is this question of religion which is now becoming more insistent.

During his long reign the Emperor's tact has helped to solve many difficult problems, but as his life draws to its close these problems threaten to become more acute. The reason is to be found in the strict laws which govern Austrian succession. Direct descendant of the Emperor Francis Joseph there is none, so the crown goes to his nephew, Archduke Francis Ferdinand.

HAS MORGANATIC WIFE.

This heir to the throne entered into a morganatic marriage with a very able and ambitious lady, who was raised to the rank of Countess, and subsequently Duchess, in order to give her some standing at the imperial court. However, she ranks below the youngest member of the imperial family, and no son of hers can inherit the imperial crown. There is no such restriction according to the laws of Hungary or Bohemia, so a son of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife, Duchess Hochberg, is eligible for the crown of these two component parts of the complex empire-kingdom.

There is only one power on earth that could influence the law of Austria's succession, and that power rests in the hands of the Pope. Therefore, the Duchess Hochberg has induced the Archduke to exert all his influence to further the ambitions of the church of Rome. In this the Archduke is supported by the high nobility and by a large majority of the army and the bureaucracy. But this movement is towards reaction and in conflict with the ideals of the industrial and commercial classes, so here are the seeds of further trouble.

Even if the Pope interferes and makes possible the succession of a son of the Duchess Hochberg to the imperial crown, he will demand as payment a strict control over the policy of the empire, and will seek to influence the educational system to serve his purposes. This again will clash with the views held by the progressive parties, many of whom have been educated in Germany, and send their sons out of the country for the same purpose in ever-increasing numbers.

Again, if the Pope declines to interfere, Hungary and Bohemia might conceivably elect a son of Archduke Francis Ferdinand as their King, leaving the imperial crown and the Hapsburg dominions to someone who fulfils the exacting conditions which govern Austrian succession. This would mean the disintegration of the Austro-Hungarian Empire and would be one of the greatest calamities in history.

In order to avoid this disaster, Emperor Francis Joseph found a suitable wife for yet another nephew, Archduke Charles Francis Joseph. The latter is young and very childish, the despair of those who have set their hopes on him, for he shows as yet no promise of being able to grapple with the serious task that may be his some day. He is also intensely bigotted and therefore little likely to reconcile the progressives.

WIFE IS CAPABLE.

His wife, Princess Lita, is very capable and knows how to hold her own. There is no love lost between her and Duchess Hochberg, over whom she takes precedence, and consequently the court is divided into factions which are not without influence in the country and certainly do not make for peace and contentment.

As yet the army holds with Archduke Francis Ferdinand, for he is in high command, whereas his cousin is much his junior in army rank, and the strong personality of Duchess Hochberg still counts for much. So the factions of the court go on divergent ways and leave the aged Emperor troubled and very lonely in his castle at Isahl.

And at Konopist, the favorite country seat of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, a fair exterior hides many troubles. The castle embowered among trees looks out over broad, rich fields and forests, the haunts of stag and red deer. The country folk see their future sovereign returning from a good day's sport, hear of his skill as a shot, tell each other of the big bags that have fallen to his gun and envy him or are pleased, each according to his nature. But they know little of the current below the shining surface. They cannot feel the sickening pain of thwarted ambition, nor realize the subtle poison of court intrigue.

It is as well that they do not, that the great majority of the Emperor's people go about their business without worrying about the many questions which cast their shadows on those imperial sportsmen who live in whitewashed castles amid forests and among the mountains. For after all, there is generally a way out of difficulties, and though the troubles that beset the dual monarchy seem enormous when seen at close quarters, they grow perceptibly less when viewed in that State's relations to other countries.

There are few other European states—two perhaps—which would care to see the strength and dignity of Austria-Hungary seriously impaired. For this reason, and because of the sound sense and self-reliance which his people have learned from Kaiser Franz Josef, there is every hope that his empire will overcome its difficulties and maintain its dignity and worth under one sporting Hapsburg after another.

TITLED WOMEN RUN STORES.

Lady Sackville and Other Fashionables In London Make Money While In Trade.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Lady Sackville, the heroine of a recent famous lawsuit, is one of the several leaders in the world of the "upper ten" in London who have taken to running stores. Lady Sackville is interested in a lampshade business known as Speall's, at No. 61 South Audley street, W.

Whatever the reason may be it is generally known that many of the scions of the aristocracy in England are at the present time the principal backers of various businesses.

No harm would be done if these amateur store keepers would observe the strict rules of the retail game, but they do not.

They push their goods upon people whether they want them or not, making the question of patronage personal.

They write "touching" letters.

They use their titles as influences.

A man well-known in London's smartest set complains: "It is a particular bore when one goes to a store run by 'real ladies' to find oneself taken in hand not by an understudy in the shape of an assistant, but by the grande dame who owns the establishment, and to be told what is the proper thing to buy, without any regard to individual tastes or idiosyncrasies. One lady makes it a practice to advance upon the timid male purchaser like a ship in full sail, with the perfectly superfluous information 'I am Lady So-and-So.' He at once feels himself cornered, pays a large sum in order to get clear of the whole thing, and makes a dash for freedom."

There are even more questionable tactics employed. Thus: "Ladies have taken either just before Christmas or on hearing of a coming marriage to write round to the friends of some popular man or woman suggesting that at the establishment from which the letter is penned can be purchased exactly the gift that is suitable. In the case of an engaged couple some trouble is taken to ascertain their tastes; these are mentioned in the touting letter which is usually written in a free and easy conversational style."

He adds that society leaders in London (some with handles to their names) are ready to supply among other things: Wines, sun dials, millinery, garden seats, dinner-table needs, lamp shades, cigarettes, house furniture, paper for servants' attics, whitewash for the basement.

"Once upon a time," he says, "an Earl's son kept a cash butcher's store."

A WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

They Are a Little More Numerous in the City of Berlin Than in Reno, Nev.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—The Supreme Court of Leipzig has given a decision on the right of a woman to receive men visitors in her own apartments, decreeing that the right was indisputable.

The woman in question was an actress, who rented rooms from the tenant of a flat. The owner of the flats demanded that the tenant should forbid the actress from receiving male callers, on the ground that it was disagreeable to the other tenants.

The Supreme Court held that the prohibition of visits by men to the actress amounted to an illegal restriction on her personal liberty; that it must be left to one's conscience to decide how far the reception of visitors offends; and that the landlord cannot interfere with such visits so long as the peace and repute of the building are not flagrantly affected.

It was not within the landlord's privilege to concern himself with the objects of the visits to persons living in his building.

Malladra Says He and His Companions Descended Twelve Hundred Feet in the Crater.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

ROME, Sept. 27.—Describing his recent descent of the crater of Vesuvius, Prof. Malladra says that he and his two companions reached a depth of 1200 feet. This constitutes a record for such an enterprise. They spent an hour making scientific experiments on the brink of the great funnel at the bottom of the crater, which they were able to sound to a depth of 200 feet. The funnel is [illegible] feet in diameter, and was created by the sudden subsidence of the old crater floor last month.

Since then the flames, which were visible at night, have vanished, owing to the temporary obstruction of the [illegible] chimney. A fine quality of this [illegible] lava has boiled over a large expanse of the floor from this gigantic funnel. The explorers found that there exists inside the funnel an enormous fiery cavern. They lost their thermometers through the steel rope [illegible] which they were suspended being fused by acids and the terrific heat. They had, however, obtained a registered temperature of 616 deg. Fah. before the mishap occurred.

The Dream-Lion.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer:] A Vienna professor is credited with saying that dreams are usually wish fulfillments. Maybe so. What about the childish dream in which the ferocious lion comes bounding along behind you and you run as boy never ran before, and the lion closes the gap [illegible] little, and then—all of a sudden—your muscles [illegible] legs grow limp, and your feet [illegible] to water, and your [illegible] the lion leaps—and you awake with a yell, if your voice isn't paralyzed, or everybody in the house wakes you?

THE HELPING HAND.

"How far that little candle throws his beams!
So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

A new philanthropist was discovered in the St. Louis 10-cent lodging-house district recently in the person of Arthur Weaver, formerly ragpicker and "down-and-outer," now heir to a $200,000 fortune and self-appointed benefactor of the thousands of "down-and-outers" who float about the 5 and 10-cent bed district.

On February 16, last, he was notified from New Orleans that a sister had died, leaving an estate, of which he had never heard, to be equally divided between Arthur and his brother, James Weaver of Bethalto, Ill.

A few days later Arthur received as his share, $12,000 in cash, and $128,000 in government bonds. His first disbursement was a check for $4500 to a negress, who had once given him a cup of black coffee when, as a piece of human driftwood, he was about to sink.

Since then he has spent more than $3000 helping the men of whose class he was one for more than a score of years. Every morning he leads a band of the homeless men to a restaurant and orders them to "fill up."

Edward Scully, a superintendent in the street cleaning department of New York City, sacrificed his life a few days ago to save a crowd of school children from a runaway horse. The horse, attached to a truck, was headed toward a corner in Brooklyn occupied by two public schools. On the sidewalk were some 300 children. He dashed out of his office, seized the animal's bridle and turned it into the curb. Although he had checked the runaway, he was carried under the horse's hoofs and instantly killed.

The large lake near Kansas Falls, a few miles out of Junction City, Kan., was almost dried up, and fish of all sizes and kinds were burying themselves in the mud for moisture.

Farmers in the vicinity, noticing the condition of affairs, began hauling the fish in tank wagons from the lake to the Smoky Hill River, several miles distant, to preserve them. Thousands of fish, including cats, buffalo and carp and bass were dying before the men began hauling them to the river. Other thousands have been saved by the transfer.

For a number of years this lake has been a favorite place for fishing and many good catches have been reported every year. This is the first time in years that the lake has gone dry. The Smoky Hill River is also lower than it has been for years.

Policeman Langlois of the Chicago-avenue station, Chicago, risked his own life to save another from either death or serious injury. Samuel Birdsell, 18 years old, was crossing the jack-knife bridge over the Chicago River when the bridge was opened to permit the passage of a boat, and failing to notice the warnings shouted at him, was forced to grab a girder and was raised with the bridge. When the two leaves of the bridge reached an almost vertical position, Birdsell's strength began to give out. Langlois, watching the figure high in the air, stepped to a position directly under and waited. A minute or two passed. Then the man's hold loosened and he dropped like a plummet.

Langlois, however, had braced himself for the shock, and with arms outstretched, he caught the man. Both the policeman and Birdsell were slightly bruised, but the former's action had broken the man's fall sufficiently to prevent serious injury. The shock knocked the policeman to the pavement.

"I wish to thank you, officer," said Birdsell, as he brushed himself off. "You saved me from being seriously hurt."

Announcement that George O. Robinson of Detroit, Mich., was the donor of the $50,000 with which Robinson Hall, the new building connected with Sibley Hospital, was built, is made by Dr. W. H. Wilder, superintendent of the institution. The name of the donor of the money was withheld from the public until the building was completed and named. Robinson, who is a retired lawyer, had been the chief patron of the Sibley Hospital Training School, and the new building was named in honor of his wife.

Members of the Iroquois Indian tribe who had been presenting Longfellow's "Hiawatha" in an open-air auditorium near Pittsburgh, were recent contributors to the milk and ice fund raised by one of the Pittsburgh papers for the saving of poor babies' health and strength. On pay day in the camp the distribution of wampum was an occasion of note observed in the wearing of all the finery possessed by the braves and their squaws. Even the baby Indians were attired in the softest of skin garments, and feathers and gew-gaws of one kind and another were lavishly used in adding to the personal adornment of each, according to the limit of their individual means.

The wampum having been distributed, there took place a remarkable incident. That stalwart old Indian known as Chief Crow, got up and made a pow-wow or talk. The others listened attentively, though it was noticed that frequent glances were cast toward the little Indians, tots of 4 years or thereabouts, and ranging down to a wee papoose. Chief Crow's harangue brought to a close, he held some coins in his hand. At once the others began loosening their pouches and other coins were produced and handed to Chief Crow. Dimes, nickels, and pennies, there was a total of $4.03 when it was all counted. What was it for? Why for the Dispatch milk and ice fund!

How these representatives of the once powerful and savage Six Nations ever heard of the fund does not appear. But heard of it they had and it appealed to them. They believe in saving the babies, and wanted to do their share. The next day old Chief Crow, dressed as a brave should attire himself for a ceremonial and accompanied by his chubby little grandson, a likely youngster of 4 years, of whom the old man is inordinately proud, and who was also elaborately dressed in skins and feathers, called at the Dispatch office and gravely unloaded that pile of dimes, nickels, and pennies, remarking as he did so, "Ugh! help save um bab-by!"

Women's Clubs.

they figure as secretaries in every sort of enterprise and they make excellent executive officers where many untrained minds are to be directed. All this is most useful work and it merely applies to those who must earn a living at once and who do not count on the natural vocation, marriage and directing a home.

Mrs. Borland has put to practical test all her theories. She superintends her home, a pleasant, sunny house in the avenue of the Presidents, with a skill worthy of the past generation, attending to each detail systematically and with unflagging zeal. The college taught her love of order and the necessity of hoarding moments and she has learned to dispense her day with mathematical precision. Social duties, which are multitudinous, even when a woman in official life desires only to fulfill those which are imperative, make a big dent in the day. But she reads, has leisure to give most careful supervision to the education of two small children, to practice her vocal studies, for music is her one great joy, and to minister to all the needs of a husband often overworked and always busy to the last minute of endurance.

"Education in general makes me study education as it applies to small children and is obtained in the public schools," Mrs. Borland explained, "I find much to admire in the public schools, and though I sometimes take issue with present conditions, on the whole these free schools are excellent. Mr. Borland and I agree about public schools that it is the place to learn democracy, to meet all kinds and then to learn to pick and to choose your associates out of the mob. That is my idea of the right kind of education under all conditions. I tell my small boy, Hugh, to romp and play and tumble with all the boys in his school. Not to shun a boy because he is rude or untidy or possesses unpleasant ways. But when he selects a boy to play with by himself or to talk to, then to take a nice boy, one who shows good principles and the marks of home training. That advice, if only followed, would save boys and their parents much unhappiness. When a child learns to read human nature, to select from the crowd the proper friends and associates, the biggest thing which education can give has been attained. I do not hope that much more than this will be accomplished in the early years and the remainder must be largely the result of home and the proper discipline. Still I wish the public school were not so given to making classic scholars out of all instead of pounding the necessary knowledge into the heads of the younger pupils. I think that when the business schools turn out their pupils, they should be expert in all that they have learned. Unfortunately, we know that this is not often the fact. The grade school requires eight years to pass, but after that period, one seldom finds a boy or girl equipped for the business of life, even in a modest way. I trust some of these defects will be remedied as their need of doing so becomes apparent.

"I think Los Angeles is to be congratulated in the recent action of the superintendent of schools in establishing purely commercial courses. This good example should commend itself to every city in the country desirous of setting its future citizens on a basis of assured independence."

Mrs. Borland has always been an advocate of using odd moments in the day for sewing, embroidering and crocheting, but she denies most emphatically that she ever contemplated making knitting or crocheting in the galleries of Congress fashionable.

"I awoke one day to find myself famous," she said, "and it was a fame I did not relish. I have always loved to knit or crochet and when I have long periods of waiting, as at the dressmaker's, the dentist's or for meals when my husband has been detained, my custom is to take out my knitting and to soothe my ruffled spirits by this quiet work. It happened that Mr. Borland was to make a speech before the House, his chef d'oeuvre, as it were, and I was naturally very anxious to hear it. I went to the House one afternoon when it was due and waited for nearly three hours by the big clock, which was staring at me during this wearying time. The next day the same thing happened, and on the third I provided myself with a small spool of linen thread and some narrow lace edging, which I was making. I put my knitting far down in my lap and tried to look unconscious of anything except waiting for the speech. But some lynx-eyed reporter in the gallery saw me and when later Mr. Borland joined me in the family circle of the House, I was at once identified. From that time for months I received letters asking me my views about fancy work, and to explain if I thought it proper to knit while listening to the debates in the national houses of legislature. Emphatically, I do not think it courteous or appropriate to make it a practice to crochet or sew in the Senate or House galleries. I do not think it would be proper to do so in church or any assemblage where one is supposed to give undivided attention to the proceedings. My knitting in the gallery was to quiet my nerves after a very prolonged period of waiting. I did it unobtrusively and had no idea of setting up a standard of bidding for attention.

"But I am a firm believer in fancy work, knitting, crocheting, whatever appeals to fill in the vacant moments when impatience might take possession of the soul. At hotels I habitually take out my knitting and do a turn or two during the lengthy periods given to changing courses or filling orders. It sweetens life for me, and in the end I can show an imposing array of things accomplished just in these waste moments of which usually no account is taken. My funniest use of knitting was, however, when my small boy, Hugh, was just beginning to eat. I undertook to feed him and, of course, did so too fast, and with disastrous results. Then the idea occurred to me to feed him one spoonful and to knit a certain amount before the other. I would sit him comfortably in his high chair, with the food on one side, my knitting on the other. First, the food and then the knitting, and he crowed and enjoyed the diversity of pursuits very much. The result was that he grew fat and prosperous under this slow means of getting his food, while I knitted yards and yards of lace which helped me with my Christmas gifts. Knitting and crocheting are better than the rest cure for me. I can knit off disappointments, nerve-racking experiences and fatigue. I can rout the demon of anger and the carping voice of envy just by taking out my crocheting and giving my undivided attention to it for a few moments."

Representative Borland has a national reputation as the champion of good roads and was among the assistants of Gov. Major of Missouri when he donned a blue shirt and a pick and put in a few hours leveling the public highway outside Jefferson City. Mrs. Borland takes a keen interest in the theme and has contributed a generous share towards its universal popularity. She is an expert with her own electric and her practical suggestions about roads here and near Kansas City have always commanded attention. Mrs. Borland is in no sense a public woman, nor is she distinctly affiliated with the suffrage movement. She accepts the idea of the ballot as something which is sure to come to woman, and that very soon, but she is not active in demanding her rights. Mr. and Mrs. Borland are members of the Presbyterian church and attend that quaint little edifice in what is known locally as the "First Ward," the Second Presbyterian Church, in Twenty-second street. Quite an interesting group of official people prefer this quiet little place of worship to those more famous. Among these are Senator and Mrs. John Sharp Williams, Representative and Mrs. Alexander W. Gregg of Texas and Representative and Mrs. Robert Newton Page of North Carolina.

The Brandon

THIS Colonial Pattern of sterling silver is the year's most important production in silversmithing. We have recently introduced it in Los Angeles in the complete service—including all the knives—forks—spoons—serving pieces—dinner-ware—tea-ware—bowls—platters—dishes—compotes, etc.

The Brandon draws its inspiration from the early Colonial period—massive in construction—pleasing in the purity and simplicity of its graceful lines.

A wedding or anniversary gift worthy the occasion.

Exceptional value in a sandwich plate 10 inches in diameter—of substantial sterling silver in pleasing pierced pattern—at $15.00.

A DEBUTANTE ABROAD.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.

Dearest Laurie: That brother of yours is a noble Christian martyr. Although our train was three hours' late he was patiently waiting for us at the New York station, and the mater nearly fainted with joy. She had been quite certain that, presuming she survived the awful journey at all, he would surely have failed to receive your letter, so that we should be alone and forlorn in New York and probably be murdered or kidnaped or something the very first night. Or else, of course, the train would be so late we should miss the boat, or, failing that, we should, of course, lose our purses and tickets and trunks.

But so far nothing exciting has happened at all, and we are safe and sound in a highly-respectable, lady-like hotel in the very heart of things, with a golden-headed manageress who declares she loves Californians and could see at a glance that we were of the very elect. She gave us the best room right away and fussed so nicely that the mater feels thoroughly restored. The manageress is the very first person that recognised us for anything but quite ordinary, middle-class people who were not entitled to any particular consideration whatever!

So the mater is rapidly forgetting the Pullman-porter episode, which certainly was galling. We changed trains at Chicago and as we entered the Baltimore and Ohio depot there the mater clutched my arm and declared she knew that awful journey would kill her. She was in such a state that the road seemed to be rising up. It turned out to be that Erie Canal bridge, which parts in the middle and stands bolt upright into the sky while the big boats pass through. But it quite unnerved her, so she decided she must have very special care on the New York train. To which end she tipped the black porter $5 right away, to show him how much she needed special attention. Alas, dear, the wretch only went as far as the first big town and all she got for her $5 was a pillow and a drink of water!

Furious, but resigned, she tried again and tipped the new villain handsomely—only to find that the brute left the train at Pittsburgh in the middle of the night and was replaced with a third unctuous black devil for the rest of the journey. He, of course, got no preliminary tip and proceeded to treat us for the stingy skinflints we were! No wonder the mater became gloomy with fearful forebodings and is pleasantly surprised to find us safe and well.

Your brother took us straight to Sherry's for something decent to eat, and, although we felt grubby and travel-stained, we certainly enjoyed it immensely. It was raining hard and New York, wet, is a gorgeous sight. Today there is a cold, crisp sunshine which has no end of a lark trying to peep through into the gloomy New York streets. The buildings are so very high that they can only get the sun in noticeable quantities when it is right overhead.

And I have fallen in love with the New York police! That is, of course, an awful confession when all the world knows how wicked they are. I have seen so many plays in which they were all either very wicked or very stupid that it came as quite a shock to discover them good-looking, courteous, manly and often positively noble looking.

Now, you know, dear Laurie, this is very perturbing. Because if they can look so nice and so intelligent when we know that they are not—well, it sort of makes one regard all men with the deepest suspicion hereafter. If a New York policeman can look innocent, respectable and manly—merciful heavens, what can we expect of the ordinary domesticated kind! How bad do they have to be before it shows?

Your brother, for instance. He looks as nice as any of the policemen. And he is apparently perfectly delighted to be saddled with two strange females with staccato propensities and rather provincial ideas. He answers all our inane questions with respectful courtesy and acts for all the world as though he asked no greater joy of life than to trot Laurie's rather tiresome friends round the town. And yet——

Well, our boat sails tomorrow morning and I can picture him saying, "Well, thank the Lord that's over. And I'll just let Laurie know what I think of her for letting me in for this."

Really we feel a bit sartorially out of it here because, having seen the fall fashion shows and the furs before leaving Los Angeles, we were careful to bring our furs and heavy wraps! And we had 110 deg. in the shade for the first two days of the journey, and find it a delightful 78 deg. in New York. Now it is all very well to wear furs in California in 78 deg. because it is the fur season in New York, but it is impossible to wear furs in New York because they have had the fall fashion show in Los Angeles. The smart mondaines here are pirouetting around in cool, soft-silk suits and tulle ruffles, lace hats and sunshades! We have a sensation of having been thoroughly sold and I think the mater is positively ashamed of her precious Russian sables that were to have impressed the world, but even failed to awe the Pullman porter.

Your mater is a darling, Laurie, and we love her dear, gentle, little ways. And what a tremendously clever girl your sister is! They took us all over Columbia University. The teachers' college was having a reception for the young men and women from the Christian Association, so we happened on a field day. I was so very interested in the kind of young women who will be the teachers of the rising generation. Many bright, pretty girls, of course, but for the most part, even in their teens, there is the teacher's cut about them. What is that curious subtle something that always seems to label a teacher? I always feel that I could pick them out anywhere.

We all finished up with dinner at the Claremont, which is a sort of towny Del Monte beside the river—the place where they tell me a certain well-known Los Angeles artist distinguished himself by giving a quiet little dinner for four people which cost $65, a few months ago—ask W.S.D. if he remembers anything about it.

Such a lark! Have just discovered that all the Kinemacolor nabobs and their distractingly interesting company of players, known so well in Los Angeles, are staying here in our quiet, lady-like little hotel! The charming manageress introduced 'em all to the mater as we came in this evening, with just that touch of triumph which indicated how proud we ought to be to know them. I was, of course, but the poor, dear mater felt at a horrible disadvantage. She would have known exactly what to do in Los Angeles.

Well, darling, we sail in the morning, and I wanted you to get this before we left—breathe it not in Gath, but I'm beginning to feel homesick already. Keep an eye on, well, you know—for me—although, of course, I shall certainly marry either an English lord or a Russian prince.

Your ever-loving

BETTY.

THE WEEK.

PARTIES, RECEPTIONS, DINNERS, WEDDINGS AND THE LIKE.

FORMAL announcement is made today by Mr. and Mrs. Alonso Willard Rhodes of No. 930 South Park View avenue of the engagement of their daughter, Miss May, to Richard W. Hanna, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hanna of No. 2345 South Western avenue.

Not for many moons has a more interesting betrothal been made and the wedding which will be an event of December will be one of the most important during the winter months. Miss Rhodes is petite and attractive and possesses an irresistable personality. She was educated in Washington, later attending Marlborough and since coming-out has been a center of attraction at both the Subscription and Bachelors' balls.

Young Hanna, is the likeable brother of Mrs. Gardner Boullis of Medford, Or., who will be remembered as Miss Helen Hanna, and of Miss Gertrude Hanna. He is a Cornell man and with his fascinating little bride-to-be will be showered with congratulations.

Miss Bishop's Attendants.

Miss Elizabeth Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Bishop of No. 1190 West Adams street, who is betrothed to William Howard Thomas, has chosen her bridal party and the list includes some of the most attractive young women in local society.

Mrs. Edward Bosbyshell has consented to be matron of honor, while the maids include Miss Sally McFarland, Miss Florence Clark, Miss Juliet Boileau, Miss Ruth Anderson and Miss Katherine Johnson. The wedding will be an event of November 3, at the family home.

Miss Taylor's Debut.

Many picturesque new homes are being erected, both in the city and surrounding suburbs, affording more attractive and spacious places for society's pleasures.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wing Taylor have just finished remodeling their large home at West Adams and Grand avenue and again the romantic colonial home will be the scene of many smart affairs.

The last touches were completed late yesterday and just in time for the debutante party of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor's eldest daughter, Miss Barbara Claire Taylor, who made her bow last evening to more than 500 guests. The affair was in the form of a musical reception and ball and the programme presented was by Mrs. Eugene Davis, Miss Ethel Coleman and an orchestra.

Miss Taylor, attired in an exquisite robe of white crepe moire trimmed with Indian silver wire, brought from India by a friend, stood with her mother who was attired in blue messaline ornamented with imported bands of handsome embroidery. Others in the receiving line included: Edwin, Ellis and Howard Taylor, Dr. and Mrs. Claire Murphy, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Hagan, and Mrs. Edwin Locke. Assisting elsewhere in the home were Mrs. Charles Gilbert of Altadena, Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Helen Henderson Stechel, Mrs. Josephine Merriman, Mrs. William Babcock, Mrs. William Ellery Masser, Mrs. Charles Rogers and Mrs. Mortimer Sullivan.

Miss Alma Taylor presided at the punch bowl assisted by a number of Miss Barbara's sorority sisters, including Miss Dorothy Brook, Miss Florence Porter, Miss Ruth Cass, Miss Margaret Gilbert and Miss Corinne Donnelly. Yellow chrysanthemums and quantities of delicate colored rose buds formed simple, but artistic decorations.

At Home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Woodhead with their daughters, the Misses Blanche, Florence, Lora and Charlene Woodhead, are domiciled for the winter in the Philo Beveridge home at No. 6427 Hollywood boulevard, Hollywood, where they are at home to friends.

To Receive.

Mrs. T. Gilbert Nottage, Jr., of No. 1419 Alexander avenue, Hollywood, will be at home to friends October 17 from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Santa Barbara Gossip.

Santa Barbara and Montecito society was pleasantly surprised the first of the week by receiving announcements of the approaching wedding of Miss Carolyn Spoor and Thornhill Broome, the marriage to be held soon in the East, the date and place not having been definitely decided upon. Miss Spoor is the daughter of J. P. Spoor, a millionaire broker of Chicago, the family being well known here owing to many visits to Montecito. Mr. Broome is one of the best known and most popular of the wealthy set of this city, having been born here. He owns extensive real estate holdings in this county and Ventura. The betrothed couple now are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Owen Knapp at the summer home of the latter at Pittsfield, Mass.

Harlow Frink gave a delightful dinner at the Potter Saturday evening in honor of Mrs. de Fremery of Piedmont, the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chickering. Following the dinner the merry party enjoyed dancing in the palm-room. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chickering, Miss Florence Henshaw, Miss Marguerite Doe, Miss Marcia Brackenridge, Messrs. Eliot Rogers and Reginald Fernald and the guest of honor.

Moving picture show parties are becoming quite popular among those of the smart set in Santa Barbara. Wednesday evening Miss Marcia Brackenridge entertained a few friends with such diversion, her guests being Mrs. William Frew, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chickering, Miss Florence Henshaw, Miss Eleanor Park, Messrs. Eliot Rogers, Reginald Fernald and Harlow Frink. Following the show the party went to the Country Club for a dance.

One of the leading society events of the fall season was the tea and reception at the Potter Hotel Friday afternoon given by Miss Marguerite Doe of Montecito, celebrating her birthday. The palm-room was elaborately decorated and nearly one hundred of Santa Barbara and Montecito society folk were in attendance. Miss Doe is one of the most popular of the society belles in Montecito and her many friends were glad of the opportunity to wish her many happy returns of the day.

Following dinner the merry party enjoyed dancing in the palm-room. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chickering, Miss Florence Henshaw, Miss Marguerite Doe, Miss Marcia Breckenridge, Messrs. Eliot Rogers and Reginald Fernald and the guest of honor.

Movie picture show parties are becoming quite popular among those of the smart set in Santa Barbara. Wednesday evening Miss Marcia Breckenridge entertained a few friends with such diversion, her guests being Mrs. William Frew, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chickering, Miss Florence Henshaw, Miss Eleanor [illegible], Messrs. Eliot Rogers, Reginald Fernald and Harlow Frink. Following the show the party went to the Country Club for a dance.

One of the leading society events of the fall season was the tea and reception at the Potter Hotel Friday afternoon given by Miss Marguerite [illegible] of Montecito, celebrating her birthday. The palm-room was elaborately decorated and nearly one hundred of Santa Barbara and Montecito society folk were in attendance. Miss [illegible] is one of the most popular of the [illegible] belles in Montecito and her many friends were glad of the opportunity to wish her many happy returns of the day.

Mrs. [illegible], Wednesday afternoon was hostess for a party at a most enjoyable luncheon and bridge. Lavendar and yellow were used in the decorations. Those present were Mrs. Charles Raymond of "Westholm," Montecito; Mrs. Charles Perkins of Oxnard, Mrs. E. A. Oviatt, Mrs. Macy, Mrs. Louis Long, Mrs. J. R. Whittemore, Mrs. Miles and Mrs. Arthur T. Ogilvy.

Dr. and Mrs. Oliver Dwight Norton who passed several weeks motoring in the northern part of the State, spending some time at Lake Tahoe, returned to their Montecito home Thursday accompanied by Mrs. Norton's young son, Mr. Butterworth.

William Frew is expected to arrive here Sunday to join Mrs. Frew and their little baby who have been passing several months with Mrs. Frew's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Park of Montecito. The Frews will soon depart for Pittsburgh where Mr. Frew is largely interested in the Carnegie steel works.

Miss Emeline Childs of Los Angeles, who has been visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Emmeline Childs, left Saturday for San Francisco where she will join her mother on a trip to Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Story, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gage and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Tebbitts of Los Angeles spent the week end at the Potter with friends. On Monday they left on a motor trip for the North.

Mr. and Mrs. Milo M. Potter and Miss Nina Jones went to San Francisco on Tuesday, and will go to other northern cities. They will be absent several weeks.

From Germany.

Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Newton of Bad Nauheim, Germany, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Bryan of No. 41 Westmoreland place, and will perhaps make their permanent home here. Mrs. E. A. Newton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Bryan.

Mrs. Vogel Hostess.

Mrs. Gladys Vogel entertained Friday afternoon at an auction bridge party in honor of Mrs. Charles Pipps of San Antonio, who is the house-guest of Mrs. Carl Steinhauer of this city. The beautiful ball-room of the Bryson was decorated in red roses for the occasion. Mrs. Steinhauer also entertained for the visitor at a similar party last Tuesday. There were about thirty in attendance and the prize for playing went to Mrs. Archiball.

Handsome Reception.

One of the handsomely-appointed events of the week was the reception given by Mrs. Frank D. Hudson, Wednesday afternoon, honoring her daughter, Miss Doris Hudson, who will become the bride of James S. Woollacott, son of the late Henry J. and Mrs. Mary Woollacott, No. 1115 South Alvarado street, at her residence, No. 1910 Hobart boulevard.

The home was beautiful with its autumn colorings, leaves in the golden browns and autumn's reds, combined with foliage and yellow and brown dahlias in the dining-room and breakfast-room, where the tables were set with lace cloths over yellow satin. In the large living-room and drawing-room, huge baskets of Killarney rosebuds, combined with potted plants and ferns, formed a beautiful background for the handsome gowns of the guests. More than 300 friends called between the hours of 3 and 6, and assisting ladies were Mrs. Mary D. Woollacott, Mrs. Leland W. Neiswender, Mrs. Charles C. Howland, Mrs. Thomas Vigus, Mrs. Lewis C. Carlisle, Mrs. James C. Everding, Mrs. Fred Engstrum, Mrs. William H. Cline, Miss Winifred Howland, Miss Marie Nichols and Miss Ruth Greppin.

Another happy affair for this charming bride-elect and her fiance was the dinner-party given by Miss Marie Nichols at her home, No. 977 Menlo avenue, Friday evening, to which the bridal party only were included. The table was radiant with a gold basket filled with shaggy yellow chrysanthemum and place-cards marking covers were suggestive of the coming event. Included were Mr. and Mrs. Leland Neiswender, Miss Ruth Greppin, Miss Nichols and Messrs. Clifford Vigus, Wade Brashear and Kenneth Rudley.

An attractively-appointed luncheon was the entertainment provided by Miss Winifred Howland at her home, No. 1902 Harvard boulevard, yesterday afternoon, honoring Miss Hudson. A round table in the center of the dining-room was occupied by the bride-elect and her bridal party, while surrounding this were seven smaller tables. A radiant mound of Cecile Brunner roses, lilies of the valley and maiden-hair fern formed a centerpiece for the bridal table, while the smaller tables held a Japanese basket filled with roses and ferns. Place cards were pink, to which were attached hand-made roses. Tables were arranged for "five-hundred" following luncheon, and thirty guests were included.

Wedded in Sierra Madre.

"Granite Lodge" in Sierra Madre, the summer home of Dr. and Mrs. David W. Edwards of this city, was beautifully decorated last evening with great clusters of white and yellow chrysanthemums, the occasion being the wedding of Miss Marie Estelle Newcomb of Toledo to Ernest Harry Adams of this city. The bridal gown was a dainty affair of cream charmeuse, draped in lace and pearls, with a double court train from the shoulder. With this a long tulle veil was worn, caught up with lilies of the valley, and her bridal shower was of lilies of the valley and bride's roses.

Miss Effie Edwards, her only attendant, was attired in a beautiful creation of pale yellow charmeuse, with an over drape of chiffon. With this she carried an arm bouquet of yellow rosebuds. The officiating minister was Dr. Charles Edward Locke, pastor of the First Methodist Church of this city. As the bridal party entered, an orchestra played the popular marches, and softly during the ceremony. The service was read beneath an enormous bower of yellow and white chrysanthemums and asparagus plumosus, erected in one corner of the large living-room.

Following the ceremony, supper was served in the beautiful pergola, at small tables, which were centered by cut-glass vases filled with blossoms. A becoming glow was shed over the scene by yellow-shaded lights. The young couple have gone on a six-months' automobile trip through the northern part of the State, and upon their return will build a beautiful home in this city. The bride, who is a beautiful and charming girl, has made many friends during her stay of one year in this city.

Friday evening Miss Effie Edwards entertained with a dinner party for the bridal couple at Bimini Inn. The table was abloom with pink enchantress carnations and ferns scattered over the cloth. Suggestive of the coming event were the place cards, hand work, adorned with slippers and brides. In the library the cherry blossoms in the Japanese baskets, with Japanese lanterns and hangings, gave a true oriental touch, and yellow and white chrysanthemums were used in the living-room. Besides the bridal couple, a special honor guest was John Newcomb, brother of the bride-elect, who came from Toledo for the wedding. Others included were Mr. and

How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy

A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

A full pint of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.50—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of the ordinary cough more quickly, usually conquering it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for spasmodic croup, whooping cough, bronchial asthma and bronchitis.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This is just laxative enough to help relieve a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant.

The effect of pine and sugar syrup on the inflamed membranes is well known. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup remedy has often been imitated, but the old successful mixture has never been equaled. It is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The Beautiful Old Oaken "Brides' Chests"

—which have stood in many of the castles and manor houses in England for centuries, are becoming very rare, and are now much sought after by lovers of the stately furniture of those by-gone days. They were possessed only by the "highest" in the land and were called "Brides' Chests" because they contained the trousseau of the bride. As walnut and mahogany gradually replaced the heavy oak furniture, these chests ceased to be made and eventually became very scarce

The illustration above, sketched by our artist from one of these chests in our collection of art furniture, shows a magnificent specimen beautifully decorated with a mixture of carving and applied work, dating about 1655. This chest contains a really spacious box in the top, and two drawers beneath. It would make a useful and very handsome addition to a hall or library.

The oak chair is a perfect copy of one in the possession of Sir George Donaldson, dated 1691. The arch contains pilasters with flowering plant and the niching represents the upright laureled pattern of the Renaissance.

A Number of Beautiful Pieces, Specially Priced

These pieces described above, are among a number of others equally interesting and noteworthy, which we have temporarily priced at less than their regular markings, in order that we may make room for incoming arrivals of many new additions to our stock of fine art and period furniture. Our collection embraces authentic reproductions from the Chippendale, Adam, Sheraton, Hepplewhite and other famous styles, in very wide variety—furniture for living room, drawing room, reception room, library, den, dining room, boudoir and bedroom. The special reductions on numerous pieces will prove advantageous and worthy of attention.

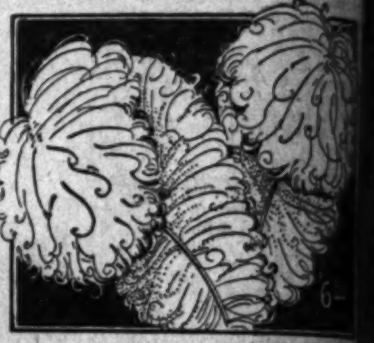
20-inch French plumes---a "better value" event at $6.50

—Think of it! French plumes 20 in. long and 10½ in. wide at $6. and right at the beginning of one of the greatest "Ostrich" seasons years!—

—Not in years has the millinery store had such good news to tell; and probably not for a long time to come will there be news that you'll be so glad to read about!—



—Now to the plumes!—they're fine male stock with heavy heads and wide flues—just the kind of plumes you would expect to pay close to double this sale price for!—

—The color range includes black, white, red, pink, mahogany, peacock blues, brown, green, amethyst, tan and taupe.

—Women who know most about plumes and plume values will be here at store opening Monday morning.

Better values in women's hats At $5.00--at $7.50 --at $9.75--at $13

—Our new way of selling millinery on a merchandise basis has caused no end of com among the women who come investigating—

—Every day women tell us that no store in all the West is offering such values—or showing hats wi character and individuality.

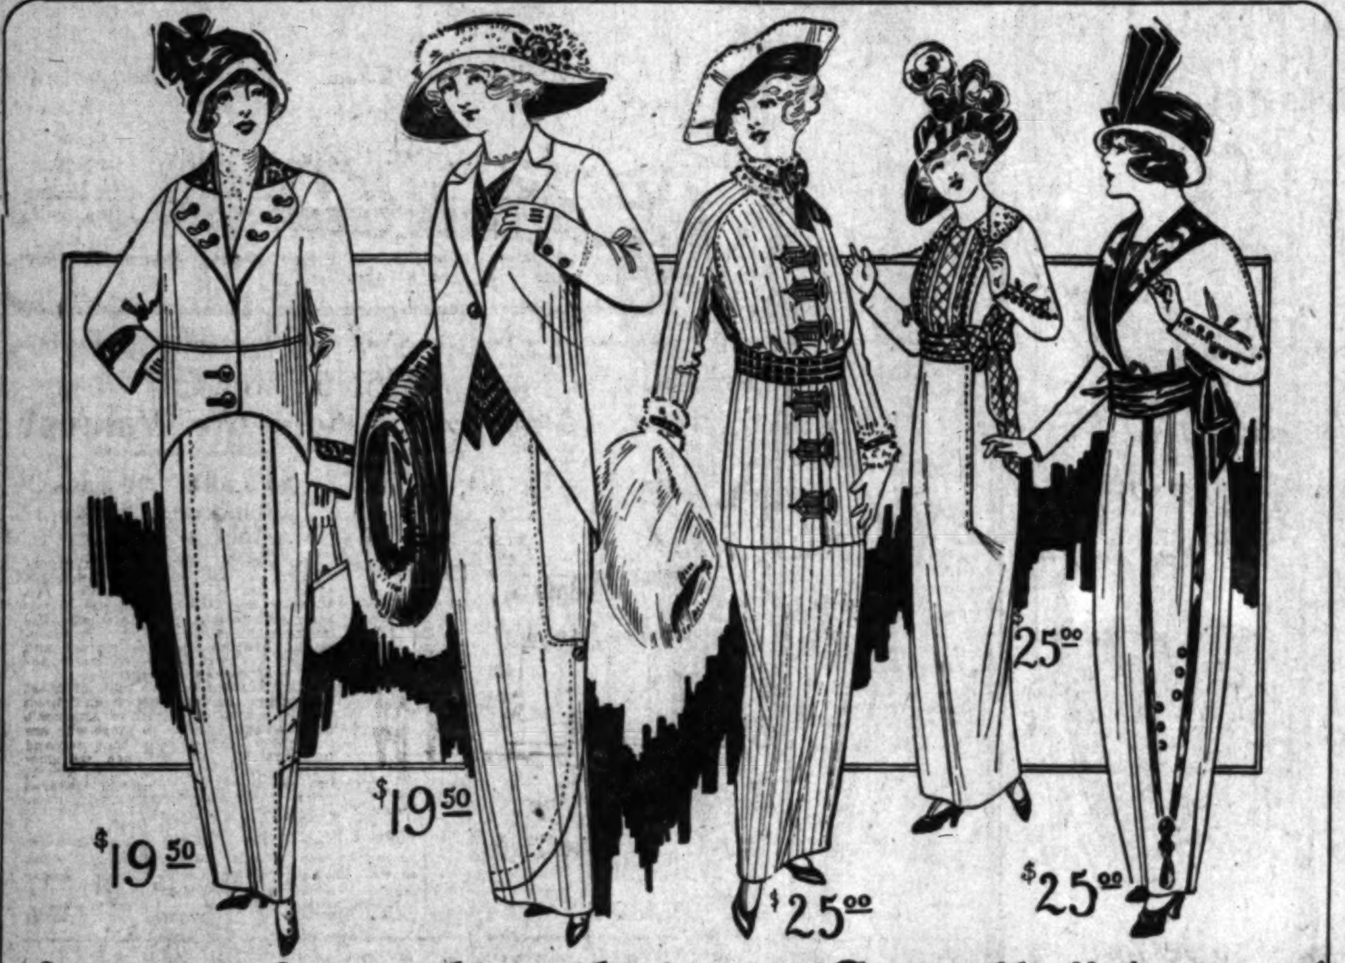
—At $5.00—are soft and pressed crown hats for misses, women and Autumn's silver-haired ladies. All trimmed in exquisite taste.

—At $7.50—there are turbans, tricorns, sailors, quadricorns and trimmed hats in plush, velvet and silk —all colors.

—At $9.75—large, medium and small ha plush, velvet and moire with fur, ostrich and mings—some decked with new feather novelties!

—At $13.75—rich dress hats and tailored tions of silk panne and erect pile velvet wi aigrette and ostrich trims—some with fur trim

Second Floor.



A special purchase brings "Cautille" dresses for this "better value" event at $25

—We've had three of them illustrated above!

—We only wish we could have put some of the dresses themselves here—you would have needed nothing more to have aroused your enthusiasm!—

—They're of serge—and such a serge—so soft and perfect and smooth that one would easily be excused for calling it half silk.—It's all wool, tho!—a fabric from a master's loom!

—The trimmings are of plain colored and plaid silks—the pictures show best how they are used!

—The color range includes tan, navy, brown, Copenhagen and black with the trimmings in contrasting colors—

—Better values than we've had in a long, long while—the kind that will keep the 3rd floor busy as can be all day Monday!—

—See them in the window today—and on the 3rd floor Monday.

Exposition of new furs

—For Monday we announce the opening of an interesting exhibit of the newest and best that Dame Fashion has brought out of Furland.

—And this showing is but a few short days ahead of the cool, snappy days and nights which Jack Frost will send us—just in time to be of most assistance to Milady—to help her choose winter furs most resultfully!

—Among the pieces shown will be:

Mole sets

—Muffs and Scarfs, ranging from $67.50 on up to $150.00.

Mink sets

—at $75.00 and up to $300.00.

Fox sets

—at $13.50 and up to $65.00.

Beaver sets

—at $13.50 and up to $50.00.

—Then there will be Persian lamb, wolf, lynx and other fashionable furs, including the new Parisian effects dyed in brilliant colors.

—Better values? Yes, indeed. You'll find the prices all 'way under what most stores ask.

Third Floor.

Another great "better value" offering of women's tailored suits, Monday at $19.50

—If these suits had come to us in the regular way and were marked at the ordinary rate of profit most stores ask, they would be fully ten dollars higher than this price!

—The suits themselves will make that same statement even more forcefully!—

—Note the two we have shown in the drawing above!

—Aren't they considerably different from the kind of suits you usually associate with $19.50?

—But more than their style—we want you to note their materials and the workmanship in them—you'll be delighted with every little detail!

—There are both plain tailored and semi fancy effects in men's wear—serge, cheviot, wool poplin, diagonals, fancy mixtures and broadcloths in all wanted shades.

—Better values than we've had before at $19.50. Third floor.

Better values in wash goods

—The great Mezzanine wash goods store is a wonder place to shop these days! There are savings galore to be made—note these!

Mezzanine.

Girls' smart little dresses of woolen fabrics, priced $2.75

—And then there are others priced on up as high as $10.00. All of them better values!

—There are dresses of serge—and of English plaid weaves — for school, for home and for party wear—dresses every one that will delight even the most particular little miss and the most economical mother—

—Make it a point to see the scores of dresses that are ready for little folks on the 3rd floor Monday!

New coats at $5 to $15

—Coats of Thibet—cheviot—boucle and fancy mixtures in navy, brown, red and two-toned effects—

—Coats that will keep your little ones as warm as toast on the rainiest, coldest days—Third Floor.

Warner's Rust Proof corsets at $1.50

—They're made to wear better—to fit better—to feel better—and to be better values than other corsets at $1.50, and judging by the women who are buying them, they are "better."

—There's a model made especially for your figure—it has rubber button hose supporters attached—ask to see it Monday—

—Expert corsetieres—private fitting rooms.

Fourth Floor.

Another great lot of ribbons to go Monday at 25c a yard

—The first lot of these ribbons were put forward last Monday and caused no little stir—many women declared they had never seen such ribbons at this low price!

—Many women commented on the fact that duplicates of several of the ribbons in this sale were displayed in shop windows close by at 50c and 65c yd.

—There are 126 bolts to go forward Monday—some plain, but most of them fancy effects in every imaginable color and pattern—the widths range from 4 to 7 inches.

—Find these on sale on table in front of the elevators.

5-in. taffeta ribbons at 12½c

Second Week of Our Emergency
Sale of Oriental Rugs
With Reductions Increased to $33\frac{1}{3}$ Per Cent Off!

This very unusual offering of beautiful oriental rugs has created universal and widespread interest and attention, because of the remarkable character of the collection in its extensiveness and high merit, also because of the novel plan of pricing—the first week of 25% reduction, the second week (this week) of 33⅓% reduction. Connoisseurs were quick to secure a large number of the rarest specimens at the first discount last week; now at the increased reduction, it is safe to infer that rapid buying will begin by the hundreds of Oriental rug lovers, who have already inspected this collection and found rugs meeting their particular requirements. It is not likely that very many will care to wait longer and run the risk of losing the particular rugs in which they are interested.

In just a few words, we can say that this is probably the finest collection ever shown on the Pacific Coast. There are rugs suited to every use to which Oriental weaves are appropriate. There are large rugs—very large rugs—medium sizes—small rugs—of all shapes. Practically every authentic classification is included. The quality and character of every rug in the collection is fully guaranteed by us. Any rug purchased during this sale may be returned, if desired, after Jan. 1st, and not later than July 1st, 1914, and exchanged for any other goods in our stock. At the prices now prevailing, it is almost if not quite as cheap to buy Oriental rugs as the better grades of domestic weaves, when the far greater wear and service is considered. It is an opportunity every intending buyer of floor coverings should take advantage of.

Beautiful Adam Diningroom Suite A Special Feature!

—This suit is a typical Adam reproduction, and an authoritative example of this master designer's work. You all know that Robert Adam as a decorator and designer had no equal. His methods are of themselves very interesting, because they incorporate and require a knowledge of so many details and sources of inspiration.

—This beautiful suite is built of finest mahogany. In construction and finish it reflects the best efforts of America's foremost craftsmen. To those who are furnishing dining-rooms that demand furniture of such excellence, we most heartily commend this suite, which, by reason of its specially lowered price, is doubly attractive and interesting.

Fall Merchandising Harvest

Extraordinary Purchase! New $1.50 Bacmo Cape Gloves at $1

—"Here's one of the most remarkable Glove items that I've ever handed to the advertising department," said the buyer.
—A bona fide $1.50 glove for $1. But the most important part of it is these gloves are at the very height of demand and hard to secure even at regular price. This is due to the beautifully embroidered backs which require additional time for making.
—They are the celebrated Bacmo make, full P.X.M. Cape with one large clasp at wrist. But here's the most interesting part. There's a choice of three shades of tan, as well as white. All have beautifully embroidered backs.
—White with black thread back, white with black sewn back and seam, white with self back and seam.
—There are just 15 dozen of these gloves. We wish there were 15 times 15 dozen. Every pair will be fitted, every pair guaranteed to give perfect wear, and such an opportunity should exhaust the supply very quickly, so we advise you to come early.

Gathering a Great Fall Crop of Values

—This Fall Harvest is more than an ordinary sale, it's a merchandising event wherein fall buying is at the very flood tide. An event that serves as a correct guide to your best fall purchasing.
—Consider the completeness of stocks and the many, many remarkable values, the arrival of Holiday merchandise.
—More than ordinary values are uppermost inasmuch as we are in the period of temporary reconstruction, therefore, prices have been made that will more than compensate any inconvenience you may be put to.
—This page and an additional ad have been prepared that we may properly present very exceptional offerings to start this week.

WHY ARE Nemo Corsets TRIPLE-STRIP A BOON TO WOMANKIND?

THEY GUARD YOUR FIGURE, HEALTH & PURSE

When You Buy a Nemo Be Sure You Get a Nemo!

ONCE more we are compelled to sound a note of WARNING. Unscrupulous manufacturers still persist in trying to palm off, upon the unwary, VASTLY INFERIOR IMITATIONS of Nemo features and fabrics—spurious "supporting" and "reducing" corsets," elastics that rip—in the hope that you won't know the difference. Original Nemo inventions and trade-marks—even our "ads" and illustrations—are copied, with the obvious intent to deceive you.

BE A WISE WOMAN! Don't fall into the trap! If you seek genuine Nemo style and comfort, REFUSE all corsets that do not bear the trade-marks "NEMO" and "LASTIKOPS."

You should strongly RESENT all attempts to sell you imitations of the Nemo, for such an attempt is nothing less than an attack upon your health, your figure and your purse.

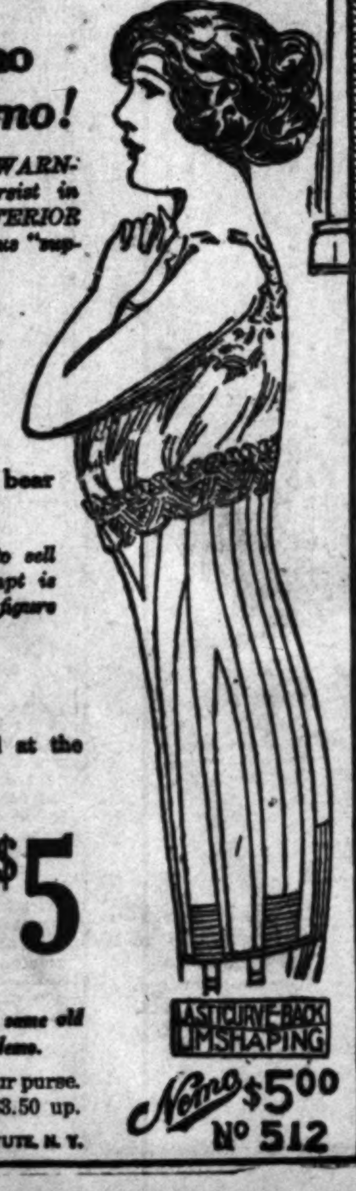
Here's a Good Example —of the Nemo features which are being imitated at the expense of your comfort and style:

No. 512—The newest LASTIKOPS Corset, for extreme and comfortable reduction below the waist. Very low bust, with Nemo "bridge"—front steels won't "dig in" above the waist-line. Skirt—extra-long; semi-elastic bands of Lastikops Webbing reduce hips and thighs; Lasticurve-Back, of semi-elastic Lastikops Cloth. The triple reduction when you stand, gives triple expansion when you sit. And the elastics stay elastic. Finest white coutil; sizes 20 to 30 $5

This corset will OUTWEAR any three corsets made with the same old unreliable elastics that are used in all imitations of the Nemo.

Preserve your figure; guard your health and your purse. Ask for the Nemo—and GET it. For all figures—$3.50 up.

ALL GOOD DEALERS NEMO HYGIENIC-FASHION INSTITUTE, N. Y.



NEMO HYGIENIC FASHION INSTITUTE

Bulletin No. 35

A toadstool looks like a mushroom; but it is very different—you die!

Ordinary elastics may look like the genuine LASTIKOPS fabrics; but they're very different—their elasticity "dies."

What's that?

You "didn't know there was any difference in elastics?"

Well, that's not our fault. We've spent thousands of dollars trying to make you understand that the patented Nemo semi-elastic fabrics, Lastikops Webbing and Cloth, are the only elastics in existence that don't "give out."

The Next Time

—you buy a corset made with elastic gores or bands, look for the trade-mark LASTIKOPS. If you don't find it, don't buy the corset.

That trade-mark is your only safeguard against the ordinary old-style elastics that are being used in imitation of the genuine Nemo.

Be A Wise Woman!

Avoid toadstools. See that your dealer shows you a real Nemo when you ask for it.

Bad Complexions Are Now Easily Discarded

(From the Beauty Seeker)

Every woman has it in her own hands to possess a beautiful and youthful complexion. No matter how soiled, faded or coarse the cuticle, ordinary mercolized wax will actually remove it, and Nature will substitute a skin as soft, clear and lovely as a child's. The action of the wax is not drastic, but gentle and agreeable. Minute particles of scarf skin come off day by day, yet no evidence of the treatment is discernible, other than the gradual complexional improvement. One ounce of mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store, suffices for most cases. It is put on at bedtime like cold cream and taken off in the morning with warm water. It is a certain method of discarding freckles, liver spots, moth patches, blackheads and pimples.

Wrinkles can be treated with benefit by bathing the face in a lotion prepared by dissolving 1 ounce powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel. Instantaneous results are secured.—[Advertisement.

SOCIETY.

arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums and cosmos were combined in decorating the rooms where the programme was presented by Miss Edith Sherfy, Mrs. Tiffany, Ray Baldwin, Miss Blanche Ruby, Mrs. Gertrude Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Revel English, Miss Helen Charles, Miss Frieda Peyche and Dufferin Rutherford.

Recent Wedding.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Vera Mae Happel, only daughter of Mrs. Lillian E. Happel, and Arthur G. Bailey, a promising young architect of this city. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's mother, No. 3429 Lanfranco avenue, Thursday evening, October 2, in the presence of a number of friends of the young couple. The maid of honor was Miss Dorothy L. Bailey, and Herbert F. Bailey was best man, while little Eugenia Drake assisted as ringbearer. The officiating minister was Rev. William M. Sterling, pastor of the Euclid Heights Methodist Church. A musical programme of songs, rendered by William Dellamore, was a delightful feature of the occasion. After a wedding journey of several weeks in the northern part of the State Mr. and Mrs. Bailey will reside at No. 3429 Lanfranco avenue.

Luncheon Party.

Complimentary to Mrs. Peter McClellan, out-going president of the Wilshire Branch of the International Sunshine Society, the officers entertained with a beautifully-appointed luncheon at Christopher's. The banquet-room was decorated with pink roses and autumn foliage.

At the Shoreham.

Mrs. Allan Aldrich has returned from the East, where she has been touring for the past five months and is settled at the Shoreham.

Club Affair.

Members of the Madrigal Club held their monthly meeting Thursday at the home of Miss Lewis of No. 2908 Dorchester street. A musical programme was rendered by Mrs. Weston, Mrs. Bell, Miss Morrison, Mrs. Yarnell and Mrs. McKinnie.

Miss Dickinson at Home.

Miss Laurel Dickinson was a charming hostess recently, having entertained with an informal tea party for members of the Chi Omega Alumnae. Miss Scott of the Young Women's Christian Association was present as special guest and others included Mrs. Alvin Mitchell, Mrs. Franklin Padan, Mrs. E. M. Sulliger, Mrs. Humphrey Marshall, Mrs. Fred Perry, Mrs. Dudley Black, Mrs. A. T. Metcalf, Miss Helen Punkham, Miss Mary Moore Dawson, Miss Florence Judkins, Miss Margaret Pewtress, Miss Dorothy Pringle, Miss Eva Swalley, Miss Gertrude Hunt and Miss Ringham.

Honeymoon Trip Ends.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sidney Hoagland, who were married the last week in July, have returned from an extended honeymoon trip, and after the 15th inst. will be at home to friends at No. 3111 Van Buren place, this city.

Another Luncheon.

The Delta Delta Chapter of the Alpha Chi Omega fraternity were delightfully entertained at luncheon yesterday by Miss Florence Cook and Miss Fern Wildey at the home of the former on Normandie avenue. Huge bowls of pink roses and smilax formed the decorations and covers were laid for twenty-five guests.

Sierra Madre Club.

Mrs. Edwin Wileman of No. 2916 South Hobart boulevard entertained at the Sierra Madre Club Tuesday with an enjoyable luncheon, complimenting Mrs. S. R. Van Metre and Miss Laura Van Metra of Marietta, O., who are guests at the home of Capt. and Mrs. O. J. Stowe of No. 1823 West Adams street.

With Her Mother.

Mrs. Reginald St. Clair Wherrie, a young matron of Minneapolis, is spending the early winter months in Los Angeles, the house guest of her mother, Mrs. Ida Hoeffing of No. 1631 Maltman avenue, and her sisters, Mrs. J. F. Whithorn and Mrs. W. W. Steisner.

Active Members.

The active girls of the Beta Phi Sorority of the University of Southern California were hostesses Monday afternoon at a delightful affair given at their sorority house, No. 3553 South Hoover street. Members of the freshman class were included as special guests. The rooms were bright with red carnations and asparagus plumosus and an excellent musical programme was rendered just before serving refreshments.

Pleasant Outing.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Christopher of Los Angeles were week-end guests at Arrowhead Hotel, where Mrs. Christopher will remain indefinitely. Her niece will join her shortly to enjoy the fall at this popular mountain resort.

Ferguson-Woolliever Wedding.

The Rev. Dr. Geissinger, pastor of the University Methodist Episcopal Church, officiated at the recent wedding of Miss Maude Ferguson and Clarence Montclare Woolliever, which took place at the bride's home. Miss Ferguson was attired in white crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of bride roses arranged in a shower. Miss Elsie Ferguson, attired in crepe meteor, was maid of honor, and her bouquet was fashioned of pink roses and maidenhair. The maids, the Misses Carie and Margaret Ferguson, were attired alike in pink messaline and carried arm showers of Cecil Brunners. Thomas Tatton stood with the groom. An extended honeymoon trip through the East will be enjoyed by the happy young people.

At Beverly.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Myers and daughter, Miss Laura I. Myers, are stopping at the Beverly Hills Hotel, where they expect to remain until their handsome new residence, now being erected at Beverly Hills, is completed.

To Entertain.

CALIFORNIA CUT GLASS

INIMITABLY BEAUTIFUL

The production of "California" Cut Glass is one of the greatest achievements of modern art.

Breaking entirely away from the conventional and commonplace, the creator of this new glass masterfully executes such exquisite natural designs as the acorn, the thistle, the marguerite, the poinsetta and the poppy.

"California" Cut Glass, which has never been successfully imitated, is sold in Los Angeles exclusively by Brock & Company. We invite all lovers of the artistic to inspect our most interesting and comprehensive exhibit.

A special feature of our cut glass department is the execution of any special design, family crests, emblems, club insignias, etc., and the reproduction of pieces of broken sets.

and other views taken at Panama by J. B. Coulston, president of the club, and pictures taken by Miss Mabel Pierson and F. W. Pierson of the sierras gave great pleasure. With more than one hundred slides Mr. Coulston gave entertaining descriptions as well as amusing anecdotes of his recent trip to Panama. Refreshments were served and the evening's pleasure was concluded with informal dancing.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grimes, South El Molino avenue, was the scene of a pretty wedding Thursday evening when their daughter, Miss Zillah Grimes was united in marriage with Frank Southy Whittington. The floral decorations were all in pink and white, chrysanthemums being used in the living-room where the ceremony was performed under a canopy of asparagus ferns. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Gladys Grimes, and Rev. Robert Freeman officiated. Schillingers' orchestra furnished music and there were only close friends and relatives present at the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Whittington left Thursday evening for a wedding journey and will live at 181 South El Molino on their return.

Mrs. G. Lawrence Stimson of Avoca street has as a house guest her brother, J. L. Coombs of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Remmington Olmstead of San Rafael Heights, who spent the summer at Santa Monica, returned Monday.

South Pasadena.

MISS MAYME C. BAUER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bauer of "Four Oaks," corner of Fair Oaks avenue and Monterey Road, has named Wednesday, October 15, as the date of her marriage to George Sheahan, the wedding to take place at the home of the bride's parents. Miss Bauer has chosen Miss Chole Phillips for her maid of honor, while her sister, Miss Laura Tille Bauer, will act as bridesmaid. Leo Brunner will support the groom, and Rev. W. B. Gantz will read the marriage lines. The bride-to-be, who is an attractive young lady, is a graduate of the Belcourt Seminary, Washington, D. C. The family are comparatively newcomers in this city, having come to Southern California from Kentucky.

Mrs. Edna Harter, No. 1014 Brent avenue, has gone to Belle Vernon, Pa., where she is the house guest of her father. She expects to return to South Pasadena about November 1.

Members of the Saturday Evening Auction Bridge Club were delightfully entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bingham, on Electric avenue. The fluffy yellow chrysanthemums arranged in baskets and vases were used exclusively for decorating the rooms given over to the affair. Following the games handsome prizes were awarded to Mrs. Hill and Mr. Grant. Elaborate refreshments were served and members present were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. William Carlin, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harland, Mr. and Mrs. Chester R. Braiser, Mr. and Mrs. William Bradshaw, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Blatner and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beardslee.

Mrs. Otis Byers Manchester and little daughter Pauline, No. 2003 Milan avenue, has returned from a fortnight spent at Hermosa Beach.

Miss Merle Britton, the bride-to-be of Leslie J. Cooper, was the honoree at a surprise miscellaneous shower and hearts party given by Miss Grace Delano, Friday afternoon, at her home, No. 1715 Monterey Road. A profusion of ox-eyed daisies adorned the home, as well as centering the table in the dining-room, where refreshments were served, following the games. Place and tally cards combined were hand-painted, ornamented with yellow blossoms, and favors were gold wedding rings, tied with white tulle bows, resting on the service of ice cream. Those enjoying the hospitality of the afternoon were Mrs. Ray Wheelock, Mrs. Roy Sneveley, Mrs. Franklin Thomas of Pasadena, Mrs. Roy Weir and Miss R. Strong of Long Beach; Mrs. Ed Brothers and Mrs. Charles Strong of Los Angeles; Mrs. Harry Hunt, Mrs. Joe Coles, Mrs. James Nelson, Mrs. Grant Britton, Miss Mae Britton, Miss Myrtle Coots, Miss Grace Coots, Miss Jewell Boone, Miss Anna Drill and Miss Ethel Drill.

Miss Bertha Bosbyshell, No. 1910 Oak street, has gone to Klamath Falls, where she will spend a few weeks, and from there will go to Nevada, where she will be the house guest of a cousin.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sanson entertained the members of the Neighborhood Dinner Club Thursday evening. A mound of pink and white cosmos graced the center of the table, while cards suggesting Halloween marked covers. Following dinner tables were arranged in the large living-room for games of auction, which was abloom with yellow chrysanthemums. Members present were Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Hobert, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sebree, Mr. and Mrs. William Council, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo B. Cass, Col. Frederick Butterfield and Miss Ellen Butterfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Kelley and their three children, who sold their home on Ramona avenue, have removed to Primrose avenue, where they are at home to their friends.

Miss Elizabeth Rust was the charming hostess yesterday at a dainty luncheon, complimenting Pomona College friends and classmates, at her home, No. 1303 Lyndon street. The rooms had been turned into a bower by the use of pink and white roses, and the same motif was utilized in the table appointments. Hand-painted rose cards marked covers for Miss Helen Austin and Miss Marguerite West of Santa Ana, Miss May Hatch of Alhambra, Miss Irene Gogswell of El Monte, Miss Dorothy Bach of Pasadena, Miss Gertrude Palmer, Miss Florence Wheeler, Miss Katherine Caldwell and Miss Charlotte Thomas of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Arthur Bridge of Claremont. Following luncheon dainty needlework and reminiscences of college days was the pleasure of the afternoon.

Mrs. William H. Harrison of Los Angeles, Mrs. W. D. Newerf and Mrs. J. P. Whitmore will entertain with a Halloween dancing party Friday evening, October 31, for the benefit of the house-furnishing fund of the Women's Improvement Association new clubhouse. The Halloween motif will be carried out in all the decorations, and the event will be as delightfully informal as the much-enjoyed barn dance.

The setting of a green lawn and a canopy of trees, with the blue sky peeping through, formed an idea for an outdoor luncheon given by members of the Bonnet Club at Sycamore Grove last evening, the guests all motoring down from here. They then returned to the home of Mrs. Margaret Reehl, No. 1207 Monterey Road, where progressive games were enjoyed. Those included were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. William Hazlett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ingram, Mr. and Mrs. William Springer, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Delano, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. McDonald, and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Humason.

An enjoyable affair of the current week was the dinner party given by Mrs. A. J. Hoffman at her home, No. 1129 Fair Oaks avenue, Thursday evening. A radiant glow was shed over the table by the basket of yellow chrysanthemums and harmonizing place cards utilized. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hoffman of Sierra Madre, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Hart, H. A. Passmore and G. L. Passmore of Los Angeles, Miss Laura Hoffman, Roy Hoffman and Master Robert Hart.

Monrovia.

THE Misses Eva Harvey and Opal Rives entertained in a most charming manner Thursday evening in honor of Miss Helen Davis, whose wedding to J. W. Bailey will take place within a few weeks. The delightful party was given at the home of Miss Harvey, and was in the nature of a boudoir shower. Five hundred was a game that furnished amusement to the large number of guests, and at the close of the evening delightful refreshments were served. The decorations of the beautiful home were done in autumn flowers. Included in the list of guests were the Misses Helen Reed, Edna Chess, Helen Davis, Pearl and Morgie Post, Bessie Bailey, Eva Bailey, Pearl Brownfield, Edith Dixon, Hazel Brownfield, Cathleen Chess, Anita Rives, Nettie Miller, Waunita Rives, Bessie Thayer, Ella Miller, Mary Smith, Clara Cronenwett, Nettie Coles, Teddie Eason, Laura Newcomb and the Mmes. Charles Jernegan, Leslie M. Renaker, Jack Hosfield, O. J. McCurley, L. L. Day and B. J. Towner.

Folk dancing and physical culture are being enthusiastically taken up by the members of the Woman's Club, and much interest has already been aroused by the preparatory plans for a course to be given in the quaint, old-world dances this autumn. Miss Page, a very successful instructor in all kinds of physical exercises, will meet the club ladies next Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, to discuss plans and prospects with them. According to the present ideas all members of the Woman's Club and their daughters, 18 years of age or over, will be eligible.

Mrs. J. J. Williams, president of the Orange-avenue Parent-Teacher Association, presided over the bi-monthly meeting of that body Monday afternoon, at the schoolhouse. Among other things aside from the social side of the affair, plans were made to provide the teachers of the school with a restroom. Mrs. E. E. Taylor was elected chairman of the Social Committee, and Miss Lord historian, while chairmen were appointed for membership in each district. The ladies selected for this duty were the Mmes. Young, Thompson, Taylor, Cochran, Bishop and Hunseker. The next meeting will be held in December.

Miss Harriet H. Hutchins, historian of the Monrovia Woman's Club, addressed the Pasadena Woman's Club on Thursday afternoon, going over to the Crown City prior to the meeting to be the guest of the Programme Committee. Miss Hutchins will lecture before the Pasadena Club next month on "Birds of Our Southland."

Alhambra.

J. N. HALL of Alhambra, Worshipful Master of the local Masonic Lodge, leaves today for San Francisco to attend the sessions of the grand lodge of the State of California, which will be held in the northern city.

Mr. and Mrs. Will G. Gilstrap and family have as their guests at their home on North Curtis avenue Mrs. Gilstrap's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Finch, who arrived from the north on the Governor last Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Finch are planning to make Alhambra their future home.

Miss Orma Travis and Miss Mildred Schaer, who entered Occidental Colleeg this fall, attended the joint reception recently given at the college by the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A., which was the opening college function.

Miss Edyth Little, sister of Mrs. E. L. McCormack of North Vega street, will entertain the members of the Berean class of the First Baptist Sunday-school next Tuesday evening at a 6 o'clock dinner, which promises to be a most delightful affair.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas J. de Vaughn are expected home very soon from their tour in Oregon.

Mrs. Ida Fields of North Monterey street, has as her house guests her sister, Mrs. Anna Wolford, and niece, Miss Wolford, of Linton, Ind., who will remain in Alhambra for the winter months.

E. W. Greene returned on Thursday from his two weeks' vacation in the San Joaquin Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Gurley and family have returned from Newport Beach, where they spent a most delightful summer vacation at their cottage there. They have been away from Alhambra since the latter part of June, thus enjoying about three months at the beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Armstrong and daughter, Miss Irma Armstrong, of North Granada avenue, were the guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shattuck at their home in Glendale. In the afternoon they made a trip by automobile to La Crescenta and Mt. Rose.

In honor of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. Roger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Rogers of Los Angeles, at their home on South Garfield avenue, entertained last Sunday with a dinner party and afternoon reception. At the beautifully appointed table covers were laid for twenty-four relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wilferth and sons of South Fifth street have returned to their home in Alhambra to remain permanently, after having spent the past year in Lucerne Valley. They now have as their guest Mrs. Wilferth's sister, Mrs. George E. Bowles, who is here for a month.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Cartwright, Alhambra, who is well known as the Grand Royal Matron of the Order of the Amaranth of California, and who has been the guest of honor at many delightful functions recently in this part of the State, left a week ago on the Yale for the northern part of the State, where she will spend four or five weeks in making a tour of inspection of the northern courts.

Mrs. Franc Ogilvy Wood of "Woodhurst," South Granada avenue, is planning to attend the next meeting of the Los Angeles Players' Club, which will meet with Mrs. Hancock Banning at Wilmington.

Mrs. John F. Mitchim has as her house guests Mrs. E. W. Bliss and Miss Maude Smith of St. Louis, and has given several delightful affairs in their honor. Last week she was hostess at a luncheon when covers were laid for Mrs. Bliss, Miss Smith, Mrs. Edward Grannin, Mrs. Fred de Garmo, and Mrs. Harry Thomas. After the delicious 1 o'clock luncheon, the afternoon was spent in playing whist.

Mrs. Carter of South Cordova street entertained not long ago in honor of her daughter, Miss Cecil Carter, and Miss Elsie Schopper, when several young friends of Miss Cecil enjoyed a happy afternoon together. Several interesting games were played, at the close of which the winner was found to be Miss Margaret Watkins. The rooms were artistically decorated for the occasion with greenery, while in the dining-room pink flowers added brightness to the table. Here a most delicious lunch was served at the close of the afternoon's pleasure. Those present besides Miss Carter and Miss Schopper, were Miss Margaret Watkins, Miss Marian Fletcher, Miss Louise Goodson, Miss Estelle Dean, Miss Dorothy Dean, Miss Josephine Brown, Miss Elsa Mathews, Miss Elizabeth Larrimer, Miss Alice Little and James Tennyson.

Sierra Madre.

PINK and white flowers were most effectively utilized in the dining-room of Mrs. William J. Lawless on Wednesday when she entertained a number of friends with luncheon and bridge, complimentary to Mrs. H. T. Bullock of Cheyene who is a guest at the home of her sister Mrs. W. H. Ingraham. Artistic place cards following out the same color scheme marked the places at the daintily appointed table. In the afternoon bridge was enjoyed and favors were won by Miss Hazel Woodward, Mrs. L. C. Dietz, and Mrs. E. C. Carhart. Those present were Mesdames W. H. Ingraham, Hallett Johnson, E. W. Camp, E. C. Carhart, J. T. Mason and Mrs. L. C. Dietz. Out-of-town guests were Mesdames W. S. Collins, Albert Chappelle and H. Siegmund of Los Angeles.

The Misses Moore and Law entertained a few of their friends most charmingly last Thursday evening with a house warming. The rooms were decorated with greenery and Halloween symbols were also used, yellow predominating. The guests were received at the door by an old witch who ushered them into a dimly-

OLD FOLKS FIND CROXONE RELIEVES ALL KIDNEY AND BLADDER MISERIES

Drives Rheumatic Pains Away, Few Doses Relieve Backache and Bladder Disorders.

Sleep disturbing bladder weaknesses, backache, rheumatism and the many other kindred ailments which so commonly come with declining years, need no longer be a source of dread and misery to those who are past the middle age of life.

Croxone relieves all such disorders because it reaches the very cause of the trouble. It soaks right into the kidneys, through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering glands and cells, and gives the kidneys new strength to do their work properly. It neutralizes and dissolves the poisonious uric acid substances that lodge in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; and makes the kidneys filter and sift out the poisonous waste matter from the blood and drive it out of the system.

It matters not how old you are or how long you have suffered. Croxone is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it without results. There is nothing else like it. It starts to work immediately and more than a few doses are seldom required to relieve even the most chronic, obstinate cases.

An original package costs but a trifle and all druggists are authorized to return the purchase price if Croxone should fail in a single case.—[Advertisement.

The California Jubilee Quartette furnished an excellent programme in Claremont last Friday evening, when they appeared at Holmes Hall under the auspices of the Hathaway Club. The programme consisted chiefly of negro songs, ballads, plantation airs and other selections by the quartette.

The Claremont Auction Bridge Club was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. George C. Griswold last Friday evening. The members of the club present, besides the host and hostess, were Mmes. and Messrs. B. A. Woodford, E. P. Hawley and A. W. Richards.

George Pillsbury of Los Angeles was in Claremont several days last week visiting college friends.

Mrs. F. A. King has been the guest of Mrs. E. H. Sanford for the past few days.

President James A. Blaisdell entertained at dinner at Ye Claremont Inn in honor of C. E. Walker, president of the Pomona Chamber of Commerce, and C. P. Stine, secretary of the same organization. The other guests included the Claremont Board of Trade and several faculty members. They were Messrs. Frank Wheeler, president Claremont Board of Trade; J. D. Johnson, L. N. Smith, J. A. Tomlinson, W. N. Beach, F. W. Thomas, C. R. May and V. E. Mariott. Earlier in the day the visitors had been shown around Claremont and were given a hearty welcome.

Mrs. E. F. Goff entertained last Monday afternoon a number of friends who are at the Claremont Inn. The afternoon was spent in sewing and conversation. Vocal solos, which were greatly enjoyed, were rendered by Mrs. Mary Lyman and Miss Owen. The guests included Mmes. Smead of Los Angeles, Mary Lyman, Laura Bordwell, Hannah T. Jenkins, G. G. Hitchcock, and Misses Owen, Smead, Ballantine, Truegood, Peterson and Ramage.

Glendora.

A PRETTY wedding was celebrated Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. U. M. Netzley on Grand avenue, when Miss Laura Netzley was united in marriage to Lenord Slack, the Rev. Robert Grieve officiating. The wedding march was exquisitely rendered by Miss Ella Kamkhefner. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Netzley of Glendora. The groom is a nephew of John Bender, a citrus fruit grower of the valley. The happy couple will reside at Lindsay, where Mr. Slack holds the position of foreman in one of the packing-houses.

Mrs. L. W. Spaulding delightfully entertained the Bridge Club at her home on Minnehaha Friday afternoon. The prize was won by Mrs. T. V. Wamsley. The place cards bore the names of Mmes. E. G. Widman, W. W. Strange, C. H. Wood, A. M. Berhardt, R. S. Taylor, H. H. Chamberlin, E. G. Vander Sluis and T. V. Wamsley.

Mrs. T. V. Wamsley entertained Saturday in honor of her son, Kenneth's tenth birthday anniversary. There were present twelve or more of his associates to enjoy the festivities of the occasion and partake of the delicious refreshments served.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gaston left for their home in Iowa Friday after a summer spent at the home of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilson.

Mrs. Walter Campbell had as guests Tuesday, Mmes. M. Joyce, John Spencer and E. Reynoldson of Los Angeles.

Mrs. E. Englehardt of Exeter arrived Wednesday, and is a guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Netzley.

Frank Chance, baseball magnate, arrived Friday from New York to spend the winter on his orange ranch near Glendora.

Mrs. L. D. Miller returned the first of the week after an absence of two months spent in Grand Rapids, Mich., where she had gone to be with her mother in her last illness.

Oxnard.

THE wedding of Louis Brucker to Miss Emma Friedrich took place at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning at Santa Clara Catholic Church. The bride, attractively gowned in white, was attended by Miss Selma Brucker, sister of the groom, and Miss Louise Gisler. Henry Brucker of San Francisco, cousin of the groom, acted as best man. Following the ceremony, a reception and luncheon were given at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Magdalena Friedrich. Both young people are prominent socially in Ventura county, and many relatives and friends attended the ceremony.

The Comus Club gave a dance Friday night at Knights of Columbus Hall, which was prettily decorated in the club colors, orange and black, for the occasion. Punch and other refreshments were served.

Miss Julia Barr was hostess at a pleasant theater party, the guest of honor being Miss Ethel Eberhart of Santa Barbara, who is visiting Miss Stafford Daniel.

The 75th birthday of Mrs. S. M. Padelford was the occasion of a family reunion at the family home near Fillmore. Arranged by her sons and daughters in the county, the pleasant affair was a complete surprise. Two daughters, two sons, seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren and other relatives, were present. One grand-daughter was the only member of the immediate family absent.

The Oxnard Monday Club held a delightful social meeting this week. Musical selections were artistically rendered by Mrs. G. A. Backus and Mrs. Fred Zorn. Mrs. Bertha Muller gave several dainty readings. Refreshments were served in the banquet-room, where the tables were decorated with flowers.

The Home Beauty Parlor

by Betty Dean

Janet: Stop that falling hair right away, for it irritates the scalp. The constant scratching you speak of may be dangerous. Finger nails often poison the skin. Conquer the dandruff at once with this simple tonic—made by dissolving one ounce of quinzoin in one-half pint of alcohol and adding one-half pint cold water. This is a refreshing treatment—excellent for preventing that irritated scalp. It will not change the natural color, but will heighten it and add life and freshness.

Valase: I do not approve radical measures for beautifying the eyes. Here is a home-made remedy which has done wonders for weak, inflamed or watery eyes. Dissolve an ounce of crystos in a pint of water; put two or three drops in each eye two or three times a day. This will enable you to put off the evil hour of wearing glasses and besides being soothing and restful to the vision will emphasize the expression and give sparkle and charm to the eyes.

Maggie O.: I never recommend talcum powder for the face—nor, indeed, is there any ordinary face powder which will answer all the demands. The only thing I can heartily recommend is spurmax, which I have used on the recommendation of Parisian beauty authorities. It is a liquid beautifier which is, also, a good tonic for the skin, protecting it, while at the same time, it makes you look fair, clear and radiant. Get 4 ounces spurmax from the druggist, mix in one-half pint hot water and add two teaspoonfuls of glycerine. This will give you enough to last a long time, and is the best way to keep the complexion youthful and natural with a soft, velvety bloom. One application is plenty for several hours' time.

Sue L.: I don't blame you for not being enthusiastic about dieting to reduce your flesh. Many doctors say it is dangerous besides being a martyrdom. It may reduce your vitality and the "remedy be worse than the disease." Instead of this radical method try the simple parnotis. This is easily taken, and is sure to bring down your weight without bad effects of any kind. Dissolve 4 ounces parnotis in 1½ pints water. Take a tablespoonful before meals. Don't be afraid of flabby effects on the skin.

Mary L.: I shouldn't call a pimpled skin and red nose "dreadful disfigurements," especially when they are so easily remedied. Try this greaseless cream jelly briskly massaged into the skin: Get one ounce of almozoin at your druggist's and stir it into a half-pint of cold water, adding two teaspoonfuls of glycerine. I will be glad to hear how this helps you. Others are constantly writing me in praise of this wonderful remedy, almozoin, which is fine to prevent wrinkles, flabbiness, sallowness and all skin troubles.

Blonde: I cannot advise any bleaching process for the hair. The best way to retain the color of your "golden crown" is to keep the scalp healthy and free from dandruff and dirt. Shampoo often, using only canthrox for the lather. A teaspoonful in a cup of hot water is plenty. There is plenty in a package for fifteen shampoos, and it will leave your hair magnificently clean, fluffy and altogether lovely. Try it. Use no soap. If the scalp trouble continues use quinzoin, for which see answer to Janet.

Miss L. Smith: If looking in your mirror discourages you lately, it does not prove that you are permanently losing your good looks. The probabilities are that you are only temporarily run down, and I would urge you to try this simple home-made tonic: Dissolve an ounce of kardene in half a pint of alcohol, add one-half cup of sugar and enough hot water to make a full quart. Take a tablespoonful before each meal. It will restore your beauty, and with the new blood and strength it will give you, I prophesy a speedy return to your good looks and fine spirits. For the newest complexion lotion see answer to Maggie O.

SOCIETY.

San Dimas.

THE Claremont and San Dimas auction bridge teams met Tuesday evening at the home of F. H. Harwood here, the San Dimas club again winning out. The club was entertained at dinner prior to the game by Mr. and Mrs. Harwood.

Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Richards of Los Angeles were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ames Sunday and accompanied them on an auto trip to Victorville Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hart entertained the Five Hundred Club Thursday evening. A large number of members were present and prizes were awarded the winners. A course luncheon was served at the card tables after the game.

Mrs. William E. Landon entertained her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lusk of Pasadena, the last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton DeWitt were host and hostess at a dinner Friday evening at their home. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Taylor, Mrs. E. A. Spencer and Miss Mary Huntington of Pasadena.

A number from San Dimas were guests at the at home and card party given by Mrs. A. C. Abbott of Pomona and her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Spurgeon, Jr., of Santa Ana, Tuesday afternoon at the beautiful Abbott home in Pomona, and which affair marked the opening of Pomona's social festivities, 150 invitations being issued. A profusion of greenery adorned the rooms, while baskets of golden sunflower and marigolds, the handles of which were tied with yellow tulle, were hung between the doorways and placed artistically throughout the rooms. At the conclusion of the game a course luncheon was served. Guests from San Dimas and LaVerne were Mesdames E. W. Thomas, R. M. Teague, L. S. Taylor, E. W. Hart, M. H. White, M. W. Bennett, O. S. Young, H. E. Walker, Miss DuBois and Miss Nadine Thomas.

Mrs. Frank McLain was hostess to the Entre Nous Club Tuesday afternoon.

Upland.

MRS. FRED M'MULLEN was hostess to the Swastika Club on Thursday afternoon of this week on Eighth avenue. The afternoon was spent in playing games. Mrs. McMullen was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Lyman Clark. The guests and members present were: Mrs. Charles P. Fuller, Mrs. G. T. Morris, Mrs. C. Whitney Leeson, Mrs. A. J. Hall, Mrs. W. G. Mumper, Mrs. P. H. McQuillen, Mrs. J. M. Webster, Mrs. O. O. Kinkaid, Mrs. Paul Bodenhamer, Mrs. H. B. Harlow, Mrs. C. H. Wimpress, Mrs. Perry Long, Mrs. Willis Mehl, Mrs. Clifford Lamb, Mrs. Arthur Neff, Mrs. M. L. Thompson, Miss Bewer of San Francisco, Miss Teresa McQuillen.

The Woman's Club opened the club year by celebrating Founder's Day, the club having been organized just ten years on the sixth of October. The charter members received special invitations and all old members and the townswomen were guests of the club. The ladies in the receiving line were the president, Mrs. F. H. Manker, Mrs. P. H. McQuillen, Mrs. George Barlow, Mrs. George Cable, Mrs. H. C. Kennedy, and Mrs. William Cline. The members who served tea were Mrs. Julia Lyon, Mrs. N. H. Jeughin, Mrs. Arthur Neff, Mrs. Charence Lydick, Mrs. William Tuttle, Miss Amanda Gerry. A welcoming speech was made by Mrs. Manker, which was followed by a piano solo by Miss Grace Persons. The history of the club was read by Mrs. Cable, followed by a few remarks by the club's first president, Mrs. Ella L. Westland. Vocal solos by Miss Ruth Tubbs and Miss Maude Gerry and an outline of the section work was given by the chairman of civics, Mrs. Lyon; literary, Mrs. Neff, and music.

The event that society has been looking forward to since the announcement of the engagement, was the wedding of Miss Helen Chadwick of this city to Ethelbert Hopkins Gartrell of Kentucky. Miss Chadwick is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Chadwick of Euclid avenue, and is prominent in church and society. The ceremony took place at the Congregational Church Wednesday evening. Miss Florence Kollar of Ontario acted as bridesmaid and Paul Brown of Los Angeles was best man. E. C. Harwood and C. E. Grier were ushers. The church was beautifully decorated in pink carnations, palms and pepper boughs, the decorating having been done by Miss Chadwick's Sunday-school class and her Bible study class. A reception was given at the Chadwick home to the relatives and intimate friends. A lap lunch was served to the guests by Mrs. Chadwick, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Jones, Miss Elma Garbutt, Miss Viola Manker and Miss Pauline Hartley. Mr. and Mrs. Gartrell motored to the Mission Inn at Riverside and from there they will go to San Francisco before going to their home in Kentucky.

Ontario.

A QUIET but pretty wedding was solemnized Wednesday evening in the presence of relatives only at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Francis Garden Blaikie, No. 620 North Euclid avenue, when Miss Katherine Alice Murdoch, daughter of the late James Murdoch, M. D. and granddaughter of the late Rev. Prof. W. Garden Blaikie of Edinburgh, Scotland was united in marriage with John B. Davis of Kelsey, Okla. The wedding was to have been celebrated on October 29, but word from Oklahoma of the critical illness of the mother of the groom hastened matters. The bride was attired in a gown of white satin charmeuse, trimmed with Duchesse lace, the gift of her grandmother. She was unattended. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Jean F. Loba.

Bay City.

A PARTY composed of South Pasadenans enjoyed a very delightful week end at Hotel Bay View. Arriving on Friday, a marshmallow roast and bonfire on the beach was enjoyed the same evening, Saturday motoring and boating on the bay were followed by the dance at the pavilion in the evening. On Sunday the party broke up, after a very happy three days' outing. Those in the party all members of the South Pasadena High School faculty are Mrs. George Bush, George Bush, Superintendent of South Pasadena Schools; Mr. Upjohn, principal of the South Pasadena High School; Mrs. Upjohn, Mrs. Bartlett, Misses Meek, McRae, Bickford, Moore, Hayden, Spaulding, Harris, Dickinson, Wishard, Mrs. MacIntosh, Mr. White, Mr. O'Neal, Miss Coward.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Hedges, with their son, Orris, are occupying their newly-erected bungalow on Electric avenue.

I. A. Lothian was host at a delightful dinner party at Hotel Bay View on Sunday evening. Table decorations were of ferns and lilies, and places were set for ten.

Recent arrivals at Hotel Bay View include Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Holmes, San Francisco; Glenn Owen, Oregon; A. E. Cullen, Charles More, Redondo; I. R. Winiminga, W. L. Munday, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Ira S. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Blinn, Los Angeles; Mrs. George C. Bush, South Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Stanton of San Francisco were over-Sunday visitors last week at the home of Philip Stanton.

An unusual number of members of the Southern California Rod and Reel Club were on the pier Sunday in response to an invitation from Dr. Menken, resident member. Those who enjoyed the day are Robert Campbell, dean of the club; Messrs. Conger, Graham, Harvey, Goldman, Barton, Morse, Roland, Ashdon and Newman. All reported good catches.

A. M. Morse, Lorin Rowland and Miss Ellen Jackson were week-end visitors at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Menken on Sixth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Staples, with their small daughter, have rented the Metcalf house on First street, and will occupy it for the winter.

Mrs. Norma Hasson and Mrs. Morehouse of Los Angeles visited with friends here on Sunday.

Mrs. Harrington Hyde of Imperial, Mrs. H. E. Davis of New York and Miss H. Fritzi Humann of Los Angeles were recent guests of Mrs. Lewis Stanton.

Rialto.

WILLIAM DUNN was the guest of honor at a prettily-appointed family dinner party given by his daughter, Mrs. Harry Brimmer, Thursday evening, last, in celebration of his birthday anniversary. Red carnations embellished the prettily laid table at which places were made for Messrs. and Mmes. Dunn, Porter Brimmer, Mrs. Nora Baines, Miss Clara Wadsworth of Los Angeles, the host and hostess, and sons, Lorne and Burleigh.

Complimentary to the birthday of Miss Freda Gansner of San Bernardino, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood were the host and hostess at a dinner party Sunday at their pretty home on Olive street. All the appointments and decorations of the dining-room and table were in pink and white. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gansner and son, George, of San Bernardino; Mrs. C. W. Mosley and daughter, Evelyn; Attorney and Mrs. Raymond Hodge, and son, Robert.

Four birthdays were jointly celebrated at the family dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Manuel, Sunday. The hostess's own natal day was noted as well as that of her small son, John; daughter, Hazel, and brother, John Sultzbaugh, of Los Angeles. A hugh white birthday cake, with green and red trimmings adorned the long table. Out-of-town guests were Messrs. and Mmes. Will Roggs, John Sultzbaugh and daughter, Frances; Miss Cora Gregg of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Ed Slade entertained the members of the C.W.B.M. of the Church of Christ, at her home on North Riverside avenue, Tuesday afternoon. "China" was the subject for the programme, which was a most interesting one. Mmes. Arthur and Harry Brimmer sang a duet. A dainty luncheon was served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. and Miss Ella Andrews are entertaining Misses Alice and Lucia Day of Worcester, Mass.

Miss Hannah Peterson of Blakesberg, Iowa, is the guest of her cousin, F. A. and Mrs. Juhlin.

W. H. Oliver and family of Needles are guests of W. B. Oliver and daughter, Miss Louise.

Miss Carrie Frew of Topeka, Kan. is the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. W. J. C. Hansen.

Mrs. T. C. McDonald left Thursday for Halstead, Kan., where she will be the guest of her mother, and other relatives for an indefinite visit.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Uts entertained their niece, Mrs. Robert Musing of Glendale, the past week.

Duarte.

MISS EDITH MORGAN of "Oak Terrace" entertained with two very pleasant companies recently.

The first affair was the meeting of the Duarte Reading Circle, when Mrs. Boggs, Mrs. Stephens, Mrs. Clarke and Mrs. Stephens were the guests of honor, and the other guests were from the limited membership of thirty-five ladies.

Readings were presented from "Martha by the Day," by Mrs. C. Henry Sarwine and Mrs. Andrew Ryder, and after the programme, afternoon refreshments were served. The other company was the one of Tuesday afternoon, when the twelve ladies of the Fortnightly Bridge Club were Miss Morgan's guests. Among those invited, were Mrs. Alice Lewis Costello, Mrs. C. H. Sarwine, Mrs. Richard Poor, Mrs. E. S. Huline, Mrs. A. B. Downe, Mrs. Andrew Ryder, Mrs. E. L. Menager, Mrs. Ludie Gerhart Cross, Miss Hammond, Mrs. B. H. Morgan and Miss Marjorie Morgan and Mrs. W. K. Shaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter K. Shaw were the genial host and hostess of the twenty-four members of the Buena Vista Whist Club Thursday evening at their home on Falling Leaf avenue. Lovely floral decorations prevailed and after an informal reception the guests spent the evening in a spirited contest at the card tables.

Mrs. Walter B. Leffler opened her home Friday afternoon for an old-fashioned quilting bee, when the ladies of the Methodist Church were her guests and in congenial circles gathered about the quilting frames. At 4 o'clock a handsomely appointed tea was served and the ladies paused in their work for charity to spend a social half-hour in the dining-room.

Miss Irma Moore was the young hostess of a group of young ladies at a beautifully appointed luncheon given yesterday. Miss Moore's mother, Mrs. Edgar A. Moore, assisted her daughter in entertaining. The table was arranged with lovely fall blossoms and greenery, and cards marked the places for Miss Louise Halsey, Miss Lael Moore, Miss Pauline Munro, Miss Vera Downe, Miss Marguerite Maxwell, Miss Minnie Boyles, Miss Frances Carter, Miss Mattie Rogers and Miss Ethel Moore.

A number of the Daughters of the Empire who reside in Duarte attended the card party and tea given at the Los Angeles Ebell Clubhouse Thursday. Among them were Mrs. Kenneth Carter, Mrs. J. A. Maddock, Mrs. Alexander B. Downe and the Misses Scott.

Mrs. Francis A. Bliss, the superintendent of the Baptist Sunday-school assisted by the teachers, gave a delightful children's party Friday afternoon in Social Hall. After a happy time spent in games and music, ice cream and cake was served.

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Johnson of Chatsworth have been spending the week at "La Felicidad," the country home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Bliss.

Mrs. Lee Strong of San Francisco, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Badgley, has gone to Los Angeles for a brief sojourn before returning to her home.

Alexander B. Downe returned from a year's stay in England last week. Mr. Downe had a delightful time visiting with relatives and friends in the land of his birth.

Azusa.

MRS. O. F. WRIGHT entertained the Embroidery Club Wednesday at a 1 o'clock luncheon. Twenty-two ladies were present. The afternoon was passed in social chat and embroidery work. This was the first meeting of the new year.

The two handsome fountains presented to the city by the W.C.T.U. ladies will be dedicated next Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Julia C. Wright and son, Charles, left Friday in their auto for Santa Barbara, where they will visit a few days.

Mrs. Arthur M. Brown and Mrs. W. A. Jones will entertain with a large tea party Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Brown's mother on Citrus avenue.

The Monday Evening Pastime Club met this week at the home of L. C. Smith.

Mrs. George Fuler entertained a dozen of her classmates at a four-course luncheon Wednesday at her home on Soldano avenue. Those present were Miss Edna Zyl Modie, Prof. Whistler, Mrs. Dom Larronde, Mrs. L. Hitchcock, Mrs. Wallace Bruce Stanford, Mrs. Harry Carey, Mrs. Isabelle Mattern, Mrs. Clarence E. Riley, Mrs. Harry Stoddard, Mrs. George Sisson, Mrs. Albert G. Owens and Miss Sophy Fuhr.

Brawley.

AFTER a pleasant visit of several months at her former home in Harrisonville, Mo., Miss Effie Longnecker has returned to Brawley, where she will spend the winter.

Mrs. Pearl Taylor returned the first of the week from an extensive visit throughout the East. Mrs. Taylor was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Wood and son, of St. Paul, Kan.

Mrs. A. P. Kuffel and Mrs. Ralph Grant have returned from a month's vacation enjoyed at Los Angeles and vicinity.

Mrs. D. E. Morse and Miss Anna Gay returned Cunday from Berkeley, where they spent the past two weeks.

Mrs. Fanny Holles of San Diego arrived in Brawley Friday morning for an extended visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Birkhauser and son returned the first of the week from a visit to Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Palmerlee entertained with a dinner party at their home Thursday evening. Seated with the host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Eaton, Mrs. George Hughes, Misses Luella Hughes, Henderson and Eaton.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Plush have returned from a six weeks' visit to Redondo.

Miss Ora Schindler, whose approaching marriage to Jack Kuns is the motif for several pre-nuptial social events, was the guest of honor at a delightful shower Saturday afternoon, given by Mrs. E. R. Bartlett, at her home on J street. Upon the arrival of the guests Mrs. Bartlett started the guests on a wedding journey, a contest in which the guests were asked to determine the places a bridal couple would be most likely to visit on their wedding trip. Pictures representing various gorgeous places had been posted throughout the rooms and from these the many points of interest were guessed. The special feature of the afternoon's entertainment was a mock wedding. The contracting parties were Miss Schindler, who acted as the bride, and Miss Sinabel Hart, who served as groom. The bridal party entered to the strains of a wedding march played on a mouth organ by Mrs. A. Wilkinson. Miss Grace E. Witter acted as the officiating clergyman, and Miss Anna Gay as ring-bearer. Each participant dressed to represent the part taken in the mock marriage.

The ring was carried on a sofa pillow and pepper tree branches constituted the bride's bouquet. Following the merriment attending the mock marriage, the many packages containing the beautiful presents were presented the bride-to-be, Miss Schindler. Among the guests were Misses Lucy Henderson, Blanche Eaton, Martha Malan, Ada Hurlburt, Effie Longenecker, Anna Gay, Sinabel Hart, Ethel Thornton and Grace Witter; Mmes. F. F. Palmerlee, A. Wilkinson, Morse, Dreascher, Beach, Abbott, Knorr, Humphrey, Hurlburt, Eckert, Jones, J. W. Klaagye, Morgan, Fisher, Foulkes, Taylor, Baker, Harry Staub and J. W. Best, and Mrs. J. C. Pine of El Centro.

El Centro.

THE opening meeting of the Women's Ten Thousand Club of El Centro was held in the banquet-room of the Masonic Temple Thursday afternoon, October 2, and was in the form of a reception to the new officers and executive board. In the receiving line was the past president, Mrs. R. B. Vaile, President Mrs. W. S. Fawcett, Vice-President Mrs. D. V. Noland, Recording Secretary Mrs. F. W. Waite, Corresponding Secretary Mrs. A. P. Nuffer, Treasurer Mrs. C. J. Ritz, and two members of the executive board, Mrs. J. R. Garren and Mrs. R. W. Campbell, also the district president, Lillian Pray Palmer. The members of the Social Committee were the hostesses of the afternoon, and consisted of Mrs. J. A. Robison, Mrs. W. C. Whitescarver, Mrs. J. G. Hamilton, Jr., and Mrs. J. W. Hamilton, assisted by Mrs. C. E. Sprouse, Mrs. Virgil McCoombs, Mrs. W. J. Clements and Miss Anne Ferris. The scheme of the club's colors, green and white, were skillfully adhered to throughout the decorations and refreshments.

The wedding of Mrs. Margaret S. Priest of Seeley and William H. Dickinson of Yuma was held at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Gray, October 5, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The bride is a pioneer of the valley, having come to Imperial in 1900, when there was only three frame buildings in the town and the population of the entire valley could have been counted on one's fingers. The present Mrs. Dickinson, who left immediately for Yuma with her husband, will be missed by a host of friends, as was attested by the sixty present at the nuptial ceremony.

The Christian Endeavorers were the hosts at a "home comers" social in the Christian Church, Friday night, and those returng from their summer outing were given a very enjoyable and informal entertainment. The guests were treated to an impromptu programme, consisting of the following numbers: Piano solo, Miss Miriam Kerr; reading, Miss Lanning; solo, Miss Mary Conley; quartette, Messrs. H. A. Harvout, Percy Thacker, Lynn Freel and Harry Maddox; reading, Mrs. Conley.

Elsinore.

THIS week finds Elsinore clubs and society events in full swing. Among social events was the first meeting of the year of the Aloha Club, held at the home of Misses Pearl and Wavia Macomber on Peck street, almost the entire membership being present and enjoying the afternoon's pleasures. Sherbet and wafers were served. Mrs. Earl Ellis will entertain the club next Saturday afternoon, at the Elsinore Hotel.

Jack R. Stevens of Elsinore and Miss Clara Scotto of Santa Monica were married Sunday afternoon at their bungalow home on Sumner avenue, Rev. Father Burri performing the ceremony. Mr. Stevens is engaged in business here, and with his bride, will reside in the Dingwall bungalow.

Mrs. Fayatee Yates, Jr., entertained a number of ladies at her country home Saturday at a delightful 1 o'clock luncheon. The afternoon was spent in a discussion of Parent-Teacher Programme Committee plans. The guests were Mesdames Southwick, Eddy, Clewett, Williams, Graham, McCoy, and Miss Mabel Yates and Miss Milne.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bohannan, recently married in Los Angeles, have returned from their wedding tour and are residing in Elsinore, where they will make their future home.

Mrs. G. S. Miles will leave next week for Santa Cruz to attend the Grand Chapter of the O.E.S., as delegate from the Elsinore chapter, No. 243, of which she is Matron. Past Matron Mrs. H. H. Niemann, was elected alternate.

Rev. N. J. Burton, pastor of the Elsinore M. E. Church for two years, was returned to Elsinore for another year by the conference.

Pomona.

MRS. A. C. ABBOTT and her daughter, Mrs. William Spurgeon, entertained delightfully at a five hundred and thimble party at the home of the former on East Holt avenue on Tuesday afternoon. The house was attractively decorated and there were over a hundred guests present, some playing cards and others engaging in sewing, and fancy work. Refreshments were served late in the afternoon.

Mrs. Guy Bonham entertained the members of the Ganz Genung Club at her home on Columbia street on Tuesday afternoon.

The M. U. M. Club was entertained by Mrs. George W. Forester at her home on North Park avenue on Monday at a luncheon and thimble party.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bailey, and son, Vardiman, and daughter, Brooksey, and Mrs. N. T. Ware of Eagle Rock were the guests at a barbecue given by Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Berne.

Mrs. G. P. Shanks entertained the following at luncheon Wednesday: Mrs. Raymond Shanks, Mrs. A. A. Messick, Mrs. A. L. King and Mrs. Emerson La Forge.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hawes returned from the Mackinac Islands, where they spent the summer.

Mrs. O. T. Eastman is visiting Mrs. G. W. Harding of Riverside.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Kidson spent Wednesday in Los Angeles.

John Shanks and Miss Grace Shanks of Pomona returned Tuesday after a week's visit with Mrs. G. P. Shanks.

Mrs. Scott Patton and daughter, Pauline, of Coalinga, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Seth Stilson.

Miss Anna Mortensen left Friday for San Francisco, where she will spend two weeks with her brother, A. M. Mortensen.

Rheumatism

A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It.

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case. I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today. Mark H. Jackson, No. 95 Gurney Bldg., Syracuse, New York.

Fresno.

THE many friends of Senator and Mrs. George Cartwright will be glad to learn of the wedding of their charming daughter, Miss Hazel Cartwright, to Theron Walker, a prominent business man of Sacramento. The wedding, which took place in the capital city, was of utmost simplicity, and witnessed by the most intimate friends and relatives of the young couple. Several of the bride's friends having left Fresno last week to attend some of the pre-nuptial gaieties. The ceremony took place under a bower of greenery. The bride's gown was a beautiful Paquin model of white crepe de chine with a short over dress of lace. She carried lily of the valley and maidenhair fern. The couple were unattended. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served, after which the young couple left for a motor trip to San Francisco and the bay points. Mrs. Walker was formerly a Fresno society belle, having moved to the capital several months ago, when her father's business took him to that city.

The members of the Wednesday Afternoon Card Club met for the first time of the autumn season at the home of Mrs. Florence Breed. Auction bridge was the game of the afternoon. Substitute players for the afternoon were Mrs. Herbert Gubdelfinger and Mrs. W. W. Sargent. Dainty trophies were awarded to the winners of the highest scores. The following are the members of the club who enjoyed Mrs. Breed's hospitality: Mesdames Harry Craycroft, W. W. Craycroft, James Gearhart, Maude Elliott, Milton Deraing, W. J. Cleary, Ward Minturn, Arthur Perkins, J. C. Forkner, Florence Breed, Misses Jennie Wilshon, Ethel Shaver, Eugenia Miller and Miss Lillian Dunn.

Mrs. Katherine Edson, the Los Angeles club woman of State-wide reputation, was a visitor in Fresno this last week for the purpose of addressing the State Labor convention at the Wednesday session. Mrs. Edson is stopping at the Hotel Fresno, and if her stay in this city is extended beyond the week, the club friends of the charming woman are planning many pleasures in her honor.

The Leisure Hour Club held its first meeting after the summer intermission last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Smith, on L street. The afternoon was spent in an informal manner, Mrs. W. P. Miller giving a reading from Oliver Shriner dealing with the subject, "Woman." The guests of honor for the afternoon were Mrs. R. B. Cockrill, Mrs. H. C. Warner and Mrs. James Campbell of San Francisco.

Value Comparison
The Test That Tells

If you were satisfied that you could buy your home furnishing needs (however modest they may be) at the "California" for as little money—or even less than you can at so-called "bargain sales"—you would surely prefer to buy at the "California," wouldn't you?

You want home furnishings of worthy quality and distinctive design—and especially so, if the distinction does not add to your cost.

Then we say—in fairness to yourself—before you draw any conclusion—before you allow yourself to be influenced by misleading price reductions come to the "California" and compare for yourself the values offered here with the values offered anywhere else in Los Angeles—under any conditions or circumstances.

We have one price only—and that the very lowest that extensive spot cash buying can make possible. We sell on the closest profit margin that is consistent with safe business—and we say, with a knowledge whereof we speak, that the values we offer in home furnishings are not surpassed by any store in Los Angeles.

Whether your requirements are the modest or the elegant—the inexpensive or the costly—we assert our ability to serve you with true economy and fullest satisfaction.

You are always welcome here to see what is new—and to compare values, whether you desire to buy or not.

Use Fels-Naptha Soap and stop worrying about the weekly washing. It's enough to drive the smiles away from a woman's face to look at the heaps of dirty clothes that she must make sweet and clean every week. There is no work so hard. But there is one way open to her which, if she chooses, will make her work easier than she would believe possible. Fels-Naptha Soap will bring back the smiles. Give a woman a little encouragement and consideration, and you will find that it will be thoroughly appreciated and repaid.

Fels-Naptha Soap gives her encouragement, because it makes her work easy. It takes away the dread of washing and housecleaning and gives her a comfortable sense of confidence that her work will be well done.

Follow the directions on the Red and Green Wrapper.

Anty Drudge Tells Mrs. Justwed How to Be Always Pleasant

Mrs. Justwed—"Oh, I am so unhappy! This morning I was so tired and discouraged with the washing I had to do that I lost my temper and spoke crossly to John. I never would have done it if it hadn't been for that horrid old washing!"

Anty Drudge—"Never mind, child. Never worry over what is done, but make up your mind not to do it again. There is no need for you to lose your temper over your washing. You could have it all done and out on the line before noon, and be ready and bright for John when he comes home to dinner, if you would only use Fels-Naptha Soap. That is the only way to wash, anyhow."

The Azetec picture-language record of their migration from British Isles.

RECORD SHOWING THE BRITISH ORIGIN OF AZTECS.

BY STINSON JARVIS.

BANCROFT derides the many attempts that have been made to identify the American Indians with the lost Biblical Jews, but as the one Druid Church sent out the white colonies, scores of them had customs identical with those of the Hebrews, and these similarities merely tell of that "common cradle of races" that was named by the American Toltecs as their transatlantic birthplace. It is now certain that the descendants of all the white colonists who went to America became red or reddish through centuries of intermarriage with the only available wives, namely, the women of the red races, which belonged to America exclusively. Thus when the records of many reddish tribes say with positiveness that their fathers came from the other side of the Atlantic, it means that they came as white men, because there were no red people in Europe.

But as no priestly story was allowed to openly name the church "Heaven," which was the birthplace of all the colonies, the exactness of its naming was reserved for the picture-language that was understood solely by priests. Thus the pictured migration of the Astecs tells us in sixteen ways that the start was at the British Isles. Bancroft's copy of the map is here reproduced,—the original being in the National Museum of Mexico. Here, the island starting point is in the northeast corner of the chart (where Britain is,) and the line of travel ends in the southeast corner, where Mexico is depicted. The written story says that they came from the northeast, and before leaving were ordered to continue their traveling till they came to the land named by the sign of the Eagle (the Church) bearing the Serpent (Wisdom) in its mouth. This is still the armorial and flag name of Mexico,—showing again that countries had the same creature-names in the remote times.

In explaining this map through the universal picture-language of the church, I follow Bancroft's numbering, and No. 1 is at the Dark Square in the Northeast, where the line of was the regular picture-language name of the concealed Church lands, named through deities as N.IGH.T. or N.I.Te, Neith, N.OC, N.OX, Noche, NU.I.T., NUX and NUCH:—all these (and many more) naming Night: as it was said, "out of the darkness came Light." Our Anglian word D.ARC, or De:Arc, names the God Boat who, as told of the Bible deity, "made darkness his secret place." Accordingly, the picture numbered 1 shows the belted boat-god (our N.) lying in the boat which was his house (CA), called the CA.NO; being also the French "CA.Iche," Turkish CA.IC, Italian "CA.IC.e," as the Anglian "I.TH.HOF" named any boat as the "House of the Island God":—also pictured on our Chinese plates, which show the House in the Boat.

Above him, No. 2 shows the holy mountain, "A," in another boat, which made the Astec name of any boat as "A-Calli," saying, "mountain-house," here depicting the divisions of heaven, with a man at one end, and a woman at the other. She wears the horns of the CU, or Cow, which named our "CU.EN" (Queen,) saying, "Cow Island"—the same Cow Island with which Christ, born in a stable, was always identified. The man is named as a GALL (Celtic for Englishman) by his wearing the head of the cock, or gallus. His large NO.Se names him as one of US (No.S); this being the "Sign of NO," our Biblical father and American deity. The mountain in the boat shows nine segments of a circle, because in arithmetic "N.Ine" is the magical figure and is named on NO in "NOvem" and "NOno." It must be remembered that this form was prepared by priests who had already placed arithmetic, algebra and geometry among the exact sciences, and this "A" mountain which named the A.S.Tecs appears sixteen times in this map.

On this mountain in the boat grows a high tree, which divides into three stems, as Schedius described our Druid Trinity Oak. On the top of this tree (the O C) is the magical singing bird (No. 5) which was imported into America and there called 'V.O.C.'; Latin VOX, Italian VOGEI French V.O.I.X., and V.O.I.C. This AVis, or bird, on the OC tree represents the 'Voice of OG,' (the Church) and the eight streams of music-notes which here proceed from him named the OC-T-AYe, or "OC-God-Song." This 'AV' named our English Avis and all AVes (birds) and also the song, and "D.A.V.I.D.," who Biblically recorded the "Oak Song Island Priests." As the OC-I, or OC-God, made the word for eight as "OC.T" in many languages, so the OCT.AVe means the "Eight-Song," which was taught in America and in the many early choirs, which extended, as Hesiod says, even to the sources of the Niles. The written history says the Asaca were commanded to migrate by the Singing Bird, (the Church,) and this AVis, or VOGel, or CUCUL, names the church of the CUCUL.GAN, or cuckoo-song, which named its great teacher in America, "CUCULCAN." The imported bird called V.OC, which here issues the eight streams of music-notes therefore names Britain as the VOC.AL land. Among the records from Techihuacan, and now in the Los Angeles collection, is a musical instrument marked with English letters on its stem, as V.O.C. It is a heavy affair of baked brick, shaped like a soup-tureen, and I noticed (for the first time in ages) that around its black bowl it has a number of OC.T.AVes pictured with the letters O.C.; as on a piano. As these letters named our OC god, I examined it more closely and found eight slits on each side of the rim. Each slit leads to a whistle. The notes are very soft, like the cuckoo's, and graduated, though not true to the whole octave. Water was probably used in the whistles, to produce by 'magic' the warbling of the heavenly bird. That its name, as V.O.C., is shown in white letters on this oldest of musical instruments proves the use of our English letters in prehistoric America, and the handles of the bowl are made to show priests enveloped in the Lizard, or, IG, which was the regular way of recording that these were priests of the island (Anglian, IG) god. This wonderful proof of the existence of the Church of England in America is so little understood by the officials who have it in charge that both it and the priceless records of the Atlan empire, pictured and described in my Chapter XI, are not even kept in a fireproof building.

The starting-point in this Astec map of migration is also named by the form numbered 3, which is the Astec picture-name of TEM or Time. As Britain was always the time island and named in Egypt by the time deity TEM ("the father of the gods," whose name was the British word for Time,) so England is here named by the Astec picture-name for time. This is the "Bound Sheaf of Grasses," which represented the ceremony called "The Binding of the Years" at the end of every fifty-two years, as described in my first chapter. This picture shows the grasses yearly cut off, as the Latin seculum, a century, names a part of time cut off; using "Seco," "to cut," and the verbs TEMPo and TEMNo, meaning "to cut off," name the same cutting-off of time. After this binding, the cycle or catun had its own name, so that it could be placed in story or verse, in which all records were kept. This Sheaf is bound by the time-sign rope, and it appears nine times, also naming the Time House (No. 68,) beside which the Cow-horned Virgin gives birth to a man-child. The frequent appearance of the Sheaf is supposed to show the cycles or catuns during which the migration continued; but with many stopping-places on the way. The Astec records agree with those of the Tsendal and Quichi in placing the "division of the earth by the Sun-god" in B.C. 955, this being counted back by the Astec priests as 2513 years before A.D. 1558 (5 Bancroft, 193,4.) The Bible puts this "division of the earth" at B.C. 2247, but the point is that at this remote time the Astecs were then keeping their national time records, and were, therefore, a people of much greater antiquity than is generally supposed. By using a 20-year catun or cycle, some Christian students date the start of the migration in the first two centuries of our era, but if the Astec 52-year cycle were used, the same additions would date their start somewhere about B.C. 2500.

The starting-point is also named by the picture of the CA-P on the northeast corner of the Square (No. 4.) The same CAP is worn by the goddess who sits on the globe world in the Palenke carving (the finest in America,) shown in 4 Banc 329. It is still called the Liberty Cap, and was made to indicate the sacred hook on top. This CA.P says, "House, The" and names the Sun "House," from which all colonies issued. Thus CA.P makes endless words for "head," such as the Celtic capat, Latin caput, capitan, Cape, Capa, and named the Peruvian "Capa Inca," which locally meant the "Head Inca." In Egypt it named the storied builder of the Great Pyramid as CAP-RA, who is illustrated as a man wearing a CAP made of a Hawk (RA.) As usual, this "CAP.RA" meant the same in both word and picture, naming the Hawk Druid priesthood as the "head" that built the pyramid. His Greek name, as KEPHren, also named him as the "head," because the name of the Cross as KE or CE covered the world with words for "head," which as KE.P and KE.Ph, say, "Cross, The," as in our "Che.F" and Chi.Ef and the Greek "KE.PH.Al.os," which names the "head" because it says, "Cross, The, ALL," naming the Celtic ALLA whose name means ALL. The same KEPALos is the KERALe of the Malays and Java and Sumatra; and our Cephalous. The same KE.PH named any headgear, Keithe Arab KEPHia, and anyone can understand how the form-names of the cross deity made worldwide words Because there was only which was the church and identified with the cross, and ords here collected show Druids lingualized the world, the correctness of the 19th "There is no speech nor where their voice is not heard. line has gone out through all the earth, and their words to the end of the world. The testimony of the is sure." Because this make of on the names of deity is the ape scribe Matthew says words shall not pass away," is equally certain that these tions of the words shall not away. They are not mine, but the explanations prepared words themselves, so that the of those who said they made alphabet and words should nothing to do with belief, but known by all educated men part of the most undeniable

In this Astec map, the starting point, England, is therefore named in many ways—by showing it to be Time or Tem island; the Vocalism (the Greek "Poly-hymnia," or, "Many Hymn Country,") the God's Island; the CAP, or Chief Island; the O. C. Island; GALL'S island, the Cow Queen's and; the island of the NO.Se the "A," or Alim, or Mountain as the Welsh record stories England with the magician priest was a Mountain. To name England the Homeric way by showing her titude of boats, the waters of the and are filled with snakes; missionary and sungod boat was the "snake-boat;"—the Anglian "Snac" naming both a boat and a snake; while the word ES, boat, is the name of our alphabet snake;—the "S."

In accordance with the written tory, we here see the divine VOC the top of the Oak telling the to migrate; and, with fifteen they depart on the line of whole twenty-five wearing the because the Belt or Balt as people of our BEL, the Celtic Only the captains or chiefs are trated—named as such because all wear the Cape, or Capa, of the Capitan—the use of clothes in picturings being solely for Fifteen of these priests wear the of their own respective their heads, and those who are numbered as 70 and 71 wear the High which still appears at the top of dian totem-poles, and also worn by Jewish priests. The Ass's head (Nos. 71 and 72) is easy to understand because the Celtic "ASAL" Wild,) the Latin ASINus, and Anglian AESOL, (Church, Soul the Ass which was the divine name of the patient, all-Church. This Ass's head is shown the wands of the Egyptian deities Dr. Budge rightly says: "The Ass the form of the sungod." I shown that the ass is still present our composite Unicorn, which is tified biblically with the Hebrew and that it was on this name of church that Christ made his language entry. The Ass head by the AS.Tecs proves that they from the east side of the ocean, cause until the arrival of the Spaniards the Ass and the Horse were known in America. Therefore the Astecs could not have produced picture of the Ass unless they brought it with them.

When the general line of travel ends in Mexico; namely, in the southeast portion of the map, we find the figures upside down, as they would appear in a reflection; the intention evidently being to illustrate that Mexico reflected Heaven. Because here we see the seven immortal Pelele-Das, or gods, on their knees beside the Cross (No. 75;) also the VIR-GIN in the Egyptian way is pictured as giving birth to the Man-Child of story and every story, as VIR-GIN means "Man-GENerator," and Palenke carvings and many others of all America show this one mother of all the man-gods to be carrying the divine babe in her arms. We also here see the double House of God, as plained in the Welsh stories England and Ireland. Here, priests bring tribute in Throned King who is named GALL by his wearing the head of the Gall.us, or Cock. The Cross tic KEus) came from the "Heaven People," who are named it. This cross with the names the god as "O.C." or "Cr

Cross;" and was the name of the oak and OCean deity, which was enlarged in the Latin "OCe.AN.us" and the Greek "OKe.AN.us," which simply decline our word "O.Ce.An," that named the "Circle Cross God," who is pictured by the circle cross in this Astec map. The other name of the cross was EC., which makes the alphabet name of the "X" as "EC.S," saying, "Cross Sign;" which it is. Thus all peoples called T-ec, like the A.S.-Tecs, Mass-Tecs and German Tecks are "People of EC,' or "People of the Cross," and consequently the Greek "TEKos" is one of the greatest words for "Children," and named the Tol-Tecs, As.Tecs, and perhaps forty other American peoples, because they were all "children."

These "A"-Sign TECs, or A.S.Tecs, came from the storied "A.S.-Tian," which means "A"-Sign Place. Bancroft says that "Most, if not all, these American migrations have one starting point, a place of seven caves, called Astlan." The CA.Ve. was an early picture of the church-house (CA.) and the seven caves name the seven houses of the church, as named in the Pleiades. Our "A," meaning "mountain" and "first," named many first peoples whose god was a mountain. It named his place as "A.S.Tian" and the A.S.Tecs, the Assin (Chinese,) and "A.S.UR," the father god of the Asur people. Thus the Assurian Sennacherib worships the mountain called "A.S.UR" (Mountain Sign Heaven.) In the Astec records, this original "A.S.Tian" is described as a place so pleasant that no one would leave it except under compulsion. The combined heaven and hell of the As-tecs, called "MIC.T.LAN," was understood to be on the easterly side of the Atlantic, and in the North. It had two divisions, the Woman land and the Man land. The souls of the dead women went exclusively to the Woman land, which was especially described as the western division of heaven, called the "Woman House." This is the House of the First Woman called "E," which means Eve, and also names any woman, and also her land as E.RI.N (Eve, Queen of heaven) and also makes words for West, as the other reading ER-IN means "West Island." In this west division of heaven the female souls would spin, weave and have female occupations; but there was to be "no marriage in heaven," because the male souls went exclusively to the eastern division, England, where there was great hunting. This heaven of the males was described as having "shady groves, trees loaded with luscious fruits, flowers steeped in HONEY, and vast hunting parks." This England had the Champs Elysees and Happy Hunting Grounds of all priestly story. Thus Albin and Erin were always identified with the Man and the Woman, and these two Astec parts of the divine "House" were again pictured in Peru in the first city of the Incas, which had a Man side and a Woman side; a river being led in between the two, to picture the home heaven.

The Astec name of their combined Heaven and Hell was MIC.TLAN, which means the "Place of MIC," and names our MIC.EL, the biblical Irish archangel. The Astec word "T.Lan," meaning Place and Land, used the Celtic "Lan," meaning "land," but T.Lan really said God-Land. We put the god-word at the other end, as LAN-D, which says, "Land of the Oak" or God (D.) The words M.IC in "MICTlan" name the "Parent Cure" priesthood always identified with brilliance and Light-bearing and named by the Celtic Lampa, the torch and lamp; and consequently the verb "MICo" means "to corruscate." Our radiant MIC.EL is the "Corruscating EL," or Light, and as he was pictured by the early Christian priests as weighing the souls of the dead, so he was also the Astec "Lord of Hell," or "Mictlan Tecutli;" and was named on his sickle (the "C,") as "Ce MIC.-T.TELL." Our sickle and death Reaper was also the Egyptian Ce-RE.s (Sickle Time Sign,) and all these are named by the sickle Moon, the Astec "MET.S.LI." (Measure, Sign Light, Island.)

As the church deity always named the North, so the Astec word for "North" was "MIC.T.LAMPA," naming our Irish MIC as the person, or head of the torch, this Celtic LAMPA being a class name, both in word and in picture; and in the catacombs the graves of these god-priests who "never died," are still marked by a carving of a Lamp. This remote death deity, MIC, of Ireland and America, was continued in our Christianity as Saint MIC-EL—as holy AN.DRU (First Oak,) still represents Scotland, and Saint David of Wales is still the same D.AV.I.D. of the Welsh and Biblical SALM who immortalized the "Oak Song," "Island Priests;" and our Saint Ge.Orge is the letter "G," meaning "Garden," which named G.O.D, the one garden deity of the Druids and of Genesis. Because the important record-names of the Druid church were continued in our Christianity, we see with certainty that the early Christian prelates fully understood that these were part of the ancient church history. Even the Latin Saturn became our "Saint Saturninus," and this record Time god named TUR and the TURN, and also called CRON (the Celtic word for Time,) had his sanctity continued among the poor ignorant Christians. Thus the Bible, always historical, tells us about Ireland's troubles in the "Revelations," which were written after the Danes invaded Erin in our first century, saying that "there was war in heaven, Micel and his angels fighting against the dragon." But even after the Danes of the dragon-ship boats were cast out they "greatly persecuted the woman that brought forth the Man-child." All of which is true Irish history, having nothing whatever about it, but simply to be enjoyed by the educated people of a future time when they would see how cleverly the ancient priests put history in all records which would be treasured as "sacred" by the ignorant. This remote MIC.TLAN. had its repetition in Mexico, and the American city of MIC.TLAN was a great religious centre and shrine for pilgrimage; the story of the Astec religion being the most nauseating mixture of torture, blood, filth and sanctity that ever found its way into modern print. Through many centuries of local intermarriage the priests themselves acquired the cruelty of the native red savage, and although the distant home church could not be blamed for the awful excesses which followed, it must be admitted that this local priesthood merely exaggerated the more peaceful ideas of the original church. Thus, while all the world was taught to become more divine by eating the body of the Deity, both in bread and the meats of the divine bull, the Astec priests went further and compelled men and women to act the part of deity until they were sacrificed and eaten. Religious cannibalism was compulsory, and to feed the gods, and incidentally themselves, the priests slaughtered from 20,000 to 50,000 persons annually, one feast at the opening of a temple requiring 70,000. By devising tortures to keep the people excited about religion the cruelty of these eloquently prayerful Astec priests outdistanced the fabled devils of hell, and the Inca de la Vega explains that the heads of the American were attened to make them

It had [illegible] divisions, the Woman land and [illegible] Man land. The souls of the dead [illegible] women went exclusively to the [illegible] land, which was especially [illegible] as the western division of [illegible], called the "Woman House." [illegible] the House of the First Wom[illegible] called "E," which means Eve, and [illegible] names any woman, and also her [illegible] E.RI.N (Eve, Queen of heaven) [illegible] makes words for West, as in [illegible] reading ER-IN means "West [illegible]." In this west division of [illegible] the female souls would spin, [illegible] and have female occupations; [illegible] there was to be "no marriage in [illegible]," because the male souls went [illegible] to the eastern division, [illegible], where there was great [illegible]. This heaven of the males [illegible] described as having "shady [illegible] trees loaded with luscious [illegible] flowers steeped in HONEY, and [illegible] hunting parks." This England had [illegible] Champs Elysees and Happy Hunt[illegible] grounds of all priestly story. Thus [illegible] and Erin were always identified [illegible] the Man and the Woman, and [illegible] two Astec parts of the divine [illegible] were again pictured in Peru, [illegible] the first city of the Incas, which [illegible] a Man side and a Woman side; a [illegible] being led in between the two, to [illegible] the home heaven.

The Astec name of their combined [illegible] and Hell was MIC.TLAN, [illegible] means the "Place of MIC," and [illegible] our MIC.EL, the biblical Irish [illegible]. The Astec word "T.Lan," [illegible] Place and Land, used the [illegible] "Lan," meaning "land," but [illegible] really said God-Land. We put [illegible]-word at the other end, as [illegible], which says, "Land of the [illegible] or God (D.) The words M.IC in [illegible]" name the "Parent Cure" [illegible] always identified with brilliant and Light-bearing and named [illegible] Celtic Lampa, the torch and [illegible] consequently the verb [illegible] means 'to corruscate.' Our [illegible] MIC.EL is the "Corruscating [illegible] of Light, and as he was pictured by the early Christian priests [illegible] weighing the souls of the dead, so [illegible] also the Astec "Lord of Hell," [illegible] Tecutli;" and was named [illegible] sickle (the "C,") as "Ce MIC.-[illegible]." Our sickle and death Reap[illegible] the Egyptian Ce-RE.s, [illegible] Time Sign,) and all these are [illegible] by the sickle Moon, the Astec [illegible]" (Measure, Sign Light, [illegible]

[illegible] the church deity always named [illegible], so the Astec word for [illegible] was "MIC.T.LAMPA," naming [illegible] Irish MIC as the person, or [illegible] the torch, this Celtic LAMPA [illegible] a dual name, both in word and [illegible]; and in the catacombs the [illegible] of these god-priests who [illegible] died, are still marked by a [illegible] of a Lamp. This remote death [illegible] MIC, of Ireland and America, [illegible] continued in our Christianity as [illegible] MIC-EL—as holy AN.DRU [illegible] (Oak,) still represents Scotland, [illegible] David of Wales is still the DAVID. of the Welsh and Bib[illegible] BALM who immortalized the [illegible] "Island Priests;" and [illegible] Ge.Orge is the letter "G," [illegible] "Garden," which named [illegible] the one garden deity of the [illegible] of Genesis. Because the [illegible] record-names of the Druid [illegible] were continued in our Christian [illegible] we see with certainty that the Christian prelates fully understood that these were part of the [illegible] church history. Even the [illegible] Saturn became our "Saint [illegible]," and this record Time [illegible] TUR and the TURN, and [illegible] CRON (the Celtic word [illegible]) had his sanctity continued [illegible] the poor ignorant Christians. [illegible] the Bible, always historical, [illegible] about Ireland's troubles in the [illegible]" which were written [illegible] the Danes invaded Erin in our [illegible], saying that "there was [illegible] heaven, Micel and his angels [illegible] against the dragon." But [illegible] the Danes of the dragon-[illegible] were cast out they "great[illegible] the woman that brought [illegible] the Man-child." All of which is [illegible] history, having nothing [illegible] about it, but simply to be en[illegible] by the educated people of a future when they would see how [illegible] ancient priests put history [illegible] words which would be treas[illegible] as "sacred" by the ignorant. [illegible] MIC.TLAN, had its re[illegible] Mexico, and the American [illegible] MIC.TLAN was a great re[illegible] and shrine for pilgrim[illegible] story of the Astec religion [illegible] most astounding mixture of [illegible], filth and sanctity that [illegible] in modern print. Through [illegible] of local intermarriage [illegible] themselves acquired the [illegible] of the native red savage, and [illegible] the distant home church [illegible] be blamed for the awful [illegible] which followed, it must be [illegible] that this local priesthood [illegible] the more peace[illegible] of the original church. Thus, [illegible] the world was taught to be[illegible] divine by eating the body [illegible], both in bread and the [illegible] of the divine bull, the Astec [illegible] further and compelled [illegible] to act the part of [illegible] they were sacrificed and [illegible] cannibalism was [illegible] and to feed the gods, and [illegible] themselves, the priests [illegible] from 20,000 to 80,000 [illegible] one feast at the [illegible] temple requiring 70,000. [illegible] to keep the peo[illegible] religion the cruelty [illegible] prayerful Astec [illegible] the fabled devils of [illegible] de la Vega ex[illegible] of the American [illegible] to make them grow up stupid and obedient. Everything was demanded and taken by those who personated God, and in Nicaragua a man was not entitled to have his bride to himself. She first went to the priest. Yet here the Pontiff carried our own Episcopal cross as his sign of office, and he wore the Mitre of our early church. No matter how degraded the local religion became we cannot refuse to face the fact that it was a branch of our own Druid Church; and it was almost as bad in Carthage, Assyria and Tyre; the one aim of these branch priesthoods being to absolutely dominate the people, to keep them ignorant, and to fill them with terrors about the future which made them wholly dependent on the mediation of the priest.

As in Druid Ireland, this Mexican pontiff was God, and anyone touching him was expected to fall dead. His Tiotal (Celtic for Title) was TEOTI, as the Irish sungod was TIOTAN;—all these words being of the same make. The American word for 'god' as "TE.O" is the same as T.-O., both naming the "God Ball," and the Latin and Hindu "DE.O" and the Greek THE.O say the same;—"God Ball." The longer "TE.O.T" and "TE.O.TE" show the separate sounding of the one-letter words; being the same as our I.-O.-T. in the word TOT.AL and the Latin TOTus, meaning ALL. The whole of these name the Sun, or Ball-god, who proceeded by rolling. This is the Celtic god BAL, which means a Ball, named in the Gaelic as BOL, which is the American Maya verb "to Roll." The rolling toy still called the "Te-TOTum" is now being dug out in great numbers in Peru, and in the British Museum these appear as baked clay Balls painted as a man and having the priest's head on top. Our children's spinning T.O.P. names the spinning Sun as TexO-Pe, (God Ball, The,) and the same word TOP naturally names the Highest. Naming of deity was solely on picture and natural fact, so that every I.Dol is as much entitled to be named by a capital letter as any name of deity, because they all record the "I," or I-Lan-D, which was the Church. Thus in its primal meaning, all I. Story or, hI. Story, is Story of the "I," the Welsh word for "history" being "I. STORI," and was made to decline in the Greek "ISTORIa;" and I have frequently explained that all history of early peoples was told in stories of what deities did. There was only one D-I-T, or De-I-Te, the "God Island Cross," or, "Oak Island Cross," who was the Church and God in one and every Image and I-DOL pictured and named the "I" who was then I-Lan-D, or 'I'-Land God. Our word 'doll,' meaning an image, is used in I-DOL and the Greek IDOLon, and most of the images were dolls of stone or wood, and were recognized by the church because they named the church;—like those red images of the pugmy, or pygmy, or 'fighter,' BE, which all our sailors carried on the bows of their ships, and were called, as Herodotus says, the PATA-IC, which named the 'Father Cure' as also recorded in PATR.IC. It was only in later times that the church forbade these useful aids to savage belief and in the Bible derided their efficacy as gods. The "Pe.NA.TES," (the offspring gods) were in every household, and in Egypt the images of our father, Be, (Life,) were kept in the lying-in rooms, "to give Life and Vitality to the offspring."

The reddish descendants of our early white colonists on the Isthmus of Darien still have British names for their numbers. These are given in Wafer's "New Voyages," p. 185, and also in Bancroft. The Darien "3" is "Tree;" our Three; Irish TRI; Gaelic TRI; in Java TRI; Hindu, TRI. The Darien "5" is written as COOIG, the Gaelic CUIG and COIG. Our T.EN (God Island) is fully named by our alphabetic X, called EC.S, or "Cross Sign," and thus the Greek "10" is "D.E.Ca," and the French is "D.I.X." (God Island Cross,) pronounced as DEN, which is the Darien word for Ten. Their "Two" repeats the Celtic "D.I." which means Two because it says, "God" "I:"—the Island god or Church being Double and making all words for Two, such as the Hindu and Javan "D.U.I." the Latin DUO, etc. The Darien "One" is given as HEAN; probably an aspiration of our Angelian EAN or AEN, meaning "One." The Darien "Four" is given as "Oaher," the Hindu Ohar; the French Quar. T. (pronounced CAR.) enlarged in the Latin QUAR.T.us, which names the Fourth of anything, as in our Quar.t. All these names the Sun as the CAR.T., or Car-God, whose Carr.I.Age, (Carr Island Going,) had Four Wheels and Four HOR.S.es (Hour Signs.) This QUAR also named anything square or four-sided, as our word S.QUAR says, Sign Four. Thus when our primitive English diety called "Modur Latona," or Mother Latona, was introduced into Egypt she was pictured in her form-name as a square or cube. This geometric Square of the record rock measured sixty feet on each side, or 240 feet along four sides, said to be the largest block ever moved and in three years it was brought 600 miles down the Nile to her oracle-temple in the Delta. For my uses, the point is that this Latona, always recorded as the mother of the Greek and Egyptian Apollo and Diana and the Egyptian HORus, was our own English deity, (see Bosworth,) showing beyond denial that the greatest of the Old World deities came out of England. Therefore if any man says he cannot understand the origin of the deities in England, it must be because he prefers to remain among the ignorant. The Greeks personified Night (the veiled Egyptian Neith) by carving our Latona as veiled. In paintings, this veil, the "Velum NOCtis," was always black, and as she named Night and was pictured as a square, we see why the dark square appears as the starting-place in this map of the Astec migration. The reader will now appreciate that the purchase of a library on American antiquities could do nothing to assist a man to pose as an authority concerning them, because the explanations of them belong exclusively to the other side of the Atlantic.

When the Darien names of the numbers are found to be unmistakably British, we can understand why so many American peoples recorded by Bancroft had British names; such as the CELTALE, the PARIS, the POPOLA (Celtic, POPUL, 'people') the Ke. Chi (Coss People,) the KEL. Eni (Heaven Islanders,) and the Gauls or GALLs—the biblical GAL-Lim, named by the Celtic word GALL (Englishman.) In the many translations of the Lord's Prayer made by the Christian missionaries to the American tribes and now printed by Bancroft, the reader will find words for father, bread, deity, our, kingdom, holy, etc., which are Celtic, Welsh, Gaelic, Anglian, and sometimes French and Spanish. But in other respects the wordings often seem wholly savage in their origin. This accords with the history that the early robed god-men did not seek to change existing languages, except to command the use of certain words for certain things. Thus the California "Tulare" were found to name the Father as DIOS, and the "Sa.Hu.Ari.Pa" could only say "Our Father" by calling him a mother—as their "Diosch Ini Mam," says "God-island mother;" and uses the Celtic MAM, which names the MAMelle, or Teat, and the Mother. The Taras-Cone, or fire cone, people, who owned most of Spain, were also in America, and have the same word "Santo" as meaning "holy." Both name the "Kingdom" as "REINO;" because RE-IN says "King Island" and "Time Island," and named England, as it was also named by carvings of the REINdeer. These American Cone people show their deity with the Fire Conelon her head (4 Banc., 462.) and the same form of Cove crowned every Irish Round Tower. The American Jova and HOVA people (who name our Jove and Jehova,) say, "Dios Noicsa," and like many others, make the word for 'Our' on our NO, who named Notre, Nos, Noster, Nous and the American "Noots," (Our.) The northern Chinook (Chi Nux, "People of Night,") name God by naming the priest who personated deity, calling him PAPA;—the Celtic PAPA and POPA naming the priest father and POPE who was supposed to be God and was afterward the head of our Christian Church at Rome. All Mexican priests were PAPA, and the Celtic "PAPANTA," meaning "papal," named the American religious center called PAPAN.TLA, or "Papal Place." Its cut stone pyramid is a wonder in the way of picture-language. As shown in 4 Banc. 452, it has dummy windows which lighted nothing, but simply pictured the deity who gives light to interiors, so that this mountain (god) would be named as the Light-river. The windows, variously counted, are numbered by Fossey at 360, and they evidently represent the days of the year, the five nameless days not being considered. All other American days were named on some record hero, but these five nameless days were called "NENON TEMI," meaning "nobody's times"—this exactly reproducing our old Anglian "NE MON TEMI," which said "no-man times," and made the later Latin "NEMONis TEMpori,"—the "times of nobody."

Wholly apart from thep ictures, the British origin of the Astecs and five other American nations is told in the fable history with certainty. The Astecs were all acquainted with this divine story, in the same blind way that we knew the parents of Christ in the story of MAR.I and the Homeric carpenter. This is the Radiant Story, or TAL.IESIN, identified by the Welsh with all Biblical events and the teaching of the world. (See 5 Banc., 223.) An old man called MIX-Cohuatl, who lived in the Place of Seven Caves, had by his wife, called "I-LAN-Cueitl," six sons, among which was TE-NUCH, who was the "father of all the Astecs." In the Welsh record-stories here quoted, the regular method of naming ancient England is by using this pictorial Old Man with "hairs white like wool"—the one Ancient of Daniel, Homer and Revelations, whose hair is likened to the fleecy cloud and to S.NO. In Astec words, his name as MIX-Cohuatl, means the CLOUD-Serpent (2 Banc. 542.) In the same way, St. Paul tells all the "Nubi-Geni" or "Cloud-Born peoples," that they came originally from the land of the Cloud (England.) Here, the wife, "I-Lan-Cueitl," is the story mother of all—being the imported baptismal Venus, was known to all Mexicans and people of Yucatan as the Petticoat Goddess. She is much pictured in the carvings at Palenkelas wearing her naming KIL.T. The Astec name of this record Petticoat is "CU.E.I.T.L." (2 Banc. 368)—in which the word-letters name "CU-pris" (Venus,) saying, "Love Woman, Island Diety Light."

The name of her son, TE-NUCH (the record father of the Astecs) is TE-NUX, or "Person of the Night"—the picture-language for NUX, or Night, being the Dark Square shown in the above map as the starting place. His five brothers may be studied in the works of Bancroft, who shows with certainty that these cure on a new principle. Put it on any corn in two seconds; it stops pain, the corn begins to shrivel and disappears. It never fails. Simplest thing you ever saw. No fussy bandages, no greasy salves to turn healthy flesh "peely" and raw, no plasters that make corns bulge out. Your corns won't "pull" and hurt way up to your heart. Lay aside your knife and razor. No more digging and tugging and wincing, no more bleeding, no more danger of blood poison. "GETS-IT" never hurts healthy flesh; it is safe, painless, quick, simple, sure. For warts, calluses and bunions, too.

Praises This Remedy for Lung Trouble

Many people are led to believe that Lung Trouble is a disease which cannot be conquered. This is wrong, as many have fully recovered their health. A change of climate has helped some, but many more have been restored to health by breathing the freshest air, eating well cooked wholesome food, being temperate in their habits and adding the tonic qualities of Eckman's Alterative, a medicine for Throat and Lung Troubles. Investigate this case:—

Bowling Green, Ky., R. No. 4.

"Gentlemen: The spring of 1908 I had a severe cough for six months. I tried all the medicine that my doctors recommended to me, but no results came for the better. I had night sweats, and would cough and spit until I got so weak I could hardly do anything. But, at last, James Deering, of Glasgow Junction, insisted that I try your medicine. In one week's time there was quite an improvement in my condition, and after I had taken several bottles I felt as well as ever in my life. I firmly believe that Eckman's Alterative will relieve any case of lung trouble if taken before the last stage."

(Affidavit) A. C. BETTERSWORTH.

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Sold by The Owl Drug Co. and leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling

Introducing—
Mr. F. C. Besch
Manager of our Drapery and Decorative Department.

Mr. Besch was formerly connected with one of the leading houses in St. Louis and in Pittsburg, and has had a very wide eastern and western experience. During the past five years he has been with Pease Brothers, making frequent eastern trips to keep in close touch with the principal markets and with the newest ideas and decorative methods. He is known all over the country for his many novel designs and original productions and will be glad to consult with you about your decorative problems.

The photograph also illustrates a decorative scheme in boudoir or bed room showing seat effect between two windows. Ruffled grenadine curtains extend across the entire window, looped, making a very effective drapery. Valance and side hangings are of English chintz in the same pattern used for seat covering. The small border on the wall is cut from cretonne and applied on chambrey effect grey colored paper. The combination is very pleasing.

We will be glad to have you step in at your convenience and inspect our comprehensive stocks of decorative materials and our many novel methods of displaying them.

100,000 Copies of Remarkable Book Describing Peculiar Psychic Powers to Be Distributed Post Free to Readers of "The Los Angeles Times."

"The wonderful power of Personal Influence, Magnetism, Fascination, Mind Control, call it what you will, can surely be acquired by everyone no matter how unattractive or unsuccessful," says Mr. Elmer Ellsworth Knowles, author of the new book entitled: "The Key to the Development of the Inner Forces." The book lays bare many astounding facts concerning the practices of the Eastern Yogis, and describes a simple though effective system of controlling the thoughts and acts of others; how one may gain the love and friendship of those who might otherwise remain indifferent; how to quickly and accurately judge the character and disposition of an individual; how to cure the most obstinate diseases and habits without drugs or medicines; even the complex subject of projecting thoughts (telepathy) is explained. Miss Josephine Davis, the popular stage favorite, whose portrait appears above, declares that Prof. Knowles's book opens the door to success, health and happiness to every mortal, no matter what his or her position in life. She believes that Prof. Knowles has discovered principles which, if universally adopted, will revolutionize the mental status of the human race.

The book, which is being distributed broadcast free of charge, is full of photographic reproductions showing how these unseen forces are being used all over the world, and how thousands upon thousands have developed powers which they little dreamed they possessed. The free distribution of the 100,000 copies is being conducted by a large London institution, and a copy will be sent post free to anyone interested. No money need be sent, but those who wish to do so may enclose 5 cents (stamps of your own country) to cover postage, etc. All requests for the free book should be addressed to National Institute of Sciences, Free Distribution Dept. 567-D, No. 258, Westminster Bridge Road, London, S.E., England. Simply say that you would like a copy of "The Key to the Development of the Inner Forces," and mention The Los Angeles Times.

Do not enclose coins in your letter. Postage to England two cents.

Origin of Aztecs.

were the fathers of five other American nations and the patnogiylics were continued in names of kings, cities and places till the Spaniards arrived. The remote island, mother of all, "I-Lan-Cueitl," also named wives of kings who lived in quite modern times. When this I-lan Petticoat Woman and the aged Cloud man are named as the record parents of the six sons and nations the ordinary reader can see by comparison that the priestly stories of all countries contain the Church records of descent in the manufactured names. But for those who are capable of learning anything through comparison of records I quote the straight story of the light-colored Tul-Tecs or Tol-Tecs, who say with no possible ambiguity that they came originally from the other side of the Atlantic. These people ruled Mexico before they were displaced by the Astecs, and they were a quiet, artistic race, whose American capital was called TULA, or TULAN. This TULA is the Celtic word for the sacred built Hill which named the Cone deity and all the Tula peoples, including those referred to in the Bible. The following sentences are from the ancient Lament, quoted in 5 Banc. 182, 3:

"Alas, we were ruined in Tulan, we were separated, and our brothers still remain behind. Truly T.O.HIL (God Ball, HILL,) is the god of the Yaqui nation, who was called Quetsal-Coatl when we parted yonder in Tulan. Behold whence we set out together, behold the common cradle of our race, whence we have come, from the direction of the rising sun. These are four Tulans, and it is where the sun sets that we came to (this) Tulan, from the other side of the sea, where this (other) Tulan is; and it is there that we were conceived and begotten by our mothers and our fathers."

James Louis Murphy, deputy marshal of the Commerce Court at Washington, has a hard luck story. He was knocked down by a street car, his right foot caught under a wheel, and he was sent to a hospital, where his leg was amputated half way between the knee and the ankle. A little later Murphy's job with the Court of Commerce went to the bad because Congress had refused to appropriate funds to pay salaries and expenses of the court officials. His wages stopped. Right after that Congress took action that assures that sugar will be placed on the free list. Murphy's property is all invested in sugar lands in Louisiana, and he fears the result of the free sugar programme. Nevertheless, he says, just wait until he gets his health and strength back and he will show them that they cannot kill an Irishman.

PURITAS GINGER ALE

—the all year 'round drink

No thirst-quenching beverage is quite so satisfying and delicious as PURITAS GINGER ALE. Stands to reason Puritas Ginger Ale MUST be better, for every ingredient that enters its manufacture is the best and purest money can buy.

First, Puritas Ginger Ale is entirely free from that peppery taste found even in the most expensive imported brands. This is due to the fact that no capsicum, a cheap substitute for ginger, enters into its make-up.

Puritas Ginger Ale is positively superior to any brand sold in this market, imported or otherwise. A trial will prove this.

Puritas Ginger Ale comes in three sizes—quarts, half pints and pints. The quarts cost $2 a dozen, of which 30 cents is allowed on the return of the empty bottles. The pints are $1.20 a dozen with a 20-cent rebate for the empty bottles.

ACTIVE WOMEN.

After serving forty-four years as the keeper of lights on Lake Michigan, Mrs. Daniel Williams will retire after November 1, and with her husband, will live at Charlevoix.

As a memorial to Mrs. La Verne W. Noyes, a leader in women's clubs and social organizations, $300,000 has been given to the University of Chicago for a building to be used as a social center and gymnasium for the women of the university.

More than 12,000 butterflies, all carefully set, arranged and labeled, the collection of her late husband, have been presented to Leeds University by Mrs. A. H. Clarke.

Miss Clara E. Laughlin, the American novelist, says that American women can not conceive of the conditions of the English working women. The shop girls, for instance, lodged by their employers, are herded like sheep and fed the poorest food. The American girls would not tolerate such conditions, she says.

Elizabeth Carpenter Kendall is the editor of the Railway System Employees' Magazine.

Mrs. Caroline K. Sherman will be editor-in-chief of the Democratic Women's Press, a Chicago weekly.

The only woman ever elected a member of the Farmers' National Congress is Mrs. Marshall Holt of San Francisco, Cal. She is a large landholder and has personal charge of all that is done on her ranches.

The New England Women's Club has presented a beautiful bas-relief portrait of Julia Ward Howe, who was its president for forty years, to the Museum of Fine Arts, in Boston.

Last Sunday was the eighty-sixth birthday of Mrs. Sylvia K. White, the pride of Belgrade, in the State of Maine. "She is particularly well known from her connection with various fairs," says a newspaper admirer, "having taken a number of prizes for needlework. One of her exhibits has been a 'biscuit quilt,' containing 700 pieces, which she made after she was 80 years old."

SCIENTISTS, CHURCHMEN.

Rev. Allan Baillie of Eddington, Pa., has withdrawn from the Presbyterian ministry and started an independent church of his own. He says he's going to conduct it along the lines of progressive theology.

Rev. Dr. John T. Creagh, professor of canon law in the Catholic University, has been appointed to a pastorate in Brookline, Mass.

An Austrian Antarctic expedition for work from Weddell Sea, south, is being prepared by a committee headed by Prof. Eugene Oberhummer of Vienna, president of the Imperial Austrian Geographical Society. Dr. F. Koenig, who was a member of the recent German expedition to the Antarctic and had experience in Greenland, is to be the leader.

The Rev. C. Theodore Benze, D.D. the retiring president of Thiel College, has sailed for Germany to assume charge of a professorship at the Kropp Seminary, near Kiel.

Dr. Andrew Walton Sellards of Johns Hopkins University has returned from the wilds of Ecuador and Peru with 80,000,000,000 malignant germs, and will proceed to make a study of the creatures. Among the 80,000,000,000 germs are pellagra, aroya fever, yellow fever, bubonic plague, typhoid fever, a collection known as uta, which is really South American leprosy, and the dreaded blackwater fever. Dr. Sellards's colleagues were Richard P. Strong, Dr. E. E. Tyzzer and Dr. Charles Brues, all of Harvard University, and Miss Nora Dwyer, secretary of the expedition.

Col. Spencer Cosby, corps of engineers, has been relieved of his duties as superintendent of public buildings and grounds in the District of Columbia, and will proceed to Paris for duty as military attache at the United States embassy there.

IN THE LIMELIGHT.

Representative Moore of Pennsylvania, the father of eight children, has introduced in the House a resolution designating the first Sunday in June as Father's Day, with the rose as its emblem.

Col. Dan G. Kingman has been advanced to the grade of brigadier-general and to the post of chief of army engineers, to succeed Gen. Rossell, who retires for age on October 11.

Bernard N. Baker of Baltimore, who has been on the continent all summer, is bringing home two trained bullfinches, which have traveled 3000 miles by automobile with him in a special automobile cage. They are wonderfully trained and make good pets and companions.

During a recent discussion of the old question, college versus no-college, one of the contestants remarked that the substantial monthly magazines were not edited by college graduates. The man who made the remark was promptly confronted with the following record: The Century, edited by Robert Sterling Yard, Princeton, '83; Scribner's, edited by Edward L. Burlingame, Harvard, '69; Harper's, edited by Henry M. Alden, Williams, '57; Atlantic Monthly, edited by Ellery Sedgwick, Harvard, '94; Review of Reviews, edited by Albert Shaw, Grinnell, '79, and World's Work, edited by Arthur W. Page, Harvard, '05.

THE DAY'S RECKONING.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

Land of the Free.

Oh! Land where freedom sits with love
In calm, eternal sway;
Oh! Nation blest by God above
Strong be thine arms today.
Thy eagles soar o'er land and sea;
They storm the mountain height;
Proud emblem of a people free—
Good keep them in the right!

The flag that flutters overhead,
Was dipped in God's own blue.
The blood of heroes gave its red,
Its white is heaven's dew.
Its stars were wrested from the dome—
Fair jewels of the night,
To lead a race of valor home,
With their untarnished light.

Oh! God of battles—and of peace—
Guide Thou our hearts and hands;
May superstition's service cease,
Through all Thy peopled lands.
Lead us aright in freedom's cause;
Let justice blaze our path;
So we shall bend to honor's laws
As love succeedeth wrath.

Operations Avoided

Thousands of surgical operations are performed every year in our great city hospitals upon women afflicted with serious female troubles. Sometimes the operations are successful and sometimes they are not; sometimes they are necessary, many times they are not.

It is safe to say that a very large percentage of surgical operations for female troubles may be wholly avoided. This statement is amply proven by hundreds of letters constantly being received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., of Lynn, Mass., and the following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock of Paw Paw, Mich., relates her sad experience, which is only one of thousands that are constantly occurring. Had she taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at first, as she finally did, her dreadful hospital experience would have been avoided.

Here is her own statement: PAW PAW, MICH.: "Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for several months without much relief, and finally sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks, and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and advise my friends who have any female complaint to try it."—MRS. ORVILLE ROCK, Paw Paw, Mich.

If you are ill don't drag along until you are advised to have an operation, but remember that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills and has saved a vast army of women from surgical operations. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not at least give this famous medicine a trial.

A HANDSOME REWARD WILL BE GIVEN to any person who will prove that any of our testimonial letters constantly being published in the daily newspapers are not genuine and truthful, or that any of these women were paid in any way to give their testimonials or that the letters were published without their permission or that all the original letters did not come to us entirely unsolicited. ART DISSECTED.

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF ART. By Eleanor Rowland, Ph.D. Houghton, Mifflin Company, Boston and New York.

ANY ONE who jabs a lancet into esthetics may expect to see much wiggling and squirming, and many people will not like "The Significance of Art" because the author is practical and wholly lacking in the silliness that is commonly embodied in definitions of art and its various phases. Esthetic persons are notoriously supersensitive; they dislike to have their hobbies mutilated or have their ideas topped by the fool's cap. And the clear, forceful, sane writer who goes after art with a knife and yardstick, slashing and measuring and dissecting sculpture, painting, gem engraving and music, is not only likely to be refreshing, but a trifle startling, somewhat logical, and, best of all, to offend those persons of diaphanos intellect who believe that nothing should be written about art that can be understood by the plebeian.

At no place in her work did Eleanor Rowland deem it necessary to hide her thought. She makes herself clear and is eminently practical. She puts a weight and height limit on sculpture, maintaining that all statues "must be at least approximately twelve or fourteen inches high;" she explains why sculpture avoids still-life studies, and why "the sculptor who is handling a block of stone must fashion from it a living, breathing form," and also why "we are little disturbed, or at least not too much shocked, by the battered condition of a large part of classic sculpture, to find in it a splendid beauty." Her contention is that sculpture must be rendered in heavy material (stone or bronze) and deal with living forms, but express no passion that is uncontrolled.

Taking up the "minor arts" (wood carving, coins, mosaics, metal work, carved ivory and jewelry, pottery and textiles,) the author deplores the nomenclature, yet defends the term "minor." She also champions their use and excellence on the plea that they "embody the idea of man's infinite activities," and "illustrates for us the habits of a people as nothing else could possibly do." She believes that materialism begins in a country when its people cease to rejoice in the exquisite richness of the minor arts and not—as so many people think—when every one is vitally interested in that form of art. "No art sings so exclusively of happiness and delight in living as does this, which deals in the fashioning from exquisite materials the typical tools of the life of humanity."

Whereas, the material medium in sculpture and the minor arts lend a dignity, painting is without such distinction, for canvas, paper, paint and chalk have nothing in themselves to elicit admiration. "We do not face the unhewn block of stone and tubes of paint with the same emotion." The author also explains why painting has two dimensions in which to make representations, and by a detailed and logical argument shows why it is not limited to any specified subjects, as is sculpture. Her point is that because the raw materials of painting have no individual dignity they may be utilized in the portrayal of anything; whereas, stone, because of its natural weight and size, can only appropriately be used in the portrayal of those things animate.

In taking up music the author calls attention to the obvious fact that whereas, painting appeals solely to the eye, harmony of sounds appeal solely to the ear, and deftly whacks certain people who say "that they are able to enjoy music quite as much by reading the score as hearing it with their ears." Continuing, she says: "If they said that they enjoyed the mental image of a dinner as much as eating it, we might safely infer that they were not hungry. If they enjoyed the memory of a painting as much as seeing it, it would be hard to convince us that they were fond of painting. If they object to the disturbance of music, and prefer a silent symphony read through the eye. . . . I protest that they are not musical. The noiseless world of such a group of accurate score-readers would be an abomination to a music-loving man."

The psychological effect of sound as a medium of arousing emotion is dwelt with at length.

The book is of interest to any one not wholly devoted to eating and sleeping, and is especially recommended to members of the Philistine tribe known as "Futurists," for in it may be learned that which they sadly need, to-wit: the rudiments of an appreciation for art.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS.

THE KASIDAH OF HAJI ABDU EL-YEZDI. Translated and annotated by his friend and pupil, F. B. (Sir Richard F. Burton.). The Ball Publishing Company.

THAT man who reviews all religions and then lays down the "Kasidah" or "higher law" is entitled to a hearing, though credence may be withheld. Sir Richard Burton, to the best of his ability—and no mean ability it was—did just that.

A knowledge of his life (of which the above-named volume gives no intimation,) allows no one to be surprised that he chose to repudiate Moses, Christ, Buddha, Zoroaster and all the lawgivers of the spiritual and material realms. He was a wild, reckless, adventurous student and scholar (some people never learn the difference) and is chiefly known for his translation of the "Arabian Nights"—an excellent set of books for the average person to let alone. He also has fame for his explorations, and is the only white man known to have kissed the Kaaba stone after making the perilous pilgrimage to Mecca.

There is no question but that the publishers have been guilty of a sin of omission in not including a biographical sketch of that remarkable man, for he was the author of the poem and chose to conceal his identity behind the personality of an imaginary Persian philosopher.

A few years ago copies of the "Kasidah," when they could be found, sold for as high as $20, with no regard for bindings, because it is a peculiar, erratic philosophy, which lays down as the highest law of man:

"Do what thy manhood bids thee do;
From none but self expect applause;
He noblest lives and noblest dies
Who makes and keeps his self-made laws."

Which resolves into "Do what you please if you think it is right."

The notes contained in the book are also from Sir Richard's pen, and are well worth reading by anyone who wants to become an infidel.

The poem was first published about 1880; parts of it resemble the "Rubiayat," which he knew well in the original, and all of it is iconoclastic.

CHRONICLES OF TROUBLE.

WONDERFUL ESCAPES BY AMERICANS. Arranged and edited by William Stone Booth. Houghton, Mifflin Company, Boston and New York.

THE editor's note sets forth that his object is to present "an unhackneyed series of engrossing and true stories." We are more inclined to believe that he has accomplished the latter in a way that needlessly sacrifices the former object.

The book is a compilation of stories that have appeared in other publications, and while they may be veracious as to detail, many of them could have been made much more entertaining by being rewritten.

Many of the escapes recorded are, indeed, wonderful. Some of the others are not, as for instance, "In the Whirl of a Tornado," is the description of a cyclone that struck Kirksville, Mo., in 1899, as seen by an eye-witness at a safe distance.

A wide variety of stories is presented, ranging from the Revolutionary War down to a sailor's terrifying experience in a diving suit at battle practice on August 10, 1905.

Many of the records are cluttered with details and trivialities that are of no interest whatever to the type of reader that the book will, and seems calculated to, attract. As, for instance, in "The Wreck of the Brig Tyrell," the story as written in 1836 stands sadly in need of being put into entertaining, if not coherent form. A man has been shipwrecked and recovered utterly exhausted. He is placed aboard a ship and the crew "made a bed for him out of an old sail and were very attentive. While they were at breakfast a small squall came on which called them all upon deck. During their absence Purnell (the rescued man) took up a stone bottle and without smelling it, but thinking that it was rum, he took a hearty pull at it and discovered that it was sweet oil. Having placed the bottle where he found it he lay down. It was two nights before they got into port, as the wind died away. Purnell all this while was as helpless as a child. Some one or other was always with him to give him what he wished for to eat or drink. As soon as they came to anchor, Capt. Castleman went ashore and returned the next morning with the owner."—And so runs the burdensome narrative.

The best story in the book is "Caught in a Forest Fire," but the man who was caught has his story told by an entertaining writer whose reputation is established—Roy Norton. Had Mr. Booth rewritten all of the other stories, there is no question but that their quality would have been far superior to what it is.

A FAIRY TALE FOR WOMEN.

THE LUCK OF LADY JOAN. By Josephine Daskam Bacon. F. G. Browne & Co., Chicago.

ANOTHER booklet, which will make a winsome gift when Christmas knocks at the door, is this "Fairy Tale for Women," written in Mrs. Bacon's inimitable style. In its wee compass of fifty-eight pages it tells a simple story of a simple life, which deals with elemental things—the things which have in them all there is to human history, when you get at the root of it. The story is built with delicate art, the humble, poverty-stricken heroine being suggested in the vision of the old Irish "hen-wife,' before being actually brought upon the scene. It is a story containing a dainty love interest, and attractively concealed sermons, set forth in naive paragraphs, with a touch of wit, and in the development of situations. The hen-wife with her prophetic visions, a mean old miser anxious to take advantage of them, a simple, generous-hearted grandson, toiling gratefully for the miser for his own keep, a barefooted, sweet-faced young virgin, taken into the old man's house because of the hen-wife's prophesies of future wealth—these are the principal characters which figure, and give substance to the story. Joan's thrift and cleanliness in the cottage, her industry in the garden, her entire transformation of the entire home and the grandson—these things you can feel and see. "When Joan was not spinning she was knitting, and always with a homelike song on her red lips. So that he old miser had for nothing at all what many a man has paid high for and never got—the woman who will sing and spin together. For there are many who are glad to do the one, and many who are forced to do the other, but few who joy in both. And he who bargains for the one, and lets the other go, is a fool, and he who makes sure of the other, resigning the one, will be seeking what he misses elsewhere."

"Eve was planned . . . not for picking, which was her (and our) damnation, but for planting and tending, in the which, had she persisted, our salvation had been sure, without so much work for the blessed saints"—is another of the many sayings—sometimes almost Biblical in their quaint dignity, and little classics in their own way.

The way in which the two young people living side by side, awaken to love for each other, appeals back to primeval things, and recalls Paul and Virginia. It commences when the boy, whom Joan supposes to be asleep, watches the girl wash her garments at night, a blanket pinned about her pretty body beneath the shoulders. And at the moment of awakening comes the priest. The old hen-wife's warning, the cruelty of the miser, the vision waiting upon Joan's maternity, bring this delightful little story to its climax, and, it ends as even a grown-up fairy tale should end.

POET OF DEMOCRACY.

THE UNCOMMON COMMONER. By Edmund Vance Cook. Dodge Publishing Company, New York.

THE "Uncommon Commoner" starts out with a vigorous quotation from himself on the cover of the book: "Solving the universe is a hard job, but we can always dig in the garden, or carry in the coal." A poet with a level head is supposed to be a rarity, although he is not, really. The poet is more often levelheaded than the fellow who keeps his nose in his ledger day and night, and who is inclined to laugh brayingly at both poetry and poets. Of course, we are not referring to that numerous brood of verse-spitters who raise this sort of phlegm whether they have anything to say or not, and without any well-defined idea as to the rules governing form and fitness.

Mr. Cook declares of his work that he "would like the reader to know that no one of these songs was written simply for the purpose of expressing democracy, still less were they all written for the purpose of making a volume, with democracy as the dominant note. The democracy is in them because the writer could not express himself and keep it out. And here is a bit of the democracy he flings, with a fine broad stroke:

"Reactionaries! who strive today,
To hold that men are of differing clay;
Oligarchs! plutocrats! ye who say
The fathers were wrong, and yea or nay
May answer a people's rights today,
That some are to rule and some obey,
One plain word shall command your shame,
Into your faces I fling the name—
Of Lincoln."

Here is a Markhamesque touch in a protest against war:

"Shall we measure our height in the scale of life by the length of tooth and claw?
Shall we beat the brow to a narrow ridge and broaden the brutal jaw?"

But it returns to the particular Cook brand in the next two lines:

"Or shall we use our swelling thews with the war-wolf held in tether, Till aeons shall praise the blessed days, when the two flags fly together?"

There is a suggestion of James Whitcomb Riley in some of his verses, notably in "Somebody Calls It Home." When we come to the division entitled "Sons of Struggle and Strength," a touch of preachy triteness may often be found, as in the verses entitled "Ocean." But almost as the reader is inclined to drop the book impatiently, his eyes fall on some lines that pulse with such intensity and force that he grabs it with renewed avidity. Thus, the climax in "The Child:"

"Accretion rides,
Digging his heels at weary labor's sides,
Or, when alighting, stands at easy rest
His conquering foot upon his mother's breast,
Thus the Creator hugs his galling chains,
Thus the created spurns him for his pains."

The volume is replete with odd rhymes and terms. "Nich in" is correctly but uniquely rhymed with "kitchen." And can the wildest stretch of imagination cope with a "janitorial Galahad?" "Fact is" rhymed with "Practice" is really Gilbertian.

But for all the poet's oddities, you will go on reading if you once open this book. It has a "punch."

MODERN GERMAN CLASSICS.

A NUMBER of the leading Germans of Europe and America have prepared and will soon publish in English the German classics of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.

The purpose of this enterprise is to conquer for German culture new and ever-widening circles among the American population.

The German classics of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries figures as the first attempt to convey to the American and English reading public a thorough idea of modern German literature. The collection of Romances by Carlyle, Hedge's prose writers, from Luther to Schleiermacher; Baskerville's Anthology of German Poetry, have rendered good service in their restricted fields and, of course, there has been no lack of good translating of individual German masterpieces, particularly of the classical period of Weimar and Jena.

Nevertheless, the fact remains that for the great mass of the educated public in England and America, "German literature" is identified with the names of the once favorite writers of fiction, Miss Marlitt and Prof. George Ebers, and many literary critics even are of the opinion that with Heine, German poetry came to an abrupt conclusion, and, with the same suddenness, had been awakened to new life by Gerhart Hauptmann. A complete and radical change in these views has taken place during the last quarter of a century, and particularly so in academic circles. In England a great number of very able Germanists are endeavoring to present the history of German literature to the students, according to scientific methods, and in America we have experienced during the past generation a great revival in the study of everything pertaining to Germany. It is almost impossible to enumerate all the able and energetic men and women who, in all parts of the country, at the universities and colleges, are striving to forward a better comprehension of the German character, and the multifarious activities of the German nation. The latter taken in the broadest sense of the word, naturally includes the German parts of Austria, Switzerland and the Baltic provinces of Russia.

Thus, over in England, and here, in our own country, a more critical appreciation of the German literature of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries has been made possible, at least so far as the younger generation is concerned. The best German writers of the last half-century have been revealed to the Anglo-Saxon by high school and university. In order to do full justice to the great task which the German Publication Society has set itself, the German classics had to fall into line with this movement.

The original conception of the enterprise is due to Dr. Isidor Singer, but he would not have succeeded if his idea had not been taken up with true Yankee pluck, and without counting the financial risk, by Messrs. Charles S. Huntley and R. S. Peale, the well-known publishers of Warner's Library and the Encyclopedia Americana.

The editor-in-chief of the enterprise is Prof. Kuno Francke, chief of the German department of Harvard, and director of the Germanic Museum in Cambridge. The administration of the work was happy in acquiring the active co-operation of about fifty of the leading Germanists here and in Europe and of the best professional and amateur translators in this country and in England. A number of the greatest specialists in German lore have contributed over thirty introductions to the various volumes and biographical essays, which, taken together, constitute quite an original history of modern German literature. We will mention only the scholarly general introduction to the entire work by Prof. Richard M. Meyer, the well-known professor of German literature at the Berlin University, which has been translated into excellent English by one of the principal translators of the German classics, Miss Frances H. King, of New York.

In the selection of the authors the principle observed has been to choose only those who have deeply and permanently influenced their time, and have enriched the thought of the German nation by really original contributions. Thus so-called "light fiction" has been entirely excluded. On the other hand, men have been included who, although not generally counted among the professional writers, have nevertheless influenced the intellectual and spiritual life of the German nation so that it is impossible to conceive the nineteenth century without them. We mean such men as Lassalle, Moltke, Bismarck and Emperor William II. And thus the German classics of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries represent, in the truest sense of the word, the evolution of the German thought during the nineteenth and the beginning of the twentieth century. Particular attention should be called to the fact that this work does not give mere extracts and style samples such as we generally find in works of this kind, but, as far as possible, reproduces complete works and, in the main, those which are most characteristic of the author.

Each volume contains twenty or twenty-five illustrations, which in themselves are a faithful resume of modern German art, for the editors have chosen from among the masterpieces of German painting and sculpture, those works which treat of subjects identical with, or, at least, closely related to the subject matter of the text. Volumes IV-X are in the hands of the printer and the entire work will be on the market by May 1, 1914.

WITH THE AUTHORS.

George K. Stiles, author of "The Dragoman," admits that his ambition is to enter the consular service. He recently declared that "for the purpose of studying emigrant conditions I have crossed the ocean several times in the bottom of transatlantic greyhounds." Once, as the ship was about to sail, there was a riot in the steerage, and Stiles, after being lifted across the gangway by a professional strong man, was seized by French marines, who handled him very roughly. Since then, he says, he has foresworn further investigations.

William Hamilton Gibson, the famous naturalist, once told how he was early drawn to his future life work. When he was 10 years old, he had a long illness, and during convalescence he was allowed to spend a short time in the garden. "That hour," he said, "I devoted to collecting insects and flowers. On my return, what I had collected amused me until I could get out again. Then, in my sickroom, I began to draw and paint the insects. I tried to put on paper exactly what I saw. When I was a small boy, I wrote a book for myself, and called it "Botany on the Half-Shell." I think I studied flowers during my illness so that their forms and colors were indelibly impressed upon my mind."

Will N. Harben, whose new novel, "The Desired Woman," is just published, says the story was suggested to him at a convention of country school teachers he once came across. Among the number was a young mountain girl, of a type so different from her companions, so full of life, that she became for him the "Dolly" of "The Desired Woman," and the plot of the story shaped itself about her. Itinerant preachers, like the cheerful, tramping "brother" of "The Desired Woman," Harben has also frequently encountered in the Georgia mountains.

Zane Grey, some of the scenes of whose book, "Ken Ward in the Jungle," are laid in the vicinity of Tampico, where there has been much anxiety in regard to the safety of American residents, recently had a letter from a friend there. "These people," said Grey's correspondent, "had not been attacked, but were expecting it, and the Americans had armed for defense." Recent reports from Mexico say that the Mexican authorities have heard that the Tanuco River, which Grey, as well as his youthful "Ken Ward," explored, has been mined.

Miss Isabelle Evesson, the charming leading woman with Melbourne MacDowell—Miss Evesson, by the way, bearing a striking resemblance to the late Fanny Davenport, minus the embonpoint—has recently purchased for future use a one-act drama, written especially for her by Genevieve Farnell-Bond, author of "The Faun and Other Poems," a book which will shortly be upon the market.

BOOK NOTES.

Paul Elder & Co., San Francisco, will publish in time for the coming holiday season "Some World-Circuit Saunterings," by William Ford Nichols, bishop of California. These travel notes of a churchman's journey around the world, during which he visited the Holy Land at Eastertide, and returned over the Trans-Siberian road to the Orient, and then across the Pacific, are delightfully written. The pleasant pen pictures of this world tour are supplemented with a series of unusual photographs, reproduced in mounted duotone prints, illustrating an unusually handsome volume that will be ready about the first of December.

The companion volume to George Hamlin Fitch's "Critic in the Orient," setting forth the author's impressions of some of the most interesting places in Europe, seen during the remainder of his tour of the world, and entitled "The Critic in the Occident," will be published in the near future by Paul Elder & Co., San Francisco. The illustrations have proved to be one of the interesting features of these travel volumes, reproducing an unusual series of photographs arranged into galleries of each country visited.

With all the revival of interest in the Civil War, there is one phase of it, fraught with potentiality at the time, which has received comparatively little attention from historians. This is the vigorous secession movement which was agitated on the Pacific Coast. The only full description of it is given in Elijah R. Kennedy's account, "The Contest for California in 1861," a book of interest not only to Californians, but to all who have watched and are watching the development and unification of our country.

The demand for Kate Douglas Wiggin's new novel, "The Story of Waitstill Baxter," is so great that a second printing has been ordered, although the book, which is to be published by the Houghton Mifflin Company, will not be ready till late this month, or early in November.

The title of Miss Eleanor Mordaunt's new novel, "Lu of the Ranges," published by Sturges & Walton, savors of our Wild West, and the conventional cowboy romance. The reader is quickly undeceived, however, for the background of this story is the Australian bush, with its wonderful distances and terrible loneliness. Lu appears on this desolate scene as a young girl and an orphan, with the added burden of poverty and a family of younger brothers and sisters to support. That she surmounts all obstacles, and finally achieves fame as a popular dancer in Melbourne is due to her valiant spirit and her fearless and passionate nature.

"O Pioneers!" Willa Sibert Cather's novel of the Middle West, which was published a few months ago by Houghton Mifflin Company, is now in its second printing.

Here is an interesting excerpt from "The Youth of Henry VIII," by Frank A. Mumby, "Catherine of Arragon to her father, Ferdinand II of Spain. Richmond, April 22, 1506. I supplicate your Highness that you consider how I am your daughter, and that I have no other good nor remedy except in your Highness. . . . About my own person I have nothing for chemises, where by your Highness's life, I have now sold some bracelets to get a dress of black velvet, for I was all but naked. . . ."

LITERARY CHIT-CHAT.

When the present writer was launched upon the working world of literature in an editorial capacity, although not yet 20 years of age, the said writer stood in great awe of famous literary personages, not as yet having met them familiarly. Judging them by their pen productions they were believed to be something almost superhuman—demigods of irreproachableness. It was a delightful shock to find them genuine human beings, neither better nor worse than the average—full of the faults and virtues, the passions and aspirations of men and women in ordinary walks of life. The difference lay in the fact that my demigods were human beings plus that peculiar faculty—shall we call it the sixth sense, or the seventh if the sixth is already pre-empted—which enables them to fathom things which they have not actually experienced and to slip like astral entities into the very being of others, and interpret them. These demigods also had the chameleon faculty of identifying themselves peculiarly with the phenomena of the nature, and reproducing the moods of the capricious dame at will.

Naturally one has ideas about these people, and it hurts when you find one of the creative brotherhood practicing a dishonesty against fellow devotees. But there have been numbers of such instances of thunder stealing. In a delightful story whose scenes were laid in the land of cherry blossoms, Onoto Watanna appropriated bodily an unpublished sonnet by a blind poet-musician—John S. Van Cleave. The story of the assumption of the authorship of Mrs. Wilcox's poem, whose opening line is the famous "Laugh and the world laughs with you," by a western versifier is well known, as is also the attempt to credit a great poem by a famous California poet to a modest little versifier who happened to have written something pretty on the same theme.

The theft of the famous lyrics of "My Rosary" was one to dash cold water upon the belief of the infallibility of character behind genius. George Winters indited the lines of this poem to a young woman of his acquaintance, and sent a copy to her. The original was entered in a little note book, which was one day thoughtlessly placed under the rim of the poet's plate in a restaurant and forgotten. The author's efforts to recover it proved futile. But strangely enough it fell into the hands of a contemporaneous poet.

Years afterward—as late as 1911—in a Brighton drawing-room Mr. Winter listened for the first time to his own lyrics, set to Ethelbert Nevin's music. Overcome with astonishment, he examined the printed sheet, and found that his verses had been coolly appropriated by Robert Cameron Rogers, a California poet. Not only this, but Mr. Rogers had included the verses in a volume of his own poems, "The Wind in the Clearing," as early as 1894.

Yes, we are always glad to find that the fellows who spend part of their time on Parnassus are of the same clay as the rest of us. But somehow we feel a whole lot worse when we see one poet pocketing the emoluments, financial and otherwise, that belong to another, than over some plain, every-day theft. And that one should have crossed the Divide with this breech of faith to his discredit makes us conscious of how we love to regard the creators of poetry as a sort of priesthood whose vows are implied, if never spoken.

Which reminds me of the fact that I met a Los Angeles book retailer a few days ago who brazenly announced, without blush or equivocation, that he is able to make good sales of books of poetry. I could scarcely believe my ears. "But remember—I said books of poetry. I didn't say dishwater verse. I surprised a moderately known poet not long ago by buying outright a hundred copies of his books." (No—no, ye self-styled poets—I am not going to tell you who the retailer is. His business and family need him for a little while yet.) "I don't do this every day, of course. You've no idea how many writers come to me with their own books, and beg me to take them on. To many of them I must seem absolutely brutal. They seem to believe that their part of the work is done when the book is completed, that their fortune is made as soon as my consent is won to buy outright or place upon display any volume that may be presented to me. But this is not true. I am forced to ask the neophyte, 'What weight has your name? Have you created a demand for your book?' They expect me to make the name, and to create the demand, also. Now this is scarcely in the domain of the book retailer. His office is to supply the public with that for which it is asking. And this in itself is not so simple a matter as it at first appears. The reading public is made up of many different people, of widely varying tastes. The successful book retailer must be anticipative—he must understand thoroughly the importance of the psychological moment. If he has common sense, and any genius for his business, he will not take anything into his house, even when not at his own risk, that is going to lie fallow on his shelves. And this does not mean that he is going to work off undesirable stock on his customers. This would soon prove disastrous.

"But I repeat—I can sell books of poems when they are the real thing. But I would beg any author or publisher to think twice before launching a book of short stories. I find there is not a demand for the short-story volumes even of well-known authors.

"But I should like to say," continued Mr. Retailer of upper Broadway, "that a ready-made fame is not necessary to commend an author's work to my good judgment, and my willingness to handle it. It has not been so very long since J. Smeaton Chase brought his first manuscript to me. I immediately saw its value, and recommended that he submit it to one of the foremost publishers. Houghton Mifflin lost no time in securing the book rights, and this firm has since brought out several of Mr. Chase's works, among them "California Coast Trails," "Yosemite Trails," and "Cone Bearing Trees." This author is now spoken of as rivaling John Muir. So the blushing author with his first bookling must realize that we retailers do know something about literary merit. And when I take on a book it is because I have faith in it, and expect to sell it."

I never listen to an argument without remembering a clever senior of the Cincinnati University who could take one side or the other of almost any discussion and logically prove his point. Sometimes he would take both sides in succession, and it was the delight of his class to hear him argue himself down. Anent a recent discussion of a by no means new question, college versus no college, one of the contestants declared that the substantial monthly magazines were not edited by college graduates. Some of them are not. But the man who made the remark was promptly discomfited and confronted by the following record of facts: Robert Sterling Yard, editor of The Century, is of the Princeton class of '83. Edward L. Burlingame, editor of Scribner's is of Harvard, '69. Henry M. Alden, who edits Harper's Magazine, is of Williams, '57. Ellery Sedgwick, Atlantic Monthly, is of Harvard, '94. Albert Shaw of the Review of Reviews, graduated from Grinnell, '79. Arthur W. Page, editor of World's Work, is a Harvard graduate of '05.

A Compact and Readable History
From the Earliest Times to the Present

The Story of California

By HENRY K. NORTON of the Los Angeles Bar

From the day in 1542 when Cabrillo's venturesome ship was sighted by the astonished Indians, California has ever been the land of the spectacular and the romantic. Epoch after epoch has had its outstanding features of thrilling interest. Mr. Norton's admirable book takes up these striking and important events and weaves about them a continuous narrative from the earliest records down to today.

TO HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW AT THIS AGE OF scientific advancement is not a sign that we give in to the inevitable; it is simply a sign of personal neglect. I am using the latest electrical apparatus in restoring gray or faded hair to natural color, a process which produces only a pleasant, mild stimulation, felt and enjoyed all over the body, although the highest electrical frequency is used. For producing a clear, youthful skin, free from wrinkles and blemishes, the original Sanford Bennett Electric Face Mask is by far the best thing in the market. Quick, effective and safe. G. C. LAMMERS, Ph.D., M.E., 702 S. Spring st., Suite 200-202. Phone F5853. Consultation free.

PROF. C. IRVIN ALTHOUSE,

NOTED ASTROLOGER AND PALMIST OF NATIONAL FAME AND REPUTATION.

STUDIO PARLORS, 539½ S. BROADWAY.
A RESIDENT OF LOS ANGELES 30 YEARS.

PROF. ALTHOUSE is an experienced practitioner in the science of modern ASTROLOGY, by which he has made many REMARKABLE PREDICTIONS. The horoscope shows the powerful influence of the planets in ALL AFFAIRS OF LIFE. It shows diseases, deaths, love and marriage, financial affairs, investments, changes, talents, environments, about children, relatives; when and where to travel, what to seek or avoid; when in danger of losses, troubles, etc., etc.; also your good periods coming—GIVING DATES of these events for the FUTURE.

PROF. ALTHOUSE read E. H. Sothern, Nat Goodwin, Schumann-Heink, Gadski, Admiral Schley, David Starr Jordan, ex-Gov. Pardee, ex-Senator Clark, Senator Smoot, Baron Rothschild, Gen. Chaffee, Edison, Sousa, Modjeska, Sembrich, Julia Marlowe, Anna Held, Jefferson, Capt. Hobson, Lillian Russell, Calve, Admiral Evans, H. E. Huntington, De Wolf Hopper, Maxine Elliott, Ethel Barrymore, etc.

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S SKILLED work must not be classed with other readers. Do not waste money on the idiotic advice of HUMBUG astrologers, palmists, psychists—those doing dishonest work.

PROF. ALTHOUSE also gives expert PALM READINGS with each astrological reading.

DR. J. A. LARSON writes: "I want to say that your reading was the most satisfactory I have ever had in my life. I know a great deal about these sciences, and I consider your work as the most THOROUGH and RELIABLE of any reader in the United States." Readings given by mail, also.

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S wonderful proficiency in the casting of HOROSCOPES and in HAND reading has brought him a LARGE and SUCCESSFUL PRACTICE. The most private confidences are reposed in him, and his advice is sought in the most difficult and critical circumstances. Personal attention given. STRICT PRIVACY. HIGHEST GRADE OF WORK that skill and many years of experience can produce. HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE solicited.

Daily and evenings; Sunday, 10 to 3.
STUDIO PARLORS, 539½ S. BROADWAY.

PERSONAL—
MRS. MASSON,
the noted palmist of London, England, may be consulted at 322 S. SPRING ST. by those desiring CAREFUL, CONSCIENTIOUS AND SCIENTIFIC HAND READINGS FROM ONE OF THE FOREMOST PALMISTS OF THE DAY.

The earnest student and thinker will soon learn in his investigations along psychological lines that that which pertains to occult phenomena proper can readily be distinguished from crude and oft-exposed SLEIGHT-OF-HAND TRICKS, the most common of which is the telling of the subject's name, age, etc., AFTER HE HIMSELF HAS WRITTEN THAT information.

PALMISTRY, HONESTLY PRACTICED WILL NOT tell you your name, but it WILL give you information of considerably greater value in every-day life.

Your vocation, your present line of work, matters of health and domestic life, financial conditions and ways and means of climbing out of a rut of ill luck into wide paths of success and prosperity, can all be told you through scientific palmistry WITHOUT A SINGLE QUESTION, WRITTEN OR VERBAL.

MRS. MASSON DOES NOT APPEAL TO HINDRANT SUPERSTITION, BUT TO THE FINEST INTELLIGENCE.

HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

PERSONAL—
NEAL DRINK HABIT TREATMENT.

The Los Angeles Neal Institute has been established at 945 South Olive street for years. More than one thousand drinking men and women have been restored to sobriety and usefulness. The Neal Drink Habit Treatment will remove the craving for drink in three days. It is safe and sure—it never fails. Hypodermic injections are never used. Do not waste time and money taking "Secret Cures" and cheap "sobering up" treatments, but go to a reliable institution where satisfactory results are always assured. For information call, or write or phone G. U. NEAL, Manager—brother of Dr. Neal the originator of the Neal Treatment—whose direct supervision always assures patients a "square deal." Phones: Broadway 4602, A4072. Will send automobile for patients day or night.

Help, Male.

Space is not given under this heading to advertisements soliciting business patronage.

WANTED—
I have a special opening for a good salesman, experienced in real estate. But I need a man whose ability and energy are great enough to handle the position and its opportunities.
We are in the midst of one of the most successful selling campaigns Los Angeles has ever had. You have undoubtedly noticed the gold-and-white Buick we are giving away to advertise our property, called Kensington Green.
We expect to double up on our advertising appropriation at once, and need another man of initiative to help us.
I want a man with an auto.
If you can measure up to the required standard as to character, and if you can actually close business, I want to talk with you.
This is not an ordinary ad for salesmen, because I don't want an "ordinary man."
Call between 9 and 12 o'clock Monday.
Ask for Sales Manager.

WANTED—

AN ADVERTISING WRITER AND MANAGER.

This advertisement is written by a man who can really sell goods; who is not simply a maker of pretty phrases—but a maker of TRADE—a builder of increased business volume, a producer of actual, see-able, CASHABLE custom.

His qualifications are: A writer of crisp, dynamic copy that tells the whole story vividly and then stops; a buyer of printing who knows how to get the biggest dollar's worth in paper, cuts, art work, presswork, and general results; a mail order man who can get inquiries at flat bottom cost, who can secure the best percentage of business from his follow ups; a versatile, widely experienced advertiser who is equally capable in general publicity, magazine, and newspaper trade paper advertising.

And, finally, a thorough business man who can manage your advertising department as you do your business—on a sane, careful and profit-paying basis. Age, 38; level-headed, in love with his work; steady, staple and ardently enthusiastic. Can devote half his time to some reputable business firm who needs better advertising. Address V, box 128, TIMES OFFICE.

GREAT

PIANO-CLEARING SALE.

THESE PRICES DO NOT MEAN ANYTHING TO YOU UNLESS YOU SEE THE GOODS.

So come in at once and get first choice. But we will say that they are all modern cases, and not the 30-year-old black cases with only the name left. Our pianos carry our own guarantee as to material and workmanship.

Chickering upright	$128
Richardson upright, mahogany case	$140
Ellsworth upright, mahogany case	$160
J. & C. Fischer upright, oak case, like new	$190

FOR SALE—
$190. $190. $190. $190. $190. $190.
Why the Price?
Is neither here nor there.
In what manner these 22 splendid instruments chanced to reach us is immaterial.
They are here—only 22 of them, and the first 22 comers will share.
Read the Specifications.
Study them carefully.
You'll find them only in the finished product of the most expensive pianomakers. Not a piano built to these specifications can be purchased for less than $325.

Any of these 22 Magnificent Instruments for $190.
There are only 22.

These pianos are built by one of the greatest manufacturers in the United States. We indorse the makers' 10-year absolute guarantee. This written guarantee agrees to give you your money back if the piano is not exactly as represented.

That is the story, told in simple English; told without reservation of any kind, and is true—every word of it.

Specifications: Genuine Circassian walnut oak or San Domingo mahogany, full size 7 1-3 octaves, copper wound grand overstrung base, 3 string unison, Cape d'Astro pressure bar, double repeating action, containing Billings' anti-warp flange, 5-layer laminated rock maple pin block, genuine White Mountain spruce sounding board, patent mouse-proof pedal action, ball-bearing castors.

Remember, there are only 22 pianos.
New instruments, every one of them.
Late comers may be disappointed.

SHOWS FAITH IN HOLLYWOOD.

Memphis Capitalist Invests Heavily in Suburb.

Buys Nearly Seven Hundred Feet of Frontage.

Expects to Spend Large Sum in Improvements.

By a series of extensive purchases of Hollywood frontage, culminating recently in the acquisition of one of the most valuable pieces of vacant property on Hollywood boulevard, L. D. Hines, formerly one of the leading business men of Memphis, Tenn., has given substantial evidence of his faith in the future of the beautiful northwest Los Angeles suburb. In the past month Hines has invested close to $100,000 in Hollywood property and it is his plan to spend almost an equal amount in improvements.

The plot of ground purchased yesterday is situated at the southeast corner of Hollywood boulevard and St. Andrews place, comprising 300 feet frontage on the former thoroughfare by 190 feet on the latter. The holding was purchased from the [illegible] Investment Company of this city at a given consideration of $45,000. The site is unimproved.

Hines has commissioned architects to draw plans for a two-story brick store and office building to be erected at the corner of the property, and fronting fifty feet on the boulevard by sixty feet on St. Andrews. This structure will follow southern colonial architecture and will be handsomely finished within and without. Adjoining the building on Hollywood boulevard Hines will erect an attractive moving-picture theater. He contemplates the erection of a 200-room hotel covering the remainder of the boulevard frontage within the next few months.

Early in the week the former Tennessean bought from Joseph Hubbard the northwest corner of Hollywood boulevard and Serrano avenue, 219 feet on the boulevard by 150 feet in depth, together with two adjoining lots on Serrano, one 65x170 feet in size and the other 75x270 feet in dimensions. The consideration for the three sites is reported at $22,000. On the larger of the Serrano lots the purchaser expects to build his permanent family residence. He has no plans yet for the other two sites.

A month ago Hines bought the southeast corner of Hollywood boulevard and Alexandria avenue, comprising 100 feet on the former by 190 feet on the latter street. He intends to improve the entire property with five one-story brick stores.

Hines, who has been in Los Angeles for several months "looking around," declares that his confidence in this city is unbounded. He is especially sanguine over the future of the district in the immediate vicinity of Hollywood boulevard and Western avenue, in which section all his recent purchases have been made. It is his purpose to establish a bank in the northwest suburb and to himself engage in the real estate business under the firm name of L. D. Hines [illegible], making his headquarters in the building which he is to erect at Hollywood boulevard and St. Andrews [illegible]

In the southern community from which he came to Los Angeles, Hines was prominently identified with the [illegible] industry. For several years prior to leaving Memphis he was president of the Memphis Queens-[illegible] Company.

FACT AND COMMENT.

There is considerable talk about the comparative inactivity of the real estate market. It is generally conceded that the revival of trading interest is about due, but the keenest observers are a little in the air as to the exact date at which the lively times may be expected to begin. The delay in the reawakening process, variously ascribed by this and that authority or near-authority to one cause and another, is beginning to fill some individuals with concern. Just how groundless this nervousness is may be seen in some illuminating facts that were called to the attention of the Fact and Comment man during the past week.

One of the leading realty firms of Los Angeles, a concern doing a big and important business in every kind of real estate, from houses and lots to downtown frontage and century-leases, has just completed its annual "verification" of several thousand property holdings in various parts of the city. These properties are all included in the firm's own listings and hence the brokers in question are in a position to know that their findings are thoroughly accurate and reliable.

The firm in checking over 4000 residence listings in the area bounded by First, Jefferson and Figueroa streets and the west city limits, discovered that 90 per cent. of the owners had raised the asking prices for their property. Most of the other 10 per cent. had decided not to sell at all. There was a smaller percentage of owners ready to "sacrifice" their sites for the purpose of making a sale than in any previous year.

The findings of the men in charge of the business property department of the same firm were just as reassuring. Eight hundred separate pieces of real estate in the section bounded by Sixth, Pico and Figueroa streets and Broadway were checked over in this instance. In the majority of cases, say the dealers conducting the investigation, the owners in the district are asking more for their sites than was demanded even ninety days

HOTEL ROCKFORD
New Marsh-Strong Bldg

Photograph Taken From the Top of the New Marsh-Strong Bldg.

The Marsh-Strong Building is now more than three-fourths filled—elevators are running—tenants are moving in—the eleventh hour rush for choice locations is on.

The strategic location of this building—on Ninth street at the intersection of Spring and Main—is responsible for this remarkable record. The building was half full even before the elevators were running.

This is your last chance to secure an office in what will be in a few short months the VERITABLE HUB of the city's business activity. This building is finished ENTIRELY in mahogany and marble—with equipment and service of the VERY BEST. Entrance near Broadway.

LEASE NORTH END HOTEL.

Two Hundred and Fifty-Room Hostelry on North Broadway Passes Into New Hands.

A deal has just been closed whereby the New Broadway Hotel, at Nos. 205-217 North Broadway, passes from the hands of Allen C. Ady into the control of Elmer F. Woodbury and George Wilson. The deal was consummated through the agency of E. W. Cason & Co., associated hotel brokers, and the lease calls for a term of years at a rental of $24,000 per annum.

The New Broadway contains 250 rooms and was erected five years ago by the McCarthy Company. It caters to a commercial trade.

Woodbury was formerly connected with the Maryland and Casa Grande Hotels in Pasadena and later with the St. Marks Hotel in Oakland. Wilson formerly conducted the Hotel Pasadena at Pasadena and later the King George Hotel at Ocean Park.

The New Broadway will be operated under the firm name of Woodbury & Wilson. The owners will spend several thousand dollars on interior improvements and will probably add a cafe.

ADD DEPARTMENT.

The firm of Strong, Dickinson & McGrath, in the Van Nuys building, has added a department of industrial properties and has seured the services of George M. SoRelle as manager of this end of the business. SoRelle had for four years previously been manager of the industrial department with the G. H. A. Goodwin Company. Strong, Dickinson & McGrath are to move to the Marsh-Strong building at Ninth and Spring streets about December 1.

BUYS ON OCEAN VIEW.

R. M. Bishop sold last week the home of Dr. V. P. Johnson at No. 1912 Ocean View avenue, Judge William A. Cheney being the buyer. The consideration is given at $9500 cash. Bishop also reports the sale of the property at No. 312 Cottage avenue, for Albert E. Webb to Mrs. Magdalena Tierheimer for a consideration of $2000 cash.

TWO MILLIONS SAHEAD.

Year's Building Total Shows Substantial Advance Over All Previous Periods—Indications of Activity.

The total cost of building operations in this city for the year to date amounts to $27,218,460, according to the weekly report of the city building department, issued yesterday. The sum represents the outlay for 13,295 separate construction items. The figures for the corresponding period of last year were 12,659 permits and $24,836,469 in valuation. The gain is 636 in the number of permits and $2,381,991 in valuation.

The totals for October are not thus far as encouraging as the September results had led the department officials to expect. Up until the close of business on Friday, 521 permits representing a valuation of $635,198, had been granted. In commenting on the building situation yesterday, however, Mark C. Cohn, chief clerk of the department, declared that there were numerous indications that a general advance in construction activity might be expected within the next few weeks.

OUR idea of a home is one both PRACTICAL and ARTISTIC. By careful thought we manage to instill certain INDIVIDUALITY into each home.

It quite frequently happens that the PROSPECTIVE BUILDER'S IDEAS and PURSE do not correspond. In such cases our PRACTICAL knowledge comes to the rescue, and often where others have hopelessly FAILED, WE SUCCEED.

We build homes from the modern five-room cottage, at $900, to the most elaborate dwelling. It rests with the INDIVIDUAL entirely, what his home will cost. By concentrating our PURCHASING POWER, combined with our PRACTICAL knowledge, and being in a position to DISCOUNT our BILLS, we can, for a given quality of work, discount our competitors' prices.

We build either by contracts on a fixed fee of 10 per cent. of estimated cost of work, or on our own lots in Los Angeles, Redondo and San Pedro, on easy terms.

We make no additional charge for our Architectural services, if we build, or if we fail to satisfy you both as to price and design.

Our REFERENCES are PEOPLE for whom we HAVE BUILT, who FREELY indorse us.

FOR SALE—

SNAP ON VAN NESS AVENUE,
SIX-ROOM BUNGALOW.

The price has been reduced several hundred dollars and it is now being offered at $3600. This price is very low, when you consider that the bungalow is the same type that is being offered in the Wilshire district for $5000 or more.

It is on a big 50-foot lot, hardwood floors in every room and closets, fine fixtures, expensive plumbing and the best of decorations throughout. It is one of the most beautifully finished bungalows we have ever offered. The workmanship and material are perfect. Location is ideal, situated in and around $7000 homes. This bungalow is a great buy.

It is a bargain and something that will show you $1000 profit within twelve months.

Terms, $250 cash and $35 per month. It is a good investment, because it can be rented for that amount.

FOR SALE—

BEST LOT VALUES IN ENTIRE ONEONTA PARK DISTRICT.

Everybody knows the Oneonta Park district is one of the most beautiful and delightful residence sections around Los Angeles. It is only a question of actual location and price. I have several fine lots there, in the best locations, and at prices that cannot be duplicated. For instance, 50x150 for $1100; one dandy corner 50x 150, $1200; another a little better, same size, $1350. Excellent neighborhood, high ground, 7 car lines, only 20 minutes out, fine view mountains and valley. School two blocks away. No pioneering, high-class homes all around. Easy terms can be arranged. Don't take my word that these lots are bargains. Investigate yourself. Will show them at any time if you will phone me.

FOR SALE—
Suburban Property.

FOR SALE—
A HOUSE,
A GARDEN,
AND ALL FOR $500.
Were you looking for one of those California settlements like you used to read about? Unique canvas cottage of two to four-rooms—small stone fireplace or inexpensive air-tight stove—and a garden—yes, a semi-tropic garden with poultry as a side line?
Such a place is a refuge and retreat.
A snug harbor of home sweet home until you decide on larger plans.
Well over 200 families have thus far joined together in this little garden city in the mountains near Los Angeles. Within past five months over 100 little homes have been erected. A big social hall has been built—of stone, with a great community fireplace and weekly town meetings.
Only 16 miles from our office. Elevation of 2000 feet above sea level—in the glorified mountains—soft mountain water, homespun gravel roads, refined social and intellectual life. Co-operative store and marketing system. "Of the city but not in it."
The seventy-foot frontage only $250, with gravel roads and water piped. Double lots (half acre,) $500. Neighbors every hundred feet or so. No starvation of the soul.
Plant your family safely in this self-supporting community amidst the highmost mountains—in the most beautiful valley of Southern California. Then when the garden is started and the chickens and hares are coming on, you can goexplore for greater opportunities—or remain contented with the folks. Investigate at once. Take our auto excursion at noon each week day. Come and talk it over or write for literature.
CLARK & ARNOLD, 100 Chamber Commerce Bldg. Ground floor offices on Broadway, between First and Second sts., Los Angeles.

FOR SALE—

BEAUTIFUL FOOTHILL ACRES.

Here is a rare opportunity to obtain a beautiful eight-acre, foothill tract near Brentwood Park. This property is in a direct line of advancing values and commands a superb view of the city, mountains, and sea, the ground being level with gentle slope to the sea, a fine property for subdivision, or would make one of the most beautiful homesites on the Pacific Slope. I will sell at a sacrifice price for a short time; reasonable terms.

F. E. WOODRUFF, owner,
213 Grant Bldg. Corner 4th and Broadway.

FOR SALE—THIS IS THE DAY OF SPECIALISTS; my specialty is suburban acreage with particular attention to those desiring small tracts. Why should you worry in looking for such, when ranches submitted often prove untrue to representations? Tell me what you want and I will take you to it. Our reputation guarantees square dealing.

ALFALFA LAND.

$40, $45, $50 and $55 PER ACRE.

ONE-TENTH CASH, TEN YEARS TO PAY THE BALANCE.

RIGHT HERE IN LOS ANGELES COUNTY.

LEVEL, NO ALKALI OR ADOBE.

GOOD WATER CONDITIONS.

This land is located right here in Los Angeles county, in the Esperanza district, and adjoins some of the finest alfalfa ranches in the State, which we visit on every trip to our lands, and show the prospective purchasers just what can be done in this locality.

The soil is a decomposed granite loam that produces good crops, as is thoroughly demonstrated on the adjoining ranches.

The water question is settled here, as can be best shown by the big wells in this district, which furnish an abundance of good, pure water.

This land is not only especially adapted to growing the finest alfalfa in the State, that always sells at a premium, but will grow fine pears and apples, and owing to the fact that there are no fogs, chickens and turkeys thrive.

You have doubtless read in the news items of the different Los Angeles papers of the short time in which we sold $28,000 worth of this property to real farmers, who know alfalfa raising as a business.

What more does a person want than a good alfalfa ranch that will make him independent in a short time?

SPECIAL EXCURSION SUNDAY.

Leave S. P. Arcade Depot at 7:35 a.m. and return same day.

Make arrangements early.

FOR SALE—IN BEAUTIFUL HOLLYWOOD.
We have the finest high-class bungalow court site in Hollywood, for sale at a price which, with cost of improvements added to the price of the ground, will show an income of from 25 per cent. upward; a number of bungalow courts have been built in Hollywood during the past few months, with a view of taking care of winter visitors; they have all filled up with permanent tenants, and still there are not enough to take care of those who want homes of this class, and the winter guests are still to be cared for. This proposition will stand the closest investigation. It is in the very heart of Hollywood.

EAST WHITTIER ACRES.

Orange and lemon land, located in the East Whittier district. Close to the La Habra line of the Pacific Electric, which insures first-class transportation and shipping facilities; the soil is A1, and the climate conditions are proven beyond doubt, as this property adjoins first-class lemon, orange and walnut groves. The California Domestic Water Company furnishes plenty of water for irrigation and domestic purposes. Thus you have all the necessary elements to make complete success. Water, soil, climatic conditions and location. You can grow anything grown in Southern California, if you have the soil, water and climatic conditions, but without any of these you are put to a disadvantage. The prices of these lands are from $375 to $450 per acre, including one share of California Domestic Water Company's stock. Our terms are easy yearly payments. Come in and make arrangements to look this over.

FOR SALE— Country Property.

FOR SALE—
WE HAVE THE FOLLOWING RANCHES
FOR SALE.

Humboldt county offers the best inducement for stock raising and general farming of any county in the State, all things considered. Price of the land is cheap and railroad is now opening up that section, which will undoubtedly enhance values very materially.

17,000 acres; extra good ranch—perhaps the best equipped ranch in Northern California. 18 miles from railroad on good mountain road. 300 acres first-class bottom land. 15 acres upland, which can be cultivated. 7000 or 8000 acres open range tributary to thousands of acres government range. 7000 acres splendid timber, 200 of which heavy redwood, worth the price asked for entire place. Two large streams run through the place; lots of trout in both. New house, costing over $25,000. Electric plant, saw mill, orchards of all kinds of fruit. Garage for five machines. Wealthy man equipped this ranch for his son, who died suddenly, leaving it on his hands. A sacrifice at $15 per acre.

5700 acres; State Highway running through. Adjoins town of 200 inhabitants. One mile river front. 900 acres now under cultivation. Some bottom land. All well fenced and cross-fenced. Splendid new house, new barn, blacksmith shop, garage and other outbuildings in fine condition. Price $12.50 per acre.

5084 acres, five miles from railroad. 1000 acres tillable. 60 per cent. suitable for fruit and general farming. Splendid timber on this tract. 10,000 acres Forest Reserve tributary. Fenced and cross-fenced. House and several barns in fair condition. Price, $14 per acre.

3300 acres, 400 acres tillable. 16 miles from railroad. 235 head cattle and two houses go with place. This is an extra good buy. Price, $12.50 per acre.

1760 acres; 100 acres cultivated; 400 more can be cultivated. Well fenced. Family orchard. Good, 7-room house and several barns. This place would carry 2500 sheep or would make fine cattle ranch. Price $12 per acre.

1410 acres, 20 miles from railroad. State Highway passes through the place. 60 acres fine bottom land, suitable for alfalfa or any other crop. 400 acres tillable. Will produce from 40 to 50 bushels corn; 20 to 24 bushels wheat; 50 to 60 bushel oats. Not over 30 acres waste land on the ranch. Tributary to government range. Ideal conditions for stock raising. Small family orchard. Especially good country for fruit of all kind. With the tillable land in cultivation will carry 500 head cattle. Price, $10 per acre.

RARE BARGAIN IN RANCH.

One of the best and most complete ranches in California at Bishop, Inyo county. 2042 acres, nearly all fenced. Three complete sets of buildings with a bearing orchard on each place, apples, peaches, pears, plums, etc. Splendid well of purest water for domestic use, 411 feet deep and water nearly to surface, piped to owner's house and barn, and also to foreman's house.

All land is in grain, alfalfa or grass, except about 500 virgin acres. All can be irrigated.

Stream having source in lake in Sierra Nevada Mountains, belongs entirely to ranch. Owner has built $10,000 dam for water storage; summer creek has from 1500 to 2500 inches of water.

Present owner raises hogs, cattle and mules. Fine opportunity also for fruits. Country is fast being planted with apple and pear orchards. Investigation will prove that this is one of the finest ranch opportunities in the West. Owner will consider part cash and part trade for good income, city property.

FOR SALE—

IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR ALFALFA
INVESTIGATE THIS.

The owner of several thousand acres of land has got to sell part of it. And at the prices he is willing to take the land will go fast.

It is impossible to tell more than a very few of the main points of the property in a short ad. Read these facts, then see us for all the other details:

First and most important there is a great abundance of water. We really mean this. On part of the land there is one inch to every acre, on the rest one inch to two acres. Or you can sink your own well; water 20 to 30 feet.

The surrounding alfalfa ranches prove that the soil and all other conditions are ideal.

Right now the owner is willing to sell at a price much lower than any other property in this district.

If you are looking for alfalfa, this is your opportunity.

Don't delay your investigation, as propositions like this don't last.

FOR SALE—
A GARDEN PLOT,
A CANVAS COTTAGE,
REFINED NEIGHBORS,
MOUNTAIN CLIMATE,
NEAR LOS ANGELES.

—And there you have a snug harbor of Home, Sweet Home! Ten and twenty years ago Pasadena used to be noted for its beautiful canvas cottages costing only $100 to $150, for four cozy rooms, heated delightfully on coldest mornings and evenings by a little rough fireplace or the famous California air-tight stoves. Increasing wealth has produced mansions where originally these sweet, little homes were clustered.
—You must see our delightful garden village.
—It is only 16 miles from our office.
—It is 2000 feet above sea level.
—Live oaks, soft water, magnificent mountain environment.
—Lots with 70 feet frontage, containing full quarter-acre, only $250. Double lots (half acres,) $350.
—Terms, one-fifth down, balance monthly.
—Over 100 new little homes built within past six months. Activity, opportunity and happy environment. Auto excursion week days at noon.

FOR SALE—

COLONIZATION LAND IN ARIZONA

$4 an acre, guarantee title. 20,000 acres, all level land, sediment soil, no alkali, hardpan, adobe or stone; the land is covered with sagebrush and bunch grass; water conditions exceptionally good; wells 50 to 75 feet; furnish abundance of water; main line of S. P. Railroad runs through, and station on this land.

The soil and climate are naturally adapted to oranges, lemons, grapefruit and olives; the fact has been demonstrated by crops grown within a short distance from this property; same conditions prevail here for growing alfalfa that do in Imperial and Salt River Valleys; excepting that water can be developed at very low cost, and independent plants can be installed, which is preferred by majority of settlers. WHY NOT JOIN

BROWNLANDS HOME FARM CLUB?

(NEW ADDITION.)

We were a crowd of people who looked for land as you are doing—reading ads and plodding around. We found it—rich land in a beautiful valley, flowing artesian wells, natural gas. By agreeing to take 1000 acres we secured our separate home farms at wholesale prices and ten-year terms. We are now building our own town with school, store, etc. Our original club has been formed, but there is an opportunity of joining this ideal community of good, congenial people by applying now for an early choice in the new addition, which is now under way. See present Club Members, 226 CALIFORNIA BLDG., Corner Second and Broadway.

FOR SALE—200 ACRES, NEAR BEACH, GOOD sandy loam soil, water piped for irrigation, soil suitable for fruits, berries, chickens, and if the rapid growth of Southern California counties continue will soon be ready for lots. Want several parties to join me in the purchase of this tract, object to subdivide in small acreage tracts on small payments. We can secure this 200 acres for $400 per acre, 1-4 down, 4 years' time on balance, 6 per cent. interest. Next tract to this now being sold $400 to $750 per acre, not as well located. The best proposition I have found in 8 years residence in California, prefer to meet five parties that will take 40 acres each, but will consider 5-acre purchasers and up. Will not bind you to resell immediately, but prefer those who want to subdivide. If you want something that's got merit and is in line with the great future development, this is worth investigating. Address A, box 475, TIMES BRANCH OFFICE.

YUCAIPA VALLEY—

FOR SALE—

YUCAIPA VALLEY.

"RED APPLE" LAND.

The delicious flavor and the rich color of the Yucaipa Valley apples places them easily at the head of California fruits. The extra fancy red winter apples grown in this district command the highest market prices—the grower gets $1.50 a box net in the orchard.

Our South Bench tract is the cream of the Yucaipa Valley. Rich decomposed granite soil, thirty feet deep. Entirely sheltered against all hard winds; pure melted snow water is already piped to the land under pressure, for irrigation and domestic use; only two to four miles to station on main line S.P. Railroad, near beautiful Redlands.

Don't wait till Yucaipa orchards are selling at $1600 to $2000 an acre, but come in now and get the choicest of the cream, with water ownership, at $285 an acre, on very easy terms. See Yucaipa now, and the apple trees loaded with fine fruit. You'll be convinced that Yucaipa Valley apple orchards are yielding $500 to $1000 an acre a year.

MAKE YOUR SELECTION NOW. Join our next excursion to Yucaipa; leave Los Angeles 8:30 a.m., return here 6:10 p.m. FREE TRIPS TO BUYERS. Call or write for literature. Los Angeles office open till 9 p.m.

Joseph Miller, with T. M. MILLER CO.,
Bdwy. 1190. 205 Mercantile Place. F4978.

FOR EXCHANGE—ORANGE GROVES.
In the early part of this year, immediately after the frost, this office acquired several choice 10-acre navel groves in most favored section of Riverside.
The prevailing prices at that time, plus the care, money, and attention subsequently given, have perhaps more than justified this class of an investment, and the appearance of these groves today, with their fine crops, will amply demonstrate how they have generously responded.
Each of these groves has been a good producer, and I am in a position to sell at most advantageous prices, or exchange for city or country realty.
CRICHTON SMITH,
201-2 Currier Bldg.

FOR SALE—ORANGE GROVES, BUY NOW. THOSE who are posted say the next ten years in the citrus business will be the best we have ever had.
We have on our list some of the best groves in Redlands and Rialto at prices that are right. We have them either on a cash or exchange basis. All have fine crops.
We call especial attention to a 220-acre property that we can sell on a small cash payment down, or will accept a small clear property instead. Balance mortgage at reasonable interest. This grove has a $20,000 crop on now and is as near frostless as any in the State.

BUNGALOW COURT.

Here is the best buy in the city. Big lot 78x[illegible] close in on west side, now occupied by two detached bungalows rented for $70 a month; [illegible] large garage, which can be easily remodeled [illegible] bungalows to rent for $40, making a total [illegible] $110 monthly. Lot is so located as to [illegible] 12 furnished bungalows to rent from $30 to $40 each or a 200-room apartment and [illegible] bungalows. Must sell to close an estate. Will take $8000 for lot, bungalows, furniture, garage, tenants and all. $1000 cash, balance $75 a month. Carries itself, eh? When First street tunnel is built this lot will be worth $20,000 without any improvements. This is one of those snaps you often read about but seldom ever see.

BUSINESS INVESTMENTS—

ACTIVE SUCCESSFUL YOUNG BUSINESS MAN FROM East would consider association with established successful trust company or real estate firm. Twenty years' experience in subdividing, advertising and selling real estate, city and country, in building apartment houses and residences, making and negotiating real estate mortgage loans, charge of business property and writing fire insurance. Am in touch with eastern capital and have considerable means of my own. Unless the financial and moral standing of your company will stand closest investigation, do not waste your time in answering. Give particulars first letter. Address W, box 275, TIMES OFFICE.

A CONSERVATIVE INVESTMENT—
Want to meet party with $5000 to take balance of going manufacturing business.
1911 sales, $94,000.
1911 dividends paid $10,000.
1912 sales, $99,800.
1912 dividends paid $12,000.
1912 net earnings, $15,800.
Total assets, $50,000.
No liabilities.
1913 business to date running 18 per cent. excess 1912.
Accrued profits and money in bank.
Established here over 25 years.
Close corporation of four persons.
ROOM 402, HOTEL SNOW.

FOR SALE—INVESTMENT.
I have the exclusive handling of a thousand acres of land, 8 miles from San Diego. This tract is in the new irrigation district and will have water from this source very soon. To the man who can see the possibilities of selling in small tracts, there will be a fortune. San Diego is enjoying tremendous growth and the exposition of 1915 will produce buyers for this land at large prices. Let me explain in detail. C. M. GRABLE, 2074 W. 29th place.

ELECTRIC (WATER POWER) CORPORATION STOCK seldom offered public. Why? Because large interests take all the stock themselves and sell bonds for construction, thus making immense profits. We have last project this kind left Southern California of any consequence. Limited amount stock can be had at promoter's cost for completion surveys when bonds will be issued like others. Company capitalized at tenth estimated value. One dollar invested now should be worth one hundred with plant in operation. F2191 or 201 EQUITABLE BLDG.

100 PER CENT. YEARLY—
You can make this and more annually on Spineless Cactus. I have 20 acres close in choice land. Want one or two men with $1000 to $5000 who want to join me and plant this land. Profits first year $20,000 or more. $5000 is all I require to make this amount and profits will be more than double that the second. Absolutely no risk and this business has no limit for live men. Quick action necessary. See MR. RIDEOUT, 909 Van Nuys Bldg.

DATE CULTURE OFFERS THE BIGGEST INDUCEMENT for investment of anything in America; I am a scientist and expert on dates. To a man of means I can prove the great possibilities of this industry, second to none, and of the few thousand acres of choice date lands I know every foot; this is no stock company or scheme to promote, but a good clean legitimate business with big returns. Address A, box 468, TIMES BRANCH OFFICE.

$1,500,000 PROFIT.
$1000 invested will make $100,000 profit each for 15 men, or $15,000 will make $1,500,000 for one man. Will you be one of fortunate "fifteen" to obtain an interest in a pool to purchase 30,000 acres of rich agricultural land that will readily sell at a profit of $100 per acre and up, which equals more than $3,000,000, but, estimating the profits on a very conservative basis and then cutting this amount in half, a $1000 interest in this pool should make a net profit of more than $100,000. Address Z, box 508, TIMES BRANCH OFFICE.

FOR SALE—25 YEARS' ESTABLISHED WINERY business; large stock of wine; complete steam plant; plenty water; horses, chickens, tools, wagons, houses and barns. Will sell 10 acres with winery or 40 acres on corner close to San Bernardino and Redlands P.E. R.R., in center of best farming section in Southern California. Owner unable to attend to it. If you are looking for good income proposition, investigate this bargain.

WANTED—A PARTNER IN CORPORATION. I WANT THE ASSOCIATION WITH ME OF A PARTY WHO HAS SOME MONEY AND WISHES TO BECOME INTERESTED WITH ME IN THE INCORPORATION OF MY WORK. A FIELD OF PROFIT AND STRONG AND CONTINUAL GROWTH; OF OPPORTUNITY UNLIMITED; AND HANDLED IN A MANNER MOST HONEST AND MOST SURE OF OUR INCREASING PATRONAGE, OBTAINED AND KEPT AT SMALL COST. ADDRESS V, BOX 128, TIMES OFFICE.

MY PARTNER AND MYSELF ARE BUILDERS IN Los Angeles on a large scale. We have now 65 neat, modern, artistic bungalows, either just completed or under course of construction, which are selling at big profits as soon as built, and when all finished will net more than $40,000 profit. We are not spending all our profits in big offices and fine display, but are saving at every turn, and have very moderate expenses. In order to handle the detail of this business, we must incorporate and need to associate with us a good, honest, industrious man or woman to help either at the tract or in the office, who can invest $5000 or more, and to whom we will give a fine salary and an interest in the business. The money will be fully secured. There is absolutely no risk, with big profits. A plain, ordinary man or woman can attend to all the necessary duties, only common sense needed. We are both honest and straightforward, and desire to deal with the same kind of a person. For personal interview, address A, box 558, TIMES BRANCH OFFICE.

CITY OF PHOENIX. FOR SALE, WELL ESTABLISHED exclusive shoe store, catering to the better trade only. Store is carrying clean, up-to-date merchandise, amounting to about $12,000, all absolutely new. Finest front and fixtures in Phoenix. Location unexcelled. Lease is worth $5000; in fact, $5000 has been offered as a bonus. Owner has other large interests in Los Angeles which demand his entire attention. If you want to step into a well-established business, this is your opportunity. Will accept part cash, balance easy terms, but do not answer this ad unless you mean business. Have no time for triflers. Address A, box 476, TIMES BRANCH OFFICE.

IT IS OFTEN SAID THAT IT IS REALLY MORE difficult to invest money and always keep it, than it is to save in the first place. Careful investigation before investment will protect money that otherwise would be lost by enterprises mismanaged or improperly organized. I represent established concerns that have passed the test of careful investigation and that are in need of funds, ranging from $1000 upward. Some of these concerns will employ investors who are competent and experienced in business. Full information will be furnished without cost to you, if you will let me know what kind of a safe investment you want.

WANTED—MONEY FOR SAFE INVESTMENT AT GOOD RATES, AND FREE FROM TAXES.

We respectfully invite men and women of means to investigate the merits of Seven Per Cent. Bonds issued by Incorporated Cities of California in payment for paving and other public improvements.

Street Improvement Bonds are absolutely safe. They are a first lien on the property, taking precedence of mortgages and all other liens except taxes.

Including bonuses on bonds taken up before maturity, Street Improvement Bonds earn an average income of 8 to 10 per cent. We attend to collections of interest, principal and bonuses for our clients without charge.

We are now offering some very high-class issues of these desirable securities. Call or write for full information.

FOOTBALL RESULTS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

Penny Gets Revenge.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—The University of Pennsylvania got revenge today for the 6 to 3 defeat administered by Swathmore last year when the Red and Blue trounced the Garnet eleven on Franklin Field this afternoon by a score of 20 to 0. Two touchdowns, a goal from the field and one from placement, marked the scoring power of Coach Brooke's machine.

Badgers Win.

MADISON (Wis.) Oct. 11.—The University of Wisconsin football team defeated Marquette University of Milwaukee today, 13 to 0.

Much Fumbling.

CHAMPAIGN (Ill.) Oct. 11.—The University of Illinois defeated Missouri by 24 to 7 on Illinois Field today. The Illinois team, prone to fumble in miserable style, was slow in striking their scoring gait, but they tied up in the second period and ran away with the Tigers in the second half.

Big Score.

LAWRENCE (Kan.) Oct. 11.—The University of Kansas football team easily defeated the Washington University eleven of St. Louis, the score being 55 to 7.

Straight Football.

NASHVILLE (Tenn.) Oct. 11.—Relying on straight football Vanderbilt easily defeated the Central of Kentucky team here today, 48 to 0.

Bucknell Scores.

PRINCETON (N. J.) Oct. 11.—Using a maze of forward passes, which in most cases were unsuccessful, but in one instance proved good for forty yards and a touchdown, Bucknell crossed the Princeton goal line today for the first time this season. Topham failed to kick the goal. The final score was: Princeton, 28; Bucknell, 6.

Princeton had no difficulty in plowing through the visitors' line for three touchdowns, to which Streit added another on a 60-yard run, H. A. H. Baker kicking four goals from the touchdowns.

Brickley Stars.

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Oct. 11.—Harvard's football team was played to a standstill for three periods today by an eleven from Williams, but in the closing moments of the play the Crimson scoring machine got into action and made three touchdowns. The final score was: Harvard, 22; Williams, 3.

With the count 3 to 3 at the opening of the fourth period, Coach Haughton called leading Crimson players back into the game from the side lines and Brickley and Rollins scored touchdowns in succession.

The Times is the only newspaper in Los Angeles that does not make a practice of permitting agents, newsboys and dealers to return unsold copies of its issues. Neither does it misbrand or predate its editions, or inflate its circulation by printing more copies than are actually necessary to supply its patrons.

The Times' entire circulation is practically net, and it is more genuine and superior in every respect to that of any other newspaper.

STOPS BUILDING OF RAILROADS.

Arizona Commission Called Detriment to State.

Hostility to Corporations Is Scored by Randolph.

Book-keeper Spends Hundred Dollars Day in Tucson.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Oct. 10.—That the Arizona Corporation Commission is blocking the wheels of progress is a deduction from the remarks of Col. Epes Randolph, president of the Arizona Eastern and Southern Pacific southwestern subsidiary lines. He states that his company has a quarter of a million dollars in new equipment ordered that it is unable to pay for, as well as a floating debt of $1,696,000 that it wants to fund, that it has in view an extension from near Florence to the new mining camp of Superior, as well as other extensions of large importance and benefit to Arizona. But all this business has been hung up through the refusal of the commission to act upon an application made by the company December 10, last, for permission to issue bonds. The colonel prophesies that "there will be no railroad construction within this State so long as the present hostility of the State government toward railroad corporations continues. In time there will be a change in Arizona. When that will be I cannot say, but probably not until the people begin to realize that railroads are an essential forerunner of development. Arizona now has 2000 miles of railroads; it ought to have 20,000."

FAST PACE IN TUCSON.

According to P. W. Samways, it cost him about $100 a day to keep up with the fast set of Tucson, though he was simply a book-keeper at the Eagle mills during the latter half of 1912. He has just been returned here from Savannah, Ga., to stand trial for the embezzlement of $2000 from the mills. He could have been sent to one of several other States, but he preferred Arizona, for the penitentiary here has more or less of an enviable reputation among law-breakers. He got away from Tucson with only $200 and was caught when about to embark for England, his native land, where he says he secured a degree from Cambridge University. He does not deny his misdeeds, but rather seems to have professional pride in their perfection of detail. Leaving here, he went to California, securing a position in Fairfield, Solano county, where he is charged with forging two checks, as also a check in Denver, on his eastward way, and at San Antonio. In California he called himself P. M. Davidson and under that name is said to be wanted also for little check transactions at Santa Barbara and Sacramento. It is told that he has had similar business dealings in Boulder, Colo., in the Dakotas and in Indiana. In Georgia he was raising money for his foreign trip by using another man's name with which to telegraph the man's brother.

CONSUL IS ACCUSED.

E. V. Anaya, former Mexican Consul at Tucson, and his brother-in-law, Jose Escobosa, both charged with violation of the neutrality laws in connection with the smuggling of munitions of war into Mexico, are out on bail of $2500 each, pending examination October 18 before a court commissioner. The "munitions of war" specifically comprised the Didier Masson aeroplane, which, shipped from Los Angeles, taken from the train at Tucson, partially assembled at a ranch near the border and rushed across the line by night, was to have secured the triumph of the Constitutionalists over the Huertistas, but it didn't. A material witness for the government is R. W. Graeme of Los Angeles, who was chauffeur of one of the automobiles that bore the flying machine into Mexico.

Monday, in his cabin near Mescal, a few miles from Benson, was found the body of John Lupnow, for thirty years a prospector and miner in that locality and aged about 75 years. It is believed he died about two months ago, the body being little more than a skeleton when discovered by a passing cowboy. For several years the old man had been working mining claims by others considered worthless.

The last cold snap brought woe along the Southern Pacific, for all the station stoves of the Arizona division were in Tucson at the time, shipped here for overhauling.

Permission has been given by the City Council for the occupation of a part of Military Plaza by an armory, to be built jointly by the State and by the people of Tucson. The total cost of the structure is set at $21,000.

Railway Troubles in South Carolina.

[Yorkville Enquirer:] Wednesday morning as the Chicago and Northwestern train, No. 9, was coming up the grade between East Jefferson and East Liberty streets a small white pig was in the middle of the tracks. Engineer Smythe blew his whistle vigorously and the firemen rang the bell, but the pig looked on with apparent unconcern. Uncle Bob applied the brakes and brought the big mogul to a standstill. The fireman jumped down from his seat and tried to drive the pig off the right of way. The pig ran along the track toward the station, the train started, and then the pig stopped again a second time and a stander-by drove the swine to East Liberty street and allowed Uncle Bob to pull his train to the station.

GETS NEW IDEAS OF CHARITIES.

DR. JOHNSON RETURNS PREPARED TO IMPROVE THINGS.

Chairman of City Commission Takes Look at Conditions in Big Municipalities and Will Recommend Changes to His Colleagues. Pleased With Lack of Graft Here.

Dr. Milbank Johnson, chairman of the Municipal Charities Commission of this city, returned yesterday from a two-weeks' trip to take his daughter to a school in the East. He improved the opportunity to get in touch with charity work in cities in New England and the Middle West.

Dr. Johnson found an active interest being taken in those centers in the experiment this city is making with municipal control of all charities which appeal to the general public for aid and support. While in the East, Dr. Johnson visited the headquarters and conferred with the officers of the Associated Charities in Boston, which he pronounces a well-managed organization, as were most if not all those he visited; the New York Charities Organization Societies and the Russell Sage Foundation, the latter with an endowment of $10,000,000, doing splendid work; the United Charities in Chicago, and the Chicago Association of Commerce.

In the latter city, the United Charities do not indorse charitable organizations; that is left to the Association of Commerce, which body has a set of requirements which must be met as a condition precedent to indorsement by that body. These requirements impressed Dr. Johnson as worthy of adoption by charity organizations in other cities, and are as follows:

"The organization must have responsible and satisfactory local management. Its Administrative Committee or board of managers shall meet at least four times a year.

"The organization must be doing a work whose value is commensurate with the amount of money expended. (The auditor's report may be satisfactory, yet the philanthropic work may be so inefficient or so useless to the community that its support is not justified.)

"The organization shall agree to cooperate with other charitable institutions in promoting efficiency and economy of administration in the charities of the city as a whole and in preventing duplication of effort. Those organizations engaged in relief work shall register their cases with the social service registration bureau.

"The organization shall fill a need not already well filled by an existing organization and not capable of being thus filled. Those who desire to inaugurate new philanthropic organizations should give the fullest opportunity for the discussion of the proposed plans by a group, or groups, of persons who have had wide experience in philanthropic work.

"The methods employed in raising funds shall be approved by this committee. The committee will refuse indorsement when an excessive percentage is paid to collectors, or when the expenses of an entertainment are disproportionate to the receipts.

"The accounts shall be audited annually by public accountants."

Los Angeles is the only city in the country which has undertaken to eliminate graft and other wasteful leaks in charitable work by having all such work under the supervision and control of a municipal commission. The nearest approach to it is in Kansas City, where an approximation of municipal supervision is being tried. Another city, Toronto, is working on a plan very similar to that on trial in this city, but there the experiment is only two or three months old and it is too early accurately to forecast results.

Dr. Johnson said last night that he will not be back "officially" until tomorrow morning, when he expects to have an informal conference with the other members of the Municipal Charities Commission, and with the Reorganization Committee of the Associated Charities, at which the winter campaign will be discussed and also plans for the general work of the commission.

Nine organizations carrying on charitable and relief work in the city have complied with the requirements of the commission and have been indorsed by that body. They are: Needle Work Guild, No. 305 South Normandie avenue; King's Daughters' Day Nursery, No. 132 North Clarence street; Florence Crittenden Home, No. 1632 Santee street; St. Vincent de Paul Society, No. 201 Wilson block; Woman's Alliance, No. 127 South Utah street; Barlow Sanatorium, Chavez Ravine road; Los Angeles Orphans' Home, No. 815 El Centro avenue; Brownson House Settlement Association, No. 711 Jackson street; Southern California Home for Women and Children, No. 221 East Avenue 57. Other organizations are getting in line by making such changes as will meet with the commission's approval and secure its indorsement.

As soon as the Reorganization Committee of the Associated Charities has completed its work, the commission will place its stamp of approval on that society and it will be in a position to prosecute its work in an efficient and vigorous manner. It is expected that the Salvation Army and the Volunteers of America will soon be placed in the same favorable relation with the commission; in fact, the latter organization is understood to have made much progress along that line.

Grain.

WHEAT PRICES ARE BROKEN.

PRESSURE IS DIRECTED TOWARD THE SELLING SIDE.

Longs Are Obliged to Contend With the Fact that Week's Receipts Are Larger Than the Shipments—Oats Sagged Because of Setback Suffered by Other Grain.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Well directed pressure on the selling side today broke the price of wheat. The market closed nervous, ⅝@¾ to ⅞ off. Corn finished ⅝ to ⅞@1 down, oats at a decline of ⅛ to ⅛@¼ and provisions irregular, varying from 12½ loss to an advance of 2½. Wheat longs had to contend with the fact that receipts here this week were larger than the shipments. Accumulating supplies and the slowness of shipping call furnished incentive for the bears in corn. Oats sagged because of setback suffered by other grain. Provisions displayed sympathy with the upset inflicted on cereals.

New York Cotton Market.

[Furnished by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The Liverpool advance was not met here this morning, but the market held fairly steady the early part of the session. Trading was very light and was done mostly by local professionals. There was no heavy selling from the south, spot interests or Wall street. A decline of some ten points occurred in the last fifteen minutes.

TWO FOR ONE

THE TIMES

WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION AND AMERICAN MAGAZINE

A wealth of attractive, clean, interesting reading matter.

The Times has arranged with the publishers of the Woman's Home Companion and the American Magazine to furnish annual subscriptions to both magazines in connection with yearly subscriptions to THE LOS ANGELES TIMES.

The Woman's Home Companion regularly contains contributions on home economies of all kinds; care of babies for young mothers; interesting and attractive articles for young people; a splendid fashion section—in fact, a variety of good subjects suitable for all literary tastes.

The American Magazine is clean and wholesome. At present a very interesting series of stories on the great national pastime, baseball, is being published under the signature of a famous ball player. Special fiction numbers are issued during the year. A particularly good serial story now running is "Angel Island," by Inez Hayes Gillmore; also stories of adventure.

The Times is the biggest newspaper published on the Pacific Coast; biggest because it contains all the news and a greater volume of advertising than is printed by any other newspaper. The Associated Press dispatches, supplemented by a comprehensive special wire service, give Times' readers all the news of the world. Practically one entire section of the paper is devoted to matters of local interest.

A 4-page Sporting Section is a regular daily feature of The Times.

The Sunday Times regularly includes a 24-page Illustrated Weekly, a publication unique in the newspaper world.

This great mass of excellent reading matter is furnished to The Times' subscribers, old and new, at a special price to be had on application at The Times' main office, First and Broadway; at the Branch Office, 619 South Spring street, or through any regular Times agent. Old subscribers, not already on subscription contract, are privileged to take advantage of this splendid subscription offer.

STOCKS REACH NEW LOW POINT.

PROTRACTED DECLINE CAUSES BEAR MOVEMENT.

Raid With Which They Begin Day's Trading Is Most Successful of Any Recent Drive—Effect of Tariff Law Has Made Present Situation Doubtful.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—A new low level was reached today in the protracted decline of the stock market. There was an increased supply of stocks from traders on both sides of the market, with the chief impetus coming from the bears. The raid with which they began the day's trading was the most successful of any since the present movement, and prices were forced downward 1 to 2 points in the first few minutes. Later came a fractional rally, but the close was near the lowest. The conspicuous feature was the entire crippling of the market's buying power. Pendency of the suit to separate Central Pacific from Southern Pacific and reports of renewed disturbances in Mexico were seized on by the bears as ammunition. The uncertain outlook for business and money, the effect of the new tariff law and the course of events at Washington have made the present situation such a doubtful one in the opinion of traders, that investors and speculators are unwilling to buy stocks. The bank statement made a better showing than had been looked for. The actual cash loss was only about $1,000,000 and in consequence of the scaling down of deposits, [illegible] increased materially. Weakness developed in bonds with steel 5s falling to par. Total sales, par value, $[illegible]. United States 2's and Panama 2's and 3's declined ¼ and United States 4's advanced ⅛ on call on the week.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

Weakness Continues Dominant Characteristic — Unsettlement of Conditions Is Augmented.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchange, Bradbury building, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The stock market continued to display pronounced weakness. The slight rally which occurred was very feeble and failed to hold. Sentiment of late has been greatly depressed by advices from Washington and by the well-defined indications of reactionary tendencies in trade circles in this country and abroad. The uneasiness in the foreign markets which has been induced by fears of labor troubles and by strained financial conditions in South America, Egypt and India, contributed to unsettlement in domestic quarters. A feature of recent trading in the stock market has been liquidation by holders of securities who purchased during the June and July decline, presumably for permanent investment, but who apparently are now disposed to reduce lines in view of disturbing factors in the situation. Support has been conspicuous by its absence and prominent market interests seem disposed to resume a neutral attitude pending some definite indications as to whether foreign liquidation of American issues is likely to continue on a broad scale and whether the currency and banking legislation now in prospect will be handled along non-partisan lines and in keeping with a desire to refrain from upsetting existing standards.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Tone of Market Improves Slightly, but Volume of Business Is Still Rather Small.

The volume of trading at the Stock Exchange yesterday was about as usual for the past week. The list was generally a little stronger. Union Provident attracted some interest, selling steadily at the closing bid, $70. Maricopa Northern advanced to 13 cents. Favorable developments at the property is the cause. United Oil was stronger. Globe Oil firmed a little. National Pacific was quiet, but stronger. Union and United Petroleum showed slightly better tone, although not traded in. Consolidated Realty and Los Angeles Investment were about steady. Ten shares of Security Trust and Savings went at $392.50, the closing bid price. California Hills and Consolidated Mines were nominally unchanged. Another clean-up at Consolidated Mines is expected within the next two weeks or so. The company recently made a small run of ore through the mill, which resulted, it is stated, in a brick of gold of about $2900 value.

Boston Copper Market.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury building, Los Angeles.]

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—The market today showed no change in the attitude of the big interests. Absolutely no support was furnished the leading issues and in spite of the extensive decline the past few days there was no rally at the close. The currency bill and the attitude of the administration toward corporations are the two unsettling factors, and the big interests are disposed to let the market drift until they have some assurance that their rights and interests will be considered when the new currency bill is molded.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET

Trading yesterday on the wholesale markets was scarcely what might be termed brisk. There was a good clean-up on week-end products, fresh fruits being particularly good sellers as compared with staples. Peaches are more plentiful than they have been in a month and prices have been going down. A number of late varieties are appearing on the market and they are of uniform good quality. The fancy clingstone peaches are selling from 60 to 75 cents a lug box, while the freestone fruit is bringing a considerably higher figure. A few German prunes have been received during the week, and it is generally conceded that they are about the last plums to appear on the market, with the possible exception of some cold storage stock that is being held for the holiday season. Apples sold very well and prices failed to fluctuate under receipts of 7853 boxes. The receipts of apples for the week have been heavy and prices have sagged just fractionally. Bellefleurs are going into storage largely and some of the other fruit is also being sent there.

The market on eggs continues firm, despite the fact that it is generally recognized as higher than ever before at this season of the year. It has made a 50-cent retail price on the product, which begins to put eggs in the prohibitive class and causes a decline in consumption. Last year they were selling at 42 and in 1907 they were worth only 39. Receipts were 150 cases for the day.

The demand for butter was excellent through the week at the lower figures, but it was not of sufficient volume to keep the market from declining and yesterday another drop of 1 cent was reported, making the present jobbing price 32 cents. Receipts were 25,886 pounds. There was nothing new in the cheese line, and receipts were but 698 pounds.

There is some weakness in the potato market at the end of the week, and yesterday morning fancy Highlands were refused at $1.15 among the jobbers. The supply is heavier than the demand right now. Receipts were 5180 sacks. The market on onions continued more than firm, going upward again yesterday on all yellow varieties, which are averaging more than $2. Receipts were only 30 sacks. There were no beans reported. Sweet potato arrivals were 427 sacks. The market on them continues weak.

REASONS WHY 7% IMPROVEMENT BONDS ISSUED BY CALIFORNIA CITIES ARE THE BEST INVESTMENT

REASON NO. 1

They are the basic real estate security. They automatically take precedence of mortgages, judgments and liens of every description except taxes. They are absolutely first, and the value of the property as compared to the amount of the bond is greater than in any security we know of.

We have City Improvement Bonds always in stock ready for delivery. We can supply any amount, $100 or $100,000.

Why Don't You Think?

There is no safety guaranteed as to either principal or dividends in any Common Stock. All debts of any corporation are a charge ahead of stocks. The Prior Lien Bonds of the Union Oil Company are a First Mortgage obligation. Principal and interest are secured by assets of eight to one. At present prices these bonds net the investor 6.70 per cent. We can furnish, subject to prior sale, a block of Union First Lien Bonds on this basis. Consult us.

Local Stock Market Activities

By Jno. O. Knight.

Stocks paused in their upward trend during the week, although in most cases their recently acquired gains were fairly well held. Trading in the leading issues was also somewhat more contracted. Union Oil maintained a practically unchanged quotation around $89 and Amalgamated eased off to $79.

In the bank list, First National continued in demand at around $680 and Home Savings Bank was advanced to close to $150. In connection with the recent price changes in First National, it is interesting to note that this stock sold five years ago at $380 per share. Its advance from that point to $750 was practically uninterrupted. The reaction of the past summer carried the quotation as low as $645. The course of the market on other of the leading local bank stocks during the past few years is hardly less interesting than that of the First National. German-American was selling five years ago at around $280 per share, and Security Savings at around $300 per share. Both stocks are now selling close to $400.

The bond market continues firm. Union Oil 5's are quoted at $82 to $82.50, Los Angeles Railway Corporation 5's at from $92 to $92.50 and Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation 5's at from $91.50 to $92.

Trading in the lower priced oil stocks continued fairly active. United Oil reached to 13 cents and then advanced to 16 cents. National Pacific sold at from 7 cents to 8¼. Jade Oil traded at from 7¼ to 8 cents.

The last weekly report of production by the Tom Reed Gold Mines Company shows a value of $14,254.96, with an average of $18.63 per ton.

The recent organization of the Consolidated London-Arizona Copper Company has resulted in some demand for old London-Arizona Copper Company stock which is to be absorbed by the new corporation.

The number of out-of-town orders that are being sent in for Los Angeles Investment Company shares indicate the confidence that non-residents have in the future of this city's real estate and building prosperity. Sales were made during the week at prices ranging from $1.70 to $2.00 with bids of $1.95 in the market at yesterday's close.

There are life-sized booms on for District Attorney John D. Fredericks and Hon. Samuel M. Shortridge of San Francisco for the Republican nominations for Governor and United States Senator, respectively. There has been a strong and steady movement in the direction of Capt. Fredericks for some time past, and during the past few days there has been a definiteness about his probable candidacy that has aroused unusual local interest. Capt. Fredericks is regarded as the most available man upon all differing elements in the Republican party can agree, and whose popularity is so general throughout the State as to practically insure his success over Gov. Johnson.

The probability of Shortridge entering the Senatorial race was enhanced somewhat the past week at a local conference of Republicans, who believe he would make a winner. Shortridge boosters have been heard of in not only Los Angeles but in San Bernardino, San Diego and Riverside, as well. There is less talk than there had been concerning the probability of Congressman Knowland of Alameda county entering the Senatorial race, although it is no secret that the popular northerner would like to succeed Senator Perkins.

The men who are talking of Fredericks and Shortridge are also slating Atty.-Gen. U. S. Webb for a third term. Little attention has thus far been paid to the other State offices with the exception of Secretary of State. The Progressives are still paying some little attention to Kemper Campbell of Los Angeles as a possible aspirant to succeed Frank Jordan, while other active politicians are wondering if Senator Henry H. Lyon wouldn't make available timber for the same place. Lyon tells me that he has no intention of entering such a race. He is more disposed to pay heed to a suggestion that he might find it advisable to take a try at Congressional honors about three years hence.

Organization among local Republicans continues with enthusiasm and unbounded interest. There are now no less than three movements in this direction, but with no factional feeling in evidence, each movement being independent of the other, but actuated with the same general purpose of getting a complete and thorough working organization together. The preliminaries have been attended to by these Republicans, who propose first organizing in each Assembly District. They have elected Attorney Fred J. Spring as president, Police Commissioner Vincent Morgan as first-vice president, Banker John Lopozich of the International Bank as second vice-president, and John Baker of the Erckenbrecher syndicate as secretary. There is to be a meeting next Friday night at the Mozart Theater building to further consider the selection of leaders in each of the Assembly Districts, and the appointment of six additional workers as members of the Executive Committee. Plans are already under way for the inauguration of a vigorous educational campaign in both city and county so that the intelligent men and women will be kept in touch with the faith and principles of Republicanism. Prominent speakers will be brought here from other cities and other States. That this movement is meeting with success is indicated by the large number of applications for membership already in hand. On Thursday last there were sixty-two applications received.

Around about the City Hall there is a revival of interest in the probable resignation of City Tax Collector Taggart. If the latter has any change of disposition in this regard he is keeping it closely to himself. License Clerk Ed Lovie and Chief Deputy A. B. Conrad of the City Assessor's office are regarded as the leading candidates for Taggart's job, with the sentiment drifting toward Conrad as having just a shade the best of the chances.

Quite a caravan of city officials were guests at an outing on ex-Police Commissioner Charlie Sadler's country ranch last Sunday. In the party of fifty-six guests were Councilman Betkouski, City Clerk Charlie Wilde, Senator Henry Lyon and Samuel Bennett, one of the "reform" bosses of the old Seventh Ward. There was only seventy-five pounds of fried chicken for the bunch, not forgetting the sweet potatoes and tempting libations.

Interest is already looming up in the various Assembly districts, which may be accounted for on the ground that the next State Legislature will have the choosing of a United States Senator. In the Sixty-second District there is talk of William Wickersham, who was until recently in the United States customs service. Bloodgood of Inglewood won last year. Jesse Schafer is posed to make the fight against Frank E. Woodley in the Sixty-fourth. It has been discovered the foreign population in the Sixty-sixth District is so large that somebody has brought out Constantine V. Ricardo as a candidate. Dick Fullaway of Sheriff Hammel's office is proposed in the Sixty-fifth to defeat Socialist Kingsley, who won by a fluke last time. F. L. Jones and Charles Hassal are also among those mentioned. Fred J. Spring may be prevailed upon to make the fight in the Seventy-first District against Elijah A. Emmons; and to take Frank H. Mouser down to defeat is the hope of William Vacher, who will seek the nomination in the Seventy-fourth District.

By-the-bye, Mouser seems to be getting into lots of trouble. Not only will he have a fight on his hands for renomination to the Assembly in the Progressive ranks, but he has seemingly been losing with the Progressive leaders. The hardest blow to his political fortunes came recently when Tuttle was dismissed from the labor bureau. Tuttle had been a member of the Progressive Campaign Committee, and was Mouser's personal campaign manager. Despite Mouser's personal plea in Tuttle's behalf the latter was forced to walk the gangplank. George W. Conart also was let out notwithstanding his loyalty to the Progressive chiefs.

Supervisor Norton is still engaged in his rearrangement plan for the five Supervisorial Districts. I understand that Norton is particularly interested in chopping off most of the Seventh and Eighth Wards and taking the Vernon section into his present district. He also has Assemblyman Mouser camping on his trail if he seeks re-election in the near future under this proposed reapportionment.

It is about decided that Supervisor Manning will have the opposition of Dr. Ralph Skilien in his district. Will Wright of the County Assessor's office is also reported to have a candidate in training for Manning's place.

In the Third Supervisorial District there promises to be quite a scramble for Butler's seat. Among the prospective candidates already heard of are ex-Councilman Ed Clampitt, Charlie Donnatin, formerly a Southern Pacific foreman; ex-Councilman George McLain, and Billy Cline, a one-time constable.

Postmaster Fiske of San Francisco, who has announced his readiness to resign and accommodate the Washington bosses of the Democratic party, was a visitor in Los Angeles last week. Fiske intends taking up his permanent residence here, as he is to assume charge of the business affairs of Mrs. Hull McClaughrey, one of the daughters of the late "Lucky" Baldwin. Fiske says he hasn't any notion of making the race for the Governorship.

Quiet pervades the Democratic ranks, at least so far as surface indications go, but I hear that there is a rod in pickle for Tim Spellacy because he is reported to have put the Cotton County Committee "in bad" with President Wilson and the administration officials at the national capital. Ambassador Shelly, I understand, made this startling discovery a few days ago, after he had enjoyed an interview with Postmaster-General Burleson. It is no longer any secret that the committee is regarded in Washington as under the domination of the Hearst influence, although Cotton and his friends denounce these allegations maliciously manufactured. Be that as it may, there is a good deal of criticism directed against the famous committee of thirty-three members which has been making an ineffectual attempt to secure certain desired appointments. Shelly's report, however, is accepted as official, and there are members of the committee who do not relish being catalogued as Hearstites. There are others, however, who don't care a rap. Some of the unconcerned Bourbons express the opinion that Cotton is unfortunate in having trusted so much authority to so many Democrats who are so poorly informed in regard to inside politics, as to make them easily misled and used by his and their own political enemies. They have even been caught doing the very things that they believe themselves opposed to. But, whatever the result of the Shelly report may be, Peter Spellacy is now in the fight for the postmastership with the full and avowed support of his brother, and he will continue to be, whether the thirty-three like it or not.

GERRYMANDERING STATE EXPENSES?

NORTHERN OFFICIALS CHARGED BOLD TAX RAID.

Attorney Alleges Property Values Here Are Exaggerated by Administration Minions to Pay "Progressive" Debts—Hancock-Ross Inheritance Value Disputed.

Upon the actual value of the Ida Hancock Ross estate hinges the question as to whether the inheritance tax to the State will be a million dollars or only a quarter of a million. Upon the court rests the matter of determining this point, as attorneys for the estate went over the head of the State inheritance tax department yesterday and applied to the Probate Court to fix the market value of 2000 acres of land near Hollywood with a two-mile frontage along Wilshire boulevard.

Stephens and Stephens, attorneys for the estate, who made the application for appraisement by the court, stated that Frank Sproule, appraiser for the estate, valued the holding at $3,971,220, the inheritance tax upon which would be about $200,000. Judge Rives yesterday set the matter for hearing on the 20th inst.

The reason for the unusual action of going into the Probate Court to have the value of the estate established is because the State Controller intimated that the appraisement is about one-third of what the State inheritance tax department thinks it should be.

Raymond Stephens, junior member of Stephens & Stephens, stated yesterday that the whole of Southern California is involved in this matter. He declared it looked to him as though the aim of the officials in the North is to make this end of the State pay for the extravagances of the present administration.

"This, to my mind, is the start for a general raid on vested property here," Stephens said. "We consider the appraisement high. The law is that property must be appraised at the actual cash market value of the property or the price at which it will sell in the open market on the day of death."

He stated that the 2000 acres would not find a market today at the rate of $2000 an acre.

State Controller John S. Chambers, through J. W. Carrigan, inheritance tax attorney for Southern California, and Robert A. Warring, State inheritance tax attorney, have appeared before the court. They contend that the property is worth in round figures somewhere between $9,000,000 and $12,000,000.

"The property consists of 2000 acres lying just west of the city limits of Los Angeles, and a portion within the city limits, with a frontage of over two miles along Wilshire boulevard," said Carrigan yesterday. "La Brea boulevard passes north and south through the middle of the property and Windsor Square, one of Los Angeles highest class residential subdivisions, joins it on the east, while Hollywood and Colegrove adjoin on the north of the property.

"This 2000-acre principality has been held in the Hancock-Ross family for over thirty years. It was originally bought by the elder Hancock from the government for $1.25 per acre. Realty brokers have for many years looked longingly upon the property for a future subdivision. It lies in the very path of the city's best and greatest growth and development."

FRANCICA PARK.

The Cooper-Pyle-Clopine Company which purchased a lot in Francisca Park last week has just bought two additional sites in the same tract for a given consideration of $7000. The company plans to build an attractive two-story house on one of the purchases. Mae W. and S. W. Reddin have purchased a site in the same tract for $3600, and will build a residence costing about $10,000. A site in the same subdivision has been acquired by F. L. Doyle, who will also build a fine home. These sales were negotiated by Edward D. Silent & Co., who are part owners and sales agents of the tract.

THE WEDDING OF THE OCEANS.

By Harry Bowling.

The solemn solar system
  Caught the sound of human mirth;
A miracle had happened
  On that planet called "the earth."
Every body in the heavens
  At that moment went astray,
It seemed like a strange sunrise
  At the wrong end of the day
For the moon reversed its phases
  And the stars forgot their motions,
While the sun stood still bewildered
  At the Wedding of the Oceans.

Asked Luna, palely puzzled,
  "But is it really true
That such tiny little creatures
  Cut a continent in two?
Since the earth upon its axis
  Made its first revolving start,
Atlanti and Pacifico
  Were doomed to live apart."
Came the answer: "But the earth-men
  Have outlived those older notions—
Have installed a newer system
  At the Wedding of the Oceans."

Cried Sirius, hotly glowing,
  "I am plunged in deepest night,
That these scientific insects
  Should defy our ancient might!
They'll soon be "engineering"
  To subdue the distant stars,
And perhaps draw off the waters
  From the old canals of Mars."
Came the voice, "'Tis not by vaunting,
  Nor display of weak emotions,
Perseverance built the altar,
  For the Wedding of the Oceans."

Said the sun-god, beaming blandly,
  "Before very long, of course,
This newly-wedded couple
  Will be seeking a divorce.
Shall a link, denied by nature,
  Be supplied by little man?
The notion is preposterous!"
  But still the answer ran:
"Moons may wander off affrighted,
  Stars may doubt and suns may wonder,
But these twain by man united Shall no more be put asunder."

ACROOSS FROM THE CAPITAL.

Lands to West of Sacramento Once Considered Valueless, Reclaimed for Useful Purposes.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 11.—St. Louis has its East St. Louis and Portland its East Portland, and now Sacramento is to have a West Sacramento. The site of the new city is only a few minutes ride from the capitol buildings and is connected with Sacramento proper by two large steel bridges. It will be intersected by four interurban electric railways operating between Sacramento and Woodland, Vallejo, Antioch, Berkeley, Oakland and San Francisco, and will have a station on the main line of the Southern Pacific.

It is surrounded by thousands of acres of farming land and will naturally be a distributing point for the products of this section. It is interesting to note that the site for this new city was only a short time ago considered valueless on account of the yearly overflow from the Sacramento River. But at an enormous expenditure, a section of 11,500 acres has recently been reclaimed.

This entire tract was drained off and surrounded by strong levees. A drainage system was established and powerful pumping plants installed which keep the land free from surplus moisture at all times.

A remarkable feature of the land is that it is all sub-irrigated. A huge sum has been spent in placing the property in condition for farming. Modern machinery has been used in clearing the lands and in plowing hundreds of acres. Chemical analyses of the soil has been made on every acre to determine what the land is best suited to produce and experimental farms are being conducted on the property by soil experts.

LEADS THE COUNTRY.

Los Angeles Ahead of All Other Cities in Number of Building Permits Issued During September.

Los Angeles led all other cities in the United States in the number of building permits granted during the month of September. New York was second; Philadelphia, third; Cleveland, fourth, Seattle, fifth; Chicago, sixth, Detroit, seventh, and Portland, eighth. In point of outlay for new buildings for the month, Los Angeles stood at seventh. The statistics were collected by Construction News of Chicago.

The totals for the eight cities spending in excess of $1,000,000 for building during the month follow: Los Angeles, 1387 permits, $1,748,665; New York, 1378 permits, $8,726,246; Philadelphia, 1302 permits, $4,363,955; Cleveland, 1065 permits, $1,949,545; Seattle, 939 permits, $4,692,685; Chicago, 930 permits, $7,858,920; Detroit, 856 permits, $2,056,855; Portland, 667 permits, $1,621,005, and San Francisco, 386 permits, $2,273,723.

September was the first month in which Los Angeles fell below fourth place in the valuation of its building operations, this city having led all places, with the exception of New York, Chicago and Philadelphia ever since the beginning of the year. The slight drop in the September total in no wise affects the relative standing of Los Angeles for the year to date. This city is well ahead of all others in the number of permits issued the first nine months of the year.

ORANGE LAND SALES.

M. S. Robertson and E. M. Sheridan, general agents for the Orosi Orange Land Company, report sales in that concern's 6000-acre tract in Fresno and Tulare counties, as follows: W. F. Morse, twenty acres, $3500; W. H. Dixon, twenty acres, $3500; F. H. Sperling, eleven acres, $1925; B. S. Deaver, ten acres, $1750; F. H. Dyer, twenty acres, $3500, and George Burton, twenty acres, $3500. The agents report the 200 acres of the property have recently been set out to orange and lemon trees, and that preparations are being made to plant 1500 acres next season. A new town is to be developed in the tract at an early date.

ESCONDIDO BRIEFS.

ESCONDIDO, Oct. 11.—At its annual meeting the Palomar Club, the most pretentious social club of the valley, elected John D. Speer president; Louis Leonhard, vice-president; J. E. Stiles, treasurer; G. R. Crane, Jr., secretary; Charles Crandall, chairman of the house committee. The new directors are Charles Crandall, L. Leonhard and J. E. Stiles. The club has eighty members.

George Bell, coach, denies the report as published in the San Diego newspapers that the football team of the High School has disbanded. Mr. Bell says the eleven has no idea of disbanding, and has a number of games scheduled.

H. J. Baldwin, County Superintendent of Schools, who has been conducting an investigation of the charges against Miss Ruth Ellithorpe, teacher of the school in the Mountain View district, in the Valley Center country, finds that the young woman is innocent, and it is expected that no further action will be taken by the person making the complaint.

Fact and Comment.

ago, when a previous verification was made. Most significant of all, is the assertion that there isn't a "sacrifice" in the district. A less intensive study of the rest of the business section revealed a similar state of affairs.

Dearth of "Bargains."

The same dealers are authority for the statement that there are far more speculators in the fild at the present moment hunting for bargains than there are bargains to be had. The shrewd ones who are always waiting at times of market inactivity to take advantage of the anxiety and apprehension of timid property owners are not finding the opportunities they crave. The property for sale at this moment in Los Angeles is for sale at prosperity prices. "Subpoena the option hunters if you don't believe it," said one of the dealers above mentioned in discussing the findings of his firm.

All the worry over tight money and all the concern about the quietness of the realty market (as a matter of fact, real estate is at this moment moving at an encouraging rate and is showing an upward trend,) cannot cloud the fact that the confidence is here and the money is here. It would be satisfying if both were more actively in evidence, but, after all, Los Angeles is a hive of animation in comparison with other large cities in the country. If a few investment concerns that can't keep afloat on anything but the very tidal wave of prosperity should sink into financial oblivion during the present temporary lull in market activity, it will, in the opinion of many solid business men, be a blessing in disguise. A weeding-out is as good a thing in financial circles as in gardens. The real underlying prosperity of Los Angeles is on a solid and permanent basis and nothing short of an inconceivable ruction that would change our climate and destroy the unparalleled natural resources of Southern California and the Southwest could shake it.

DINUBA.

DINUBA, Oct. 11.—That the California Associated Raisin Growers expect to pay their members better than 4 cents per pound, net, for the 1913 crop, is indicated by a circular letter being sent out by the associated management at this time in which outside growers, not members, are being offered 4 cents for the muscats, delivered at the warehouse. It is estimated that there is a total of not over 1500 tons of goods not under contract to the association which thus far the independent packers have not been able to secure at any figure. Associated officials have informed the members that while at the beginning of the season the eastern buyers were somewhat slow about contracting with them, at the present time goods enough have been sold to pay for the entire 1913 crop.

TULARE.

TULARE, Oct. 11.—Arline Sherman, the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Sherman, is confined to her bed as the result of a fall from her bicycle while returning from school last evening, as the consequence of which she suffered a severe laceration of the muscles of her right leg where pierced with a hammock hook. She was riding close to the fence about her home and as she fell from her wheel her leg was caught on the hook, which was fastened in one of the posts.

MINIATURE MEXICO.

Hundreds of the Mexicans Are Engaged in Building Branch for Pacific Electric—News Briefs.

UPLAND, Oct. 11.—Just at this time that section of Upland traversed by the right of way of the Pacific Electric, on its way to San Bernardino, has the appearance of a miniature Mexico. Probably 200 Mexican laborers are employed now in the laying of the ties on the section from Euclid to Campus avenue, to connect with the present line coming in from Claremont, and passing on toward Alta Loma. Already the poles for the trolley and juice wires is set far in advance of this crew, and the system and precision with which the work goes forward is a revelation to many in the speed of modern railway building.

NEWS BRIEFS.

An alarm of fire called the members of the volunteer fire department to the G. A. Hanson home on Euclid avenue, where an incipient blaze had been discovered in one of the bedrooms. The fire, said to have been caused by an electric heating device, was controlled before the department reached the scene, and the damage was nominal.

Considerable local interest attaches in the action for divorce brought by Beulah Stanton against Henry O. Stanton, wherein the plaintiff asked $200 per month alimony, $1000 attorney's fees, and $250 for expense of witnesses. Judge Oster, at the hearing, granted the complainant only $25 per month alimony, $150 for attorneys' fees and nothing for witnesses or court expenses. The trial of the divorce action is set for November 25. Both Mr. and Mrs. Stanton are well known among the younger set of this community. They have been married just a little over one year, and each is now 20 years of age. The charge the wife makes is cruelty. Stanton is represented by McKinley & Karr of Los Angeles, the wife by Daley & Byrne of San Bernardino.

The annual meeting of the Magnolia Mutual Building and Loan Association has just been held, and the reports for the year just closed, while somewhat below normal, owing to the freeze last winter, are yet gratifying to the members and stockholders, generally. It has been shown that, during the twelve years of the operation of this company in Upland, a total of $500,000 worth of business and residence buildings have been constructed through this medium. There are any number of present home-owners in this vicinity who admit that the company has made possible their securing a home here. The directors chosen for the new year are Charles Ruedy, Dr. William H. Craig, M. H. Bordwell, R. C. Norton, A. B. Chowning, F. C. Voss and J. F. Anderson. M. F. Palmer is secretary, while F. W. Young is named as his assistant.

The first carload of the Hislop orchard heaters has just arrived in this city from the Milwaukee factory. Growers generally admit the excellence of this heater, the only difficulty standing in the way being the necessarily high price, owing to the excellent materials used.

At the annual meeting of the directors of the Citizens' Saving Bank, M. F. Palmer was made president; Paul H. Harwood, vice-president; A. P. Harwood, W. T. Leeke, F. L. Purvis, M. H. Bordwell and E. T. Jordan are directors. R. C. Norton is cashier, with Miss Eva M. Gerry, assistant cashier.

Thinks City Should Acquire Seaward Acreage.

Says Los Angeles Needs More Breathing Places.

The idea embodied in the Silver ake. Parkway project, namely, the tilization of the low, waste places d the od's and ends of real estate t are not adapted to private development, for public park purposes, is parently catching on in other quarters of the city. The advocates of the Lake parkway plan hope to see unsightly Bimini slough, which long been a detriment to the adement of a large section of rthwest Los Angeles, converted into beautiful park and an integral part the park and boulevard system ich has long been the dream of the rk Commission. Evidently inspired the example of those who would over the Bimini slough, Harry Culver and other owners of tract acreage property at the city's edge and in the rapidly adncing area between Los Angeles the Crescent Bay beach places begun an agitation looking to transformation of at least a porof the unused lowlands to the of Vineyard Junction into a park west-side residents.

The scheme of Culver and those he has succeeded in interestin the plan is as yet in embryo. land in view for the suggested is not even within the city limits. however, right in the path of is probably the city's most proresidential advance, and, acto many observers of the genreal estate trend, will soon be within the zone of building and ivity.

Idea Catching.

WOULD MAKE OVER LOWLANDS.

Realty Man Favors Utilizing Sink for Park.

Thinks City Should Acquire Seaward Acreage.

Says Los Angeles Needs More Breathing Places.

The idea embodied in the Silver Lake Parkway project, namely, the utilization of the low, waste places and the odds and ends of real estate that are not adapted to private development, for public park purposes, is apparently catching on in other quarters of the city. The advocates of the Silver Lake parkway plan hope to see the unsightly Bimini slough, which having been a detriment to the advancement of a large section of western Los Angeles, converted into a beautiful park and an integral part of the park and boulevard system, has long been the dream of the Park Commission. Evidently inspired by the example of those who would make over the Bimini slough, Harry H. Culver and other owners of tract and acreage property at the city's western edge and in the rapidly advancing area between Los Angeles and the Crescent Bay beach places have begun an agitation looking to the transformation of at least a portion of the unused lowlands to the west of Vineyard Junction into a park for west-side residents.

The scheme of Culver and those whom he has succeeded in interesting in the plan is as yet in embryo. The land in view for the suggested park is not even within the city limits. It is, however, right in the path of what is probably the city's most pronounced residential advance, and, according to many observers of the general real estate trend, will soon be well within the zone of building and [illegible]

Much of the lowlands in question, which is for the most part along the Salt Lake Short Line, within plain view of the travelers to and from the beaches, there has been a wonderful improvement in the past few years. Advocates of the park plan declare that if their scheme can be carried out, the city will have killed two birds with one stone, in that it will have given the people a park and at the same time have done away with an eyesore that all beach visitors cannot miss seeing.

Culver points out that there are no parks in the vicinity and that a public breathing space of some kind will be required by the residents at what is today the western edge of the city within a few years at the most. He declares that the low, ditch-seamed lands west of Vineyard Junction and lying between Washington boulevard and the line of the proposed new Pico boulevard could be bought cheaply at this time on account of their practical worthlessness for residential purposes. He holds that the city could, on the strength of assured future development westward toward Venice, afford to buy and hold the lands in question until such a time as they would come in handy for park purposes.

"Los Angeles is behind other American cities of its size in only one respect," said Culver yesterday, "and that is in its provision for park purposes. Today, practically every important city has or is building its own great park and parkway system. Los Angeles is making an effort in this direction, but it is lagging behind other places. Los Angeles actually has more need of parks than almost any other city in the country. This is the greatest of all tourist cities and we should not stint in our provision for the comfort of the thousands upon thousands of annual visitors. This is the out-of-door land. We need more out-of-door beauty spots.

"The low tract of sink land stretching west of Vineyard Junction between Washington street and the beach car lines is undesirable at present for residence purposes. Because it is low it would be desirable for park purposes. On it could be created a lake for canoeing and boating and around this could be laid out walks and drives. I am not interested in the sale of this or any other land to the city, but I am interested and others are interested in seeing a park established in the west-end district, and I know of no more desirable spot where cheap land can be acquired for park purposes."

WILL CELEBRATE.

Compton is preparing for a celebration to be held in that town within a short time to mark its advent among the industrial cities of Southern California. The scheme was outlined at a recent meeting of business men held there and the suggestion was received with immediate favor. The occasion will be the breaking of ground for Compton's first manufacturing plant, the automobile tire factory of the newly-organized Panama Rubber Company. Details of the celebration have not yet been worked out fully but there will be an automobile parade, starting from the company's offices in the Los Angeles Investment building, speech-making and other features. The exact date will be announced later.

The Northwest Trend.

SWEEPING PAST TEMPLE STREET.

WAVE OF DEVELOPMENT MOVES ON TOWARD SUNSET.

Thirty Attractive Homes to Be Erected by Two Investors Just Beyond Present Zone of Westlake-Wilshire Improvements—New Era for Sightly Section.

Twenty-five or more attractive bungalow homes of five, six and seven rooms each, together with several larger residences, are to be erected in the sightly Silver Lake Terrace tract just north of the exclusive Westlake-Wilshire districts by Sydney B. Brown and L. M. Passmore, owners of the new northwest subdivision. These operations, according to both builders, are to be the result of the great impetus that has been given to northwest development by the Silver Lake Parkway proceedings. The tract, lying along the north side of Temple street, between Reno and Vendome streets, is bounded on the north by ground which is now being condemned for the parkway. Both the Reno and Vendome street entrances to the park will be adjacent to the property.

Three of the houses contemplated in the plans of Brown and Passmore were started during the past week on the Reno-street frontage of the subdivision. Two more are to be started on Vendome street within the next month. A large double residence of the Swiss chalet type is to be started on Temple street, half-way between Reno and Vendome, about November 1. The builders announce that they will rapidly improve the tract from then on, building on every other lot at first, and finally filling in the vacant sites until the subdivision is solidly built up.

The houses will have an interesting variety of design and will be modern in construction and appointment. Mirrors in the bedroom doors, built-in ice chests and shower baths are among the attractive interior features to be introduced. The floors will be of hardwood throughout and the interior woodwork effects will be unusually elaborate, according to the designers employed to plan the projected improvements. The houses will be set back thirty feet from the sidewalk line, permitting of ample lawns. Sewers, gas, water and other facilities were installed during the summer. The three streets inclosing the tract have all been improved within the past few months.

South of Temple street from Reno to Robinson there has been a great building activity in the past two years. The wave of development, in fact, has swept northward from the Westlake-Wilshire section until it is now regarded as inevitable that every vacant site from Temple street on to Sunset boulevard will soon be improved. Temple street, long a line of demarcation in many parts of the northwest, has been encroached upon and passed in the northward trend of building in almost every section excepting that now being developed by Brown and Passmore and which until recently had been held back for lack of various public utilities. This difficulty has now been overcome and the extensive building operations now assured are the first visible result.

STREET WORK BEGUN.

Los Angeles Firm in Charge of Big Paving Contract in Glendale—Masons Plan Temple.

GLENDALE, Oct. 11.—Improvement work was started this week by the Fairchild-Gilmore-Wilton Company of Los Angeles, on Brand boulevard. This work will be done from First to Sixth streets, but at this time the company is confining its operations from Third street north. The improvement will consist of standard asphalting of the entire 100-foot boulevard on both sides of the Pacific Electric tracks, the work being identical with that being done on Broadway from Glendale avenue to Central avenue. In conjunction with this work the Pacific Electric Railway Company has started the lowering of its tracks on the boulevard. The paving work will cost about $40,000 and the lowering of the tracks will cost the company something like $25,000. It is understood that all this improvement work will be finished within ninety days.

Within the membership of the Masonic lodge of this place the Masonic Temple Association has just been organized, the object of this association being to construct in the near future a Masonic temple. A site, 40x100 feet in size, has already been chosen for the building, and Paul V. Tuttle is now revising plans for the proposed new structure, which, it is understood, will cost between $30,000 and $40,000. It will be of brick and will be two stories in height.

Of the $40,000 necessary to insure the construction of the new electric line into the eastern portion of this city, more than $32,000 has already been raised and it is expected that the remainder will be secured within a week. The largest single subscription thus far received came in this week, being from A. B. Schofield, a large land owner of Tropico, who donated his entire apportionment of $2000. The railroad company has agreed to start work immediately on the line upon the securing of the bonus.

NEW VERMONT SQUARE.

Building operations in New Vermont Square are reported by the Southwest Land Company to be of encouraging proportions. Following are recent builders of homes: C. N. Bank, south side of Forty-second street, between St. Andrews and Gramercy; Henry Dangers, north side Forty-third place, between Gramercy and Arlington; L. H. Hubbard, north side Forty-third place, between Gramercy and Arlington; Lena G. Kinch, the south side of Forty-first drive, between St. Andrews and Gramercy place; Wilbur Scholes, the south side of Santa Barbara, between St. Andrews and Gramercy; Ramey Investment Company, south side Forty-third place, between Gramercy and Arlington; W. J. Curry, south side Forty-second street, between Western and St. Andrews; E. A. Ripley, north side Forty-third street, between Gramercy and Arlington; E. C. Dimmick, south side Forty-second place, between Western and St. Andrews; E. G. Ramey, north side Forty-third street, between St. Andrews and Gramercy; Diana S. Morris, north side Forty-first drive, between Gramercy and Arlington, and Lewis W. Colfelt, south side Forty-third place, between St. Andrews and Gramercy.

WILL CONDUCT NURSERY.

WEST NEWPORT, Oct. 11.—A $10,000 corporation has been formed here, headed by D. J. Dodge, for the purpose of buying all the necessary machinery for preparing the ground and taking care of young nursery stock, which is to be raised by the corporation on Newport Heights. The new company will have many different kinds of ornamental trees and shrubs on hand at all times and will make a specialty of planting and taking care of trees on the property of the residents on the heights. The selling agency for the property in West Newport and Newport Heights has just been turned over to the H. L. McNew Company, by the Dam Rousselle Company, owner of the holdings. One of the first of the development ideas to be carried out by the new agents on Newport Heights will be the planting of ten acres of ground to the new Burbank spineless cactus. The property, when developed, will, it is announced, be subdivided and sold.

RENEW HOTEL WORK.

Cooler Weather Enables Contractors to Go Ahead with Large Imperial Valley Hostelry.

EL CENTRO, Oct. 11.—With the advent of cool weather, work has been resumed on the $100,000 Barbara Worth Hotel, by the reorganized Bell Development Company, with such well-known boosters as Harold Bell Wright, F. M. Burger, W. F. Holt and W. T. Bill as directors. The cause of the check in the construction of the new Barbara Worth was that the excavation was made too early to permit the laying of a cement foundation, owing to the heat.

One of the largest real estate transactions of the year occurred last week when H. B. Gillispie of San Diego purchased the F. M. Murphy ranch of 240 acres, three miles east of Imperial, for $36,000.

The Singleton ranch of forty acres near Meloland sold for $225 an acre to E. A. Perkiss of El Centro, last week. This is some of the best cantaloupe land in the valley, and illustrates more clearly the prevalent rise in the value of local land. Pier & Prendergast recently sold the eighty acres belonging to H. M. Kinney and situated one mile west of El Centro, to A. J. Hartzel of San Diego.

TREES FOR NEW TRACT.

The McCarthy Company has let a contract to the Golden State Nurseries for trees and palms for its new West Ninth-street Heights subdivision in the Westlake-Wilshire district. The first installment of these trees has been planted in El Molino street between Eighth and Ninth streets and on West Ninth street and Catalina street to Normandie avenue. The work is being done under the direction of Paul J. Howard, horticulturist and landscape architect.

PLAN MODEL VILLAGE.

Developers of New Town of Montrose to Open Smaller Community Center in Same Vicinity.

Plans are being completed by W. L. Desnoyers, director of sales for the Holmes-Walton Company, for the opening of Oakdale Community, a tract of twenty-eight acres, adjoining Montrose. The opening will occur on Sunday, October 19, and will be marked by a barbecue and outing.

Oakdale Community is composed of approximately 100 plots, averaging one-quarter of an acre in area each. The property is dotted with live oaks and is one of the attractive spots in La Crescenta-La Canada district. It is reached by way of the Glendale and Montrose railway. The tract is to be furnished with water from the Montrose Water Company's plant.

A rustic pavilion, which is to be thrown open for the first time when Oakdale Community is placed on the market, is now being constructed. This pavilion will be for the general use of all residents and property holders in the community. Plans are also being laid for the erection of a community store and general assembly hall. It is planned to make the community an ideal village, according to those back of the enterprise.

BUYS SIGHTLY HOME.

H. R. Gage, who has very extensive holdings in Ocean Park, has just purchased the beautiful home of Dr. William Duffield, on the northwest corner of St. Andrew's place and Pico street. Here he will make his permanent home. Ellard W. Carson of the A. E. Halsey Company, represented both buyer and seller. The consideration is given at $26,000. The house contains fourteen rooms and occupies a lot 60x178 feet in size.

PALISADES PARK SALES.

Among the sales of residence property reported during the week was that of a fine home at the corner of Ninth and Carlisle streets, in Palisades Park. The sale was made by the Roy C. Howells Company, the consideration being given as $9500. The house is one of the most attractive of the fourteen recently completed in Palisades Park. B. O. Cowan was the purchaser and the house will be occupied by him as a residence. The Roy C. Howells Company also reports the sale of the residence adjoining the Cowan property on Ninth street for a consideration of $9000. Loy S. Ainsworth is sales manager for the tract.

LEASES HILL STREET BLOCK.

Local Capitalist Takes Over New Building.

Will Pay Large Rental for Fifteen-Year Term.

Structure Is Fireproof and Six Stories High.

An important downtown lease was closed during the past week when William F. Jantzen took over for a fifteen-year term the whole of the six-story reinforced-concrete commercial building now being erected by Lawrence B. Burck, Dr. W. Jarvis Barlow and associates at No. 722 South Hill street. Jantzen will pay in rentals during the period of his lease approximately $450,000.

The building was planned and is being erected by the California Real Estate and Building Company, of which Burck is president. Burck and Jarvis hold a fifty-year lease on the site, which is owned by Lester Paterson of Pasadena. The structure will be ready for occupancy within a few weeks.

The building will be absolutely fireproof in construction and is costing in the neighborhood of $100,000. It will contain three elevators and the most up-to-date appointments throughout. The site is 50x150 feet in size. The first story will be arranged as a single large storeroom, with a mezzanine floor, and will have a twenty-two-foot ceiling space. The five upper stories will be used for loft purposes.

The structure is one of a number of improvements under way on Hill street, south of Seventh, where there has in the past year been an unusual building activity. On the opposite side of Hill, Edward D. Silent & Co. have just completed a five-story brick building. The Sanborn-Vail Company has a substantial new building in the same block. The Lyon-McKinney-Smith Company is about to begin construction on a six-story building in the same immediate vicinity.

STIMULATES REALTY.

Success of South Pasadena Improvement Bond Issue Encourages Dealers of that City.

SOUTH PASADENA, Oct. 11.—Practically without exception, investors in South Pasadena real estate had been looking forward to the bond issue, which carried Wednesday in this city with considerably over a two-thirds majority, as one of the greatest possible stimulants of values for both residence and business property. It was recognized that the lack of proper sewage, aside from the sanitary handicap which it represents, was also a drawback from a financial point of view, as, naturally enough, large investors are disposed to seek locations where the vital modern necessities exist.

R. L. Snaveley, a local broker, reports the sale for E. J. Searles to Charles J. Fife of Los Angeles of 50x150 feet on Montrose avenue, north of Mission street, with a seven-room bungalow, the reported consideration being $3800. The property was purchased for a home.

Pierce Bros. have sold their business at No. 808 Fair Oaks avenue to Miller & Miller, real estate dealers of Los Angeles, who take immediate possession. The business has been in operation the past two years. The consideration was not named.

WISE PRECAUTION.

The West Fifty-fourth-stret car line extension from Denker avenue to the west city limits was opened for traffic last Monday morning with a three-minute service. The Los Angeles Railway has used 120-pound Trilby rails on the west end of this extension, for a distance of one-half mile where it crosses Chesterfield square. This was done at the present time to prevent the tearing up at some future time of the asphalt-paved street, which has just been completed.

New Owl Drug Company block at San Diego.

RUSH FOR OFFICES.

New and Modern Building of Owl Drug Company in San Diego Rapidly Filled With Tenants.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 11.—Upon the occasion of the recent informal opening of the new Owl Drug Company building in this city there was a rush for offices. The fact reveals the solidity of the growth of San Diego as well as the desirability of the building itself.

The structure erected by the big drug concern in this city is four stories in height and of attractive design. It stands at the corner of Fourth and D streets on a site formerly occupied by an old-time Methodist church. The company holds the lot under a long-term lease.

The new "Owl" building contains, in addition to the store of the drug company, four other large stores on the ground floor. The upper floors are given over to offices. The "Owl's" own store is one of the most modern of its entire chain of twenty establishments on the Pacific Coast. The interior of the store is finished in oak, every provision has been made for the comfort and conveniences of patrons.

A. J. Neve, district manager of the company for the southern end of the State, supervised the work of installing the store, which is in charge of J. J. Luedke, the San Diego manager.

Under New Management.

Rockwood Hotel, Eighth and Olive.

Close-in property leased during past week through Wright-Callender-Andrews Company.

NEW MANAGEMENT.

The business leasing department of the Wright-Callender-Andrews Company reports the sale of the furnishings of the Rockwood Hotel, at the northeast corner of Eighth and Olive streets, for W. A. Lathrop to S. V. and Nina A. Kratz for a consideration of [illegible], and an extension of the lease on the property at a total rental of $30,000 for a term of years. Both parties in the transaction were represented by Edward H. Foster, with the above firm. The building is owned by Lee A. Phillips of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company.

MEETS GROWING NEED.

WHITTIER, Oct. 11.—C. W. Harvey, a local capitalist, has just completed and completely furnished an attractive and commodious apartment-house at the corner of Greenleaf avenue and Hadley street. The house is of artistic design, two stories in height and has a plaster finish. Twelve suites, varying from two to five rooms, are provided. Located on two of the city's best streets, only two blocks from the business center of town, the Harvey apartments command a view sweeping the hills on the north and east and the valley and ocean as far as Catalina on the west and south. Whittier has never been a tourist town in the ordinary sense of the word; however, with its steady and rapid growth, a need for more apartment accomodations was keenly felt, and the new house assists in solving the problem.

UNIQUE IN DESIGN.

Proposed Grammar School at Fontana to Embody Many Original Ideas—Building to Be of Concrete.

FONTANA, Oct. 11.—Plans have been completed by Irving J. Gill for a concrete school building to be erected at Fontana. The structure will have features that will make it unique in Southern California. One of these will be an auditorium, 54x28 feet in size, in which classic plays will be produced by the pupils. The cost will be $18,000.

While the plan of the building has no counterpart in California, it embodies the features of the best structures which have been erected in Boston, adapted to Southern California conditions. There will be six class rooms, a library, principal's room, rooms for domestic science and sloyd arts, and six coat rooms. The main building will be 126x37 feet, and will be surmounted by an ornamental glazed tile dome. The ample site will permit of tree and flower planting, and it is expected that the effect of the white building and its red tile roof against the background of green will be strikingly beautiful.

Unique from Architectural Point of View.

FONTANA DEVELOPMENT.

More than 200 acres of the extensive olive and deciduous fruit tract which was opened at South Fontana two weeks ago, have been sold to investors in and around Winnipeg, Canada, according to information just received by Thomas D. Campbell & Co., from R. W. Muirhead, general agent for Canada for the South Fontana Orchards tract. Development work at the Orchard City tract of the same company, is now under full headway. Stover avenue, which is the main highway through the center of the tract, is being oiled to the western boundary, which will complete this boulevard for four miles. Redwood avenue, just west of the Orchard City townsite, is being graded from the Southern Pacific main line, to the south boundary of the tract. The company is also constructing a large lath house, in which a nursery of olive, peach and apricot trees will be installed. Another part of the development of the property is the transmission line which is being erected by the South Sierras Power Company. This company is constructing its line from the substation at San Bernardino, to the tract. Eight miles of poles are already up, and the wires are being strung to the wells which are being developed. This work will be completed and the pumping machinery in operation within thirty days, according to the power company officials.

MADE TRANSFER POINT.

SEAL BEACH, Oct. 11.—Seal Beach ,formerly Bay Citi, has been made the main transfer point between Long Beach and the harbor district and the interior points in Orange county served by the Pacific Electric lines. The work of building the new Long Beach-Seal Beach car line and the inauguration of the twenty-minute schedule has been completed, and in view of the fact that this route shortens the distance between the harbor district and Santa Ana, and as there is a great deal of activity at Seal Beach, the railway company decided that the logical plan for the transferring of passengers was the latter point, instead of at Zaferia. It is the intention of the company to erect a suitable waiting station at Main street and the Newport main line. The sightseeing trip of the Pacific Electric which takes in the south coast beaches has been using the new line through Seal Beach for some time, and a visit to the seals in the mouth of Alamitos Bay has been a great attraction. Soon a great mound of rocks will be dumped close to the electric railway trestle at the mouth of the bay to make a home for the seals, of which there are more than 200.

MONUMENTAL PROJECT.

Los Angeles Aqueduct Compared to Panama Canal, Is to This City What Waterway Is to Nation.

[Southwest Contractor:] What the Panama Canal is to the United States, the aqueduct is to Los Angeles. Each a big engineering project, requiring professional skill and daring for their completion and large expenditures of public money, both stand as monuments to the professional and executive ability of the man who in each instance has been the dominating force from beginning to end.

Last week, without the heralding of a press agent, with the simplicity of straightforward action, Chief Engineer Mulholland started the waters from Owens River Valley through open and covered conduit, tunnel and steel siphon, on their way to Los Angeles, filling the reservoirs as they come. The friction encountered in its flow has been less than Mr. Mulholland estimated and he now asserts that the aqueduct capacity will be 25,000 inches instead of the 20,000 inches that has been claimed for it. Thursday the water had reached Dry Canyon, where its progress will be stopped until the day of celebration, November 5.

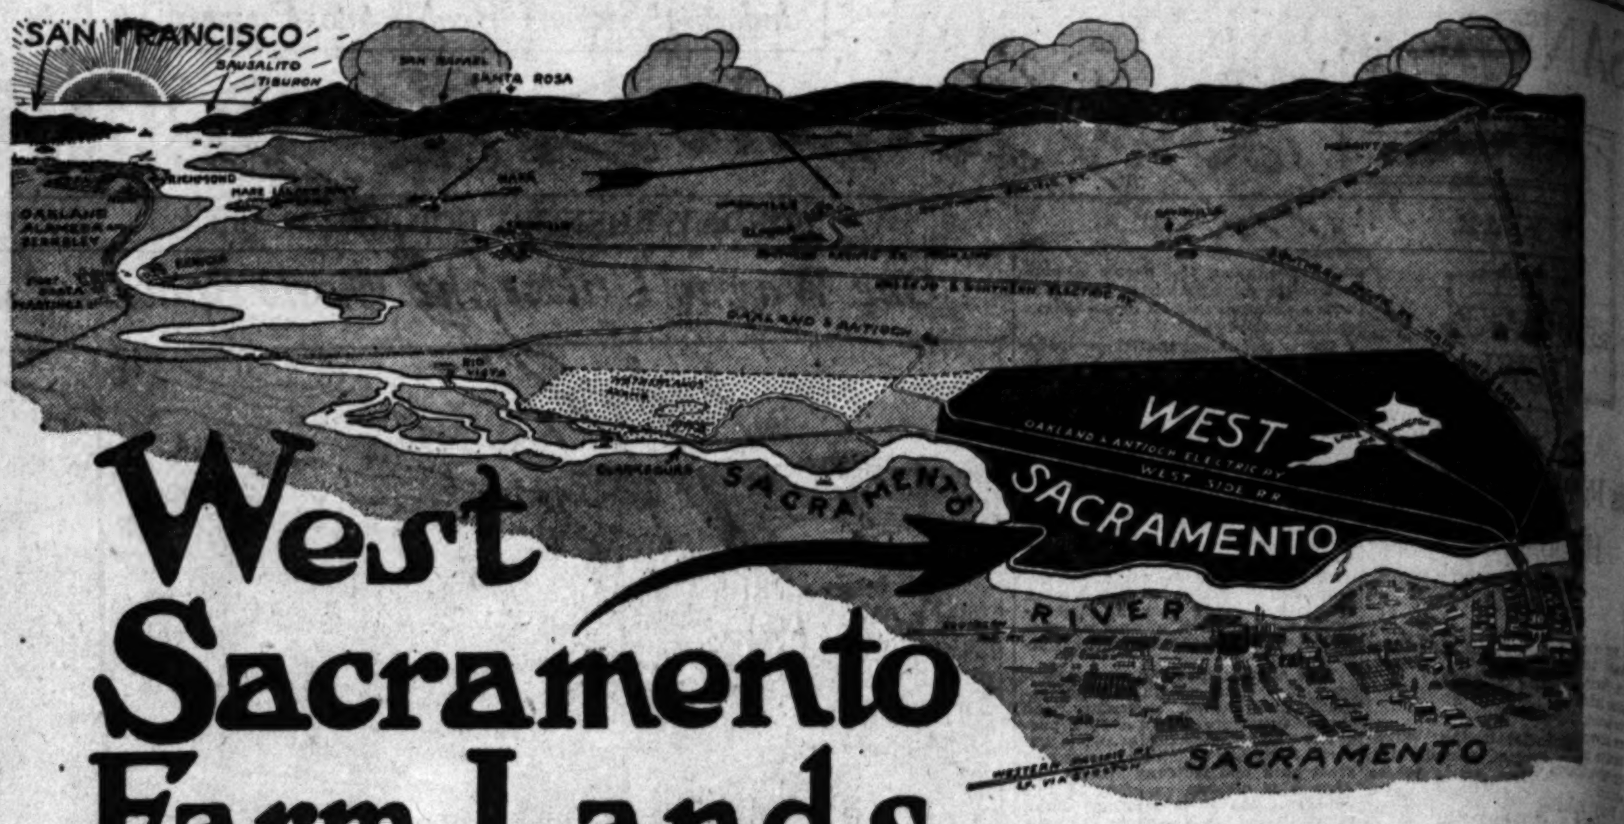
Tests to which the aqueduct has been submitted so far have proved its efficiency and sound construction. Its completion has been accomplished without scandal; not without criticism altogether, part of which was honest, part viciously political.

STREET CONTRACT LET.

A contract was let last week by the Southern California Home Builders to the Caledonian Construction Company, for over 4000 feet of street, sidewalk and curb work in the Manzanita tract. The work to be put in is on Defrees and Delmar streets, where all street development has been delayed on account of the delay in establishing grades. The work will be complete within forty-five days.

HOME SITES SOLD.

EAST NEWPORT, Oct. 11.—East Newport is attracting investors and homeseekers, and there is considerable property being sold. Building operations are progressing to quite an extent. Sales of lots were made this week to Lida Kiegham, J. L. Hirscher of South Pasadena; Dr. C. H. Heard, A. W. Nelson and H. S. Douglas. Nelson will improve his property with an attractice bungalow.



West Sacramento Farm Lands

Where water and soil assure
Crops every month of the year

—A wonderful reclamation project of 11,500 sweeping, fertile virgin acres of land lying just across the river from Sacramento.

A project that has brought under cultivation 11,500 acres of the richest land in California—land upon which the rich silt of the Sacramento River has been deposited for unknown years; land from which a crop may be gathered every month in the year; land that is independent of surface irrigation, and land upon which three millions of dollars have already been expended in wonderful improvements.

More millions are to be spent by the West Sacramento Company in completing their vast work, but the land may be purchased now at very advantageous prices while the work is still in progress. Much of the land is now under cultivation and anyone interested in farming, anyone interested in land investment, should immediately inform himself thoroughly about West Sacramento.

—An expert's analysis of the soil at West Sacramento shows it to be a rich sediment — a river silt, built up of a mixture of rich humus, and thoroughly sub-irrigated. No irrigation is ever necessary at West Sacramento. Beans planted last July and never having received any water, are as green, as fresh and as productive as though it were springtime. The same is true of the tomatoes and other vegetables now on the land and which were planted late. All this because of the sub-irrigation.

—West Sacramento lands are adapted to the growing of practically every kind of vegetable and most fruits—adapted to continuous crops, so that after one is harvested another will have matured in a few months on the same land.

—And a market of a million people is awaiting the crops from West Sacramento lands. Sacramento, with its 80,000 people, just across the river. San Francisco and the Bay Cities only ninety miles distant by rail or water.

—Every investor in these lands will make a two-fold profit—one from the prolific crops, that can be grown at the minimum of expense, and one from the increase in his land values.

—West Sacramento has two car lines now operating through the property—the Oakland-Antioch and the Sacramento-Woodland. Two more electric lines are in course of construction. A five minutes' ride on the car brings you to the business district of the City of Sacramento, a thriving, prosperous city, where may be had the advantages of fine schools, good theaters, modern, attractive stores, libraries and churches.

—Twenty miles of concrete roads, 100 feet wide, are now being built at West Sacramento at a cost of $15,000 a mile. Fifty miles of macadamized roads will cross the property. Stately American elms line the boulevards. Electric light and power can now be had throughout the tract, and will be furnished at a low cost.

—Two magnificent steel bridges span the Sacramento River, connecting West Sacramento with the city of Sacramento. The M-street bridge, through which the river boats pass, is pronounced a most wonderful engineering feat.

—The development work being done at West Sacramento is of the very highest type, carefully planned, thoroughly done to make this a model, modern community.

—Do you grasp the situation from the little we have told? Can you not form a mental picture of this "Dominion of Garden Farms" so fascinating as to induce you to investigate further and to see this property with your own eyes? At our office we will give you full information, prices and terms, show you complete maps and arrange your trip to West Sacramento so you may thoroughly investigate. If you cannot call at the office, mail us the coupon below and we will gladly send you explicit literature and any specific information desired. It will cost you nothing to learn more about West Sacramento and more knowledge will open up for you wonderful opportunities for profit.

SANTA MO

Its Public Buildings Tot
Hundreds of Thousa

Not alone does Santa Monica, the famed health and pleasure resort of the Pacific Coast, appeal to its constant influx of new homeseekers from the standpoint of its health and pleasure advantages; but it is equally attractive to all because of its splendid city advantages coupled with its other charms.

Every building that is erected is representative of the highest type of architecture and workmanship, being representative in quality of a city that maintains the highest standards of building.

Unlike many of the cities of Santa Monica's size, each building erected has a distinctive element peculiarly its own. One building will be wholly and entirely after the Italian architecture, ornate and beautiful in detail. Another will be thoroughly Roman, Grecian, French, Spanish or a most effective combination of two or more of these types, until one standing in front of one or the other of the various types, almost loses himself to the fact that he is not abroad, standing in front of one of its foreign originals.

Many of the charming effects to be found along the Riviera have been reproduced either partially or entirely in Santa Monica, both in the apartment-houses, homes and public buildings.

Every want that the most exacting citizen could demand has been as thoroughly cared for as could be found in a city of many times the size of European Oil Combine Is Gaining Ground.

Shells Seeking Footholds Everywhere.

California to Be Center of Operations.

Although California will undoubtedly be the fulcrum upon which will swing the oil operations of the Royal Dutch-Shell combine in America, the big European concern is evidently preparing for widespread competition in this country, as is revealed by its investments in all sections. In the deals already practically closed for California oil properties, over $16,000,000 is involved, and it would be hard to predict how far the purchasing power of the combine will be extended within the next year or so in this State. Its entrance will prove to be an epoch-making event when the full effect is felt, and should prove of tremendous benefit to the industry.

Some idea of the extent of the Shell-Royal Dutch invasion on the American petroleum industry can be gained from the following article taken from the Fuel Oil Journal:

"The Royal Dutch-Shell combine is actively engaged in securing control of and lining up producing interests in the United States, using various names for its subsidiaries. In Oklahoma the Roxana Petroleum Company does the operating and has already expended approximately [illegible] for two properties that showed at the time of purchase about [illegible] barrels a day production, a part of which is sold to the National Refining Company at Coffeyville and a part to the Prairie Oil and Gas Company, and it has been rumored that while able to handle it, the Pierce Oil Corporation would take it for its refineries.

"The Roxana Petroleum Company, chartered in Delaware, has several agents at work investigating other extensive properties with a view to purchase, one of them being the holdings of T. B. Slick at Cushing, which have just been gauged by the Roxana. It is understood that Slick wants [illegible] a barrel for approximately 3000 barrels a day, and a big acreage. At this writing the negotiations have not been declared off.

"N. G. M. Luykx, one of the managers of the Roxana company, is now in Oklahoma looking over prospective purchases, accompanied by two Hollanders who are technical experts. Several Oklahoma refineries have been inspected—it is supposed for purchase—but a final report must be made from Holland, as the Dutch interests control three-fifths of the great combine and their representatives are final judges of properties and expenditures.

"The Union Petroleum Company, managed locally by Homer Preston of Tulsa, a French organization, is indirectly connected with the big combine through several of the same individual stockholders, as are nearly all of the foreign interests now so actively operating in America and Mexico.

"The purchase of the extensive English property in California, the California Oilfields, Ltd., at Coalinga, by the Royal Dutch-Shell people, is the same organization as that operating in Oklahoma and the same methods are followed in California as in Oklahoma. On the Coast the foreigners are going to lay their own pipe lines and have their own refinery, and the same

SANTA MONICA GROWS DAILY IN IMPORTANCE AS A CITY

Its Public Buildings Total a Cost of Many Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars

Not alone does Santa Monica, the famed health and pleasure resort of the Pacific Coast, appeal to its constant influx of new homeseekers from the standpoint of its health and pleasure advantages; but it is equally attractive to all because of its splendid city advantages coupled with its other charms.

Every building that is erected is representative of the highest type of architecture and workmanship, being representative in quality of a city that maintains the highest standards of building.

Unlike many of the cities of Santa Monica's size, each building erected is a distinctive element peculiarly its own. One building will be wholly and entirely after the Italian architecture, ornate and beautiful in detail. Another will be thoroughly Roman, Italian, French, Spanish or a most pleasing combination of two or more of these types, until one standing in front of one or the other of the various types, almost loses himself to the fact that he is not abroad, standing in front of one of its foreign originals.

Many of the charming effects to be found along the Riviera have been reproduced either partially or entirely in Santa Monica, both in the apartment houses, homes and public buildings.

Every want that the most exacting citizen could demand has been as thoroughly cared for as could be found in a city of many times the size of the Crescent Bay City.

Its spacious and well-equipped hospital provides for the welfare of its populace so that no matter how critical the emergency might be expert medical attention is to be had at once.

Some of the most notable physicians and surgeons of the entire Pacific Coast also are making their homes and have their practices in Santa Monica.

The splendid City Hall of Santa Monica, a large snowy white building, mounted by an imposing tower, is one of the most attractive ones in Southern California. The grounds and building for this splendid office edifice totaled a cost of $87,000.

The splendid Municipal Pier of the Crescent Bay City, which would do credit to a city of a couple of hundred thousand inhabitants, is valued at $100,000. This is one of the most popular fishing spots for deep sea fish to be found.

The other pleasure piers of Santa Monica with their pleasure concessions together with the "Long Wharf Pier" famed as the longest wharf in the world, aggregate a cost of millions of dollars.

The various details of the city of Santa Monica, which directly or indirectly insure the health, prosperity and general good of its inhabitants are provided for in the best manner possible.

The sewers of Santa Monica which represent many miles are to begin with of the best quality and are throughout the city. These are kept in the best possible repair by the ample funds provided annually for this purpose.

Such other details as taking care of the various storm drains throughout the city, the cemetery, the fire department, health provisions, the keeping in repair of and the lighting of the lighting system, the constant care of the beautiful parks, the supplying of the provisions required for the library, the decorating and necessary equipping of the city for any and all of its festive days and its world race days and above all its continuous street improvements, are all looked after in a manner that reaches the highest standards of city government.

The shops, markets, garages, drug and other stores of Santa Monica are such as make Santa Monica a true city in every sense of the word, so completely equipped is the Crescent Bay City with all of such stores necessary to the comfort of its inhabitants. Though the residents of Santa Monica are within a thirty-minute automobile run, or a forty-five-minute car ride of the shops, business and theater districts of Los Angeles, Santa Monica is in reality largely independent of even this advantage due to the high standards reached in these same districts in Santa Monica itself.

There are both moving picture theaters in the heart of the business center of Santa Monica as in Los Angeles, and also in the section of the city particularly dedicated to the theater district, which is the ocean front in Santa Monica, the Crescent Bay City being a seaside resort and home city.

The buildings represented in the pleasure portion of Santa Monica, including its superb bath-house, its magnificent cafes, dancing pavilions, theaters and hosts of houses of mirth and such other pleasure places typical of the seaside resort, represent a total expenditure of a tremendous fortune.

Each year brings to this portion of this city more and more attractive pleasure devices by the dozens, until it is coming to be known as the most favored beach pleasure resort to be found west of Chicago.

Many of the pleasure devices here cannot even be found in Coney Island or any other of the most popular beaches in the East.

On the Coast the foreigners are [illegible] to lay their own pipe lines and [illegible] their own refinery, and the same thing will be done in Oklahoma as soon as enough production is acquired.

"Through the French interests considerable production is owned in Illinois, and the Dutch-Shell people also have acreage in Mexico and are preparing to develop production. Through the Union Petroleum Company of Philadelphia and the Indiana Refining Company of New York, they have established a refining and marketing agency in the eastern States, both for exports and imports.

"It may be taken for granted that the many titles, and apparently independent properties and managements eventually work round to the same European home, with the Holland Dutch generally holding three out of five of the purse strings and consequent control. There is now no doubt whatever that the Royal Dutch-Shell people, with considerable Rothschild money invested one way and another, are getting a strong foothold in the United States and will soon be a very active factor in the petroleum industry of this country.

"At this time they are entertaining offers for more properties in Oklahoma than the Prairie Oil and Gas Company, the Gulf Pipe Line Company and the Texas Company combined, and they are easier to trade with, for whatever they want, than either of the three pipe line companies."

BLOW-OUT RAISES HAVOC.

Vulcan Oil Company Strikes Gas Pocket in Lost Hills Well—Derrick Is Splintered.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

WASCO, Oct. 8.—Well No. 7 of the Vulcan Oil Company on section 5, 27-21, had a big blow-out last week, during which sand and pieces of shale were thrown out. The derrick was splintered to such an extent that it will have to be rebuilt. The blow continued for almost two days, when the well sanded up and the gas pressure went down to almost nothing. Later the well began to flow a little light oil.

After the rig had been put in shape to work, it was discovered that the last two points of casing had collapsed. An effort is being made to straighten the pipe that the oil may flow freely. The well gives every indication of a flow equal to Nos. 3 and 5 of the same company, which yield 500 barrels.

The Universal Oil Company has brought in a gasser on section 32, 26-21 that is furnishing gas for every boiler on the section. After cementing off the upper oil sand in well No. 19, redrilling was commenced and in a short time a gas strata was struck that blew the tools through the crown block and almost 100 feet over the top of the derrick. The company suspended drilling operations and decided to use the gas for fuel, temporarily at least.

Well No. 28, section 4, 27-21, Standard Oil Company, is doing 200 barrels daily of thirty-five gravity oil. It is 1900 feet deep.

Well No. 9 of the Associated Oil Company has been put on the pump and is yielding 250 barrels of sixteen gravity oil per day. This makes six producing wells on section 13, 26-20, with an average output of 100 barrels each per day. The wells are put on the pump long enough to test their capacity and then shut down to await the completion of the pumping station now in course of construction. The station consists of a large line pump, two seventy-horsepower boilers and a 10,000-barrel storage tank.

CATTLE ARRIVING.

The first carloads of cattle will be received at the yards of the Los Angeles Union Stockyards Company tomorrow morning according to the officers of that concern. After that it is announced other shipments will be received daily from Arizona, Nevada, Utah, New Mexico and California. Several commission firms, it is announced, will open offices in the temporary exchange building at the yards tomorrow. Construction work on the second section of the yards will be commenced immediately, it is stated by officials of the company.

WILKES BROTHERS CONTRACT TO OPERATE "COLUMBIAN."

Eighty-Acre Holding Will Be Worked on Royalty Basis—Absorption of Four Midway Properties Is Effected—Standard's Big Gusher Stops Flowing.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 8.—A contract has been signed between the owners of the Midway Columbian Oil Company and Wilkes Bros. under the terms of which the latter will operate the property on a royalty. The Midway Columbian is owned by Canadian people and the deal was made through W. H. Waddell of the Canadian Pacific Oil Company, who is looking after various Midway properties operated for Canadian interests.

The Midway Columbian lease consists of eighty acres on section 4, 32-23, and according to the contract Wilkes Bros. are to drill a well on every five acres, making sixteen wells in all. Work is to start sixty days from the signing of the contract and one string of tools is to be operating all the time.

The Pacific Petroleum Company's absorbtion of four Midway companies, the Midway Five Oil Company on section 5, 32-23, the March Oil Company on section 26, 32-23, the West Virginia Oil Company on section 6, 11-23, and the Maricopa Union Oil Company on section 6, 11-23, has been effected.

The Maricopa Union and the West Virginia companies have each one producing well and one drilling. The Midway Five property has five good wells and one drilling which is down almost 700 feet, and the March Oil Company has eight wells on its lease which will be cleaned out immediately to increase their production. F. L. Van Epps, field superintendent for the Pacific Petroleum Company, will have charge of all the work.

GUSHER STOPS FLOWING.

The Standard's big gusher on section 36, 31-23 which was brought in over two weeks ago and has given so much trouble has ceased to flow. During the time it flowed it produced steadily 15,000 barrels of high gravity oil per day.

Well No. 2 of the Boston Pacific on section 32, 31-24 is being drilled through the cement which was put in about a month ago by W. F. Scott and a test will be made in a few days. Well No. 1 of this company proved up a fine territory on the north side of the Buena Vista Hills and the coming in of No. 2 will be watched with interest. Well No. 3 will be spudded in about November 1.

Development Notes.

Good progress has been made on well No. 4 of the Midway Consolidated, Ltd., on section 4, 32-23 and a string of 8¼-inch pipe will soon be landed at a depth of 3250 feet. Very little trouble was encountered in this well with the exception of several gas blow-outs, which caused a few days delay by covering up the tools.

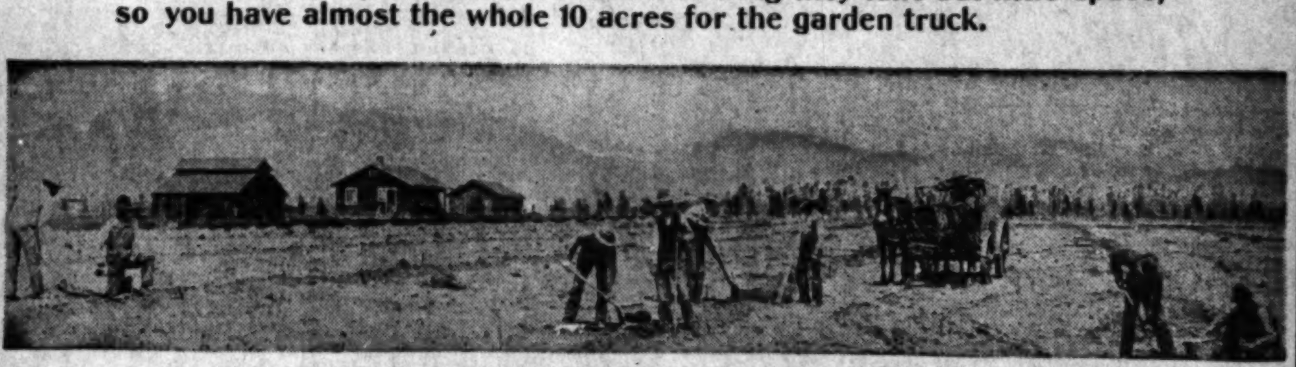
Well No. 24 on section 28, 32-24 of the Pyramid Oil Company is cementing its ten-inch casing at 2865 feet to shut off water. Standard tools will replace the rotary drill from this depth on to the lower sand. Well No. 1 on the same property is being deepened and is down over 2900 feet and will be finished at about 3050 feet.

The Spreckels well No. 7 on section 32, 11-23 is to be put down to the famous Maricopa Queen sand. The six-inch casing has been dynamited at 2200 feet and will be pulled immediately.

The Eagle Creek Oil Company is building the rig for well No. 8.

$2.50 Per Acre---Per Month With Water —Including Interest

ON payment of one-fifth down you have only $2.50 per acre to pay each month to own an orchard home in ORCHARD CITY TRACT. Between the trees you can immediately begin growing your living in BERRIES, VEGETABLES AND POULTRY. Sweet potatoes grown on a tract adjoining ours are selling now at 2½ cents a pound in San Bernardino. While your fruit trees are maturing they take but little space, so you have almost the whole 10 acres for the garden truck.



One of the busy scenes on Orchard City Tract.

PLANT TEN acres to olives, which produce a crop the fourth year; interset peaches between the rows and you will have a bearing peach orchard in three years. We will contract to plant these trees for you if desired. With 10 acres planted to Olives and Peaches, you will have in three years an orchard valued at $8000—a conservative estimate.

IF you are thrifty, is it not easy for you to grow enough garden truck to meet your monthly payments and have money for meat, clothes and amusements besides? You will be within short hauling distance from a shipping depot and only 48 miles East of Los Angeles on Main Line Southern Pacific. You will have good roads, electric lights and pure air.

THE total price per acre, $250, is less than half the usual cost of FRUIT AND OLIVE LAND. This introductory LOW COST PAYMENT PLAN enables any man or woman, regardless of occupation, to OWN AN ORCHARD HOME. Berries pay big profits; vegetables are staple and lucrative; melons are bringing good prices and poultry always in demand. Olives average 2 to 5 tons per acre, packers now offering as high as $250 a ton for big olives and contracting for crops from 5 to 10 years in advance.

WE HAVE A PARTICULAR REASON FOR ASKING YOU TO CALL WITH, OR SEND, THE COUPON PRINTED BELOW. YOU WILL BE UNDER NO OBLIGATION. Talk to our salesmen and learn full details. Free transportation to the land daily.

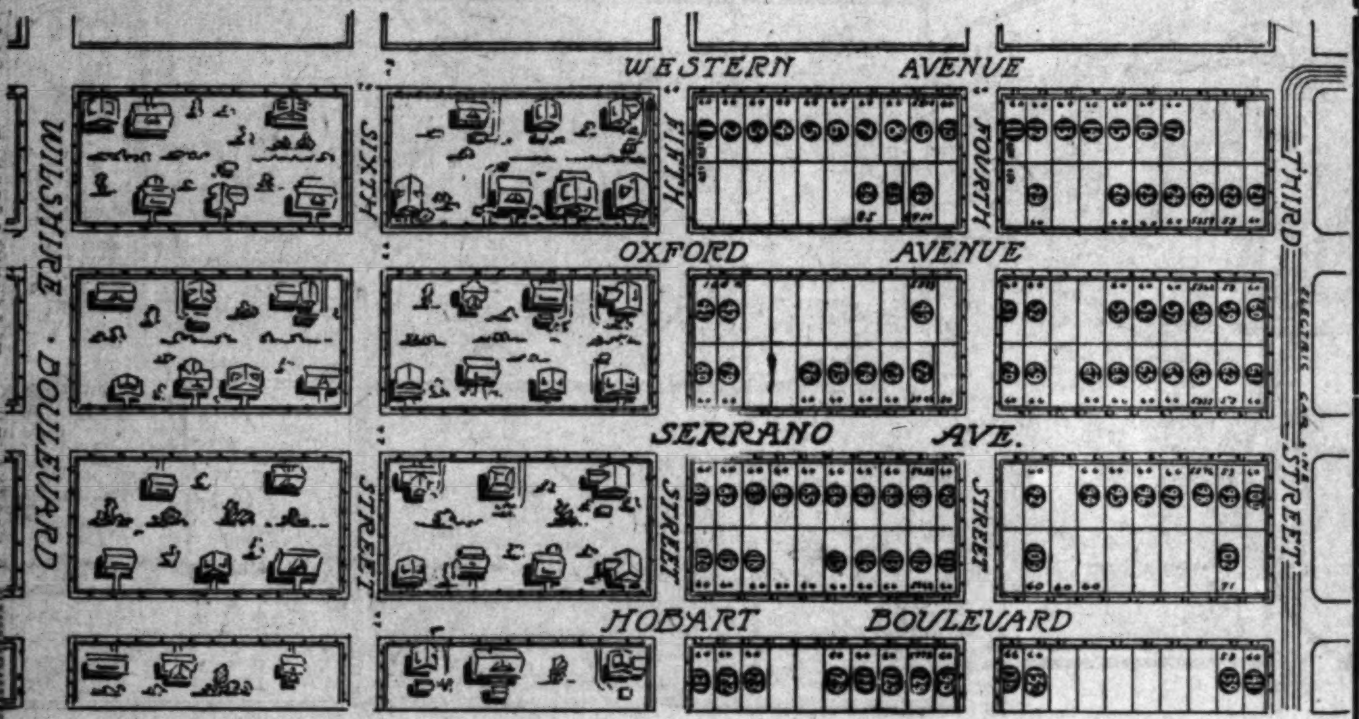
FRANCISCA PARK

The Beauty Spot IN THE HEART of the Wilshire District

LOCATION: This beautiful addition, located within two blocks of Wilshire Blvd., extending from Hobart Blvd. to Western Ave. and from Third St. to Fifth St.



HOW TO REACH IT: Take Western Ave. car, get off at Third and Oxford Ave., where you will find our tract office, courteous agents to show you over the tract, where you may select one of the most beautiful lots in the most beautiful locations in the city of Los Angeles and at prices which can be compared with any; and we can only benefit by such comparison.

IMPROVEMENTS: Improvements consist of sewer, water, gas, gutters, curbing, sidewalks and pavement. The water, sewer and gas improvements are not only in the street, but are connected from the street to the curb line of each lot—something that is very seldom done in additions in this city. You can readily realize what a saving these connections make and also what an advantage it is to have the street remain in the condition that it is and not ruined by tearing up for street improvements. In addition to the above the entire tract is electric lighted with decorated lamps, four to each block. These lights are on each night.

RESTRICTIONS: Suitable restrictions will be incorporated in each contract and deed for the benefit of the lot owners. We are determined to have Francisca Park forever one of the most beautiful spots in the city and in keeping with its fine location.

PRICES AND TERMS: The prices are exceptionally low for such desirable property, the easy terms of payment ought to excite the immediate action of every one who has the ambition to own a home site. Prices range from $3600 to $5500. We shall be glad to furnish you the details on request, either at the tract office or our city offices.

TERMS: One-fifth cash, balance of purchase price payable semi-annually in four payments at 6, 12, 18 and 24 months from date of purchase; 5 per cent. discount for all cash; 2½ per cent. discount for one-half cash.

SCHOOL PRIVILEGES: One of the best grade schools in the city is located on the corner of Hobart Blvd. and Second St., only one block north of Francisca Park.

NON-RESIDENTS OR VISITORS: If you contemplate moving to Los Angeles and wish to locate in the most beautiful section of the city, communicate with this office for information as to the details of prices and other facts of interest connected with this property. We shall take pleasure in giving you these details and showing you the property when you visit the city.

SECRETARY OF TREASURY M'ADOO, THE MAN.

Personal Story of Most Important Officer in the Cabinet—Earned Nine Cents a Day as Newsboy—Bought Two Pairs of Linen Trousers With His First Money. Failed in Business in Chattanooga and Moved to New York, Practically Penniless—Declares Competition Is Brutal and Should Be Regulated.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—All men, Judge William G. McAdoo was in the habit of observing to his family, should be capable of plainly expressing their opinions, standing on their feet or sitting down, and of coherently describing sequential events.

Man thinks, he said. Otherwise man would be no better than a beast or a bird. Writing was always necessary, he knew, but open speech and not silence, was golden sometimes.

Holding such views of the uttered word, he required his son and namesake to visit his law office once a week for a lesson in declamation. Also, for hints pertaining to the rough and tumble of every-day debate.

So, at the age of 29, William Gibbs McAdoo, thus trained and having, besides, eight years' seasoning at the bar, arrived in New York. He could state a case convincingly, even magnetically, looking a man or a multitude straight in the face without bashfulness or uncertainty. But he was no rhetorician by the common interpretation of that term.

Quite as important, he had wonderful eyes—gray eyes verging on Holland blue; moody, honest, smiling, and serious eyes, all at once. No revealing picture of the man who dug the first tunnel under the Hudson River would omit his eyes. Nor his nose, which is acquiline, sensitive, commanding and refined.

Then, as at present, notwithstanding the settling influences of battles and years, William Gibbs McAdoo was six feet and two inches tall and weighed about 156 pounds—a greyhound of a man, with a long and graceful stride. Now, at 50, he ascends the back stairs of the Treasury three steps at a time.

Neither humbleness nor boast is in his statement when he says that he was poor at the opening of his life in New York. Matters had gone wrong with him in the South. A street railroad, which he improved, had failed. "I had been looking toward the North," he told me, "for a long time. A larger stage for lawyers and business men, I felt, waited there."

NO THOUGHT OF TUNNELS THEN.

A wife and three children accompanied him. As he crossed the Hudson on a ferry, William G. McAdoo would not have believed the day was coming when he should ride under it through a tunnel of his own. The potentialities of a stranger carrying a carpet-bag and an umbrella happily are not visible in Wall street or known to himself.

The tunnel and those other tunnels which were built afterward have long since grown to be an old and daring story of construction and finance. Still, the man who caused them to be carried through mud and blasted through rock, contrary to much disbelief that the work ever could be done, is almost unknown. He has talked in the past, but not about himself.

It is twenty-one years since this long-legged, slim-bodied, imaginative, and boldly adventurous southerner climbed up the hill from the river bank and was lost to view in the onrushing Broadway throng. The rail- and tunnel company which he organized is bonded for $72,000,000. He meant at first to spend $4,000,000 and build two miles of track. Instead he built nine times that length. On March 6, last, he became Secretary of the Treasury.

How can his power be explained? His eyes, his nose, and his skill at [illegible] have been mentioned. [illegible] he is an apostle and a poet. His is the vision which sees castles in the heavens, and his is the genius which turns the castles into bricks, steel, and mortar. His dreams he inherited from his father; his [illegible] for actualizing the dreams [illegible] his mother.

[illegible] McAdoo, his son, told me, had [illegible] attitude toward money. He [illegible] and a book on geology, [illegible] botany and astronomy. [illegible] into the woods and fields [illegible] I was a boy," the Secretary said, [illegible] taught me the names of stars, [illegible] and wild flowers."

At the outbreak of the Mexican war he recruited a company—[illegible] for most part—[illegible] down the Tennessee, Ohio, and Mississippi rivers in barges to New Orleans, going thence to Vera Cruz and fighting in all the battles [illegible] and over the [illegible] to Mexico City. He was six feet and four inches in stature.

NO LIQUOR OR TOBACCO.

Up to his death, which occured only a few years since, he never had been drunk nor doctored. Like his father, Secretary McAdoo did not begin to use spectacles at his desk until a short while ago. His teeth are as solid as were the teeth of his father. He does not smoke. "I am not a teetotaller," he said, "but I have no liking for liquor and therefore do not drink it."

Though he will be fifty years old on the last day of this month, his hair, parted on the side and brushed flat against his head, is as black as it ever was. Lately, he has taken up tennis with Dr. Grayson, the President's physician, but for years he had had no regular bodily exercise. "I have lived on the energy," he remarked, "which I stored up in my youth while chopping wood, husking corn, and picking cotton."

After the Federals marched into Tennessee to fight at Ft. Donelson, Island No. 10, Shiloh, Chickamauga, and other places, the McAdoos retreated toward Georgia. Judge McAdoo, because of injuries received in the Mexican war, was exempt from military duty, but he took part in many of the battles in Georgia against Gen. Sherman. Mrs. McAdoo had been a Floyd and owned a rice plantation.

John Floyd, her father, came from a colonial ship-building family. He was a brigadier general in the war with the Creek Indians. As a major general, he commanded the defenses at Savannah during the war of 1812 with Great Britain. Secretary McAdoo has several letters which were written to John Floyd by his friend, Andrew Jackson; also a letter from James Monroe, then Secretary of War in President Madison's Cabinet, saying that peace had been negotiated between the United States and England and ordering that the news be communicated to the British officers.

In her flight to her plantation near the man from Maine came to town on the seacoast, Mrs. McAdoo found refuge at a farmhouse just outside of Mariette Ga.. There, on October 31, 1863, William Gibbs McAdoo was born. Three weeks later, Mrs. McAdoo went to Milledgeville, where the family remained for thirteen years.

VERY HARD TIMES IN GEORGIA.

The rice plantation was altogether useless because reliable help could not be found to plant the land or cultivate the crops. All of the slaves had disappeared in the new freedom given them by the emancipation proclamation, and the McAdoos realized then that they were very poor instead of comfortably rich. The father practiced law. The mother began to write novels. Three of her stories were published.

"There were nine children in our family," Secretary McAdoo said to me. "I had two brothers and four sisters and a half-brother and a half-sister, my father having been married twice. Times were distressingly hard in all parts of the South but were worse in Georgia than anywhere else. We had been stripped of everything movable and what couldn't be taken away by Sherman's army was burned. My mother did her own housekeeping. We hadn't money enough to pay a servant, even if one could have been found who was willing to work.

"I learned to wash and wipe dishes and to kindle a fire in the kitchen stove. There was a weekly newspaper in Milledgeville, to which my father contributed verses and editorials. Through his influence, I became the office 'devil,' but I got no pay for my labor. The editor thought that the honor of being associated with his organ of civilization was sufficient recompense for my services.

"The connection so established naturally turned my mind toward the printing business and led to my first remunerative employment. It seemed to me, as I canvassed the situation, that daily newspapers might be sold in the village if properly brought to the notice of the inhabitants. My father encouraged me to write a letter to the Macon Telegraph. He wanted me to do things for myself, saying that boys should learn to transact business and to be resourceful and self-reliant.

"The Macon Telegraph readily appointed me its sales agent at Milledgeville. Moreover, it agreed to extend me a line of credit and to take back such papers as remained unsold. I received five copies of the Telegraph every morning. Three of the copies, after energetic efforts on my part, were disposed of to regular subscribers. The other two copies were returned to the publisher.

SPENT SAVINGS FOR TROUSERS.

"My profits amounted to 9 cents a day, or 54 cents a week. The accumulations were given to my mother. At the end of six weeks I had 324 cents, net. The money was invested in linen, out of which my mother made trousers for my younger brother and myself. So ended my first independent business operation.

"By and by I was earning 15 cents a day. Perhaps my prosperity made me arrogant. At all events, I fell out with the Macon Telegraph people and transferred my patronage, taking the five customers with me, to the Augusta Chronicle."

The father, in course of time, became Prosecuting Attorney of Baldwin county, and while holding that office sent the leader of the local Ku-Klux Klan to prison, thus breaking up the organization in that part of Georgia. When he was offered the professorship of history and English and $1500 a year by the trustees of the University of Tennessee, he left Milledgeville and thereafter until his death lived in Knoxville. He moved away from Georgia because he thought his children would have better educational opportunities elsewhere.

"I understood the struggles my father had to face in making a living for a family of nine children," Secretary McAdoo told me, "and naturally helped him all I could. I worked on farms and tried in every way to lessen the burdens of my parents. During Christmas vacation, in my junior year at the university, I asked the clerk of the United States Circuit Court, whom I knew, if he could give me temporary employment as a copyist. Legal papers at that time were written by hand instead of on typewriters.

"The clerk, to my amazement, said he would pay me $2 a day for two weeks. I had never earned $2 a day. The pay, I thought, was fabulous. At the end of the fortnight I received $24 in one, big lump. The amount almost carried me off my feet. It was the largest sum I had ever seen all at once. I wrote legibly and the clerk, to my delight, said he would keep me two weeks longer.

EARNED $285 THE FIRST YEAR.

"Then came one of the unexpected turning points in my life. The clerk said he would appoint me as his deputy and send me to Chattanooga. My father was a college man and hoped I would complete my course at the university. But I argued and pleaded so effectively that he yielded and I moved away from Knoxville. I intended to be a lawyer and believed that my official association with judges and members of the bar would more than offset what I should lose by quitting the university.

"I read law at night. During the day I was employed with legal gentlemen and legal papers and was excellently situated for a young man in my circumstances. My admission to practice came immediately after my 21st birthday. The opening weeks at the bar were not golden. My fees at the end of twelve months, I well remember, amounted to $285. I lived within that sum. My first client was a friend. He was a man of property. I drew his will. He is living yet. I have always thought he is too loyal to me to die and let that will be filed in court.

"Many negroes were arrested back in those times for all sorts of big and little crimes. They never had any money, and the judges would appoint lawyers to defend them in court. Being officers of the court, the lawyers, of course, accepted the assignments. Young lawyers, indeed, were always glad to perform service of that kind. They almost asked for it, because it gave them an opportunity to appear in court and try their skill in criminal trials. They were full of oratory and zeal and often gained considerable notoriety. I had my share of such cases.

"The fees of my second year at the bar of Chattanooga mounted to the satisfactory total of $900. Then I got married and times grew better. Collecting debts was one of my early professional activities. I didn't like it, but had to take every sort of case to make a living. The customary charge was 10 per cent. of the face of the claim. After I had collected several accounts of $3, receiving 30 cents on each occasion, I concluded that my dignity as an attorney and counsellor-at-law was being impaired by so trifling a recompense and heroically made it a rule of my office that no fee thereafter should be less than $5.

INTERESTED IN RAILROADS.

"A photographer in Knoxville soon after that sent me an account of $2.50 against a Chattanooga hotel clerk. I returned it, saying that not a wheel in my office ever turned for less than $5. 'Collect the bill,' the photographer wrote back, 'and I will pay what you ask. The job,' he added, 'will be worth it.' He was acquainted with the clerk, you understand. I got the money and remitted it to the photographer, along with a bill for 'professional services.' The bill was promptly paid, and my schedule of prices thus tested remained intact."

Young McAdoo became an active man in Chattanooga. His practice expanded, and he was looked upon with high favor in business circles. Locomotives pulling long trains of loaded cars stirred his imagination, and so when a man came along with a proposal to build a railroad from Carrollton, in Georgia, to Chattanooga, a distance of 140 miles, he entered with enthusiasm into the project. The promoter demanded a bonus of $100,000 from Hamilton county, and it was voted.

Mr. McAdoo helped to obtain the right of way and later was appointed local attorney of the company. The road, however, was not completed according to the contract and the bonus was never paid. When the line was merged with the Central of Georgia system, Mr. McAdoo continued his relations with the latter corporation. Thus began his active interest in transportation.

Some of his friends got control of the street railroad in Chattanooga. Electricity as a motive power in the operation of street cars was then in the first stages of its development. Mr. McAdoo later joined a group of men who bought the horse car line in Knoxville. Electricity was substituted for animal power.

The undertaking was a failure. Armatures cost $350. Seven of them were sometimes burned out in a day. The daily gross receipts of the road amounted to only $100. New York had come into McAdoo's thoughts recurrently. A wider opportunity for lawyers and men of business, he believed, was to be found there. The collapse of the Knoxville experiment caused him to leave the South and turn his face northward.

BLUE DAYS IN NEW YORK.

"I pass over my introduction to New York," he said. "I retained my interest in the Chattanooga law partnership, and that was something. But the year after I settled in New York the panic of 1893 hit the country. Banks blew up and factories closed. I had weathered other storms and I emerged from the one that overtook me in a new part of the country, among strange people."

Ten years after locating in New York, the thought of connecting New Jersey with Manhattan Island by a tunnel, took definite form in McAdoo's mind.

"What made you think of it?" I asked him.

"My experience in Tennessee," he answered, "increased my interest in all matters related to transportation. I used to ride across the Hudson River from Jersey City to New York. The ferry gate was often shut in my face. When that occurred, I was compelled to wait ten minutes for the next boat. Once out on the river, I was frequently delayed by fog or ice. Hundreds of thousands of persons, twice each day, in going to and from their work, were losing a great deal of time. I thought that New Jersey should not, in logic, be more than three minutes from Broadway. Two attempts had been made to dig a tunnel under the Hudson. Neither had come to anything. I concluded to try my hand at the job."

That a lawyer but ten years in New York could obtain $4,000,000 for an enterprise which engineers and capitalists said was impossible of being carried out, is the most striking achievement in McAdoo's strangely successful life. But he could state his case, and the tone of his voice and the magic of his eyes must have done the rest.

"Did any discouraging days follow," I asked, "after you got the work under way?"

"Plenty of them," he replied. "There were many dark days and even weeks when we feared the project would have to be given up."

WOULD REGULATE COMPETITION

"In the operation of the tunnels," I said, "you adopted 'the public be pleased' policy. Was that your own phrase?"

"Yes. I claim no credit, however, for the phrase or the policy. Pleasing the public is nothing more than common sense. Selling transportation is precisely like selling anything else. All salesmen should be fair and courteous toward their customers. The public is simply a composite human being, having all the characteristics of the average man.

"When the public is treated as one would treat an individual few misunderstandings occur. We could not carry passengers for 5 cents. We went to the public with all the facts and were permitted to raise the rate to 7 cents. The public will be fair when it knows the truth, but it must know the truth. I have said more than once that Public Opinion, Esq., ought to be a member, and a respected member, of the board of directors of every corporation in the United States."

"How would you regulate monopoly?" I inquired.

"I do not believe you can successfully regulate monopoly by permitting it to exist and by then passing laws to control it. Some men advocate this, prominently among whom is George W. Perkins. There are others equally as conspicuous. The only way to regulate monopoly successfully is to prevent it. I believe in prevention. What we ought to do is to regulate competition. By that I mean that we should pass such legislation as will preserve the virtues of competition and destroy its brutalities."

"Brutalities?" I interrupted.

"Yes, brutalities. Competition is full of them, but they are not half so great an evil as the brutalities of monopoly. Let me give you an instance of what I mean by the brutalities of competition. Suppose you own an oil refinery in Indiana and are doing a sound and profitable business in your own zone, which, let us say, extends within a radius of 200 miles from your establishment.

"Now, suppose that the Standard Oil Company, which has business throughout the United States, invades your territory and finds that you are in its way. It cuts the price of oil below the cost of production and drives you out of business. That is what I call one of the brutalities of competition.

"The Standard Oil Company would lose money in your territory while the fight was going on, but it could increase its price in other parts of the country, where it had a monopoly, and reimburse itself for all losses it was meeting in your territory. After it had driven you out of business it could put up the price in your territory and recoup again what it spent in disposing of you as a competitor.

"It should be made unlawful for a corporation to engage in this kind of practice. It is harmful in every respect, injurious to the public interest, and destructive to proper business standards and ethics. To my mind it is one of the most interesting economic problems of the day, and I have no doubt that it will receive attention by Congress when the whole question of trusts and monopolies is again considered."

REVIVE "BUTTES" MINES.

Over Score of Men at Work on Senator Morgan Claim — Lost Dutchman Mine May be Found.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

TUSCON (Ariz.) Oct. 10.—The Twin Buttes mines are again being worked. They have been leased and E. G. Bush has twenty-five men employed in taking shipping ore from the Senator Morgan claim. Twenty-five miners are also working on the copper-bearing section of the old San Xavier claims of the Empire Zinc Company. At Olive Camp a single shift a day is operating the new concentrator.

D. W. Gilson of Kelvin is prospecting in the plain, forty miles southwest of Casa Grande, trying to find a rich silver ledge shown him years ago by an old Papago Indian whom he had befriended.

Peter Moraga, a well-known Globe prospector, believes he has at last found the Lost Dutchman mine, for which expeditions were fitted out forty years ago. He has brought in some wonderfully rich gold float, and tells that to reach the ledge he has to crawl into a cave, a detail that agrees with at least one of the stories of the Lost Dutchman.

The failure of the first reverberatory furnace at the new Clifton smelter of the Arizona Copper Company is said to have at least delayed a trip planned by Dr. L. D. Ricketts to Southeastern Europe. John C. Greenway has sailed for Europe, but Dr. Ricketts, who was to have been his companion, will remain at Clifton until the new plant has been put into successful operation.

SETTING OUT TREES.

WEST NEWPORT, Sept. 27.—It is the announced intention of the Dart-Rousselle Co., owners of the West Newport and Newport Heights, to make these resorts as handsome as any on the south coast. Already much money has been spent in the laying out of the streets and planting of shade trees. Within the past week a carload of date palms and black acacia trees was delivered to the property, and already workmen are planting them along the parkways. Four more carloads of ornamental trees will be planted before the work is finished.

IMPORTING TREES.

Thousands of Spanish "cork" oaks are to be imported for transplanting on the picturesque Baldwin Hills, according to announcement made yesterday by officers of the Los Angeles Investment Company. The order for the trees was placed this week, and shipments are to begin at an early date.

$240 Crops from $200 Land

We are today offering you land for $200 an acre that will produce a crop worth $240 an acre. The estimated cost of production will be $68 an acre—leaving a net profit of $172 per acre on every acre you cultivate.

You won't realize this splendid profit at the start—but when your land comes to full bearing you can figure $172 an acre clear, even though prices for your products remain at their present level.

In the meantime your property will be rapidly advancing in value, your berries and vegetables—planted between the tree rows—will be netting you a satisfactory income and your future will be assured.

A twenty-acre tract of this remarkably fertile land planted to APRICOTS will eventually yield a net annual income of $3440. Here is an opportunity that spells prosperity for the experienced, wide-awake agriculturist.

Lakeview Irrigated Farms
Located in the Famous
Lakeview-Perris-Hemet Valley

¶ Many experienced orchard men, foreseeing the advantages of commercial orcharding, have already purchased LAKEVIEW IRRIGATED FARMS. These men realize that the history of the fortunes made in Southern California fruit lands, where prices have advanced so rapidly, is to be enacted again in this district.

¶ Land in many respects can be compared to milk; that is, with reference to the depth and quality of the soil. We have skim milk, blue milk, rich milk and CREAM. Cream is simply the butter fat, in the last analysis, and the amount of butter fat found in the milk determines which cow shall have the Blue Ribbon at the annual Dairy Show.

¶ The producing quality of land can be determined in the same way. Some land has a very thin covering of soil; some of it has soil that is poorly balanced, that is, there are several chemical elements not in its material make-up. The soil on the LAKEVIEW IRRIGATED FARMS is over 200 feet deep—soil that will not wear out in a few years but will continue to produce crop after crop—every one better and more profitable than the last.

¶ LAKEVIEW IRRIGATED FARMS are located fifteen miles south of Riverside in that beautiful agricultural region known as the Perris-Lakeview-Hemet Valley. This section is renowned for its hogs and cattle, dairying and poultry, and its superb crops of apricots, peaches, walnuts, pears and apples.

¶ Scientific analysis and actual crop returns — the year round — prove that there is no more fertile land in the West. It excels in the production of well flavored, perfectly developed and highly-colored fruit.

¶ Seldom do soil and climate so combine to the grower's advantage as in this wonderful fertile section.

¶ With a growing season 365 days in the year, with a splendid irrigation system, with satisfactory transportation, with perfect soil that needs no leveling, this land only awaits your work and your enterprise to turn its treasures into golden crops that bring highest prices.

¶ Are you alive to the situation, do you grasp the full meaning of the things we are telling you today? The time will come, and come soon, when such land will sell for $500 or more per acre.

¶ Within easy distance you have the advantages of an up-to-date social community—stores churches, schools, telephones, etc.

¶ It is impossible here to tell the story of LAKEVIEW IRRIGATED FARMS completely. We can only sketch a rough outline of the splendid advantages of this land. We want to impress upon every prospective land buyer, however, that to purchase without first inspecting LAKEVIEW IRRIGATED FARMS is to make a serious mistake.

¶ Remember — the pioneers of Whittier, Anaheim and Santa Ana bought their land ten years ago at $200 per acre—our present price. To-day these same men are selling their land at $800 to $1200 per acre. In ten years buyers of LAKEVIEW IRRIGATED FARMS will be able to sell at the same tremendous advance.

¶ Let us take you down to see this land. You can leave Los Angeles at 9 o'clock in the morning, arriving at the property at 11:30 o'clock, lunching at the ranch headquarters and spending three hours to look over the property, returning to Los Angeles at 7 o'clock in the evening.

¶ Do not go without informing this office. Come first and see the stereopticon pictures of the entire valley with its walnut and apricot groves, canneries and driers, etc.

If you are unable to come and see us we want you to fill out the coupon below, tear it out and mail it. We will send you interesting literature regarding Lakeview Irrigated Farms, with map of the district, etc.

OPEN-AIR SCHOOL IDEA SPREADING OVER WORLD.

Anaemics and Sluggards Can and Will Learn—Fresh Air Means Good Health and Better Study—Idea First Originated in Germany—Uncle Sam Quick to Take It Up—Colder Climate No Hindrance.

BY F. A. I. CONNOLLY.

THE open-air plan school originated in Germany, a little less than ten years ago. Since that time the world-wide movement for open and outdoor schoolrooms has gone forward by such steps that it is now one of the most interesting of the present-day sciences.

the school to the child." Every trial has been an undoubted success.

Sickly children who never before even dreamed of acquiring an education are now finding conditions in which they cannot only study, but in which they can at the same time improve and in some cases regain their health, even in the worst climates. Laggards and dull students who had begun to despair of ever making up the classes which they had wasted or lost are rejoicing in the new and interesting schedules of work and play, and are setting to their tasks with a will, while students who have always been perfectly normal, instilled with sunlight and oxygen, are rushing on to the acquisition of further laurels. In fact, this new system has been so successful, especially in the cure of children who have tuberculosis, that a plan is now on foot to have the old and discarded battleships of Uncle Sam's navy turned into open-air sanatorium schools.

VICTORY FOR THE PLAN.

After most careful and rigid experiment, this modern system of open-air schooling has come out of the test wreathed in victory. Yet it is not altogether a new idea. Going back to the times of the ancients, we find Aristotle in his gardens, walking among his pupils and delivering to them his principles of logic in nature's own amphitheater, and Plato, probably standing on barrels, or the Grecian equivalent for them, in the streets of Athens, addressing the passers-by. Tracing the processes of dispensing knowledge down through the ages, we hear very little of schoolrooms until after the world had begun to come out of its long sleep of the Dark Ages.

Then the idea of gathering the children around some master's chair within four walls began to come into prominence. The youngsters with the wild blood of youth flowing in their veins, were herded into closed-up classrooms, where so much dry knowledge was paid out to them. This system had its advantages, but there was no reason why it should be the only system on the face of the earth.

Yet it came to be so fixed a fact that when the question of educating children who were physically unfit to study within doors arose, the only answer that the economists of the last century could give was either to make the children suffer the ravages of indoor life, or else give up all hopes of being educated.

EXPERIMENT IN GERMANY.

Necessity, however, proved in this case, as in others, the mother of invention. When, lately, State legislation began to impose on all children the obligation of going to school, some means had to be resurrected to accommodate the subnormal child. Then the first experiment of open-air schools for sickly children was begun. Germany, as is usual, was found master of the situation, and came into the foreground with its little forest school at Charlottenburg, a small suburb of Berlin. The reports from this school soon spread throughout the empire and were so startling that similar institutions seemed to spring up overnight all over the land. England was the next to fall in line with the move, and in 1907 opened its fresh-air school at the little hamlet of Bostall Wood, near London.

Switzerland and France quickly followed her example, and in 1908 the city of Providence, R. I., started the first open-air school in the United States. Since that time they have been established in such rapid succession that there are now over 200 in America, located in more than thirty different cities.

The Germans designated the first of these institutions by the term, "open-air recovery schools" since they were originally intended to accommodate pale and sickly children, such as those suffering from anaemia, tuberculosis and other diseases that made it dangerous to pen the children in walled-up classrooms. To the child that is physically subnormal these closed-up rooms in which foul air from the breath and bodies of his classmates is almost forced down his lungs, while the pure air and sunshine are barred outside his prison walls, are like so many dark dungeon cells.

His fellow-students may be suffering from all sorts of ailments, and he is compelled to breathe the air passed out through tubercular lungs and from sour stomachs and mouths in which the teeth are half rotted away. Something had to be done to relieve this poisonous condition of affairs and the open-air school was the only solution of the difficulty.

GOOD FOOD STARTS DAY.

The novel schedule of study employed under the new regime is very interesting. Of course, every school makes up its own course, but since they are all founded for the same general purpose there exists a consequent similarity between the methods employed by each. As a rule, the students meet in some convenient spot about 8:30 o'clock in the morning and start for the school, where they immediately have breakfast served. This plan of feeding the children fits in very well with the idea of the school, as it gives the directors of the student's physical welfare a chance to see that he is provided with the proper food. For this meal, porridge, bread and butter, and milk are served, with a bit of fruit occasionally. The diet is calculated, before everything else, to be nourishing.

After breakfast the first number on the programme is active exercise until about 10 o'clock. Then a three-quarters of an hour period of study takes place, generally spelling, grammar, or history. A quarter of an hour's recreation and an hour of arithmetic make up the forenoon. Hot soup or broth, bread and jelly, and milk or warm cocoa make up the noon-day meal. Then follows a performance that knocks the feet from under one of grandmother's most cherished old theories.

The children are bundled up in steamer chairs or cots and bade to go to sleep while their lunch digests. Poor old grandmother gasped many a time before new discoveries of science were able to persuade her that this method of procedure would not send the child to an early grave or leave him a cranky old dyspeptic, but the schools have the proof of their wisdom right in their own records, which show that contrary to the old beliefs the children grow strong and healthy under such treatment.

NATURE IS TEXT-BOOK.

At 2 o'clock some study of nature or one akin to it is indulged in, such as botany or geography, and an instructor escorts the pupils through the fields and hills and points out to them the different objects such as pools and slopes and lakes which the dry text-book frequently only half impresses on their minds. After an hour and a half of such talks with nature, recreation and games are again in order until 4 o'clock, when some handiwork or other study fills the time up till the serving of supper, which is usually at 5.

The menu for this meal is very changeable, including meats and vegetables, milk, and other healthful foods. By 6:30 o'clock the children are again in their homes, and after telling mother and father, in those cases where there are a mother and a father, all about the day's work, they are thoroughly ready to run off to their waiting cots for a good night's rest. Under circumstances of this nature it is no hard matter for a child to spring quickly back to health.

As the fundamental idea of this movement is to fit the school to the child rather than to make the child measure up to the requirements of the institution there can be no set schedule or routine which will apply in all cases. Frequently the schools will have in attendance cripples who are unable to indulge in the walks and games of the other children, but in these cases a teacher is always provided to interest them in livid stories which often give as much knowledge as the pupils can acquire in their rambles. In cases where the condition of health is such that it will not permit of attendance at all of the classes the invalid is allowed to rest during certain periods while the others go ahead with their work. Many of the schools even employ busses and automobiles to collect the feeble children from their homes in the morning and return them in the evening.

IMMUNITY FROM COLDS.

Another difficulty arises in some climates in the winter time when the weather would ordinarily be termed inclement. Almost the first question asked by critics and opponents when the proposition of open-air schools was launched was: How will you keep the child from catching cold or even pneumonia, if you expose him to the rigorous open-air of northern winters? This question partially answers itself, because there is such a thing as man becoming acclimated to weather conditions and the children who attend these schools in a short time become almost immune from colds.

If, however, a child who has been walking or playing in the snow gets his body or feet wet, there can be no harm come of it as long as he is active, and the moment that he steps in on the floor space, or, as in some classes, the open room, he is immediately hustled to the warm, inclosed baths and there thoroughly dried before he is exposed to the cold again. But as long as he stays out of the dampness there is no danger at all, because the temperature can be and is, when necessary, modified by a big jacketed wood stove that can throw off enough heat to drive the children out if forced to it.

WOOLEN UNDERWEAR NEEDED.

The problem of clothing is a great factor in the proper care of the child. The one essential thing beside and before all other articles of clothing equipment that have been mentioned is its underwear. This must be of warm, snug-fitting wool. All of the other articles are useless without this. Perhaps the best idea yet suggested along the line of cold weather comfort for the child is that of fitting him with an Eskimo suit of wool with the usual Arctic hood.

The soapstones and hot-water cans which are placed in felt-lined boxes for keeping the feet warm, are old acquaintances to most of us, but the sitting out bag is somewhat of a stranger to those who have had no experience with sanitariums, yet it comes in very handy in these schools on cold days. The general plan of this bag is a heavy woolen blanket doubled and covered with canvas and made to conform to the shape of a steamer chair.

There is, however, a special bag now in use made especially for open-air schools. It is cheaper and better suited to their use. It consists of a long flannel blanket, doubled in two with an insert of layers of cotton batting and newspapers, which are sewed in the shape of a bag and made to fit the special chairs now used, which enable the child to recline further than the steamer chairs did and are, consequently, somewhat different from them.

The greatest difficulty with the institution of an open-air school in most communities seems to be that of expense. This is a great problem, but where there's a will there's a way. Some communities, even little townships that do not look as though they would support a grocery store, have found that when they set to the task of building a schoolhouse or of securing something for this purpose, it was not so hard after all. They have bought old barns and torn out all or a part of the southern side, and after cleaning th eold place up a bit and putting a strong floor in it and maybe a few large windows that could be drawn up against the ceiling, they have conformed the school to the latest fashion. Charity workers and mothers have supplied the clothing and new fixtures, while from sociables and benefit affairs enough money has been secured to furnish the children with their wholesome meals.

BATTLESHIPS AS SCHOOLS.

To offset the great difficulty of expense the Fourth International Congress on School Hygiene, which adjourned only last month, adopted a resolution to petition the United States Congress to place at the disposal of the several States of the Union all of the cast-aside battleships of the navy, to be used as health schools for tuberculosis children. The hygiene congress brought forth statistics showing that there are nearly a million tuberculous children, or children predisposed to tuberculosis, who are now attending the public schools throughout the country.

It is also stated definitely that the open-air school was, in its opinion, one of the most powerful agents in the prevention and cure of consumption in childhood, and determined to ask Uncle Sam to place in the waters of the different States his useless old war craft to be used as open-air schools in the battles against the white plague. The city of New York has already pressed a steamer into service as an open-air sanitarium school.

FREE WORKERS' PAGE---Our Unceasing Fight for Industrial Liberty.

A SIGNIFICANT ADMISSION.

[Editorial.]

THE Industrial Workers of the World are learning that violence and sensationalism are boomerangs that fall back on their heads with punitive whacks, and the official organ of the I.W.W.'s—The Solidarity—published in Cleveland, O., in its issue of August 23, has made a frank admission that the organization resorts to cheap and insincere tactics to win followers.

All workingmen will undoubtedly be interested in knowing that out of the official mouth of that disgruntled labor sect comes words to prove true all that The Times has ever charged against them.

Listen to this, which comes under the heading of "Sensationalism Versus Organizing Ability:"

> "At present we are to the labor movement what the high diver is to the circus. A sensation, marvelous and nerve thrilling. We attract the crowds. We give them thrills, we do hair-raising stunts and send the crowd home to wait impatiently for the next sensationalist to come along. The crowd expects the sensational from our speakers or organizers; the members expect it, and our speakers, if they intend to remain as such, have got to supply them or go out of business. We measure the success or failure of our speakers by the number of spectacular stunts that they are able to pull off."

And listen to this "honest confession," which comes from so authentic a source, for on starting a strike in a factory The Solidarity says:

> "The speaker sheds tears over their misery, he opens the floodgates of sentiment and, lo, Mr. Speaker becomes a strike leader. With cheap phrases and flowery language the strike leader appeals to the emotions of the crowd, lashing them into a religious frenzy, for he knows well that if he ever allows the strikers to cool down the boasted solidarity will disappear and the men will crawl back into the factory. Take the speaker away from the strike and it will go up in smoke unless the workers or some part of them have been previously organized. Arrest the speaker or strike leader and the crowd will remain firm until another one gets on the job. The new speaker does not have to show anything about the shop conditions to make good. He raves about persecution and the brutality of the police. It is surprising how you can revive the dying enthusiasm of a crowd by a tirade against the police or the army.
> "While the crowd is still enthusiastic we take in many members, many of whom would just as soon join the Salvation Army as the Industrial Workers of the World, providing that the S. A. had sense enough to use the same cheap weapons that we are forcing our speakers to use."

Here is also another piece of information from the same source, which will enlighten the workingmen as to the cause why I.W.W.'s take "so much interest" in their welfare:

"How often do we hear around our halls a conversation like the following:

"Slim, who has just blown in: 'Gee, this town is dead; we got to start something,' meaning, of course, something sensational."

In the "confession" the workingmen can see how they have been made the dupes and "suckers" of the I.W.W.'s, whose official organ has voluntarily pleaded guilty to all the charges that this paper has ever made.

If the workingmen support a crowd of agitators who admit that they are hypocritical and that they are insincere when using "cheap phrases and flowing language" to work the laboring class into a "religious frenzy," what do the working men hope to gain?

Let these noisy, pestiferous trouble-makers be driven off. Let the entire organization and all of its agitators be repudiated by the workingmen. Let the brassy orators be hissed from their soap boxes, now that their official paper complacently announces that the orators are only trying to get a cheap notoriety.

Labor's Unrest.

THE STRIKE NEWS OF THIS UNEASY WORLD.

WHEN the Industrial Workers (wreckers) of the World saw that they had lost their strike against the silk manufacturers of Paterson, N. J., they began to preach sabotage to their misguided followers, advising them to return to work for the purpose of destroying the machinery and material entrusted by their employers to their care. One I.W.W. leader, named Boyd, actually and publicly gave specific directions in an address as to the manner in which unspun silk could easily be ruined. He was arrested, charged with "advocating the destruction of personal property," according to the news dispatches, and held for trial. His plea was that he had merely exercised his constitution-right of free speech, but, and very properly, the court declared that plea to be without merit, as his "free-speech" utterances were criminal in that they were intended to incite others to criminal acts in the wanton destruction of legally-owned property.

The preposterous attitude assumed by Boyd (the same attitude that was impotently assumed by Socialist Mayor Lum of Schenectady when brought to book for his incendiary speeches to the Little Falls (N. Y.) strikers,) is frequently assumed by enemies of American institutions and government when they are brought before a bar of justice. Engaged in an effort whose logical ultimate result must be, if it could be successful, to overthrow constitutional government, they seek refuge under the very constitution they ignore. They cannot succeed in court, as they do not go into court with "clean hands," an essential indispensible to success in court. The case is to be appealed to the Supreme Court of New Jersey. The principle animating Boyd in giving his wicked advice to his ignorant I.W.W. followers was the same as that on which the I.W.W. of New York acted in suggesting to its members there to poison the food prepared for guests in hotels and restaurants of that city, when the waiters and other help were engaged in a futile strike a few months ago. It is based on the theory that the constitutional right of free speech protects a man in any utterance, no matter how violent and incitingly harmful and criminal it may be, but such is not the fact, as Socialist Mayor Lum found out to his cost. The New Jersey constitution, to which Boyd appeals, after denouncing all constitutions (as did Socialist Mayor Lum,) does indeed guarantee freedom of speech, but it contains a provision that is frequently disregarded or overlooked. The constitution says:

"Every person may freely speak, write and publish his sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for that right."

The "being responsible for that right" is what will bother I.W.W. Boyd in his appeal. It is to the first clause of this provision (a provision similar in New York and other States) that every anarchist and revolutionist appeals when public policy suggests the suppression of his efforts to disturb the peace, destroy the property of others, or endanger the lives of citizens. It is under the second clause that society arms itself for protection against the wild outgivings of such misled, unscrupulous or demented men as Hayward, Ettor, Boyd, Lum, Darrow, Gompers, Morrison, Mitchell, Johannsen, Tveitmoe, Clancy, McCarthy, and their abettors, Harriman, Scott and company. The decision in this Boyd case will probably muzzle those spellbinders to fancied, discontented laborers, who are also highbinders.

The British government has stored up trouble for itself by allowing the admiralty to officially recognize trades unions as it did on September 30, for the first time in the history of British dockyards or other government works. The admiralty agreed, in reply to demands made by dockyard men, that in case of disputes hereafter it will meet and treat with deputations of the workmen as unionists. Permission is foolishly accorded to the men to select their own representatives in any of these conferences, and the men are not confined in their choice to men employed only in the dockyards. What a chance for the British labor agitators—men like "Blasphemous" Ben Tillet, James Larkin (the trouble maker in Ireland,) Tom Mann (the incitor of British soldiers to mutiny,) Gosling of the London dockers' strike, and the rest of Great Britain's army of 10,000 labor agitators. The British admiralty has made a grave and far-reaching mistake.

Socialist Senator Poindexter of Washington has the effrontery to ask the Federal government to pay for the damage to Socialist and I.W.W. property in Seattle during the recent riots, which riots were distinctly the outcome of Socialist and I.W.W. agitation and attacks upon the American flag—the flag which the government is sworn to uphold. Just the introduction of this bill is an incitement to further attacks on the flag, and free labor by rabid Socialists, more rabid I.W.W.'s and their anarchist allies.

Dublin is still the storm center of labor unrest in Ireland, in spite of the fact that the movement for a general "sympathetic" strike all over Great Britain completely and ignominiously failed. Riots of more or less violence continue to occur. Many women and children are still starving and infants dying daily for want of food. The deadlock between the employers and the striking transport workers is complete, without any prospect of an immediate or near-immediate settlement of the dispute. The men accepted settlement proposals made by Sir George Askwith, the government strike settler, but the employers, firm in their stand for industrial liberty, properly refuse to agree.

It cost Strike-agitator Socialist Mayor Lunn just $100 for chopping down a tree in Schenectady in contempt of a court order to the contrary. What can these Socialists and strike agitators be thinking of in so persistently attempting to defy the law?

It was the outcome of the movement called the "New Unionism," which came to the front in England after the London dock strike in 1889 and influenced trade union action in some quarters for several years. This movement, says the Times of London, was inspired by Socialists and based on their theory of the rights of "labor" as the sole efficient and necessary instrument of industry, a theory that is radically wrong, for without capital there would not be any industry. Whenever that theory is applied, it always brings things to a standstill, for it is essentially false. It happened to be strong in the engineering industry in 1897, and so it brought about a futile crisis there. The result gave it a decisive check, but it has been revived in recent years by largely the same men, though the application is different. It has secured more hold among transport workers than in any purely industrial groups, and the present display at Dublin, Ireland, is only one of many. The I.W.W. represents this movement of disregard of law and order in this country, with its accompaniment of sabotage (destruction of property) and syndicalism (anarchy.)

In the past twenty-five years in the United States there have been about 40,000 strikes, affecting over 8,000,000 workers. In the same period there have been over 1500 lockouts, affecting 800,000 workers. Labor unions have ordered 25,000 strikes and strikes not ordered by labor unions number about 12,000. Naturally these strikes and lockouts entailed the loss of very many millions of dollars of wages money, and all for practically no result, as has been partially shown in this column Sunday after Sunday in dealing with strike after strike. The newly-appointed Federal Industrial Commission is instructed to find (if it can) a remedy for further waste along this line. The Industrial Commission of years ago tried the job and failed lamentably. The remedy, and the only real remedy, is for labor union and non-union to refuse to listen to the mouthings of those non-working labor agitators who, for their own personal benefit seize any and all excuses to incite discontent in the naturally (if left alone) good heart of labor.

The London strike of 11,000 painters is over, and the men are back at work on a raise of 2 cents an hour, subject to negotiations as to working rules. A complete settlement is expected in a few days.

There is trouble in the bookbinding trade of London. The union has boycotted the work of all publishers employing a certain bookbinding firm. As the autumn publishing season is approaching this illegal boycotting action may affect the issuance of millions of books.

The seriously threatened omnibus strike in London has been averted by allowing the "bussies" to decorate themselves with their silly union badges, though the omnibus companies can still employ non-union drivers and conductors. They employ these solely on certain outside routes so as to avoid friction with the "union-badged" men. The union badge is nothing more nor less than the badge of industrial slavery.

More than 15,000 workers are idle in Dublin and daily losing wages money owing to the strikes and lockouts. The men are paying dearly for their attempt to force industrial slavery upon their employers. "Blasphemous" Ben Tillett advises the strikers to "arm themselves well, be well drilled and to get the most murderous guns they can to protect themselves and to learn to shoot straight." This murderous blasphemer should be jailed for life for "inciting to murder." Imagine the effect of such advice on thousands of ignorant, uneducated dock and transport workers, many of them hot-headed Irishmen who are discontented with law and order and "things that be," anyway.

Sheffield (Eng.) molders—about 1500—are on strike in sympathy (they say) with the Dublin (Ireland) strikers. If it goes on many thousands of other workers (innocent victime) will be thrown out of work.

The civic heads of Manchester are trying to intervene for settlement between the 4000 striking dockers and the Manchester Ship Canal Company, but prospects of success are quite gloomy as the professional strike agitators are constantly at work among the men, fanning their discontent. Strike agitation is an active and largely pursued "profession" in England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland, otherwise known as the "United Kingdom."

'Officials of the newly-formed National Union of Railwaymen of the United Kingdom, the most powerful labor union in that country, are dead against "sympathetic" strikes and advise their men not to fritter away their power in every "tinpot" strike or labor dispute This stand prevented the recently proposed general strike of railwaymen.

Three thousand men have stopped work because of the strike of the brakemen on the Rio Tinto (Spain) Mines Railway. The government is taking measures to prevent the trouble spreading.

Lancashire cotton mill owners have decided to close all their mills from October 25 and to keep them closed until the strike at the Beehive mill, Bolton, is settled. The day of employers acting as a unit in self-defense has come—forced upon them by union labor. The Bolton strike, however, was against the advice of the officials of the union. The sole reason (or unreason) for it is objection to the personality of one of the overseers.

Official statistics just published show the strikes of the past two years have cost British trade $10,000,000 in two years in lost profits, besides a wages loss of far more millions of dollars.

London membership in the unions has increased a million, but the funds of the unions have decreased $10,000,000 in the two years. Many of the local unions in England are overdrawn at their bankers. Loans by English banks are made more by overdrafts than on secured notes, as in this country.

WORKERS AND CORPORATIONS.

Tin Plate Men Opposed to the Dissolution of the United States Steel Corporation.

That the formation of strong corporations is not always a detriment to their employees finds peculiar testimony in the action of the tin plate workers of the United States Steel Corporation. The Pittsburgh Gazette-Times says:

"A deputation of five workmen from the Shenango plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company of New Castle, Pa., called yesterday on Senator George T. Oliver, in the city, to present a petition, signed by all the workmen, asking that steps be taken to prevent the dissolution of the United States Steel Corporation, of which this plant is a subsidiary. The petition was signed by more than 1000 employees.

"The deputation which met the Senator represented five of the great departments of the plant, embracing every subdepartment. The men were Claude Downs, Harry Book, George Zerner, Benjamin Jones and T. J. Davies.

"The men were eager to sign and the deputation of five chose Saturday to come to Pittsburgh so that they would not be taking their time from the corporation. All classes—Republicans, Democrats and Socialists, including many women—signed the paper. The securing of signatures required less than two weeks' time.

"After hearing the committee Senator Oliver told them that, while the matter has gone beyond the actual control of Senate and Congress, a Congressional committee would be appointed to whom the petition would be referred.

The reasons put forward by the petition, backed up by the members of the deputation, are:

"'We have a fairer distribution of orders than ever before.

"'There is now a uniform scale of wages, which never could be accomplished under the old order of things.

"'Resthouses have been built around the "hot mill" department.

"'Restrooms, dining-rooms and dressing-rooms for the girls and women employees have been erected.

"'Old age pensions are being enjoyed by some and looked forward to eagerly by others of the employees.

"'Stockholding and profit sharing plans are being participated in to great advantage by employees.

"'First aid to the injured and subsequent surgical treatment, free of cost, is being provided.

"'Improved sanitary conditions are taking place throughout the mills and, in the finishing department, cleaning processes are being instituted. In fact, a general observance of healthy and sanitary conditions in all the mills is being instituted to make working conditions more bearable.'"

Low Wages in England.

The average wage of the clerks employed in the many official labor exchanges of Great Britain is only $6.25 a week. The country has over 600,000 men and women clerks whose average is only that stated, namely, $6.25 a week. Investigation proves that over 25 per cent. die of consumption and that over 33 per cent. die of some lung trouble. Many clerks work under conditions in which gentlemen would not allow their horses to live. The recent masked procession of London clerks was a dead failure.

No Bracelets or Rings for Factory Girls.

State Labor Commissioner Barton of West Virginia has decreed that factory girls shall not be allowed to wear bracelets or rings while at work. "Bracelets and rings for the ballroom, but unincumbered hands for the factory" is the edict. "Jewelry worn by girls working about machinery has caused more factory accidents in West Virginia than any other thing. Wearing of bracelets and rings about hand-fed machinery is practically certain to lead to injury oftentimes resulting fatally." Commissioner Barton is right. Jewelry as part of girls' dress while working is out of place anyway. It is not allowed in English factories for many reasons, particularly jealousy by some girls because of the vanity of the others, and the consequent attract of the male workers.

Tailoring Wages in Norway.

Work—	Wages per week.
Cutters	$12.40 to $16.08
Ordinary tailors	$7.37 to $9.65
Women vestmakers	$1.88 to $5.09

Tailoring by men and women is never paid by the piece. The shops are usually clean, well-lighted and roomy, and in no way resemble sweat shops. These wages are paid by the several large factories making ready-made clothing, which sells very freely all over Norway as well as does German "ready-mades" bought from Hamburg dealers.

M'NAMARAS IN SECLUSION.

Brothers in the San Quentin Penitentiary Deny Themselves to All Callers.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN QUENTIN, Oct. 10.—John J. and James B. McNamara, the Los Angeles dynamiters in prison here, have denied themselves to all visitors. John J. is still in the jute mill. His brother, who was ill for several months after he entered the prison, has been made cell tender and is said to be much improved in health.

English Mill Hands Extravagant.

Among the mill hands of Lancashire—the great cotton manufacturing district of England—holiday-making and particular holiday-spending amounts to a craze. The mills there close for a week in August when the out-of-town "sprees" are held. This year overtime gave the workers more money than usual for their annual "bust." An official of a prominent savings society says: Three hundred and fifty thousand dollars has been paid for the holiday this year by savings clubs in Blackburn alone, and over $200,000 in Preston (these being only two of the cities having savings clubs.) Besides this thousand of pounds have been withdrawn from savings banks and the Preston Co-operative Society Bank has paid out $63,000, of which nearly $14,000 went to the workers in only one mill.

"Some of the families of the better paid workers, in which two or more members work in the mills, have drawn as much as $450 or $500 for the holidays, all of which will be spent during the week. Many go to the continent, 10,000 left Blackburn alone this August on long-distance excursions." There is reason in everything but not in this.

How the English Workers Live.

Benjamin P. Pearson, general superintendent of the Southern California Edison Company and also a well-known mission worker in Los Angeles, has just returned from a visit to England and says:

"I found many instances where English workingmen, principally farm laborers and others of a similar calling, had raised a family in decency and respectability, put a little money by for a rainy day—not very much—on the stupendous salary of $3 per week. An investigation of their menu revals some of the conditions that have to be met. Such a luxury as ordinary steak is absolutely unknown except perhaps on Coronation Day, which only comes when somebody dies. In talking with one dear old English lady who had raised a family of thirteen children, she explained part of the scientific process as follows: A piece of meat suitable for a stew would be used the first day to furnish a most edible soup, garnished with vegetables and toast; the following day the meat for a pudding—the meat being thickly interspersed with vegetables; the third day, the remnants used for a most delightful curry, the fact that there was not much meat present in the curry being disguised by the presence of numerous bones. The smallest crust is considered too valuable even for the chickens.

"I found the so-called clerical classes living in apartments and attached cottages, on a salary ranging from $6 to a highly-paid clerk, $9 per week; and out of this squeezing sufficient money to go to a theater at least once in every three months and furnish sufficient money for a donkey ride on a bank holiday."

Limestone Quarry Wages in Ireland.

The limestone quarry workers of Ireland have got their wages raised to 9 cents per hour, or $5.18 per week of fifty-seven hours. Workmen's modern dwellings are being erected. A comfortable home to go to always makes a great difference to a man's energy while working. He wants to "get through" so as to get home and also to give satisfaction so as to keep his home.

Two Sides to Arbitration.

[New York World:] The World is utterly unable to see why the railroads should be accused of putting a "joker" into their agreement for arbitration with the trainmen and conductors simply because they insist on arbitrating their own grievances as well as the grievances of their employees. A railroad has certainly as much right to a grievance as a conductors' union, and it certainly has the same right to have that grievance arbitrated. If the unions think that arbitration means all get and no give, they should disabuse their minds of this fallacy. If they think because the railroads have deservedly made themselves unpopular in the past that they must invariably appear as defendants in the court of public opinion, they misjudge the fairness of the public conscience.

If, in the present case, the unions take the ground that they will arbitrate only matters on which they stand to win and cannot lose, and that the railroads must arbitrate only matters on which they stand to lose and cannot win, then public sympathy will be with the railroads and against the unions.

MORE WAGES, LESS WORK.

Department of Labor Finds This Peculiar Condition to Be True for the Last Twelve Years.

[New York Tribune:] That wages have increased and the number of working hours decreased in the cotton, woolen and silk industries in the United States in the last dozen years are assertions made in a bulletin just issued by the Department of Labor.

The census figures for 1910 show that the manufacturers of cotton, woolen and silk goods employed, respectively, 371,000, 163,000 and 99,000 persons.

In cotton goods manufacturing the nominal full-time hours a week in the principal occupations combined had in 1912 declined 3.1 per cent. as compared with 1890; 7.7 per cent. as compared with 1900, and 1.8 per cent. as compared with 1910. Compared with the average for 1890 to 1899 they had decreased 7.6 per cent. For the same occupations the rates of wages an hour in 1912 had advanced 61.5 per cent. over the level for 1890, 51.4 per cent. over that for 1900, and 11.1 per cent. over that for 1910. Compared with the average for 1890 to 1899 they showed an advance of 64.1 per cent. As regards recent years, wages were 4.5 per cent. lower in 1909 than in 1907; after 1909 they advanced continuously.

In woolen and worsted manufacture the nominal full-time hours a week for the principal occupations combined had in 1912 decreased 6.3 per cent., as compared with 1890; 5.2 per cent., as compared with 1900, and 1.6 per cent., as compared with 1910. Compared with the average for 1890 to 1899 they decreased 5.4 per cent. Rates of wages an hour in the same occupations had in 1912 increased 49.7 per cent. over the level for 1890, 34 per cent. over that for 1900, and 12.5 per cent. over that for 1910. Compared with the average for 1890 to 1899, the increase was 49.1 per cent. Following a decrease of 5.3 per cent. in 1908, as compared with 1907, wages in this industry have advanced continuously in recent years.

Reports of the principal productive occupations of silk-goods manufacture show that the nominal full-time hours a week in 1912 were 8.8 per cent. below those for 1890, 3 per cent. below those for 1900, and 0.8 per cent. below those for 1910. As compared with the average for 1890 to 1899 the decrease was 3.4 per cent. The rates of wages an hour for these occupations in 1912 were 18.8 per cent. above the level for 1890, 19 per cent. above that for 1900, and 4.1 per cent. above that for 1910. Compared with the average for 1890 to 1899, they showed 17.1 per cent. increase. As regards recent years, wages in 1908 decreased 2.6 per cent., as compared with 1907, but since 1908 have advanced continuously.

Considerable increase in wages, combined with a decrease in working hours, has come to the almost 1,000,000 men employed in the lumber, millwork and furniture-manufacturing industries of the country during the last twenty-three years, as shown by figures prepared by the Department of Labor.

In lumber manufacturing since 1890 there has been an increase of 29 per cent. in wages, while working hours have been shortened almost 4 per cent.; in millwork the wage gain has been 33.4 per cent., the working hour decreased 5 per cent., and in furniture manufacturing 34.4 per cent. wage increase and 7.3 working-hour decrease. The department's information on which its statistics were based covered more than three-fifths of the employees in the various occupations.

Pointed Questions.

[The Missouri Trades-Unionist:] Why will a union man steal a labor paper? Ask some of them who do. Who offered to sell the vote of organized labor for $100 in the recent bond election, and did he get the money? Are there more ex-members of the Carpenters' Union in Joplin than members of the Carpenters' Union? And why? What do you think of a union which would knowingly elect a dead-beat as its president and then glory in having chosen such a man?

Alaska's Gold Production.

Indianapolis News:] It is estimated that the value of the gold production of the Alaska Yukon was $8,645,000 in 1912, compared with $9,050,000 in 1911. This decrease is due to the falling off in the output from the Fairbanks and the Hot Springs districts, for the other Yukon camps held their own or somewhat increased their output as compared with 1911. Probably the most encouraging features of the year's activity was the definite proof of the presence of workable placers in the Ruby district.

The Call of the Land

EVERY DAY THE INCOMING TIDE OF COLONISTS CROSS GIBRALTAR ACRES AT BLOOMINGTON.

EVERY NIGHT the total of landseekers is greater by thousands—

EVERY HOUR increases the value of GIBRALTAR'S broad tract of mountain-protected fruit land—

EVERY MINUTE the trees and crops planted to GIBRALTAR ACRES are growing wealth for the owner of the orchard home—

EVERY SUN sets upon a smaller amount of rich acreage that is open to purchase—

EVERY TRAINLOAD from the East means greater land values—

EVERY CALIFORNIAN that cannot live upon the land should own an interest in it—

EVERY FACILITY for marketing crops and for social life is furnished by steam and electric transportation radiating in all directions from GIBRALTAR ACRES at Bloomington—

EVERY TREE on the tract was planted by the same company that has developed, irrigated, and is selling the land—

EVERY MAN that wants to see this land will be accommodated—

EVERY ACRE may be bought on a basis of 10 per cent. of the purchase price down and $5 per month until paid for.

The Responsibility.

TRAIN WRECKS AND THE GUILT.

ENGINEERS' UNION PREVENTS ENFORCEMENT OF RULES.

Controlling Influence of the Trainmen of the New Haven Railroad Responsible for the Lax Discipline That Has Resulted in Numerous Disastrous Collisions.

[New York Times:] After a thundering in the index about the financial management of the New Haven Railroad, which has little enough to do with the enforcement of discipline among its employees, the Interstate Commerce Commission in its report on the latest New Haven wreck does put burdens of responsibility fairly and squarely upon the road's directors. In the thirty-two months that record a long series of New Haven Railroad disasters, the report says, there were 153 convictions of enginemen running past signals and 101 cases of improper flagging. These are offenses each of which, according to Vice-President Whaley, constitutes the "worst crime a railroad man can commit." There is no adequate punishment for this capital crime except dismissal. But only twenty-nine enginemen were discharged and twenty-seven flagmen dismissed. At the recent hearing before the commission there was concurrent testimony that running past signals was a frequent daily occurrence and not usually reported. Ultimately, the directors of a railroad are responsible for its discipline, especially the discipline that assures safety to the traveling public. Though briefer in its condemnation, the report is not less unsparing of the individual employees whose failure to obey the safety rules was "the direct and proximate cause of this disaster." The commission's thunders and lightnings fall unreservedly upon the heads of the road's directors and these employees. But it roars not so harshly as a sucking dove at the responsible leaders of the Brotherhoods of Enginemen and Signalmen.

The commission knows about them. During its investigation of the Bridgeport wreck Clinton L. Bardo, general manager of the New Haven Railroad, swore to the weakening of a safety rule at the direct instance of the General Committee of Engineers of that railroad, which, he said, had been "edging in, inch by inch," toward the imposition of new rules which "necessarily tend to break down the safety of the service." The specific result of their action in this case was the Bridgeport wreck. He added:

"The general manager of a railroad should have power to say what is right and wrong, and he should have the power to enforce what he says. He cannot have the power if the organisation is going to point the pistol at him every time that he attempts to do something which he knows, from his own best judgment, is the right thing to do."

Within the past week these union leaders have demanded the retirement of General Manager Bardo as a condition of their considering the acceptance of rules governing the promotion of trainmen for "fitness, ability, experience and seniority," instead of for seniority only. Within a fortnight Chairman Evans of the engineers' committee spurned the road's new rules which referred to examination for vision, for color sense, hearing, and to other tests of physical fitness, and rejected the proposal to make the decisions of superintendents final in matters of discipline. The rights of the engineers, Evans said, have "progressed too far to give almost unlimited power to the division and mechanical superintendents."

The New Haven management now has its opportunity. The Commerce Commission has challenged the directors to direct in matters of safety. It has failed to take cognizance of a powerful factor in the multiplication of disasters on the New Haven Railroad. Let the directors of the railroad cause their operating agents to promulgate rules and do everything in their power to enforce them. If thereafter strikes threaten for the discharge of incompetent men and if attempts are made to keep them in the service to the prejudice of the public safety, the Interstate Commerce Commission may find itself face to face with the necessity of preparing a report of a different nature.

A MERCHANT'S COMPLAINT.

Present Women's Styles Are Changing the Character of Goods Purchased as Well as Amount.

[Indianapolis News:] A Columbus dry-goods merchant stood and gazed at the drizzling rain. A reporter, noticing his abstraction, asked him why, and he told the reason. In former times Columbus women bought two lengths of fifty-two-inch goods for dress skirts. Now they are buying only one length. In former times they bought heavily of petticoats. Now many of them have discarded petticoats altogether, and others who do buy get pillow tubing, "taking it in" at the waist and using it for petticoats, said the merchant. The result of the new styles is hard on the dry-goods trade.

Columbus physicians predict increased business for the undertakers and extra work for the grave diggers this winter, if the women continue trying to keep up with the fashions. The physicians say that a waist cut low in the neck, a skirt slashed high, thin stockings, low shoes, no petticoats and few clothes generally, are sure to bring about a match between the women and pneumonia. But at the same time they admit that all the advice in the world will not change the women as long as the styles remain as they are.

LONG-LIVED CRICKET.

Was Found Embedded in a Handle That Was Made More Than a Decade Ago.

[Dallas News:] H. Godfrey, a shoemaker of McAlester, Okla., had visions of mummies and Egyptian crypts yesterday. A man named Moore, a traveling salesman, entered his shop and asked to have a few inches cut off a razor strop as it was too long to go in a case he had just purchased. Mr. Godfrey cut off the end of the strop and threw on the floor the padded leather handle.

Later, when Moore was leaving the shop, he picked up the handle and cut the threads about the outer edge with a knife. A lot of wheat bran spilled on the floor, and Mr. Godfrey was much surprised to see a live cricket inside the bran-stuffed handle.

He called G. L. Metcalf, who conducts a tailor shop in the same room, and Capt. George W. Sutton, and they witnessed the fact that the cricket was alive.

Moore said he bought the strop from a hardware company in St. Louis during the exposition in 1903. He said he had carried it in his gripsack for ten years.

There was nothing on the strop to show the name of the manufacturer, but Moore was certain about the time when he had purchased it.

Use of Mirrors Prohibited.

[Indianapolis News:] There is a sect in Holland known as the Labadists, among whose members the use of mirrors is strictly prohibited. Their founder, Jean de Labadie, a seventeenth century Calvinist minister, attracted many followers, but after his death they dwindled down, and now they are found only in a few remote villages of Friesland. Traveling in Holland in 1893, Lecky lit on a colony of Labidists. "Intermarrying mainly among themselves," he writes, "they have quite a distinctive type—a singularly beautiful one, with their delicate lips and a curious air of refinement. They are fishermen—very prosperous—and their houses, with their china and silver ornaments and prints of the house of Orange, and great Bibles with silver clasps and perfectly perternatural neatness, are very interesting to see."

Great Discovery.

HIDDEN WATERS FOUND IN BURBANK-VERDUGO HILLS.

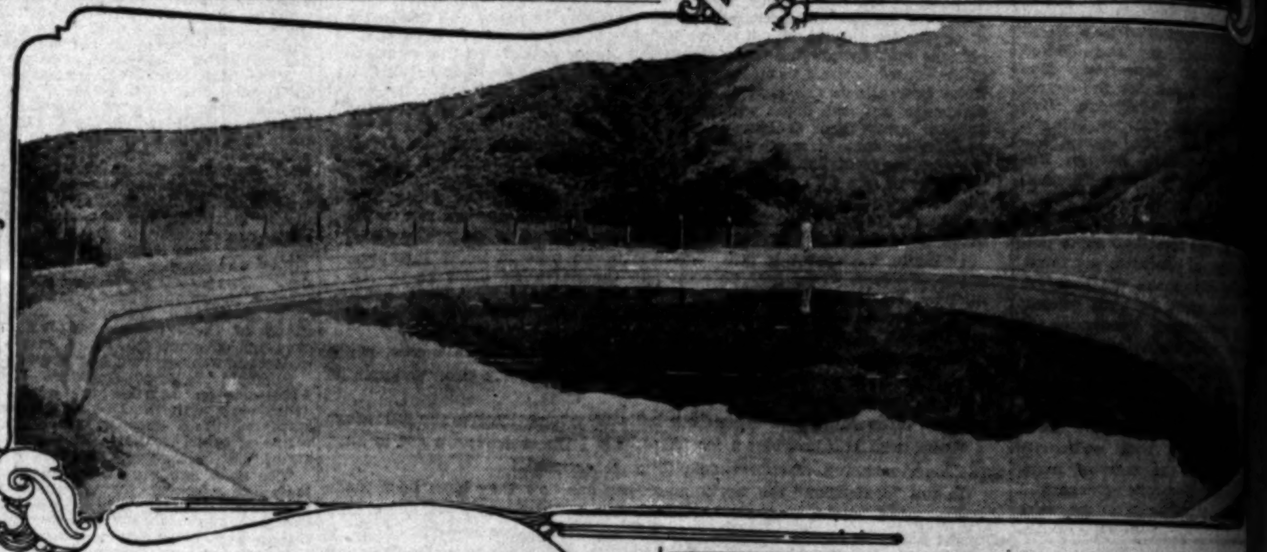
Long--Sought Healing Spring Located on Stough Ranch, One of the World's Wonder Places of Romance and Progress—Building of Magnificent Mountain Boulevard Leads to the "Fountain of Youth."

BY JOE MINSTER.

THE Indian legend of the miraculous mineral springs of Verdugo Mountains has just dropped from the realms of the possible past to the actuality of the present in the discovery of these long-hidden waters on the great O. J. Stough ranch, in the foothills of Burbank. It was while developing a wonderful scenic mountain boulevard that L. B. Taylor, general manager of the ranch, accidentally located the springs in a little canyon, overgrown with dense into the hills, always to return with a tale of failure.

FINDS GREAT SPRING.

When work on the magnificent mountain road was recently renewed with the idea of looping the property by a splendid boulevard, the offers of reward were made to the men on the work. Mrs. Stough, visiting the camps, would never forget to remind them of the reward, but they, too, searched in vain. One day, Taylor, in going over the proposed route of the last leg in the road, decided that by diverting from the survey and proceeding up the almost indistinct canyon a cut-off of nearly a mile could be effected.



On the O. J. Stough principality at Burbank.

Above is the beginning of the wonderful mountain boulevard that will loop the ranch when completed; in the center the solid marble reservoir containing three million gallons of the purest of water; below, the flow used for irrigation purposes in the alfalfa fields, orchards and gardens.

chaparral of manzanita, wild sumach, buckbrush and willow.

According to the almost-forgotten story, the Indians of early days in Southern California made regular visits to this mysterious spring, there to cure their ills and remove all trace of skin poisons. When Civil Engineer Fremont, working for the government, had his crew of surveyors in the Verdugo hills the spring became the camping place of the party as long as it was possible to remain in the vicinity. The men, with their infliction of poison oak, with sprained ankles or wrenched wrists, bound the black soil over their hurts before they retired for the night, and on awakening in the morning their ills had disappeared.

It is related that several of the men in Fremont's party decided at a future date to return and stake claim to these waters, and when the camp broke up the springs were covered with rock and mud, securely banishing them for decades to come. On recurrent occasions parties went out to hunt them. Like a religious revival spirit, the idea of finding them again crept through the heads of old settlers in the San Fernando Valley, but in vain they searched.

SEEKING HIDDEN WATERS.

It was back in the days of the panic—1893—that O. J. Stough, founder of Hinsdale, Ill., and a resident of San Diego, went to Burbank and purchased a great piece of property from Burbank & Pomeroy. There were more than 4000 acres, and with it was handed the legend of the hidden water. The tale aroused little thought in the mind of the purchaser at the time. In 1898, on the tenth anniversary of his marriage, Mr. Stough decided to give the property to his wife, Mrs. Florance A. Stough, and did so.

It was toward the end of the great drought period which for five years had scoriated Southern California, turning its green fields to gray-brown, its highways to dust wallows, and causing the great activity for search of water that resulted finally in the building of the world-famous Los Angeles aqueduct. "The city of Los Angeles had even gone so far as to get out injunctions against the farmers of Burbank and the surrounding country from pumping their wells," said Mrs. Stough, whose imagination was stirred by the pitiful condition of things, and who determined right then and there to be a searcher after much water.

As mistress of the principality that stretched for nearly five miles along the Southern Pacific Railroad, just beyond the turgid village of Burbank, she began her work, always assisted by her husband and frequently acting against the counsels of those who looked askance at this water hunt. Among the first things she did was to offer a reward to the man who would locate the mineral waters, and many an adventurer wandered out

With axe and knife he proceeded to cut his way through the well nigh impenetrable growth and wearying of this slow method of procedure, crawled on his hands and knees beneath the tangled branches of the brush. Arriving finally again in the open, he came to a realization that his clothes were soaking wet and an oozy black mud clung to his legs. It smelled strongly of sulphur and in a flash he realized that in all probability he had found the much-sought springs.

After announcing his discovery to Mrs. Stough he put a group of workmen to the task of clearing the canyon and in three days his conjectures became a reality. The hidden waters were no longer hidden and with the removal of a little earth, came bubbling and sparkling to the surface. This find, but added another attraction to the Stough domain.

MANY FARMS IN ONE.

Nowhere in Los Angeles county is there so large a ranch in the hands of a single individual, the Stough property having gone to the top of the list when the broad acres of the "Lucky" Baldwin estate passed into the hands of the heirs and their assignees. From time to time, Mrs. Stough has purchased other properties adjacent to the original tract secured by her husband, until today there is nearly 6000 acres in the ranch, which is devided into twenty-five farms and their numerous buildings.

The autoist on the San Fernando road, the tourist having his first view of the suburbs of Los Angeles from the broad car windows looks upon this little California domain and seeing the farm houses that dot the fertile acres, fails to realize that the ranchmen are tenants and that the group of homes among the tall eucalyptus and velvet green peppers belong to one person. In all the years of Stough ownership, there has been but one sale of any portion of the property and this was actuated entirely by philanthropic reasons when Mrs. Stough turned over to Burbank, five acres of ground on which the Union High School was afterward reared.

ALWAYS BUILDING UP.

Through the years, there has been a constant and everlasting endeavor to build up and develop, to make the property one of the finest and most valuable in America, and this it comes very near being with the gradual expansion of Los Angeles until it reaches within three miles and a half of the ranch. The first great work to accomplish on so large an acreage was water development and Mrs. Stough proceeded immediately to the solution of a problem that confronted her in her wish to make fertile the sloping acres that had been a gift.

Stepping into an immense machine that stood waiting at the Stough home for a tour of inspection, the chauffeur guided his car through a maze of orchard land, up a sloping terrace and stopped before a rift in a rocky wall. Here was the first answer to determination. It was the entrance to the first tunnel now pouring out a stream of clearest mountain water. Here Mrs. Stough set her original hopes. For weeks, a group of hard rock men, miners and well drillers labored in the days of the drought.

Slowly the cave progressed and the 100-foot mark kept repeating itself. There were days of despair and days when neighbors would drop in to question the sanity of the builder. And on one of these days, a bright, courageous, little woman led them forth to the work and hushed forever their patter of inanities. At 600 feet, the drillers had found what they sought. An under-the-mountain stream, gushing and spurting water wherever their drills sank into the heart, answered the prayer of want and need.

WATER FOR ALL TIME.

A short distance beyond, another tunnel, this one only 200 feet long, came upon a similar stream and for all time the problem of water in this particular property was solved. Then came weeks of drilling and blasting for the reservoir, a great marble basin that holds 3,000,000 gallons of water, which is almost treble the amount contained in the reservoir supplying the entire community of Burbank.

With the development of the orchards and the coming of intensive farming, further water supply was thought, not absolutely essential, but very valuable as an adjunct to the land, and enthusiastic over the subject, Mr. Stough insisted that a well be drilled on the plateau at the base of the mountains.

Yesterday when the car carrying the mistress of the great property, her superintendent and the writer, drew up before a rough stone cottage, overhung with vines of English ivy, the answer to the question of results in this venture was wordless. A modern pumping plant, with a fifty-horse-power engine working as smoothly as a clock, poured the waters of the well into a staunch steel pipe. A meter indicated that 157 miners inches were welling through the apperture into the irrigation ditches, sufficient water to supply a community of several thousand souls.

When S. F. Catey, the driller, tappen a great underground flow of water at the 400-foot level in 1907, he knew his efforts had reached a successful climax. With his 125-horse power engine he endeavored to find out whether there might be a stop or a decrease in the stream. For hours the water poured forth in a never-ceasing stream and ranchmen within a miles of the place came hurrying over and asked to have it stoppen; it was flooding their land even to the destruction of the crops, something unheard of theretofore. And under the test, the water stayed right at the fourteen-foot level from the surface of the ground, from which level, six years has never seen the variation of six inches.

THE TREASURE ROAD.

Laughingly, Mrs. Stough insisted that this was but a small part of the water on the ranch, and proceeded to direct the travel of the machine back through the canyons, to where the last portion of the great boulevard that will do more than all else in years to come in stamping the Stough name indelibly in the minds of those who travel over it, is being rushed to completion in order to make its opening a co-event with the arrival of the Owens River water at the terminus of the aqueduct.

The road to the canyon camp winds in and out among the flowing vineyards planted by men long ago beneath the turf. It glides past hidden hillside homes and then on among the sycamores, the live oak and the cotton woods, coming eventually to the beginning of the good road. Only a short way along this decomposed-granite highway, the ruins of an ancient lime kiln breast the rugged sides of a great white cliff. This is a portion of the valuable assets of the property.

Here, beneath the shading cover of the sage and mahogany brush, the "yorba buena" and other mountain verdure, is acres and acres of limestone and cement rock. All sorts of offers have been made for just this one concession. One of the cement magnates of the West offered the Stough family and its heirs, 100 barrels of the best Portland cement that can be produced, every day of the year for twenty years, but, like all other offers, the Stough family pushed it aside, having decided that this little addition to their living expenses would not be essential.

And then the road [illegible] ward, just above the bed of [illegible] water Creek, and halts [illegible] camp among the live oaks. [illegible] things else on this [illegible] camp is a model. Forty men [illegible] their day of blasting rocks [illegible] ping out tough brush, cutting [illegible] filling in the hillsides, has [illegible] here a resting place. WONDER BOULEVARD.

Reversing the machine at the [illegible] traveling back over the [illegible] the edge of the Stough [illegible] and then climbing the [illegible] traveler arrives at the [illegible] the boulevard, a boulevard [illegible] day will be as famous as the [illegible] roads of the Alps or the [illegible] through the Pyrenees. This [illegible] highway has in its [illegible] filled the life ambition of [illegible] Five years ago it found [illegible] in the deeper recesses of her [illegible] Gradually, it came to the [illegible] finally she secured the services [illegible] gineers Ackerman and [illegible] latter having laid out the [illegible] son road, and commissioned the [illegible] perts to see whether it would [illegible] feasible undertaking to scale the [illegible] mit of the range and loop the [illegible] erty, completing a sixteen-mile [illegible] of encompassing highway.

[illegible] informed on the development of Southern California.

The wonderful new town of Placentia.

A modern Rome built in a day. Describing its public conveniences, schooling facilities and industrial activities.

Where oranges and walnuts are being grown at a remarkable profit and oil is being drawn from the same land.

[illegible] MATTER how long we live in this great western empire we dare not venture to say we are thoroughly acquainted with it. This is [illegible] of continual change. These [illegible] are not trifling, either. They [illegible] astounding on account of their immensity. We look upon a beautiful [illegible] of country. We see what we [illegible] the maximum development [illegible]. Then we turn our backs on [illegible] for an instant. When we [illegible]—presto, it is gone! In [illegible] a new town has suddenly [illegible] into being—a town we have [illegible] heard of or seen before.

[illegible] this condition prevails all over [illegible] from Fresno in the San [illegible] Valley to San Diego. Everywhere there is a new town for the [illegible] or traveler to become acquainted with. We cannot know our [illegible] by traveling through it [illegible] we must go through it again [illegible] to keep pace with its magic [illegible] and rapid evolution.

[illegible] comes the wonderful new town of Placentia.

[illegible] miles southeast of the [illegible] of Los Angeles is the famous [illegible] orange district. If the [illegible] has ever lived in New York [illegible] Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Chicago [illegible] other large eastern cities [illegible] Californian oranges are sold, [illegible] could afford to pay the prices [illegible] highest grade fancy fruit in [illegible], he has bought the product [illegible] district. Perhaps he may [illegible] with the well-known [illegible] Caledonia, Albion, Cam[illegible] and Colombo brands [illegible] oranges. This fruit commands as high as from $4.50 to $12 [illegible] is recognized as the highest [illegible] in America.

[illegible] reader has ever eaten any of [illegible] fruit he will find it in[illegible] to visit the Placentia district [illegible] with his own eyes this magni[illegible] [illegible] of the golden apples and [illegible] its inhabitants the reason [illegible] oranges are grown [illegible] quality. He will learn [illegible] is a great science underlying [illegible] production of oranges. He [illegible] that orange horticulture, [illegible] on by the ranchers of this [illegible] is a refined occupation re[illegible] of intelligent [illegible]. He will realize that [illegible] in the West is about as different [illegible] in the East as [illegible] or Kansas [illegible] to California's [illegible].

[illegible] reader go out into the [illegible] and casually introduce himself to any of the ranchers living there. He will receive a warm welcome, for cordiality is a pronounced characteristic of these people.

The rancher will show the stranger his grove of beautiful trees and he will explain his methods. The rancher will talk with great earnestness and refer to his trees as if they might be human beings. Out here, every rancher is a lover and student of his occupation. They seem to understand their trees so well as to actually feel their needs, and in the event of sickness affecting the orchard, the grower will doctor his trees with as much care and patience as he would his sick child.

Good care—that is one of the prime essentials of successful orange growing. In this district the ranchers take a great pride in their work. They watch each other carefully and compare results. Each tries to produce a more abundant crop or a finer flavored orange than his neighbor. They are all working in the deep and fine details of growing. It is exceedingly interesting to understand some of the great issues of their work.

A RICH LAND.

Yet the growers are all willing to admit, proud as they are, the importance of their individual care of the groves and that their care is not all that is responsible for their success. One's extreme care will not produce high-grade oranges in a poor soil or a district not adequately supplied with water. And, again, the successful production of oranges becomes unprofitable if good land, in protected regions, with plenty of water, is sold so high that the rancher will not receive an interest on his investment with normal prices for his crops.

As one of the Placentia ranchers has aptly expressed it: "No country is greater than its possibilities." Good care is merely the applied proper use of materials. The Placentia district has become known and produces quality first because it has the natural assets at bottom which make the good care of the ranchers count.

What is popularly termed "the district" is an area of about twelve square miles surrounding the thriving new townsite of Placentia.

THE TOWN.

Two years ago the writer had occasion to visit the Placentia district. At that time it was a well-established orange-growing community and it seemed as though the maximum development had been made. The orange industry was worked up to the highest standard.

In order to facilitate the marketing of the crop, a large packing-house was constructed at a point in the heart of the district and located on the Santa Fe Railroad. This was the plant of the Placentia Orange Growers' Association. The large building was conspicuous when it was first erected, standing alone without anything but orange groves surrounding it on three sides and a stretch of vacant land in front.

Now, after the short period of twenty-four months, there is a large town—a miniature city, in fact, occupying that stretch of vacant land.

And it is a substantial town with fine, two-story brick buildings, streets, sidewalks, curbing and some 200 dwelling-houses—and it is still growing.

A new cannery was only opened in September. The continual development of the orange business necessitated the construction of three other packing-houses. The Santa Fe Railroad Company has built a $6000 station. Telephone service, water, gas and electricity are among the public conveniences. Nearly every mercantile line is represented and the town has its weekly newspaper.

Just adjoining the townsite, on the north, is a fine $60,000 grammar-school building. This is one of the best grammar schools in Southern California, exceptionally beautiful in its architecture. It is a combination of the mission and Moorish styles. Surrounding the building are twelve acres of land, providing an extensive playground. There is a second building close to the school, used for a lunch-house. There are eight teachers in the school and the present enrollment numbers 192 pupils.

High school accommodations are afforded at Fullerton, which lies three miles west of Placentia. The Fullerton school sends a free auto bus through the Placentia district and carries the children to and from the school daily.

Placentia is on the main line of the Santa Fe, between Los Angeles and San Bernardino in Orange county. There are four trains a day arriving from Los Angeles, and three from San Bernardino going to Los Angeles. The round-trip fare is $1.45 from Los Angeles. Special commutation tickets are issued at reduced rates.

The general business of both town and district is greatly facilitated by the Placentia National Bank. This institution is capitalized at $30,000 and was organized in October of 1911. Since that time it has received a continual increase of patronage, until it has about 550 depositors and deposits amounting to $150,000. The total assets of this bank are in the neighborhood of $210,000 and there is a surplus and undivided profit account amounting to $1600.

This growth has been very gratifying to the fifty stockholders. The home of the Placentia National is a $10,000 brick building equipped with modern fire and burglar-proof vaults and safety-deposit boxes.

INDUSTRIAL.

The plant of the Placentia Orange Growers' Association is valued at $20,000. This concern is a member of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, and ships its fruit through that organization. This house is packing one or another kind of citrus fruit for nearly ten months of the year. Its present equipment will allow a packing capacity of five cars a day, but with additional grading machinery ten cars could be put out. This year 260 carloads of oranges were handled at this establishment, the average cost of the packing and freight being $1.45 a box.

Each member of this association is required to purchase five shares of stock, at a cost of $5 per share. He may then ship any amount of fruit without restriction. Upon the arrival of the fruit at the packing-house it is graded and the grower receives credit for the amount of the various grades he may have. The system has been satisfactory and the association has been successful in securing extra prices in the eastern markets.

The Mutual Orange Growers' Association is an independent concern having a $20,000 packing-house at Placentia. Forty-six of the leading growers of the district are shipping their fruit through this house, which represents a control of 1250 acres. Two hundred and seventy-five cars were shipped this year. Excellent prices have been obtained and all the members of the association appear to be more than satisfied. The prices this year compensated, entirely, a shortage of fruit occasioned by the frost of last winter.

In order to ship through this packing-house, it is only necessary for the grower to sign an agreement, stating that he will ship his crop through the Mutual Orange Association. After the fruit is shipped the general expenses for operating the plant for the season are taken from the gross proceeds and

The Growth, Success, and Prosperity —of—
VAN NUYS
Center of the San Fernando Valley

Are Not Dependent Upon One Thing Alone—
It Is An Urban Community Surrounded by
Suburban and Rural Activities of the Best Kind

THE PETALUMA OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA
A splendid poultry-raising start has been made—soil, climate and market conditions are ideal for making Van Nuys the Petaluma of Southern California. Those desiring it, will have free of charge, the advice and counsel of Mr. O. B. Hubbell, the famous poultry-raising expert. Come out and see the model chicken ranches.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
Raise fruits and vegetables on Van Nuys acres. You can make money from the start. Buy a 2½-acre, 5-acre or 10-acre tract, with water for irrigation—set out fruit trees—raise vegetables and poultry for the market while waiting for your fruit trees to mature.

INDUSTRIAL
Van Nuys is the new home of the Johnston Organ and Piano Manufacturing Co., makers of the celebrated Murray M. Harris Organs. The factory, covering 75,000 feet of floor space, is nearly completed. This enterprise will ultimately bring 250 skilled operatives and their families to Van Nuys.

BUSINESS AND HOMES
Van Nuys, 2½ years old, has a $50,000 bank, a $50,000 school, two $10,000 churches, nearly fifty business enterprises, and scores of homes costing from $2000 to $20,000; steam and electric railways, and the famous Sherman Way Boulevard.

PELLISSIER ·SQUARE·

For those who are seeking elegance of improvement, exclusiveness of neighborhood and accessible location without paying the customary price. An extraordinary situation permits the sale of Pellissier Square lots at prices which seem unbelievable. We can show where sites only a few blocks away have sold for almost double the price.

Pellissier Square has attractions for both investment and homesite seeker—opportunity for profit for the first—residence for the latter in the most fashionable section of Los Angeles. These sample figures are quoted simply to show that high cost does not necessarily have to follow if you locate in a section like the Wilshire. Ask us to show you these two lots and tell you how it is possible for us to sell for these prices:

Lot 50x150 Hobart Boulevard $3000
Lot 60x150 Oxford Avenue . . $3500

Pellissier Square will have modern improvements, including special features such as wire conduits, storm drains, ornamental electroliers and Cocos Plumosus palms. Rich, loamy soil for lawns. Visit Pellissier Square today—with us. Or take the West Ninth-street car direct to tract, corner Wilshire and Western avenue.

Yucaipa Valley Apple Land

The delicious flavor and the rich red color of the Yucaipa Valley apples place them easily at the head of California fruits. The extra fancy red winter apples grown in this district command the highest market prices—the grower gets $1.50 a box net in the orchard.

Our South Bench tract is the cream of the Yucaipa Valley. Rich decomposed granite thirty feet deep. Entirely sheltered against all hard winds. Pure melted snow water is already piped to the land under pressure, for irrigation and domestic use. Only two to four miles to station on main line S. P. Railroad, near beautiful Redlands.

Don't wait till orchards are selling at $1000 to $2000 an acre, but come in now, and get the choicest of the cream, with water ownership at $285 an acre, on very easy terms. See Yucaipa now, and the apple trees loaded with fine fruit; you'll be convinced that Yucaipa Valley apple orchards are yielding $500 to $1000 an acre a year.

MAKE YOUR SELECTION NOW. Join our next excursion to Yucaipa, leave Los Angeles 8:30 a.m., return here 6:10 p.m. FREE TRIPS TO BUYERS. Call or write for literature. Los Angeles office open till 9 p.m.

Rapidly Growing Town.

each grower then receives his pro rata of the profits.

The Fay Fruit Company shipped 140 cars of citrus products from their Placentia house this year, and the Randolph Company had an output of fifty cars.

The newest industrial enterprise of Placentia is the Placentia cannery. When completely equipped, this plant will be valued at $10,000. Various kinds of fruits and vegetables are put up, which are grown in the immediate district.

Among several unique features of the business of the concern is the canning of oranges and other citrus by-products by an original process. This has been done with success, experimentally, and the process will be commercially adapted this season. The manager of the cannery has also been successful in canning the Ahaucate or alligator pear. The cannery will commence canning tomatoes immediately and will be operated nearly the entire year.

There is another firm at Placentia which makes a business of packing cassaba melons grown in the district. It has been in operation two years. The California Vegetable Union has a large packing-house at Placentia.

ORANGES, WALNUTS AND OIL.

Why is the Placentia district particularly adapted to citrus culture?

First, it has the best of soil. This soil is, for the most part, uniform in texture throughout the entire district. It ranges from a light, sandy loam to a heavy black loam. It is an alluvial deposit and very deep and well drained.

The cheap water which the district receives for irrigation comes from the Santa Ana River by a large ditch system. Every acre of ground receives its portion of the water and the supply is adequate at all times. The land owners pay for the water consumed and are responsible for their share of the maintenance.

Regarding the frost protection of the Placentia district, one needs only to drive through the country to see how little the trees have been affected by the exceptional cold of last winter.

About three miles north of the town of Placentia on El Sierra Vista rancho, the entire fruit crop was absolutely unharmed last winter, and was marketed at from $5.50 to $7.50 a box. This ranch is located on a beautiful mesa and is very well protected.

As an illustration of what good soil, plenty of water and scientific care will do in the orange business here, there is one twenty-acre grove in the northern part of the district operated by a man who thoroughly understands orange culture, and who secured $13,000 net this year for a crop which passed through the winter. These were ten-year-old Valencias. In all there were 1400 trees on the place, which produced 12,745 boxes of fruit.

Although orange growing is the leading pursuit of the district, walnut culture is also important. The walnuts grow well and bear heavy crops. They are remarkably free from disease and have been returning big money to the growers for the last three years.

One of the remarkable things of this district is the fact that although the surface of the land is rich for horticultural development, there are at a depth of from 2000 to 3000 feet below the surface, indisputable indications of oil.

In the northern part of the county oil wells are being drilled in walnut and citrus orchards. Several of these have already struck oil sand and are producing. The others all have encouraging indications of oil and the drilling is steadily prosecuted.

The fortunate owners of these lands are leasing their properties to oil companies at a good price and are retaining a substantial royalty in the oil when developed. This revenue is in addition to large returns for fruit crops. Few other sections of the country can boast of overlapped resources like this.

WOMEN'S CLUB.

One of the prominent ladies' clubs of this district is known as the Round Table Club. This has fifty members, with a restricted membership of seventy-five. It is a social and literary organization meeting bi-monthly and is a member of the State Federation of Women's Clubs. The club recently constructed a $6000 artistic clubhouse in Placentia on a lot donated by a prominent land owner and rancher. This is located on one of the main streets of the town and is one of the architectural ornaments of the place.

REALTY VALUES.

Business lots in the center of town, supplied with all the public conveniences mentioned elsewhere in this article, can be had for from $750 to $1500, according to the precise location. These are usually 50x125 feet or more in size.

Well located residence lots of the same size sell from $450 to $800 each.

Walnut land, planted to trees twelve years old or older, commands from $1000 to $1200 per acre.

Orange land in the rough, and coming under the ditch water right, can be had at from $300 to $400 an acre.

Young citrus orchards, one year to eighteen months after planting, range in value from $800 to $1000 an acre, while from that age on to the full-bearing stages of the trees the prices run up to $3000 an acre. Some of the orange men would not even consider the latter price nor would they sell at any figure.

NEEDS.

Some of the leading business men of Placentia have advised that a first-class dentist would find an excellent practice here. Under the present circumstances all the people have to go to a neighboring town to have their dental work done. This is a source of more or less inconvenience and a competent dentist would readily secure the patronage of most of the local people.

Placentia is also in need of a physician and surgeon. There is not a member of this profession within a radius of three miles, and there is a good opening for an able man.

It has been suggested that a jeweler would find considerable business, and there is also an opportunity for an electrician. There is a small demand for certain articles of furniture and it has been stated that a man who would carry a small stock of furniture and agricultural implements could develop a very profitable business.

There is an exceptionally fine opportunity for an up-to-date confectionery, news and stationery store.

WHEN DID THE CIVIL WAR END?

BY MAJ. BEN C. TRUMAN.

Many a time have the questions been asked, and always answered incorrectly, if answered at all, "When did the Civil War end?" "Where was the last battle fought?" There are those who promiscuously associate the fall of Richmond, which occurred on the morning of April 3, 1865, its garrison having abandoned the fiery capital of the southern Confederacy the night before; the surrender of Gen. Lee's Army of Northern Virginia at Appomattox six days later, April 9; Gen. Canby's brilliant battles of Spanish Fort and Blakely the same day, and the occupation of Mobile by Gen. Granger on the 24th of April, five days later; the final surrender of Gen. Joe Johnston to Gen. Sherman on April 26 (the capitulation on the 13th, near Durham Station, N. C., having been rejected by President Lincoln, at the request of Secretary Stanton,) and many others, ranging from those events above mentioned down to a number of less noted surrenders in Texas and Arkansas in May and June.

The occupation of Richmond by Federal forces and the surrenders of Lee and Johnston and the flight and capture of the President of the southern Confederacy marked the downfall of the rebel government and the cessation of authorized strife. But Gen. Stoneman executed some of the best work of his career in North Carolina and Gen. Kilpatrick was fighting Gen. Wade Hampton in the same State after the impressive episodes heretofore alluded to. As late as April 22 the Sixth Corps and Gen. Sheridan's cavalry were in motion in North Carolina to prevent the escape of Gen. Joe Johnston, and there were also expeditions in portions of East Tennessee and Western Virginia on their arms. The surrender of Gen. Dick Taylor did not take place until the 4th of May, which was carried out in Citronelle, Ala., 10,000 battle-scarred veterans laying down their arms. Five days later, May 9, Commander Farrand gave up a fleet of twelve vessels in the Tombigbee River, and on the 10th Gen. Jones surrendered his Florida forces, 8000 strong, to Gen. Wilson at Tallahassee. It was also on the 10th that Mr. Davis was captured at Washington, Ga.

In the meantime, at Shreveport, La., Gen. Kirby Smith had announced Lee's surrender and declared that he would carry on the war to the bitter end; Gen. Magruder carried out a like programme at Houston, Tex., and Gen. Hardeman at Independence, Gen. Parsons at Jacksonport, and Gen. Jeff Thompson at St. Francis, Ark., all determined to resist forever; and their troops, 20,000 in all, unanimously declared never to lay down their arms, never consent to reconstruction, but, with the aid of recruits, proposed to add 30,000 men to the armies of Kirby Smith and Magruder. But, as the annals of all wars cannot possibly be reversed, these armies were all surrendered on the 26th of May to Gen. Canby by Gen. Smith, through his chief of staff, Gen. Buckner, and the last soldiers that bore arms against the government were paroled on June 5, 1865, at Jacksonport, on the White River, and the gallant Gen. Jeff Thompson, who was the first person of importance to run up a rebel flag in Missouri, was the last rebel to lay down his arms and accept parole from the United States government.

The last combats of the Civil War east of the Mississippi were Gen. Wilson's battles at Columbus and West Point, Ga., on the 16th of April, and his capture of Macon on the 21st, five days later, with 12,000 soldiers and sixty pieces of artillery. But the final battle of all was fought on the 12th and 13th of May, 1865, at the mouth of the Rio Grande. Col. Branson had been sent out from Brazos Island with a mixed command of about 300 men from the Second Texas Cavalry, dismounted; First Missouri (colored) and the Thirty-fourth Indiana, to capture some cattle for the use of his garrison. While out he was attacked by a force of about 600 Texas cavalry, with artillery, under Gens. Slaughter and Ford. During the fight a warship arrived off the harbor with the news of the surrender of Kirby Smith, the last of the Confederate forces in the field, and consequently the end of the war. Gen. Barrett, the commander of the garrison, ordered Col. Branson to at once cease firing and return, which was immediately impossible on account of the pressure of a superior force, though the Federals retired, fighting, toward the island. Gen. Barrett, perceiving how things were, went to Branson's rescue on the 13th with a small reinforcement, and the fight back to the island occupied all that day. Near sunset, as Gen. Barrett was crossing the ferry with the main body, the attack was renewed upon the rear guard, in command of Capt. Coffin. In a short half-hour the enemy were repulsed—and thus ended the final battle of the reebillion—and the Civil War was over, sure.

Yet, judicially, the war did not end with this closing event nor with the parole of Jeff Thompson, whose was the last glittering hostile blade to be metaphorically transformed into a pruning hook. Indeed, more than a year passed after the final Confederate disbandment before the "cruel war was over," so that, legally, the rebellion was a five years' war (and more) instead of a four years' conflict, although actual hostilities commenced at Sumter on April 12, 1861, and terminated at the mouth of the Rio Grande on May 12 and 13, 1865 —four years and one month, to be precise.

To be sure, as soon as the downfall of the Richmond government and the surrender of Johnston and Lee became conglomerate the Southern States acted independently of each other, and a process of military occupation and political [illegible] was undertaken in each of them. In a war between two nations a treaty of peace often furnishes the historical date for the conclusion of hostilities, but there was no treaty-making power at the South. By degrees Congressional legislation began to refer to the war as a thing of the past, in such phrases as "the late insurrection;" yet, as has been previously stated, more than a year passed after the last Confederate troops disbanded before the formal official announcement that this insurrection was over.

At length such a proclamation was made by President Johnson, and thereafter the judicial tribunals fixed upon that announcement as the true legal date of the end of the war. Thus the Adjutant-General's office, in a letter to Gen. Carleton of February 24, 1883, uses this expression: "The Supreme Court of the United States has decided that the War of the Rebellion closed on August 20, 1866, the date on which the President issued his proclamation declaring the insurrection at an end." And since then Secretary Lincoln, referring to the same subject, reminded the Senate Committee on Military Affairs that "the Supreme Court of the United States, in the case of the protector, 12 wall., 700, held that the war ended in all the United States except Texas, on April 2, 1866, and in Texas, on August 20, 1866."

Regarding the first gun fired, and by whom, there has been [illegible] perplexity in locating points and personages. The first hostile shot was not at Ft. Sumter, however, but at a supply steamer in Charleston harbor. The steamship Star of the West, Capt. McGowan, had left New York on the night of January 5, 1861, with 250 artillerists and marines and quantities of stores and ammunition, and at 7:30 o'clock on the morning of January 9, was signaled at the entrance of Charleston harbor. As she made her way toward Ft. Sumter a shot was fired across her bow from a battery on Morris's Island, when she displayed the United States flag and was repeatedly fired into from Morris's Island and Ft. Moultrie. Her course was then altered and she again put to sea. Guns were manned at Ft. Sumter, but were not fired. At 11 o'clock Maj. Anderson sent a flag with a communication to Gov. Pickens to inquire if this act had the sanction of the State government, and was informed that it had, all of which was reported by Maj. Anderson to Washington.

The attack on Sumter was made three months later, early in the morning of April 12, and the first missile discharged at the fortress was a shell from a ten-inch mortar in Ft. Johnson, by Lieut. Wade Hampton Gibbes of Columbia, who had graduated from West Point in the class of 1860. The first shell was thrown in the air at 4:30, obedient to the orders of Gen. Beauregard, the commander. This was for a signal, and in five seconds afterward two shells from the battery of ten-inch mortars were thrown at Sumter, one of which fell inside the fort. Capt. George F. James, who commanded the battery, has this [illegible] been generally given, and by [illegible] to Hon. Edmund Ruffin of Virginia, who, at the age of 74, had gone to Charleston for the purpose of firing the first cannon at his government's flag and defenses. And the enthusiastic old secessionist was permitted to fire the first shot; but it was from a [illegible]-pounder of as great age and respectability as the venerable Virginian himself, and did no harm that was recorded. To Capt. James belongs the technical or official credit, because he commanded the battery. But Gibbes fired the first shot at the fort and a corporal named Welch fired the shell into the air. James and Welch were afterwards killed and Gibbes was severely wounded at Petersburg, surrendered with Lee at Appomattox, and was postmaster of Columbia, S. C., under President Cleveland. A tremendous storm of shot and shell was kept up from Forts Moultrie and Johnson, Sullivan's Island, and from the batteries on Morris's Island, and at five minutes past 1 p.m. on the 13th the United States flag was lowered. Sumter had fallen—the first gun had been fired against the Union, the first battle had been fought, and had been won by the Confederates.

OPENS BRANCH HERE.

Richard C. Willis, of the [illegible] department of the W. Ross Company, has closed with the Mark-Lally Company of San Francisco a lease for the entire three-story and basement brick building at Nos. [illegible] 48 North Los Angeles street. [illegible] Gilger will be general manager here for the Mark-Lally Company, which will enter the field with one of the largest supplies of pipes, valves and plumbing supplies on the Coast.

WILL HANDLE LEASES.

A. G. Hemming has become associated with Bryan & Bradford as manager of the leasing department of that firm. Hemming was formerly connected with the Los Angeles Investment Company and other well-known concerns. He will handle for Bryan & Bradford all leases except those covering vacant ground, which will be taken care of by Messrs. [illegible] and Potter, with the same firm.

THE WORLD'S SUPPLY OF WHEAT.

RECENT reports by official statisticians and comments by economists have given special attention to the subject of the year's harvests. It is conceded that there will be a heavy falling off in the corn yield of the United States, and that several other grains will show a shrinkage. But the wheat harvest is unprecedented, and as wheat is the great food cereal the situation gives assurance that there will be enough and to spare of this product. What is more, the world at large has no immediate occasion to worry on this score. It is a big wheat year in a number of other countries. This, says the Times of Troy, N. Y., recalls the discussion that has been going on for some time regarding the world's supply of wheat. It began a score or more of years ago, when various economists proved to their own satisfaction at least, that it was a question of only a short time when wheat consumption through the world should overtake production. As to the United States, one authority, writing in 1890, declared that within ten years it would be necessary to import wheat to meet domestic needs. This gentleman and others failed to take into account the possibilities in the way of additions to the wheat output. It is true that the decrease in wheat production in this country had not kept pace with the gain in population. However, wheat-growing is not standing still. The area in wheat cultivation in 1880 was 38,000,000 acres. In 1913 it was 49,000,000 acres. It is also a fact that improved methods of farming have had effect. The average yield per acre in [illegible] was 13.1 bushels; in 1913 it was [illegible] bushels. The same processes continued may add very perceptibly to the wheat harvest of the future, even if the area expands but slightly.

Regarding the world's output of wheat some noteworthy information is furnished. It appears that, according to the most reliable estimates, the total for 1913 is [illegible] bushels, which is about 4 per cent. more than in 1912. These are moderate figures, well within the limit, according to competent authority, for there is belief that 12,000,000 bushels should be added to the United States quota to allow for increases since the official reports. Canada was credited with 216,000,000 bushels for the present year, and later indications are that the yield may be considerably beyond these figures. European and Asiatic Russia comes forward with an unparalleled output. It is impossible to procure exact returns, and estimates disagree. The London Economist puts the total for these countries at [illegible], and Dornbusch, a German authority, at [illegible] bushels. The lower figures would represent an increase of 8 per cent. on last year's production in European Russia and [illegible] per cent. in Asiatic Russia. If the higher estimates prove correct it will be seen that the gain over 1912 would be enormous.

The conclusion of the whole matter is that, whatever may be later developments, for the present the world is growing more wheat than ever before, and there is comparatively but slight ground for apprehension of any immediate shortage in this form of food product, raw material for the great "staff of life."

Mining in the Great Southwest.

California Mines.

WILL TRY OUT NEW PROCESS.

Bully Hill Seeks to Save Zinc Values.

Angelenos Acquire San Jose Gravel Mine.

Eastern Capitalists Are After Properties.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

REDDING (Cal.) Oct. 9.—The Bully Hill Copper Company is concluding a long series of experiments with a new extraction process, and it is probable the mines and smelter will be placed in operation within three months. Directors of the company are on the ground inspecting the final tests of the small experimental plant, and results are stated to be thoroughly satisfactory. The process is to accomplish a double purpose, namely, save zinc values, and furnish a satisfactory smelting system without generating obnoxious fumes.

The plant was closed about three years ago, following complaints by the forest service that fumes were damaging government timber. As most of the so-called timber in this region is of inferior quality and questionable value, the actual damage caused by fumes from furnaces was extremely small and the solution of the fume problem presented less difficulty than in agricultural sections.

Experiments have been under way practically ever since the plant closed, and the perfected process is stated to save copper, zinc, gold and silver values at considerably below the former cost. Capt. Delamar, former owner of the property, estimated that $1000 per day was lost by escape of zinc during smelting.

The price of zinc has advanced greatly since that period, and it is estimated that fully $1500 will be recovered daily under the new arrangement. The ores carry a high zinc and copper content and considerable gold and silver, the product being much higher grade than the ores found in the Mammoth, Balaklala and other Shasta mines.

The Bully Hill mines have been developed to a depth exceeding 950 feet by a three-compartment shaft. The smelter contains two blast furnaces, converters and other equipment. The mines are provided with an excellent mill. The property is connected with the Southern Pacific Railroad at Pit by the Sacramento Valley and Eastern Railroad, which was built several years ago at a cost exceeding $500,000. A large number of small gold mines are dependent on the smelter for a market, and their resumption will follow the blowing-in of the big plant. The Bully Hill Copper Company is a subsidiary of the General Electric Company of Schenectady, N. Y.

Los Angeles people have acquired the San Jose gravel mine, near Scott's Bar, and are arranging to keep a full crew of men at work all season. The ditch furnishing water to the monitors is to be extended from Tonkins Gulch to Kelsey Creek. This will double the water supply. The San Jose has been an excellent producer for several years, and with improved working facilities is expected to become one of the best gravel yielders in the county.

Los Angeles capitalists have acquired many of the best placers in Siskiyou during the past three years, and the success attending most of their ventures has stimulated their interest in this branch of mining in this and adjoining counties. Deals for other properties, including a number of rich quartz mines, are under way.

EASTERNERS INVESTING.

A strong syndicate of eastern people, represented by J. J. McSorley of Mokelumne Hill, is contemplating the purchase of the Zella mine near Jackson, according to private advices from that point. The Zella is one of the old noted producers on the mother lode and for years was a heavy yielder and dividend disburser.

In late years the owners have been handicapped by the distance of the ore bodies from the main shaft, which resulted in excessive transportation costs. So high have these expenses been that the mill at present is running exclusively on quartz extracted from upper levels.

If the deal for the Zella is consummated it is certain that a new shaft will be sunk to the developed ore zone, and thus eliminate the heavy handling charges. Engineers declare the extent and value of demonstrated reserves fully justifies the extensive work contemplated.

Negotiations are reported to be under way for the transfer of the Plumas Eureka mine to eastern capitalists. This property for years was a sensational producer and its total yield is placed at about $17,000,000. In the upper portions of the property the ore was very rich, and the $2,-[illegible] paid in dividends arrived mostly from ore of superior character.

In late years the Plumas Eureka has been operated on a rather restricted scale, but with fair profit. It is stated that the prospective owners plan to work the mine on a broad scale, giving special attention to development of new areas. Considerable new ground remains to be opened, despite the long career of the mine. The Plumas Eureka is situated near [illegible].

RICH STRIKE.

Another rich strike has been made in the Tightner mine, at Alleghany, resulting in an output of $8000 daily for several days. It is reported that considerable rich quartz remains to be mined and that the drift is still following on the rich shoot, with the ore showing no sign of diminishing. The discovery is considered one of the richest yet made in the mine. The company is rushing the new unit of the mill to completion and within a few weeks will have twenty stamps in action. With the increased milling capacity, developments will be pushed on an increased scale.

The management is also consummating preparations for extensive underground work during the winter. In order to provide a satisfactory powder magazine a large room has been cut out of solid rock and is expected to prove sufficiently warm to prevent freezing of the dynamite.

Work at the Plymouth Consolidated, near Amador City, is nearing completion, and drifting for the big ore body developed on the 1500, 1600 and 1700 foot levels will soon be under way. The new work is intended to open the vein about 200 feet further and is expected to prove the extension of the deposits to the new work in the lower workings indicates that the quality of ore is improving with depth, and it is likely that culmination of the development now planned will result in the erection of a large reduction plant. The owners of the Alpine, an adjoining property, resumed operations last week after several months' idleness.

The Comstock Recovery Company, composed of San Diego people, has been organized to work the tailings which for thirty years flowed into the Carson River from the quartz mills at Virginia City, Silver City and Gold Hill. It is estimated that millions of dollars in gold and silver were lost by the mining companies with the tailings, and that besides the precious metals, 300 to 400 pounds of quicksilver went down the river daily. The promoters of the enterprise intend to treat the tailings by a combination pumping, screening and concentrating system. Preliminary work has commenced and by next spring the plant will probably be in commission. John G. Burgess is president and F. Webb, secretary.

PROJECT PLANT TO EXPERIMENT.

"QUEEN" HAS LARGE LOW-GRADE AREA DEVELOPED.

Need for Experimental Concentrator Is Felt—Calumet and Arizona Is Reported to Have Twenty-seven Million Tons of Ore on Cornelia.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

BISBEE (Ariz.) Oct. 10.—Development of the low-grade ore areas of the Copper Queen Company has progressed to the point where plans are being made for an experimental concentration plant, to be placed near the Sacramento shaft, on ground now being explored by drilling. It is said that the company has determined that it has plenty of ore for a mill and that the only question now is what kind of reduction plant shall be established. It has been suggested that the company experiment with the oil flotation system, now being tested at the Inspiration at Miami, and again, that the lower-grade ores can most profitably be handled by leaching with sulphuric acid.

At depth the Copper Queen ore bodies appear always to keep ahead of the prospecting drifts. New sulphide lenses have been cut where not even expected and the ore showing in the Sacramento is so good that the shaft is to have two added compartments, five in all, upraised from the 1700-foot level.

Work has started on the new Lowell precipitation plant and an air storage plant is being added at the power-house, to secure continuous operation even though the compressors have to be stopped for a time.

At Junction shaft work has been started on concreting the shaft below the 1500-foot level, where the water is being pumped out. A feature of this work is that concrete will be dropped by pipe an even 1800 feet from the mixing machine on the surface. This disposition of the material was not thought possible at first, but proved feasible at gradually increasing depths. A great crushing plant is to be added to the surface equipment.

One of the sights of Bisbee is the old open cut above the library, where the first Copper Queen work was done and where there was established a little thirty-ton furnace, the first in the district. Late exploration has developed the fact that the hillside is far from worked out and that the old incline shaft within the cut is being retimbered for active operations, expected to develop a section rich in gold and silver, as well as remunerative in copper and lead. Far above the cut, on the steep hillside, the Copper Queen for years has been working lead carbonate veins that are rich, though small, and that are almost inaccessible for any save burro transportation.

A report on the Cornelia property, below Gila Bend, lately purchased by the Calumet and Arizona Company, tells that by drilling and other exploration there has been developed 27,000,000 tons of ore, carrying an average of 1.7 per cent. of copper, available for steam shovel and other cheap methods of ore extraction. It is added that the company will build its own railroad to a Southern Pacific connection.

Extremely good results have attended the exploration of claims bonded by the company in the Superior district of Pinal county, where ore has been struck before expected and where the main ore body has not yet been cut.

Dissolution has been asked of the Cananea Copper Company, a subsidiary corporation of the Greene-Cananea Copper Company, organized in 1906. The holding company has all the stock save seven shares.

BELIEVE INDUSTRY IS DYING.

Old Miners Declare Placer Mining Around Prescott Will Soon be a Thing of the Past.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Oct. 10.—Old placer miners declare that their industry is nearly at an end in this section, where every gulch once was a producer of precious metal. The lower diggings have been worked out, as far as water would go, and now capital must be called upon to store and raise the supply for washing higher banks. Many of these banks are rich in gold, but they are too remote from water to be handled by the old-time methods.

On the middle Hassayampa, where the stream emerges from the Bradshaw Range, are great placer deposits that some day will be washed with millions of profit, but not until large sums have been spent in storing and piping water. The Arizona banks are more advantageously situated than those of California, in that no farming industry would be menaced by hydraulic operations.

In the face of a 900-foot tunnel on property of the Fortune Gold Mining Company, in Big Bug district, is a two-foot vein of black oxide, carrying high values in copper and gold. The tunnel will be driven 260 feet further.

A fine body of sulphide has been struck at 300 feet in the old Eureka mine, owned by Stukey Bros., in Lynx Creek district.

It is believed that a new red metal belt has been found in Lynx Creek district. A ledge of rich copper ore was cut lately on the Curran property, a mine that had been abandoned by half a dozen prior owners who looked for gold and silver. Curran crosscut from the old gold ledge and soon entered the copper ground. About two carloads shipped to a smelter have yielded satisfactory returns.

GOLDFIELD ON VERGE OF BOOM.

Blue Bull Strike Ushers in New Era.

Residents Are Jubilant Over Prospects.

Consolidated Issues Preliminary Report.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

GOLDFIELD (Nev.) Oct. 10.—Goldfield is a camp of jubilation today. The thing the residents of this mining district have been hoping for and waiting for, since the big boom wended its way hence, has happened. Ore has been found in commercial quantities in a property not included in the Consolidated group, the Florence nor the Jumbo Extension. The Blue Bull, recently reorganized, is the Moses that is holding out the beckoning hand.

For three years or more the people of Goldfield have pinned their faith to the ark of deep mining. It is true that the Consolidated's output was sufficient to place this camp at the head of the gold mining camps of the country—if not the world—but the people who remained here after the explosion of the stock boom had but one desire, and that was to know that commercial ore existed in some property that was not included in the Consolidated group.

For many months development work has been prosecuted vigorously on the Merger, Blue Bull, Booth, Silver Pick Consolidated, Sandstorm-Kendall, C.O.D. Consolidated, Vernal and other properties, but it remained for the Blue Bull to turn up the pay ore, and that not at a very great depth. The work on this property has been prosecuted for the past two years under the supervision of Kenneth M. Simpson, one of the most prominent mining engineers of Southern Nevada.

The Blue Bull, while controlled by the Wingfield interests, is not a part of the Goldfield Consolidated, and the stockholders are scattered throughout the country. The fact that commercial ore has been developed in the workings of the mine is not a matter of hearsay or rumor, but is vouched for in an official statement signed by A. H. Howe, secretary and treasurer of the company, who also occupies the same official position with the Goldfield Consolidated.

The mere fact that Howe was willing to make this statement, based upon the ore showing of the Blue Bull, has filled the residents of the camp with hope and exultation. Such statements are as hard to get as it would be to push a camel through the eye of a needle—unless the facts are there. Ultra-conservatism is the watchword of this management, which in its manifold ramifications, probably has to answer to 50,000 stockholders scattered throughout the civilized world.

CONGRESS FORTY FOUR YEARS AGO.

BY TOM FITCH.

Every once in a while some colonel strutter from the Empire State, swells out the front of him and complains that Nevada has an equal representation in the United States Senate with "the great State of New York."

It is a slander to make such a statement. Nevada has usually had an abler representation in the United States Senate than New York. From the departure of Roscoe Conkling to the incoming of Evarts and Root, New York had no Senator who in point of ability was, in my humble opinion, the equal of Stewart, or Nye, or Jones, or Newlands.

Possibly I esteem too highly the men of days long gone, and the events, all of which I saw and part of which I was.

But surely there were giants in the land in those days, giants in statesmanship, in oratory and in the art of constructive legislation. In the Senate there was Roscoe Conkling, masterful, yet courteous, philosophical in thought, adroit in argument, with the eloquence of Chatham and the lofty bearing of Olympian Jove.

There was Sumner, whose oratory was ponderous and powerful and dignified. He made his own speeches without reference to those of his colleagues, and he never condescended to notice an argument of an opponent. "You don't consider the other side, Mr. Sumner," said a Senator who disagreed with him. "Sir," thundered the Massachusetts Boanerges, "there is no other side."

There was Lyman Trumbull, of whom Abraham Lincoln said, "He knew more law than Blackstone and Kent combined, and knew how to state it."

There was Carl Schurz, master of three languages. His speeches contained German philosophy, English virility and French satirical wit. Of a Senator who was not continuously consistent he said: "He can make a speech in favor of a bill and then vote against it. He can leave his seat without injustice to his constituents for he can always pair off with himself." When Berks county, Pennsylvania, after sending Democratic Glancy Jones to Congress for many terms, finally defeated him and elected a Republican in his place, Schurz said, "At last they have found out that General Jackson is dead."

Wily old Simon Cameron of Pennsylvania was the head of as devoted clansmen as ever followed his ancestors through the highlands. "What is the secret of success in politics, Senator?" said George Alfred Townsend to him at a dinner party. "Take Shakespeare's counsel," replied the white-haired politician, "fasten your friends to you with hooks of steel and never do anything wrong—if you can help it."

Hannibal Hamlin was always wise and often witty. Senator Jones of Nevada was an enthusiast on the subject of manufacturing ice, and financially backed one of the first companies that embarked in that business. He said to Hamlin, "I can put one of my machines on the bank of the Kennebec River and make ice cheaper than God Almighty can make it." "Wa'll Senator," drawled the Maine Senator, "you take the Kennebec on a January mornin' before sun up, with the thermometer at 10 degrees below zero, and God Almighty will give your ice machine a run for its money."

It was my fortune in co-operation with Aaron A. Sargent, then a member from California, to help make James G. Blaine Speaker of the House of Representatives. The contest between Blaine and Henry L. Dawes of Massachusetts for the Speakership was very close. Our votes, with the "trading" of them for minor positions in the House organization, were successfully engineered by Judge Peters of Maine and Bill King of Minnesota, and the Speakership was secured for Mr. Blaine. He never forgot it. He allowed us to select our own places on the House committees and either of us could always "catch the Speaker's eye."

Dawes did not forget it either. He was chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, and whatever appropriations California or Nevada secured were obtained without his help. He made an open fight against the Carson mint appropriation and tried to have it reduced to an assay office. But Sargent and I, with the help of Mr. Blaine and the aid of Dan Voorhees and Sam Coy and other Democrats, succeeded in defeating the Committee on Appropriations after a sharp debate. It was said to be the first time such a thing had been done for many years.

Blaine was an accomplished raconteur and he never spared to relate a story because the joke was on himself. At my last interview with him, which occurred when he was Secretary of State, he related how an old farmer in a speech in Maine had defended him from an accusation of being addicted to profanity of speech.

"It's distressin'," said the old hayseed, "how they do lie about public men. There's folks as says that Blaine swears. Now I know 'taint so. My gal goes to school at Augusty and sits alongside Blaine's gal, and often she's been to Blaine's house and et a meal's victuals there, when Blaine was at the table. She says she never heerd Blaine swear. Now it stands to reason that a man as kin keep from swearin' in his own house and at his own wife can keep from swearin' anywhar."

There was in the Forty-first Congress House of Representatives a wonderful congregation of orators. Ohio sent Garfield and Bingham and Schenck and Shellabarger and Stevenson. Massachusetts sent Butler and Banks and Dawes. New York sent witty Sam Coy and eloquent Noah Davis. Pennsylvania sent Kelly with his oritore and Sam Randall with his courtly manner. Dan Voorhees made the name of Indiana illustrious. John A. Logan thundered for Illinois and William B. Allison for Iowa. A many-sided genius was Proctor Knott of Kentucky. He was an eloquent and witty speaker. He stood at the head of the bar of the Supreme Court of Kentucky and as a cartoonist he was a rival of Nast.

And they are gone, all gone. Almost everybody that was anybody has journeyed on. I dare say that there are great men in the generation now on the stage of action, but I don't know them and therefor sometimes

"Lonely I wander
Each weary day
And sigh as I ponder
At my long, long stay."

No, that isn't true. I am too lazy to wander much, and too cheerful to sigh. I am neither weary of life nor fearful of death. I am in no hurry to climb the golden stair. I prefer to wait for the elevator. I don't know what there will be for me on the other side, but it is bound to be an improvement on what there is here.

MISSION COURT SALES.

Emil Firth reports several sales of lots in his Mission Court tract in the San Gabriel Valley. Following are purchasers who have recently bought half-acre lots in the tract: S. J. Ward, two lots; E. E. Motter, Margaret L. Hennessey, D. L. Bureson, L. E. Newton, C. A. Newton, Joseph A. Dickinson, H. R. Sweet, William C. P. Doe, L. E. Demming, J. C. Becktel, B. L. Leonard and William E. Furman, one lot each.

at which all the products from the beans to the beef, will come from the Stough ranch.

Back along the same loops, down to a little branch road that shoots into a valley of many young trees was the route of the car. Here is what the Stough family alludes to as the hotel site. The valley is a broad mountain niche, topped by a gently undulating slope that ends in a wide knoll. Acres of eucalyptus, of the blue gum, red gum and sugar gum varieties, intermingled with peppers and other ornamental trees spread round about, growing to the day when they will form a pretty forest retreat.

GREATEST DEER PRESERVE.

Another project for the future, which has its foundation already laid in the authorization for a fence to cost nearly $50,000, is the greatest deer preserve in the world. The Verdugo mountains are still haunts of these beautiful animals and in order to observe them more closely and at the same time prevent their slaughter by the hunters, it is planned to have a park of several thousand acres in extent. The fence which will encompass this will be built of steel and concrete, ten feet high.

There are other things to mention in this little kingdom. Mountains of marble that would do justice to the heart of the sculptor and of the Italian marble producer are there. Five varieties in shades of wonderful color lie within gunshot of Los Angeles that is importing even from abroad the colonnades and pillars to grace its temples of architecture. There are several hundred acres of apricots and peaches, wide-speading fields of alfalfa. Great gardens of melons, sweet potatoes, sweet corn and other vegetable truck lie about on all sides. One rancher operates one of the most successful chicken plants in the world, having 22,000 fowl in his coops. Others have less, but still many chickens, all of the white leghorn variety, which now during the moulting season turn their runways into patches that look like snowdrifts.

And all of this great place has been organized and developed by a woman, Mrs. O. J. Stough, who has looked to her husband for only advice. And being a wonderful old gentleman, a man who on his ninety-sixth birthdate, just a few weeks ago entertained a group of admiring friends by outwalking men half his age, and then held a reception that has never had a parallel in San Diego, Mr. Stough has offered less advice than encouragement, standing always ready to assist, but seldom called on. One of these days the Stough property will be named among the wonders of wonderful Southern California and thusly come into its own in the mind of the general public.

HOLD LAW INOPERATIVE.

Decisions Quoted to Prove That Old-Time Act Requiring Architectural Competitions Is Ineffective.

A recent court decision declaring inoperative the law of 1872 requiring architectural competitions on public buildings has just been brought to the attention of the committee appointed by the Southern California chapter of the American Association of Architects to arrange for a suit to test the validity of the law. J. E. Allison, chairman of the committee, has just ascertained the facts in the case. The court holds that the law of 1872 has been in effect repealed by subsequent acts of the Legislature regulating the manner of letting contracts. This is in line with the opinion given by Atty.-Gen. Webb in response to an inquiry by the State Superintendent of Schools. Following is a statement of the case prepared by Allison for the Southwest Contractor:

"Architect John J. Donavan of Oakland was employed by the Board of Education of Sacramento by direct appointment, to design and prepare plans and specifications for a school building to cost approximately $200,000.

"Some citizens had a lower court issue an injunction restraining the Board of Education, county school superintendent, auditor and treasurer from making payments to the architect employed. This injunction was issued on the ground that the Board of Education had not complied with the law of 1872 in making a contract with the architect for this work, inasmuch as they alleged that the board did not advertise for plans and specifications.

"The trial to dissolve the injunction was tried at Sacramento August 6, before Judge Wood of the Superior Court. The restraining order was dissolved on the ground that subdivision twenty-two, section 1617, of the Political Code, replaced the act of 1872 in spirit by the fact that this section 1617 relieved the board from requiring a bond from architects submitting drawings and specifications and further the judge stated that there was no specific way in that there was no specific way in which the board could advertise for plans and specifications, contending further that section 1617, namely, the elimination of the bond, repealed the law of 1872 in its entirety because furnishing a bond was the purpose of the law, and it was not to advertise for plans and specifications that the act of 1872 was framed.

"The sole question before the court was whether or not the act of 1872, page 925, was repealed. The contention of the attorneys for the architect was based on the following propositions: First, that by subsequent acts, the same was repealed as to State pleadings, by the act of March 23, 1876 (statutes of 1876, page 427,) and the act of March 23, 1901, (statutes of 1901, page 641,) and the acts of 1909 and 1911.

"As to counties the same was repealed by the county government act. As to municipalities, the same was repealed by municipal corporation act adopted in 1909 (statutes of 1909, page 27.) As to school districts, the same was repealed by subdivision twenty-two, section 1617, of the Political Code, and subdivision eleven of section 1543 of the same code.

"Where the Legislature has enacted subdivisions with relation to special subjects, such as school districts, these special provisions are not affected by general laws.

"This opinion supports the opinion of Atty.-Gen. Webb, dated December 6, 1912, bearing on the same question."

SELD ELEVEN LOTS.

FULLERTON, Oct. 11.—About twelve acres of the Bain tract, on North Spadra avenue is being subdivided into fifty-foot residence lots. The tract was placed on the market yesterday and eleven lots facing on Spadra avenue were sold off before noon of the first day. The subdivision extends from the bridge to the ranch house on Union avenue and as soon as the first subdivision is sold out, others will be opened, north and west of the present tract. About fifty lots are being offered now. The sidewalks and curbs will be put in by Trustee Bain. Spadra street had already been paved in front of this property.

The Janss Investment Company has placed in charge of the department handling its Huntington boulevard tract, B. D. Peterson, well known in real estate circles in Pasadena.

Mines and Mining.

gard to the showing on the Blue Bull follows:

"For the past two weeks we have had a pretty good streak of ore in the Blue Bull in a crosscut on the 500 level, running six to fourteen inches in width, and giving assays of from $15 to $45 per ton. The values have been principally gold, although the ore carries some silver and copper. This showing is being systematically developed by drifts and raises.

"The crosscut on the 700-foot level has entered a vein which may prove to be the Victor vein, which was the original objective of our operations. The crosscut has not yet passed through the vein, and it is not possible to make any statement of conditions on this level until much more development work has been performed."

The Blue Bull company is at present in excellent financial condition, according to the management. Under the plan of reorganization of the old Blue Bull company the property, together with stock representing the company's holdings, passed to the Reorganized Blue Bull Mining Company, and steps are now being taken to dissolve the old company, the period of redemption having passed and the new company now having title to the property. Two assessments have been levied, and from the funds thus realized the company has reduced its indebtedness to $5000 and has conducted its development work in a most economical manner, under the direction of K. M. Simpson, consulting engineer of the Wingfield properties.

The Blue Bull has been regarded for years past as one of the best prospects in the Goldfield district. It is traversed by a number of well-defined, highly mineralized dykes or ledges and has yielded encouraging assays, but the surface formation, at points where development work has been conducted, is broken and of an erratic construction and value. The small amount of work performed at depth indicates that this broken condition is confined to the upper levels, and that a more stable formation is to be found at depth.

The strike of good ore on the Blue Bull means much to the C.O.D. property, which adjoins, and on which development is now being conducted by the Goldfield Mines Operating Company. This company has also added to the enthusiasm of the camp by blocking out a large amount of ore that is running $19 per ton. A mill for the C.O.D. is a matter of the near future.

CONSOLIDATED EARNINGS.

The preliminary estimate of the earnings and production of the Goldfield Consolidated Mines Company for the month of September, just given out by Secretary-Treasurer A. H. Howe shows that he tonnage produced by the mines was to some extent curtailed by the heavy storm that visited the district on September 13. The downpour of water filled some of the deeper mine workings and caused damage to the mine and the company's railroad that required some time to repair.

The statement shows the total of ore mined in the thirty-day month to be 27,965 tons and the total value recovered, $338,000. Operating expenses approximated $186,000 for the month, and the net realization to the company is estimated at $152,000. Before the end of the month all departments of the company's mines and plant were again operating upon a normal basis, and it is generally believed that the October production and earnings will considerably exceed in volume and value that of the preceding month.

The mining conditions generally throughout Nevada are in excellent condition, and people interested in the industry are asking no odds from anybody. The hills, especially of Southern Nevada, are filled with prospectors and the results obtained are satisfactory. Willow Creek, some distance north of Tonopah, is now turning up ore that assays over $4000 per ton; the Hornsilver district, which is tributary to Goldfield district, is being developed by several well-financed corporations, including a French group, and is meeting expectations, and all in all, a boom is imminent—not a stock-selling boom, but a boom of industry and accomplishment that will add wealth to the world.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY.

INQUIRIES FROM AND ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Manganese and Iron.

YUMA (Ariz.) Sept. 15.—Q.: I have taken quite an interest in reading your replies in the Sunday Los Angeles Times to the various queries regarding minerals sent you for analysis and find many things that help me in determining the character of a good many kinds of rock found in this (Yuma) county.

Am sending you today by parcel post, a sample of rock, which is thrown away by the lead miners at Castle Dome (the oldest mining camp in Yuma county, if not in Arizona) when they are sorting the lead ores from the country rock. Would you please tell us through your paper what, if any, minerals it contains and if they are valuable.

W.E.M.

A.: We appreciate your good letter. The ten years of labor given to this department of The Times is the choicest, and most responsible, "job" that the editor was ever connected with. Let no one imagine that the work is easy; without the love that we have for such specialty the running of this column would be impossible.

It is well known, among those of experience, that there are many mine-dumps "worth working over," and if the samples submitted by you are representative of the dump entire of the Castle Dome district, then, indeed, values in lead, at least, are going to waste.

The samples referred to are high in iron and manganese, and lead carbonate (cerussite,) with lead sulphide (galenite) and antimony sulphide (stibnite,) are present in the specimens with low zinc value.

No Rare Minerals.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.—Q.: "Sample No. 1, believed to carry some rare metal. Vein thirty feet, with six feet of enclosed matter, and two stringers in vein carrying rose (quartz crystals.) Hanging-wall granite, schist on the footwall." "Sample No. 2, believed to carry nickel; vein seven feet wide; country rock granite; locality, Custer county, Col." "Sample No. 3 is contact matter between granite and porphyry." Respectfully submitted for tests with No. 4 taken from same vein as sample No. 2."

H. J.

A.: No. 1 is a mixture of granite and feldspathic rock with iron oxides and traces of zinc. In the two thumb specimens of No. 2, we find (both) to be quartz, sparingly carrying chalcopyrite (yellow copper ore of the mining boys,) with, and in like low percentage, pyrrhotite (magnetic pyrite,) and "peacock iron." Nickel, trace only, is contained in the samples. No. 3 is porphyritic and quartzitic; iron silicate, with ferrous oxide, and low manganese value present in the mass. No. 4 is quartz; galenite, cerussite, and stibnite occur in the sample; all, and each, in low percentage.

Ferrous and Ferric Oxides.

CHLORIDE (Ariz.) Sept. 15.—Q.: Am sending by parcel post a sample of ore. Kindly inform me through your metallurgy column what mineral it contains. I am specially curious as to whether or not vanadium is present.

H.R.V.

A.: Vanadate of lead trace only. The yellowish, confusing, oxides are named at the sub-heading. Chiefly quartz with oxides named.

Simple Hornblende.

BISHOP, Sept. 16.—Q.: Under separate cover please find sample No. 1. I am looking for tungsten. What is in it? Sample knocked off of outcrop twelve miles west of Bishop.

N.F.B.

Lime Trace.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16.—Q.: Assay for fuller's earth.

R.E.S.

A.: Sure! Samples are low grade fuller's earth.

Most Encouraging.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18.—Q.: Will you please inform me through The Times columns if the enclosed samples are valuable as fertilizer, and if phosphates are contained? Have a large body near railroad in Fresno county, and would appreciate your opinion on it as fertilizer. Am a constant reader of The Times; read your "In the Earth," and can rely on your opinion.

O. C.

A.: Thank you for your kindly expression. Part of the samples are altered rock pseudomorph after manganese, iron and calcite. This blackish and silicious matter is to be avoided in exploiting the prospect.

The oolitic and fossiliferous (microscopical) varieties with your samples show 12.80 per cent. phosphoric acid, and, this material, even if "ground up" will make a good soil "dressing" for grasses, etc. As a base for fertilizers (manufactured) the variety of samples particularly referred to have commercial value. Mark you, however, we are responsible for the test on the samples only, and cannot "stand" for the entire deposit on the samples alone! In other words, exploit the "diggin's" carefully, and have analysis made of a number of samples.

Uranium Trace.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 17.—Q.: Found a ledge of this. It looks like porphyry. Please tell me what it is.

"GIRL PROSPECTOR."

A.: The minute sample offered for test is not porphyry. We do not recognize such a substance in mineralogy; not even the cubes of feldspar. The sample contains porphyritic (feldspathic) matter, stained with limonite with bare trace of uranium. It would be a losing venture, however, to mine such a mixture.

Tungsten and Nickel Absent.

GILA BEND (Ariz.) Sept. 20.—Q.: I am sending you some rock, and wish if you will tell me if No. 1 contains cobalt or nickel, and if not, has it any value? Could Nos. 3 and 4 contain any cobalt, tungsten, or nickel? I thank you for your great help that I have received from you from time to time. The Rowley mine is proving to be as good as you first told me it would be. The samples are from another point in the State—out from Prescott.

MRS. J. C. R.

A.: Very glad indeed to hear from you. No. 1 is an iron-bearing rock with microscopical pyrite (iron disulphide) sparingly present in the mass. No. 2 consists of silicious matter, with lime carbonate low percentage, and in this rock, microscopical sulphides of iron, copper, arsenicum, and antimony are present in low percentages. Pyrrhotite occurs sparingly. No. 3 is "pudding stone," with iron and manganese in the mass. No. 4 is a mixture of quartz with cerussite present (lead carbonate,) and zinc traces.

Tabular Quartz.

PALMDALE, Sept. 24.—Q.: I mail to The Times a sample of rock or mineral of some kind. I found it with many others on a trip to Rio del Liana. As I do not know what kind of rock to call it I mail it to you. Please tell what it is.

G. C. F.

A.: The sample consists of thin plates of quartz, and the plates cross each other in such manner as to form cells. An interesting sample for mineralogical collections.

Mixed Iron Ore.

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 22.—Q.: It appears to me that you know this prospecting game pretty well, and when I read your analysis of "Titanium-Manganese" in yesterday's Times, I thought I would send [illegible] iron that keeps me [illegible] found east of the Santa [illegible] this county, in white [illegible] marble, probably [illegible] is a small lead of serpentine [illegible] actinolite. This is a good [illegible] formation, and while I [illegible] tite streak of red, with [illegible] netite, I am wondering [illegible] contains. Powdering and [illegible] the prospecting way I [illegible] and the fine platinum I have [illegible] perimenting with is [illegible] way. The rock has [illegible] lite look, and yet it may [illegible] iron, and probably [illegible] not asking too much of you [illegible] about your work; a prospector [illegible] not have to locate and [illegible] answer by mail from [illegible] keep moving and make [illegible] to get The Times, then [illegible] reply plainly printed. [illegible] The Times when you [illegible] mail. In the mining [illegible] sections a great number [illegible] The Times on account [illegible] alone. I sometimes wonder [illegible] too much of you. You [illegible] mineral collection, and [illegible] to a certain place I am [illegible] you something.

[illegible] Slugging Youngsters Light on Mathewson's Offerings in Early Inning, but Are Helpless After the [illegible] Master Gets Going—Giants Fail to Give Matty Good Support.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

[illegible] YORK, Oct. 11.—The Philadelphia Athletics won the baseball championship of the world for [illegible] the Polo Grounds today by [illegible] the New York Giants, 3 to [illegible] fifth and deciding game of [illegible]

[illegible] score of games standing [illegible] their favor, the American representatives went in to [illegible] and before the mas-[illegible] of the Mack men the [illegible] Leaguers had no chance. [illegible] anxious to finish the [illegible] the final day of the week, [illegible] Plank, his veteran south-[illegible] mound, and John Mc-[illegible] back to the wall, called [illegible] Mathewson to check the [illegible] rush of the Athletics and [illegible] for his team a breathing [illegible]

[illegible] masters of curve and [illegible] nobly to the call of [illegible] and club, but the Gi-[illegible] to help Mathewson by [illegible] batting, fell victims to [illegible] hitting, fast fielding com-[illegible] which again raised the stan-[illegible] the American League over [illegible] National organization.

[illegible] was a personal triumph [illegible], but the downfall of the [illegible] no odium for Mathew-[illegible] besides pitching an excel-[illegible] with but two days of rest [illegible] victory of Wednesday, made [illegible] two hits scored against [illegible] the box.

[illegible] did not respond as [illegible] to the demands made upon [illegible] Plank, and lacking that [illegible] offensive and defensive [illegible] which the Athletics accorded [illegible], faltered just enough [illegible] innings of the game [illegible] Mack men a lead that the [illegible] powerless to overcome.

As was the case in all the games of the series but yesterday's, the top half of the Philadelphia club batting order hit heavily when hits meant runs. Mathewson faced a determined club-swinging aggregation from the moment he stepped to the rubber, and before he could get his muscles and curves working smoothly, the game had been won.

Not satisfied with one run in the first, the Athletics gathered in two more in the third.

The Giants' one run came in the fifth session and was due to a peculiar break in the game that the home fans thought had marked the fall of the Athletics' wonderful defense. After Burns had flied to McInnis the veteran Plank temporarily lost control of the ball, walking Shafer. On a hit-and-run play Murray raised a high fly to the center of the diamond. Plank moved but a few steps to set himself for the catch, and as Shafer had already reached second, a double play appeared assured. Baker upset the whole infield by rushing over from third and trying to take the ball from Plank. He jostled the pitcher just enough to make him drop the ball, and both runners were safe while Plank was charged with an error because the ball touched his outstretched hands.

BIG CROWD.

Some 36,000 fans were now rooting in real earnest, and as is almost invariably the case after such a mix-up in baseball, a base hit followed. Larry McLean was the Giant to deliver the hit to left center and Shafer made the trip from second to home in record time. Merkle drove a humming grounder at Collins, who snapped it up and tossed to Barry.

On the Run.

TIGERS NAB THE SERIES BY SMEARING BEAVERS.

Roy Hitt Holds Portland to a Brace of Runs—Gene Krapp Is Strong, but Is Beaten by Errors—Dick Bayless Is Twice Passed With Men on the Bases—Roy Does Some Speedy Base Running.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

THE TIGERS continued to bite the bank out from under the Beavers yesterday, and Walt McCredie is seriously threatened with a case of "nerves."

It was a humdinger of a game, and resulted in the chaste score of 3 to 2. Thus the important series goes to Venice, and the race continues hectic.

Roy Hitt, trained down until he looked almost human, was pitted against Eugene Krapp, McCredie's most abbreviated piece of pitching property. In many ways it was a personal affair between them, but in the last analysis it was errors which decided the issue.

Hitt was solved for a half-dozen bingles, and basked in the boon of a perfect support. Krapp held the Tigers to four hits, and picked off eight on strikes. Two of the three passes which he issued were given voluntarily. His flossy flinging, however, was nullified by three errors behind him, two of them costing a run. And then Gene, in the seventh, marred his own performance with a wild pitch that sent Hitt in from third with the winning run, Roy having originally been spared at first through the medium of a low heave by Lindsay.

TIGERS SCORE EARLY.

The Tigers quickly bulged to the fore with a run in the first inning, when they bunched two of their four hits. Carlisle inaugurated the conflict with a single to center, and went to third on Kane's hit to Derrick. Kane got all mixed up with Krapp, who was covering first on the play, and the ball was jolted from Gene's grasp.

At this point, Speas was guilty of what some were prone to call a "Merkle." Bayless fouled near the left field bleachers. Speas, instead of letting the ball go, gathered it in after a long run and Carlisle easily scored. McDonnell was a victim of Lindsay's fielding genius, and O'Rourke went out to Krapp, unassisted.

KRAPP FANS THREE.

Krapp fanned three in the third, but this did not prevent the Tigers from tacking up their second run. Hitt and Carlisle were both subjugated on strikes. Kane then slammed a slimy one down to Rodgers, and der captain's aim was so poor that Johnny kept on to second. Dick Bayless looked so forbidding that Krapp walked him purposely. The experience of the past few days has taught Portland that it is dangerous to monkey with Bayless in a pinch. McDonnell, however, counteracted this bit of twirling strategy by whanging a single to left that scored Kane. Krapp then tightened up and struck out O'Rourke.

ONE HIT OFF ROY.

Krapp, strange to relate, was the only Beaver to bat Hitt satisfactorily in the first five innings. Gene singled in the third with two down, but Chadbourne was unable to do anything for his country.

Portland began to pull up from the rear in the sixth, Krapp scoring on his own single, a twin blow by Chadbourne and a brace of outs.

The seventh was momentous in that it was productive of both the tieing and winning runs. Lindsay became perniciously active with the bingle-rod and planted a single in left. Doane sacrificed, and Speas stuck a single in center that landed Lindsay squarely at the plate. Speas sneaked down to second on the throw home, and was doubled when Kores lined out to O'Rourke.

THE WINNING RUN.

Hogan here called aloud to his people, they responding nobly and with one run. Elliott was out in the last half of the seventh on a grounder to Kores. Hitt slapped one to Lindsay, and raced down to first with the speed of a gazelle, despite the fact that it looked like a hopeless undertaking. But that it pays to run 'em out was clearly shown when Lindsay handed one across the diamond too low for Derrick to handle. Carlisle fanned. Kane put a fly in right center. Chadbourne and Doane gathered under the ball, observed it with keen interest and permitted it to drop between them for a single. Hitt's speed here served him well, he racing from first to third on the blow.

Krapp then paid Bayless the exceptionally rare compliment of walking him a second time. With McDonnell at bat, Krapp armed one over that Avoiding Risks.

THREADING THE CITY'S TRAFFIC IN A CHALMERS.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

HOW to thread the city traffic in a Chalmers "Six" during the busiest hours of a working day.

This is not the title of a book or of an oration to be delivered before some High School class. It is an actual experience and I was glad we had a 1914 car, with the right kind of brakes, the proper kind of control and all the other accessories when we tried the trick.

Perhaps if pedestrians realized the risk they take every time they board a street car downtown they would be more careful. As it is, the whole matter is up to the autoist, and the man at the wheel is the one who gets the nervous chills because he realizes how dangerous it is to drive through town when women are hurrying home from a shopping tour.

Darting out from the sidewalk, a mother with her baby looks only at the street car. She wants that empty seat and it makes no difference to her whether there is one or a dozen machines on the crowded thoroughfare. She must get that Grand-avenue-line car. Well, she gets it, and the only reason either she or her babe escape the wheels of a passing motor car is the expert work done by the man at the wheel.

On the crowded downtown streets it is not necessary to stop ten feet from a street car. There is no ordinance that makes it a misdemeanor to drive right up to a street car. Because of this fact, we asked Police Lieutenant Butler to accompany us on this tour of inspection, and before we had made two blocks I was pleased to know that the chief of the traffic squad was with us every minute.

MANY TAKE RISKS.

It was an eye-opener to the Chalmers man, who is a great driver himself. It was necessary to be on the alert every second. The streets were crowded, but the pedestrians showed a keen desire to get in front of our motor car. Of course we timed ourselves to reach a crossing at the same time that a street car arrived. But even when we did not do this we encountered many pedestrians out in the street waiting for cars that were blocks away.

Lieut. Butler grasped the situation when we were in one of the fiercest jams and jumped from the car just in time to prevent what might have been a mix-up. He ordered several women back and kept the car at a safe distance, in fact he showed conclusively that the traffic officers are necessary to save some of the careless ones who insist on risking their lives in spite of the many precautions taken to avoid a collision or an accident.

We found that Seventh and Broadway is one of the busy corners. The throng was rushing across and back again. Women with bundles jumped in front of us in order to reach the other side and then would stop and look back, wasting time they might have spent to better advantage on the opposite side of the street.

OBEY WHISTLE.

Pedestrians should obey the whistle, said Lieut. Butler after watching the crowds surge around our machine. He is of the opinion that the shoppers take risks that are unnecessary. Our traffic is becoming a greater problem every day and more machines are being added to the downtown streets every twenty-four hours.

One of the great dangers comes from passengers alighting from street cars. We found that in almost every instance women leave a street car without looking in either direction for an automobile. Five different times women stepped directly in front of our car and were saved from injury only because of the extra braking surface on that Chalmers "Six."

"Remember the traffic officer is your friend. Don't be afraid to ask

Across the country in a Buick roadster

Over some of the worst roads in the United States. This is the little car and the two dainty maids who finished the long overland journey in this city last week.

Make Good Every Minute.

TWO PLUCKY GIRLS DRIVE BUICKS ON OVERLAND RUN.

TWO Buick roadsters, two young women and a dog comprised the tiny caravan that finish a trip from Prescott, Ariz., to Los Angeles. Miss Ethel Richards and Mrs. Al Weber are the two daring drivers who, all alone, started over this desert road. From Prescott to Los Angeles is approximately 550 miles and their average was better than 100 miles a day. The road from Prescott to Ash Fork is a wilderness and seldom traveled. From Ash Fork west to Needles the road leads over the old Santa Fe Trail and it takes considerable skill to drive a car over this country, but the difficulties encountered did not daunt the drivers. Their only protection out on the desert and in the mountains was a little shaggy dog, who divided his time equally between the cars of Miss Richards and Mrs. Weber.

The party encountered rain over the worst roads of the trip, which made the going heavier than it would otherwise have been. Mrs. Weber said in speaking of the trip, "We experienced absolutely no mechanical trouble on the entire journey and as both Miss Richards and myself had changed tires frequently before we started, tire trouble did not worry us a bit. In some places the sharp edges of the rocks over which we traveled caused us trouble, but we patched our own tubes and went on our way with very little delay."

Mrs. Weber and Miss Richards stopped only a few days in Los Angeles and continued on their way to San Francisco by way of Bakersfield. Their two Buicks are luxuriously equipped for camping, many convenient little accessories making their stops comfortable and both of the young women, with their tanned arms and faces, make an attractive picture of outdoor like in the open western country.

PHYSICIAN FROM GOA LIKES AUTO.

Daniel T. Brantley, a physician living in Goa in the Philippine Islands, is the proud owner of an American automobile, an Overland runabout, and he sent the following interesting letter to the firm producing the car:

"I am the proud owner of an Overland runabout and as I have owned various other makes of cars during the past five years I want to tell you that in my opinion the Overland is the best, the most economical and reliable car on the market today. I am living in a part of the world where improved roads are unknown, have run my car 2088 miles over the worst trails imaginable, forded rivers where the water came within a quarter of an inch of the carburetor, gone through ricefields and wallows where the wheels were nearly out of sight in mud, and as yet the car has never failed me. Neither has there been a break of any kind to date. I am so enthusiastic over the performance of my car that I have come to believe it can go anywhere.

"Mine was the first automobile ever seen in this part of the country, and is still an object of much curiosity among the natives. In fact, so infatuated have they become with it that they have unscrewed and carried away several of the brass oil cups from the springs and other parts. I caught one Filipino belle unscrewing one of the cups recently and discovered that she considered it as valuable as a diamond in the way of personal decorations and had planned to string it on a thread and wear it about her neck, much as milady of more civilized countries wears a necklace of pearls.

"I know your car needs no recommendation, but if ever a reference is needed in these islands, just call upon me."

Cadillac Man Lectures to Dealers at Riverside Show.

Accuracy of Workmanship One of Important Items.

Factory Man Here With Don Lee for Brief Stay.

One of the features of the automobile exhibit at the Riverside fair last week was the lecture delivered daily by E. Phil Merrill of the Cadillac Motor Car Company. Merrill arrived last Monday from Detroit, and left that evening for Riverside.

Manager of the educational department is the title held by Merrill who is now on a tour of the coast, delivering lectures in all the principal cities.

Tuesday has been set aside for the Los Angeles lecture and a convention of subagents, salesmen and mechanics has been arranged to be held at the Alexandria Hotel.

It is an automobile education to listen to his talk. He takes the car, part by part, explaining the purpose of each piece of mechanism, the principle and the method of construction. He is a most obliging talker in that he does not object to interruptions, rather he invites them. He delights in answering technical questions.

He will deliver lectures at the Don Lee salesroom in Los Angeles all day Tuesday, and from 7:30 o'clock to 10 o'clock in the evening. All out-of-town agents have been asked to attend, bringing their chief salesmen and mechanics.

From Los Angeles Merrill will go to San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento and other cities.

Merrill says that there are three vital and basic principles which must be embodied in an automobile if we are to obtain the highest type. These three qualities are: First, correctness of design; second, quality of material, and third, accuracy of workmanship. He further states correctness of design means a design that will give, not some, but the maximum efficiency for the longest period of time, with the least trouble, and lowest cost of maintenance. Also it must be adjustable, accessible and carry with it a low cost of replacement of individual parts. Each of these items has a bearing on the perfection of design. Now, like everything in the world, design is variegated with the ideas of different engineers. One group thinks one thing, another differently, each having a perfect right to its opinion, but some designs are unquestionably better than others.

Quality of material means the right kind of material for the particular work that any part must perform.

Certain metals have certain properties that make them adaptable for certain kinds of work.

Accuracy of workmanship means the close fitting of every essential part in the car, and the closer the fit the less lost motion, and the less lost motion, the less wear, all of which means increased efficiency and longer service in the car. Mr. Merrill explains that all three must be embodied in a car to give the best service for longest time at lowest cost, as one can take a well-designed car and lessen its efficiency and durability by improper, not necessarily poor, metal. Or one can take his well-designed car, use the best material and lessen its efficiency and durability by inaccurate fitting of the parts or units.

In order that the speed regulations on the route between Washington, D. C., and Gettysburg, Md., may be rigidly enforced, the Sheriff and his deputies of Montgomery county will patrol the roads on motorcycles.

The New History-Making "Six"

One glance at the new KisselKar 48 "Six" proves it a car of supreme distinction delight to the eye that appeals strongly to your "pride of ownership." You are once impressed with its symmetry of design, its beautiful, long, graceful lines, body, artistic finish and thoroughbred suggestion of latent power.

KISSELKAR 48 "Six"

The closer you study this new model, the more you become convinced of its merits. Your first ride in the KisselKar 48 "Six" will prove its supreme comfort. Its silent, gliding motion imparts a sense of buoyant ease, as you relax restfully in the deeply upholstered seats.

The liberal wheelbase (132 inches) contributes to riding ease. You are carried over the roads without jolt or jar. There is a steadiness of motion that makes riding a real pleasure. Big wheels and tires help to reduce road vibration to a minimum. The riding comfort of the KisselKar 48 "Six" is the result of perfectly balanced construction, all parts being in harmonious relation.

The silent, powerful and long stroke motor responds to every demand and takes you as fast or slow as you want to go—up hill or down—without need of shifting gears. The KisselKar 48 "Six" fully equipped at $2500 is unmatched value. The KisselKar "Six" at $3300 maintains its lead as dominant big car value. The Kissel 40 "Four" at $2000 is the leader of its class and type. Prices f.o.b. Los Angeles. All models have left hand drive and center control and are electric lighted and started.

Worm Driven.

PIERCE-ARROW TO PUT OUT FINE TWO-TON TRUCK

A TWO ton worm-driven motor truck is the latest addition to the Pierce-Arrow line. W. E. Bush, the local agent, announced the new vehicle last week.

The new Pierce will follow the lines of the popular five-ton model in general design. The experience of the past few years has naturally taught the makers certain facts and this has resulted in a few improvements and minor developments.

The motor is rated by the S.A.E. formula at 25.6 horse power. It actually develops thirty horse power at 1000 r.p.m.

The cylinders are of the T-Head type, valves on opposite sides and are cast in pairs, following the well-known and efficient Pierce-Arrow design and construction. The valves and valve operating mechanism, the cam shafts, crank shaft, and gears are designed and manufactured exactly as on the five-ton truck, which has proved so successful.

A large rotary pump directly coupled to the cam shaft takes oil from a well at the bottom of the crank case chamber and delivers it under pressure to a large tube running the length of the crank case.

Practically all oil tubes, passages and connections are inside the motor crank case, so that if a small leak develops the oil merely drips back into the pump and is not lost, thus economizing the oil. Only two tubes go outside; one up to the pressure gauge and relief valve on the dash; the other the return pipe. There are only four outside joints to keep tight. The gauge in conjunction with a float indicates the level of the oil at all times.

The clutch is of the Pierce-Arrow standard cone type, faced with leather. Surfaces are of large diameter and width. Withdrawal is effected by pedal, throwing out two ball-bearings mounted on a fork. These, in their turn, act on the flange of the clutch, throwing it out. This system is very simple and reliable.

There is a double universal joint between clutch and transmission to compensate for any small errors in alignment. This joint is of the internal and external gear type with large bearing surfaces. The joint is completely cased in and filled with grease. Its shape insures the grease reaching the bearing surfaces and keeping them constantly lubricated.

Power is transmitted to the rear axle by means of a stout propeller shaft with universal joints at each end. The design and construction of the rear axle follows that of the five-ton worm-drive truck. The worm-drive is mounted rigidly in a dust-proof case of steel that carries the full weight of the load, the shafts to wheel transmitting the power only. These shafts are of extra large diameter, giving an extreme factor of safety to take care of road shocks and vibrations. Two separate and independent braking systems are used. The foot, or service brake, operates on a drum behind the transmission by means of contracting shoes lined with suitable fabric.

The engine and transmission are mounted rigidly on a subsidiary frame, itself very rigid. This frame is secured to the main frame by a hinged joint at front and two widely apart fixed joints at the rear, thus giving a perfect three-point support.

This is a similar form of suspension to that which has been used so successfully on the five-ton truck. The addition of sub-frame, however, has simplified and rendered more robust this suspension.

The main frame members are of ample depth and strength and, like the other parts of the chassis, are made of special steel, heat-treated, to give the best results.

The springs are specially long and give the maximum of easy riding to all loads. The rear springs are shackled at both ends and take no part in the drive of the truck. They are very free and flexible.

The front axle is a one-piece forging, following out exactly the same design as on the five-ton truck. The steering system is also the same, and is of the nut and screw type of very heavy construction.

County Surveyor Hawkins of Hickman, Ky., has purchased a motorcycle to assist him in his work.

OLDFIELD HAS HAD GREAT EXPERIENCE.

Throbbing around a one-mile dirt track in a few seconds less than a minute, Barney Oldfield, using Henry Ford's 999 car, in the spring of 1903, earned the admiration of Indianapolis and a purse posted by Carl Fisher, Tom Taggart, then Mayor of the Hoosier capital, and others. Incidentally he set a world's record. Ten years later in Bakersfield, Cal., Oldfield negotiated a mile on a dirt road in 46m. 4s., the lowest time yet made.

Detroit, the seat of the automobile industry, had seen many speed exhibitions, and Michigan had a mile record all its own. September 21, Oldfield using the same sadly-worn Firestone tires he had relied upon in Bakersfield, cut the Michigan mark just a little lower and did a mile in 48m. 8s.

Barney began his racing career in 1902, keeping to dirt roads and beating all comers. Since then, he has consistently held the mile record. Several times he has been beaten, but always came back. It was Bob Burman's record which he lowered in Bakersfield. Burman used Firestone tires when he made it.

Christy front drive—300 horse power, now is being used by Oldfield. Because of the weight of the front axle, a Barney is needed to handle the steering apparatus. This car is painted vermilion, but showing through in white, is the acknowledgment, "My Only Life Insurance: Firestone Tires."

Selling Campaign.

CREASED CAPITAL FOR HOWARD-SIX COMPANY.

CREASED capital stock in the Central Car Company, builders of the Howard Six, has caused A. M. , the local agent, to extend his campaign for this season. The of E. W. Anstead to the presidency of the Howard Auto Company, agents for the Howard at Connersville, Ind., has also caused renewed interest in this new line which has been so well received in this city. preparation has been made by the Howard factory to ship the to the Thomas Motor Car . The fact that it has been to get enough cars has the task of handling the prospects quite difficult as in many instances it has been necessary to return deposits when cars did not arrive.

a dispatch from the factory on Agent Young was notified of the changes already made and was early deliveries. The fact that capital stock has been increased this concern on a firmer basis than ever before and gives the local dealers a chance to branch out into some of the larger lines as outlined by Manager Young.

In addition to the Howard line, which is to be shipped in the roadster, seven-passenger, limousine, coupe and landaulet types, the Thomas Motor Car Company has a new offering in the light four-cylinder Paige, which is particularly attractive. The car is in the low-priced line, selling for less than $1000 and comes fully-equipped with self-starter, electric lights, a wheel base of 110 inches and is one of the easiest riding of the entire Paige line. The car has particularly pleasing lines and is one of the most attractive of the low-priced offering received this year.

Finished with a Brunswick type of body, a five-passenger model shows a value that is most attractive. The Paige cars have been received at the Thomas Motor Car Company at the rate of a carload a day since last Friday and this morning there is not a demonstrator on the floor because of the steady deliveries made each working day.

MITCHELLS ARE COMING.

Greer Robbins and Company, Southern California and Arizona distributors for the Mitchell and Hupmobile lines have received word from that the first of the 1914 Mitchells are on their way to Los Angeles and should be here in a few days. Two of the "little six" models and one of the big six are in the first consignment, and all three are already spoken for by local Mitchell dealers.

Davis and Lee Shiffour recently made a 1000-mile trip on motorcycles from Ambridge, Pa., to Buffalo, N. Y.

"STRONG" MOTORCYCLE TOWN.

Among the 12,000 inhabitants of Chanute, Kan., there are seventy-five motorcycle riders. The machines are used for practical purposes as well as for pleasure. The Chanute Daily Times uses a motorcycle for rushing proofs from the newspaper office to advertisers.

$.000037 PER MILE!

Fred Karl, of Canal Dover, O., has ridden a twin-cylinder motorcycle practically 40,000 miles since 1911. The only mechanical expense he has incurred has been $1.50 for two intake valves. His average cost per mile has been $.000037.

Rides Like Constant Coasting

Get That New Car Now

IF YOU have a car that you have said you will keep until prices come down, or until you can get a better allowance for your old car, consider these facts: Values now are greater than ever, as you will realize when you examine the Hudson Six 54.

You never will get a better allowance for your used car than you can get now, because no greater allowance will be made by anyone with whom you can afford to deal, than can be got for that car.

If one dealer offers you $800 for your used car when another will give only $500, don't think that the one can get $300 more for that used car than the other. It merely means that he adds $300 cost to the new car. It means that the car he is selling you was priced high in order that he could take care of just such a transaction.

So, you see—you pay for what you think is your bargain. It is not real.

A Car Not Built for Trades

THE HUDSON Six 54 is not built for trades. It is priced at a figure that gives value and not deception.

Dealers are not given extraordinary profits to be used in absorbing old cars so the buyer is led to think he is getting a bargain.

In appearance, in quality, in value, the Hudson Six 54 can be compared with any automobile at $3,000 or even $4,000.

Many would pay $4,000 for this car if that were its price. We would not sell as many, it is true, but if we followed that plan the dealer could make trades that would appear attractive to the man who does not inquire closely.

We Believe Him.

MOTOR CAR A NECESSITY SAYS KISSEL-KAR CHIEF.

"WE HAVE reached a time in the history of the automobile when it has become a necessity," says W. H. Huhgson, president of the Pacific Kissel-Kar branch who is here for a three-weeks' stay. The big chief, who is on deck every minute, either in San Francisco or Los Angeles, is satisfied that this is to be one of our best years. He bases his belief on the amount of business now being done at the local branch.

With Bob Robinson at the helm, sales have been recorded each working day and the total rolled up last week was surprising. The demand for the handsome new Kissel-Kar line causes the right kind of smile on "Billy's" face and he is prepared for bigger business. A recent sale of twelve Federal trucks was made at the San Francisco branch and the local Ford business has been above the average the past month.

"The motor car has become practically a necessity to traveling salesmen whose territory covers the smaller towns and whose success consequently depends very largely upon the ability to cover ground," says President Hughson. "Where formerly, on account of limited railway service, but one or two points a day could be visited, the advent of the automobile has made it possible for them to reach five or six and often more markets."

C. K. Smith of Westfield, Mass., president of the Smith-Lockwood Manufacturing Company, is one of the new school of executives who finds that his greatest usefulness is "out on the firing line." While tried and faithful subordinates grapple with the factory problems, Mr. Smith motors from Maine to California and Minnesota to Louisiana, calling on the trade. For this duty he depends on a big six-cylinder Kissel-Kar. This car has carried him into every State in the Union and he avers that to go back to the old way of "getting around" would be a return to conditions under which the present volume of his business could not possibly be done.

"This Kissel-Kar of mine carries me everywhere," says Smith, "and I have yet to experience any trouble with it. I am going all the time and have probably done 40,000 miles in a little more than a year. I often take members of my family along and that helps a whole lot too. They enjoy it and it is certainly a boon to me. In fact this car improves my business, social and physical well-being and the traveler who tries to get along without one is curtailing his usefulness and personal comfort. Our men who have automobiles have increased their efficiency in some cases four-fold and in addition have a car for the pleasure of their families when at home. Yes sir, the automobile is a wonderful thing for the traveling man."

Smith recently called at the Milwaukee factory of the Kissel-Kar Motor Company to negotiate the purchase of several more cars for the use of the company's salesmen. He explained that while his concern does not furnish automobiles to its men, it is glad to advance the purchase price to them and accept reimbursement in easy payments out of the salesmen's earnings. All the men having cars have so greatly increased their incomes that others are only too glad to buy them on the terms offered.

W. H. Hughson and Bob Robinson in Kisselkar roadster.

This is one of the latest four-cylinders of the new line that is being talked of so favorably in this country and which has made such a decided hit in Los Angeles. Below is "Billy" Hughson at the helm of the nobby car.

Cars Look Good.

RENTON CLEARS DECKS FOR ACTION ON NEW VELIE LINE

P. A. RENTON, president of the Renton Motor Car Company, agents for the Velie line, has cleared his decks for action. Four of the 1913 cars are to be sold at a sacrifice in anticipation of the early arrival of the 1914 goods.

This new 1914 line is one of the handsomest ever turned out by the Velie people. The cars are to be finished in the five and seven-passenger models and will be complete in the minutest detail.

Renton is one of the pioneers in the local industry, having been identified with the trade for the past ten years. This year has been one of his most successful seasons and the Velie agent is anticipating a record list of sales for the 1914 period.

Velie cars are to be received in carload lots and if the new 1914 cars are as good as the factory officials claim, Renton has a right to expect a banner year.

The new cars are late in being shipped but they are to be sent in ever increasing numbers. Renton has ordered 300 cars for the new season and judging by the orders already signed, he will have to increase his allotment before the close of 1914.

QUEER ACCIDENT TO APPERSON CAR.

One of the most peculiar accidents ever credited—justly or otherwise—to a motor car, occurred the other day in Chicago, on the Halstead-street jack knife bridge.

Michael Iarussi, an Italian undertaker, was bowling along on Halstead street, and had just gotten on the bridge when up it rose to an almost perpendicular. Iarussi, too frightened to throw out his clutch or attempt to save himself, stuck to the wheel and as the bridge went up, he rose with it—the "Jack Rabbit" steadily climbing. Nor did it stop until the front wheels dropped off the end and the fly wheel caught, which was the only thing that saved Iarussi and prevented the "Jack Rabbit" from taking a dive into the Chicago River.

None of the spectators, all of whom testify that the car was going about twenty miles an hour, were able to say just "how it happened" and Iarussi doesn't know. He hit the bridge just as it opened, and as it takes about twenty-five seconds for it to rise from a perfectly horizontal position to one almost vertical, he must have reached the top in about that time.

One eye witness—an automobile man—said: "I've seen and been in a lot of hill climbs in my time, but the way that Apperson 'Jack Rabbit' took that almost 'straight up' grade has a little on anything I ever saw."

Any one who has ever seen these bridges open to let the big boats through can appreciate this stunt. Mr. Iarussi's car is now at the Apperson branch in Chicago, having a new fly wheel, crank case and crank shaft installed.

COST OF UPKEEP HAS GONE DOWN

Harry R. Radford of the Cartercar company believes that the most remarkable feature of the growth of the automobile industry is the wonderful decrease in the cost of upkeep.

"The motor car is seldom considered an expense these days," said Mr. Radford, "and if the owner will use only ordinary caution in choosing his car he will have very little upkeep for the service which he will receive. Only a few years ago, about the only thing you heard as an excuse for people not buying cars was that they couldn't afford to keep them. They didn't care so much about the first cost, but they considered the after expenses. Now, however, we never hear such a statement and the purchaser knows that he can buy a car and take it out on the road and expect to get continual service throughout the entire year. We are continually getting letters from Cartercar owners who have driven their cars for one or two years, they say, without even making an adjustment. This may seem like an exaggeration to some who are not familiar with motor cars, but other manufacturers, I am certain, have found the same thing to be true."

The Hartford (Ct.) city water department has acquired a number of motor trucks during the past few months. One of the latest received is a 1½-ton truck. In order to care for these vehicles properly a brick garage is being constructed. The trucks are used for hauling cast iron water pipe, wood and various supplies.

HOWARD "6"

HIGHEST GRADE STANDARD CONSTRUCTION

Only $2500 at Los Angeles

There are two sensible reasons why the Howard Six can be produced and sold at this price:

First, because the builders of this car have ample capital to enable them to market nomically, being able to take advantage of the benefits of spot cash and discounts. Second, item of experimental expense is entirely eliminated by the adoption of only the highest construction which has proven to be the best known to the trade—this causes a double vertising. It is not necessary to advertise extensively that a Continental motor, Timken ings, Warner transmission and Bosch ignition, entirely separated from the electric lighting best constructon obtainable. Everybody knows that, and we want to say right here that produced to meet price competition. We invite comparison with any car selling at any price ours, no matter how much greater, quality and refinement to be the points judged." One any 6-cylinder car developing 77-horse power or less and see if you can obtain the from 11 to 13 miles to the gallon. We invite you to make this test yourself. We will furnish gasoline to prove this. We believe no car has ever been produced which can show everything considered.

OLDFIELD DRIVES SIMPLEX OVER PHOENIX RACE ROUTE

Bullard, Father of the Desert Classic, Helps Choose the Route for the Battle Royal—Shettler Trying to Boost Entries at this End—Enthusiasm at San Diego Where Naylor Is on the Job Every Instant.

BARNEY OLDFIELD, in the Simplex "50," reached Phoenix on Friday, after a long overland trip, in which the speed king studied road conditions carefully. Oldfield is convinced that he can show the best desert drivers the way across the sands. The roads are better than they ever were and the Mammoth Wash was easy for the big Simplex racer.

"Mammoth Wash easy," was the way Barney described the trip through the sands from Brawley to Mammoth Station on the railroad the other side of the big wash. "Can't scare me about that sand," said Oldfield at Phoenix. "It's easy and there is enough good road to make the going excellent for two-thirds of the way. I like the race and I'm out to win. Me for the Phoenix race this year."

George Purdy Bullard, Attorney-General of Arizona, completed the trip with Barney and arranged a reception at Phoenix for the big Simplex racer. Gov. Hunt, who is referee of the race, was there to greet the great road driver and a banquet was arranged at which Dr. H. H. Stone was the toastmaster. Barney told his hearers some interesting things connected with his trip across the desert, which he says is no longer a desert, but an interesting interstate run.

Bullard, the "father" of the Phoenix road race, is working hard to interest the business men of Phoenix in the contest. He wires that he is confident that the entry list will reach the twenty mark, because of the many outside cars that will be represented in the contest. Bullard says there is more interest in the race at Phoenix this year than ever before.

"Don't worry about the interest in the race," says Bullard. "It is greater than ever. We will have a big race and the track events are to be more interesting than they ever were before. Looks to me as if we will have a record crowd this year and thousands of people who never before paid attention to the interstate run are now ready to boost. Barney is here and we are treating him royally."

AT SAN DIEGO.

F. B. Naylor, the man at the helm in San Diego, says he expects five more entries from the southern city. Naylor was in town on Tuesday and says it is a joke to speak of the roads in San Diego county as being hard or even sandy. The old Devil's Canyon road, says Naylor, is now a thing of the past and the new boulevard is the real thing for the racers. Naylor was so interested in the race that he made a trip to this city with the torpedo boat flotilla on Tuesday, and listened to reports from the big games by wireless.

SHETTLER'S HOPES.

With nine entries already received for the 1913 Phoenix road race, Chairman Shettler of the committee in charge of the event, stated that he confidently expected to see at least twenty-five cars lined up for the desert classic.

Three Cadillac cars, two Simplex racers, a Locomobile, a Buick and a Ford are entered. A check for $200 has been placed with Shettler by Mrs. Northam for entry No. 5. The name of the car which will be in the race has not been announced, but it will probably be the Simplex which was entered by Mrs. Northam in the Los Angeles-to-Sacramento road race.

Omar Toft has been nominated by Mrs. Northam to drive her entry, but he refuses to state whether or not he will pilot the same Simplex. Don Lee has entered two Cadillac cars, the two to bear entry numbers one and three.

To date four cars have been entered by Los Angeles race enthusiasts, while San Diego is represented by two, Santa Ana by one, Phoenix by one and Saugus is on the map with another.

J. C. Rice of San Diego, who has entered a powerful Simplex, has been busy for the past two weeks tuning up his car, and according to reports, the Simplex will have speed and power to spare when it comes to traversing the desert sands and the smooth boulevards.

TRACK RACES.

One of the features of the finish of the Phoenix race will be the card of track races which will be staged November 6 at Phoenix. The races will be held and managed by the Maricopa Automobile Club, and a sanction has already been granted by the A.A.A.

A purse of $2700 will be offered to the place winners in the three races. The first race will be for a distance of fifteen miles, open only to cars competing in the Los Angeles-to-Phoenix and the El Paso-to-Phoenix races, having a piston displacement of 301 inches or over.

The purses will be divided 65 per cent. to the winner, twenty-five per cent. to second place winner, and 10 per cent. to the third place winner. The purse for the first race will amount to at least $400.

The second event will be the feature, for it will be a free-for-all for a distance of fifty miles. The purse will be $2000, and it will be divided just the same as the purse in the first event.

An entrance fee of $100 will be charged, but this amount will be returned if the entrant starts and continues in good faith. Two additional cars must be entered besides those which competed in either one of the road races to Phoenix.

The third and last event will be for cars with a piston displacement of 300 inches or under. The purse will be $300. Two or more cars must start in each race.

PHOENIX RACE HOWDY SPECIAL.

Preliminary arrangements are now being made with the Southern Pacific for the "Howdy Special" to be run to Phoenix at the time of the annual road race.

Local enthusiasts are in favor of inviting the San Diego people to combine with the Los Angeles special and make the train a boosting party for the San Diego Exposition. This should prove popular in the southern city.

John Gondolfo, proprietor of the Hotel Gondolfo at Yuma, has offered a handsome trophy for the car making the fastest time to Yuma. This cup, according to John S. Mitchell, will be well worth winning.

He Ought to Know.

MARION PRESIDENT SAYS BUSINESS IS BOOMING.

BELIEVING that the only way to keep in touch with automobile conditions of the country is to get on the ground and investigate for yourself, J. I. Handley, president of the Marion Motor Car Company and the American Motors Company of Indianapolis, is now in Los Angeles, having come directly from New York in accordance with his plan.

"Conditions in the automobile business in the East are most satisfactory. Our eastern dealers are experiencing an especially heavy business. New models of both the Marion and American are meeting with great favor. The Marion company has gone to its first six, and also its first closed cars, this season, and the popularity they have attained is well evidenced by the amount of business being done.

"Although I have hardly had time to make the personal investigation as thorough on the Coast, everyone in our organization assures me that California is in for a big season. Despite the great amount of automobile business already done in California, I do not believe that the crust has really been more than broken. I predict that in a few years your State will far outstrip all others in number of cars in operation."

During his stay in Los Angeles, Mr. Handley is dividing his time between the Symonds Motor Car Company, Marion dealers, and Lynn C. Buxton, American dealer. He expects to be here until the end of the week.

He thinks California, with her already great number of automobiles, has hardly yet begun to make her demands on the automobile manufacturers, and talking over local conditions at the Symonds Motor Car Company, predicted that before long California would far outstrip all other States in its number of automobiles.

The president of the two big Indianapolis companies is one of the forceful men of the automobile industry. Thoroughly conversant with conditions through connection with all branches of the business, Mr. Handley is firm in his belief that the best way to keep in touch is to get on the ground and study conditions. He comes to the Coast direct from New York, and is very optimistic of conditions in the East, pointing out that the announcement of the new Marion models has brought an extra heavy fall trade, while the American underslung business is increasing steadily.

Mr. Handley holds a unique position in the automobile world, having risen to the presidency of the companies which he heads from the ranks of the dealers. His first step in the trade brought him the position as Middle West sales manager for the United States Motors, and later the vice-presidency and sales managership of the concern. This position he resigned several years ago to take the presidency and heavy interest in the American Motors Company, to which was later added similar connections with the Marion Motor Car Company.

Mr. Handley will be in Los Angeles until the end of the week. He makes his headquarters at the Symonds Motor Car Company, local dealers.

SUPPLY STATIONS FOR ALL AUTOISTS.

Arrangements have been made for a supply of Zerolene to be kept constantly on hand in case of an emergency. Supply stations have been established in the towns and outlying districts of Southern California and as a result motorists are promised added opportunity to get a supply of oil where the lubricant is not handled at present.

At all points where the company maintains tank wagon service Zerolene will now be supplied in bulk, and for the convenience of automobilists whose garages are not equipped with storage facilities the company has arranged to install at moderate cost an attractive thirty-gallon storage tank, specially designed for this service.

The advantages of this new arrangement are many: The consumer gets more lubricant for his money when buying in bulk than when he makes purchases in small quantities; the storage tanks do away with the annoyance of frequent purchases. Stocked up with thirty gallons of oil in his garage, the autoist is for the time insured against all worry as to a lubricant for his machine.

MOTORISTS SAVE MONEY BY AUTO CLUB PROJECT.

MOTORISTS of Southern California have saved themselves a small fortune because of the work already accomplished by the insurance department of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Autoists are availing themselves of the opportunities afforded by the service established by Secretary S. C. Geary, who is planning to enlarge the scope of this department because of the steady demand there is from the auto men of the Southland.

To protect an automobile from fire, theft and collision, at cost, and save a total of $1144.94 on the first seventy-one premiums written, was the achievement of the inter-insurance department of the Automobile Club of Southern California, announced yesterday.

It had already been learned by club officials that $78,000 had been the total saved for club members at the close of the first year's business, but the report on the first seventy-one policies was not finished until yesterday.

Four years ago Secretary Geary outlined a plan to the directors, whereby an insurance department could be conducted. Guy Van Alstyne was called to Los Angeles and assumed charge of the department.

One motorist found that at the expiration of his policy he had saved $126, and that $58.65 was returned to him, which had been saved for him by the automobile club. The initial saving on the cost of the policy had been $7. Other motorists found that when their cars were damaged the representatives of the club immediately adjusted the matter, no matter how distant.

When automobile owners became aware of the fact that they could secure insurance on their cars at a reduction of 56 per cent. under regular board rates, that they would help in securing the world's best roads for Southern California by joining the Automobile Club, and receive its prestige and service, the growth of the organization was remarkable. They no longer asked, "Why should I boost good roads?" they took advantage of the offers of the club.

Astonishing as was the announcement that the insurance department of the Automobile Club had saved $78,000 in premiums to its members on its first year's business, the actual result revealed in definite percentages is even more startling. Last week's statement, made before the books of the department had been closed for the twelve months ending its first calendar year, proves to have been conservative.

Halco Demonstration.

An interesting demonstration was made last week by W. H. Halliwell in the Halliwell shops with a Halco storage battery. Tested against another well-known storage battery, the Halco did not even buckle the plate, while the other battery was burnt out. The Halco dry cells are selling in large numbers in the Northwest, according to reports received from C. E. Halliwell, who is in the North. The Halco dry cells stand the dampness of the northern winters, in addition to being a perfect cell for all kinds of weather.

Why the Price is Lower

HERE we present a few concise cold factory facts, so that you can get a faint idea of what 50,000 cars a year means, and how it makes possible minimum economy. Read carefully. Then draw your own conclusions.

We are the second largest consumers of aluminum in the world—not in the automobile industry—but in the world. We use 18,000 pounds a day or 5,400,000 pounds a year.

This year we will use 20,000 tons of steel.

One of our recent monthly averages on incoming freight alone was over 85 carloads a day, or a total of 5,100,000 pounds of incoming daily freight.

On outgoing freight we never fall below 35 carloads a day and often go as high as 60 carloads a day. This year our outgoing freight will approximate 270,000,000 pounds.

Our incoming express matter will average ten to twelve thousand pounds a day and outgoing is almost double that.

We print our American catalogue in 1,000,000 lots. In addition to that is our German, Italian, French, Spanish and Portuguese editions which are run in 300,000 to 500,000 lots. Then there are huge special editions for South Africa, Canada, Australia, India, etc.

We receive over 1200 pieces of first-class mail matter each day. We send out over 2000 pieces of first-class mail matter each day. On an average we handle over 20,000 pieces each week. To say nothing of the fourth class matter and Parcel Post.

It is almost customary for us to mail a solid ton of catalogues and literature every day.

We operate machines in our mailing department that stamp, seal and count 250 letters a minute.

Our telegraph offices (situated right in our factory) are among the largest individual handlers of telegrams and cables in the world.

We operate the largest drop forge plant in the industry—which means that we can make parts for $3 (shop cost) for which other manufacturers must pay $9.

We have over $3,000,000.00 worth of automatic machinery—which means that we can cut production costs, on machined parts, 50%.

This year we have contracted for 200,000 tires, 250,000 lamps, 100,000 fenders, 200,000 wheels, and 200,000 rims—and these are only some of the trimmings.

Some figures!

Yes—but they show the immensity of this institution. And it's immensity that makes for economy—for maximum production results in minimum costs and you save the difference.

The economical effect of such purchasing power is singularly evident in the 1914 Overland.

In every respect here is an improved and a larger car but the price is lower than ever.

The motor is larger—but the price is lower.

The wheelbase is longer—but the price is lower.

The tires are larger—but the price is lower.

The new car has electric lights throughout—even under the dash—but the price is lower.

The body is designed with cowl dash and flush U doors with concealed hinges—but the price is lower.

It is magnificently finished in dark Brewster green, trimmed in polished nickel and aluminum, running boards and wheels to match—but the price is lower.

Then there are Timken bearings, a jeweled Stewart speedometer—a larger steering wheel, and deeper upholstery—but the price is lower.

Never before such value for suc price!

The Yachts.

ARBITARY HANDICAP TO BE SAILED OFF SAN PEDRO.

UNUSUAL interest centers around the yacht race which will be sailed off San Pedro harbor this afternoon, this being the final race for the season of the South Coast Yacht Club. The race is the annual arbitrary handicap event which marks the close of the racing each year. The performance of each boat is used as a guide for the ratings in this race instead of the regular rating used, as the time allowance basis in the other racing events of the year.

Although the Columbine, owned by A. G. Sepulveda, and sailed today by C. E. Fulton and a picked crew, will be scratch boat today, the allowance she will give the fast Alert, owned by Bailey & Logan, will be cut down by over seven minutes. Both Commodore Hubbell's flagship Mischief and Leo Lighthipe's Marie have in previous races given the Alert time allowance, but today the Alert comes next to the Columbine and gives the Mischief 2m., 25s., and Marie 20m., 15s. These boats also get increased allowance over the Columbine, as they have not manifested any great amount of speed over this course this season.

The Wasp will receive 20m., 25s. from the Columbine, Ben Weston being her skipper. As she has shown herself fast in competition with the Alert, it is expected that she will make a good showing today, although her allowance is not as great in proportion.

The smaller "R and S class" sloops receive additional allowances from the Columbine, the Seabird, the slowest boat in the fleet, getting the largest allowance of all, viz., 58m., 50s. With this big starting advantage the secretary hopes, with the assistance of the Killian family, to get into the finishing line ahead of some of the racing craft. The Myth will be sailed by her owner, Harry Mellen, while Capt. Van Valin will sail the Portola for her owner, J. A. Jepson.

It is not believed that the La Jolla will be in the race as her owner, A. L. Haller, has been too busy to haul her out for a coat of paint. Lew will, however, be in the race, as he expects to handle the silken accessories on the Columbine.

Reversing the usual order of things the smaller boats will start first, the Seabird leading the parade across the line at 1 o'clock, the others crossing on their allowances, viz.: Portola, 1:06:15; Myth, 1:14; Marie, 1:26:25; Wasp, 1:38:25; Mischief I, 1:44:05; Alert, 1:46:40, and Columbine, 1:58:50.

If the dope on this race, as figured out by Measurer Goldsworthy for the Regatta Committee, is correct, all of the racing yachts will cross the finishing line in a bunch, after having sailed the twelve-mile triangle according to form. But while, theoretically, the dope is all right, the race will not be quite this close, although with an average breeze the boats should finish at nearly the same time.

Three prizes are offered today, a first and second prize cup and a handsome compass, donated by Maloy-Blanchard Company.

BIG FACTORY AT TORRANCE.

MOORE TRUCK COMPANY PUTS UP BIG NEW PLANT.

Hundred and Twenty-five Men to Be Employed in Steel and Concrete Building—Wonderful Demand for Automobiles in California Cause for This Expansion.

The Moore company will employ 125 in the new factory at Torrance. The building is of concrete and steel and is equipped with the best automobile-building machinery.

F. L. Moore, president of F. L. Moore Truck Company, declares that Southern California has too few manufactories—particularly of automobiles.

"The need of automobile manufactories becomes apparent," said Mr. Moore, "when we understand that more than $7,000,000 a month or about $85,000,000 a year is being spent for automobiles of all kinds. Since 1905, when the registration of motor vehicles was begun in California, more than 111,000 machines have been purchased at a cost of more than $250,000,000. This means that with only about two and one-half million population as compared to New York's nine million, California leads the nation in the number of machines in service. It is a fair and striking illustration of the wide-spread wealth and prosperity of the State of which Southern California and Los Angeles itself can claim their full share.

"This certainly should suggest a field for manufactories of all sorts of automobile equipment and accessories. Our company is now working to full capacity and we are not able to fill our orders as promptly as we would wish. In one month we exceeded a business of $85,000."

FLYING SPARKS OF MOTORDOM.

It is said that California is ahead of any other State in the commercial use of motorcycles, in proportion to its population.

Motor trucks are being used to carry the mails in Northern Maine along the Fort Fairfield and Limestone branches of the Bangor and Aroostook. The Federal government placed the trucks in service following the refusal of the railroad to carry the mail on account of a difference of $240 between the bill and the government check for mail messenger service between the stations and postoffices.

About 40 per cent. of all the motor trucks in use in New York City are electrics. During the current year 271 new electrics have been placed in operation in the city, bringing the total to 3161. It is predicted that the next five months of the year will see the installation of as many electrics as were sold during the first seven. Electrics in New York are employed in 76 different lines of business. Brewers take the lead with 322, department stores come second with 262, express companies use 197, bread is delivered by 154, and the central stations use 127.

Clyde J. Coleman, an inventor, two of whose patents already form the basis of an electric lighting and starting system, has evolved a small gas producer of a size suitable for automobile use, of which much is expected, and which is to be placed on the market by a $1,000,000 corporation. The producer is intended to take the place of the fuel tank of the present gasoline system. Half of the space will be occupied with the fuel reservoir, the remainder being utilized by a miniature producer of special construction, operating, it is declared, on the principle of the "present stationary gas producers." Coal screening, charcoal, crude oil or any other low-cost carbonaceous material may be employed for fuel. Fifty per cent. more mileage at one-fifth the present fuel cost is the net advantage claimed for the system.

Tires that are completely deflated should be inflated slowly at first, until there is quite an amount of air in them, when the inflation may proceed more rapidly. There are several views as to the proper pressure, and it would seem that the best plan is to inflate the tires until they hold their shape under the weight of the car, without flattening. There is no reason for inflating beyond this point and making the car ride hard. One of the popular pressure recommendations is to inflate the front tires to a pressure equal to 17 or 18 times their cross section, and the rear tires to 20 times their cross section. This would mean that 34 by 4 tires would have a pressure of 68 to 72 pounds on the front wheels and 80 pounds on the rear. In determining the pressure it is better to use a gauge on the air line near the tire, or one applied directly to the tire valve, rather than one on the air pump, as one in the latter position is liable to show sometimes a higher pressure than actually exists in the tire.

WINTER PLANS OF THE VENICE BALL PLAY

Hap Hogan Will Boss League and Sig Elliott Seeks Position on Ice Wagon, Wh Will Cultivate Whiskers—Anything, Exc Looks Good to Ed Klepfer.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

THE hero days of our baseball players are drawing to a close. Within a fortnight they will drop into semi-obscurity—become private citizens the same as clerks, bricklayers, newspaper men and porch-climbers.

No longer may they disport themselves in short panties before an admiring constituency.

Some of the players will hibernate here; in fact, a majority of them may do just that thing, while the minority will go squattering away to less congenial climes to reassemble here in the happy sprouting days of spring. Those who have never seen a bunch of ballplayers squatter have something coming to them.

ALL WILL BE HAPPY.

By that time—meaning next spring—the old wounds will have healed into historic battle scars, the blasted reputations of 1913 will again be in good health, optimism will be at flood tide, and every father's son of them will feel confident of hitting .300 or better.

But back to the coming winter of discontent.

Hap Hogan, the Tiger chieftain, will divide his time between his billiard bazaar and the presidency of the Winter League. It is believed that Ban Johnson has nothing on Hap as an executive, and that the only thing that has prevented Hap from proving it is lack of opportunity.

Hap will also do a bit of scouting on the side, and book a dozen or so new ball players for 1914.

ROWDY WANTS JOB.

Rowdy Elliott has not fully matured his plans for the winter, but probably will pass the off season here or hereabouts if he can find suitable employment. He hopes to get a position driving an ice wagon.

Charley Sterrett is a civil or a locomotive engineer—I have forgotten which. Providing he can't get that kind of a job he might land one as motorman on one of our interurban lines. He is open to engagements.

Unless all signs fail, Frederick Harvey Harkness will face the barrier in the matrimonial stakes. "Speck" is to get married in Portland. Being something of a matinee idol, there will be thousands of broken hearts all over the circuit.

SPIDER MAKES MONEY.

Charles Spider Baum will retire into the hills back of Livermore there in obscurity to grow his annual crop of whiskers only to have them pruned before again returning into the public eye. Spider grew a most prolific crop of whiskers last winter and received good money for them from Livermore's leading upholsterer. He believes that the receipts from his whiskers this winter will easily cover his expenses between November and March.

Other young men would do well to follow the example set by Baum and convert their inborn talent for growing whiskers into ready cash. It is these things, the ability to grab opportunity by the forelock, that mark the difference between the successful man and the man who simply works for wages.

And to think of the thousands upon thousands of whiskers which have gone to seed only because there were no clear-sighted men of the Baum type to prove that they have a commercial value. [illegible] strive to make [illegible] where but one [illegible]

It's Safe Enough.

UP IN A DIRIGIBLE WITH EXPERT ROY KNABENSH

BY BERT C. SMITH.

UP IN a dirigible, 1000 feet above the earth, is a sensation which few men have enjoyed. It is thrilling and interesting, though perhaps the greatest thrill comes as you are about to leave the ground. It was my privilege to ride with Roy Knabenshue in that big dirigible which he is flying on the Hotel Raymond grounds. We went up Wednesday morning and came down the same morning.

Roy is an airman. That fact has been established, and he is good for 10,000 feet, but about 1000 is all I will ever ask for, and if I have my way, about 600 feet would suit me better. There is a feeling that can only be described by the man or woman who rides in that carriage below the big bag. It is a sensation that few have experienced and which only a favored few will receive.

After leaving the ground it is easy, but while the mechanicians are cranking that motor, and during the preparation for the first flight, you experience emotions that cannot be described. No, of course, you are not afraid. Show me the man who would admit that his "Angora" had arrived, but just the same I refuse to state just how I felt before that big gas bag got away into the blue.

"All ready, boys. Well, let 'er go."

Now, Roy Knabenshue has a pleasant voice, but if you are making your first flight you will perhaps have a hard time to hear him, because of the noise your heart makes in its wild beating, or perhaps it is the racket of those knees of yours as they knock together. I rise to remark that I heard Roy give the order for casting off.

Well, on that order hangs a tale. Some careless "holder-on" or hanger-on, or whatever they call those fellows who steady the big dirigible, hung on too long and we "got away light." Notice the technical expression. The big bag fairly danced into the air. Now we carried in all seven passengers. One of them was Millionaire Card, a fine fellow, who was making his first flight.

Now Millionaire Card was not afraid. In spite of the fact that he had left his plucky wife on the ground—I say "plucky" as Mrs. Card offered to make the trip—the big man showed no fear even when the bag careened and swerved into a figure eight that gave us all thrills.

We struck an "uptrend." Well, that was thrill No. 1 and we began to ascend. They told us it was only 1100 feet, but if it had been 11,000 feet it would have been all the same to me as I could not have been more excited. No, I was not scared. This with my hand raised, I affirm. But it was a unique thrill and I wanted to enjoy it. Well, I tried [illegible] few pictures, but they [illegible] focus, the most of them [illegible] suppose my nerves were [illegible] up right.

One of the men who [illegible] rise was Norman Murray, [illegible] ball boyish kind of fellow, [illegible] he had promised his wife [illegible] an ascension. Well, you [illegible] story, the old one that has [illegible] so often. Anyway, Norman [illegible] flight. When we were at the [illegible] point Roy Knabenshue [illegible] to throw out a bag of sand. [illegible] his remark, in a fluttering [illegible]

"Say, we'll go higher if I [illegible] sand. Guess I'll stay with [illegible] it feels good to me right [illegible] couldn't make me dump it."

Well, now, this is the [illegible] safe enough and enjoyable [illegible] make a flight each morning [illegible] up again if my wife would [illegible] Isn't it nice to be married [illegible]

We made a right-hand [illegible] two figure eights, tipped [illegible] ends, not us, but the dirigible [illegible] came down safe and sound. [illegible] as we were dropping Roy [illegible] least ordered Murray to [illegible] of sand. Murray, terrified [illegible] would bump too hard, was [illegible] respond, but just think of [illegible] stead of opening that bag and [illegible] the sand sift out over the [illegible] lifted that big heavy sack and [illegible] it over the side with that [illegible] ening thud. It's lucky it was [illegible] adena. If we had been [illegible] Los Angeles just then some [illegible] destrian would have been [illegible] and perhaps killed by that [illegible] weight, which dropped like a [illegible] to the old earth we were to [illegible] reach.

After thirty minutes of [illegible] engine was cool. We could [illegible] to San Diego. [illegible] was one of the first to [illegible] which we dropped to the [illegible] low. He is enthusiastic [illegible] of the dirigible and [illegible] range for regular flights [illegible] gers to and from [illegible] in Southern California.

Roy Knabenshue is one of [illegible] greatest air pilots I have ever [illegible] with. No, I've been up in [illegible] plane, so please don't [illegible] ridden in a balloon [illegible] Therefore I am [illegible] small opinion. It's [illegible] that dirigible and I [illegible] to build a larger [illegible] like the Zeppelin [illegible] about thirty passengers [illegible] flights to Catalina [illegible] hear you ask for a [illegible]

Martin Hansen of [illegible] sen & Dolder of [illegible] is on a motorcycle trip [illegible] He will visit Yellowstone [illegible] Park en route.

TROJANS SMEAR BERKELEY BOYS.

CALIFORNIA FRESHMEN DEFEATED BY U.S.C.

Fighting Scrum of the Local Varsity Twice Crosses the Freshman Line, but Neither Goal Is Kicked—California Varsity Beats Santa Clara in Hard Game.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERKELEY, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Trojan varsity won its first match game of the season from the California freshman team this afternoon after a hard battle by the score of 6 to 0. The southerners had all the best of the game and the stars of the affair are the men in [illegible]. They carried the battle all the way from start to finish, outgamed, outplayed and outfought the [illegible] Schaeffer warriors who had [illegible] to win the battle.

The score should have been at least [illegible] points greater, but the California [illegible] was constantly off side from whistle to whistle, thereby [illegible] the U.S.C. attack in the [illegible]. Only three times did the [illegible] backs get to going and on all of these occasions there was a [illegible] as a result. Taking it as [illegible] the Trojans played the best [illegible] of the season and from this [illegible] can be counted on for real [illegible].

HOT STRUGGLE.

[illegible] five kicked off and the fight [illegible]. At once the California men [illegible] to "climb the Trojan frames," [illegible] not more than half way by [illegible] men. However, it seemed as though the U.S.C. men could not get [illegible] with the result that the ball [illegible] on the 10-yard line. Here [illegible] men came to light and one of the greatest battles seen in these [illegible] was staged. Taking the ball at [illegible], the men from the south [illegible] down the field and from this [illegible] were on the offense.

After a California free kick on the [illegible] 30-yard line the Trojans [illegible] to the Bears' 38 mark, [illegible], Hanes and Harris doing the [illegible]. At this point the California [illegible] attempted to smear one of the Trojan rushes and was brought [illegible] with an awful thud by Carl Haney. The forwards gathered around the ball and rushed it to the 15-yard [illegible]. It looked like a sure score at [illegible] point, but the play went bad for [illegible] moment and the California full [illegible] to the U.S.C. 30-yard line. [illegible] was a fumble at this point on [illegible] of one of the backs and in a [illegible] the ball was on the U.S.C. [illegible] line. It was not until this [illegible] of the game that the Trojans [illegible] to wake up. With a mad [illegible] Toolan, Hanes and Baronidas [illegible] into the Blue scrum and in [illegible] seconds the play was waltzing [illegible] the field.

MAD RUSH.

[illegible] an angry wave the gray team [illegible] into the blue. Alber kicked to [illegible] like a champion, the backs were [illegible] like wild men and the forwards were knocking flat all that [illegible] in their way. Twice the march [illegible] halted while Referee Fuller gave [illegible] a free kick, but on each [illegible] the Trojans came back hotter [illegible] ever. From the 30-yard line [illegible] play was carried to the 15 by [illegible] and Craig and Haney [illegible] into line and went to the [illegible] line.

[illegible] scrums were called here and [illegible] second Hanes and Elmore [illegible] the ball over together. Elmore missed the goal making the score U.S.C. 3, California 0.

[illegible] the drop-out the forwards again [illegible] the ball and rushed it to within [illegible] 25-yard mark: punts were exchanged with the advantage in favor [illegible]. Finding this out, Alber [illegible] for another battle line and [illegible] they went. Time was called, [illegible] the ball was not as yet dead. One of the California backs tried to kick [illegible] bounds but Taylor and Elmore [illegible] the kick, Taylor securing and [illegible] his way for 20 yards to the [illegible] and then driving over with [illegible] of men in blue tugging at his [illegible].

A BAD ANGLE.

[illegible] again missed the goal, but [illegible] on a rather difficult angle, [illegible] be excused.

[illegible] second half the Trojans were [illegible] rather hard at first, but as [illegible] went along they soon got the [illegible] in hand again and were attacking [illegible] of old.

[illegible] was in this half that Laird nearly got away for a try, but stopped [illegible] on the 30-yard mark, after dodging [illegible] the entire field. Later, Carl Haney [illegible] through, but failed to pass in [illegible] after running 55 yards, so another [illegible] was averted for California.

[illegible] Butler was put in here in his [illegible] place and Laird took Tommy [illegible] place at center three, while [illegible] went in for Harris and [illegible] took the place of Hanes [illegible] the front rank.

ANOTHER MISS.

[illegible] Carl Haney's run U.S.C. got [illegible] back on the 30-yard mark, [illegible] a rather stiff angle. However, [illegible] hit the post, bringing the [illegible] to its feet, but the ball [illegible] outside and there was no [illegible] more.

As time drew to a close for the half, the Trojans got reckless and tore out at high speed, and it was here that several opportunities were thrown away for a score, but the fact that the southern varsity clearly outplayed the freshman team in all the departments of the game, surprised all who saw the struggle.

When the fact is considered that this is the third game for the Trojans and the nineteenth for the freshmen, it is small wonder that Coach Higgins and his men are so well pleased.

The squad leaves tomorrow night for the South and will start right in for the L.A.A.C. game, which is slated for next Saturday. There were no injuries in the game on either side.

Referee—Palmer Fuller. Time of halves, thirty minutes.

Following the U.S.C. game the California varsity and Santa Clara College had a great battle, the varsity winning in the last minute of play on a lucky fluke, by the score of 6 to 3.

On the kick-off the California varsity rushed the Saints to their goal line, but met a stubborn defense and finally were driven back to the twenty-five-yard line. At this point the Bears were given a free kick, which Peart sent sailing over the bar for three points.

Instead of taking the heart out of the Saints, it was the cause of a near riot, when the men from Santa Clara started to dribble, claw, fight and tear their way to the goal line. California twice kicked out of danger, then the Saints got away with a passing rush for forty yards, Tommy Ybarrando going over for the first try of the game and also tying the score. Goal was missed.

SOME SCRAP.

In the second half the game developed into one of those affairs where only the fit can possibly survive and for the first twenty minutes the Saints were doing all the surviving. They played the varsity off their feet and at times were pounding on the very threshold of the California goal, only to lose on a fumble or some other bad luck.

It was not until the last thirty-five seconds of play that the California team pulled out of the hole. A Santa Clara fumble resulted in a fast California dribble rush, the Saint fullback failed to fall on the ball and one of the varsity men got in one of those lone dribbling boots, the ball rolling over the goal line. Abrams led in the mad scramble for the ball and by a mad plunge secured the winning try. The goal was missed.

Mackey Is Happy.

Charles Mackey, of the Simplex and Mercer agency, is one of the happiest men on the local automobile row. It was no trouble at all to ascertain the reason, for the minute anyone spoke to him, he reached for a handful of perfectly good cigars. The occasion is the arrival of a fine baby girl at the Mackey home, and arrangements are already being completed for a special wire-wheeled Mercer for Miss Frances Mackey when she is able to tell the difference between a Simplex and a Mercer.

QUAKERS DOWN TIGERS IN FAST PRACTICE GAME.

IN A PRACTICE game that strung forty-eight minutes of play over two hours of time, Whittier College defeated Occidental College 30 to 7.

In the first half the game was practically devoid of interest, as Coach Pipal of Occidental kept a mixed second and third team in during the whole period and in the twenty-four minutes of play the Quaker varsity ran up four touchdowns in a row.

In the second half a new Occidental team took the field, which was a varsity team, and the result was some of the snappiest football that has been seen in a long time. While neither team used anything but straight football, the clash of the varsities was a sight to behold and ended with a touchdown apiece.

FINCH STARS.

Bull Finch was the Whittier star during the whole game. Three of the four touchdowns that they secured in the first half were scored by him and nobody seemed able to stop him but a husky young gent named Shipke, playing right tackle for the Tiger scrubs, who threw the Quaker fullback for a loss nearly every time he picked Shipke's side of the line.

The second touchdown secured by the Quakers was something of a fluke, as the referee blew his whistle and the Occidental men stopped playing. Chambers dashed over the line with the ball and when it developed that the whistle had been blown on a penalty on Occidental, Whittier refused the penalty and took the touchdown.

With the score 24 to 0 against them in the second half, the Tigers' first team began smashing through the Quaker defense and had it not been for costly fumbles would have scored early in the quarter. However, a long forward pass to Kirkpatrick and a ripping, tearing forty-yard run by Foster brought the first Tiger score. McClung kicked goal.

MASON'S RUN.

Right here Havens Mason, a young gent who hails from Boston and says "fawty-faw" when he means forty-four, broke into the limelight by making a plunging run through the entire Tiger varsity for a touchdown. The Quakers, as usual, failed to kick the goal.

him to help you," said Lieut. Butler. "He is there to see that the traffic ordinances are obeyed and we have selected the man who are fit to be trusted. The traffic situation is rapidly becoming better, but we have many problems to solve. We are slowly but surely getting hold of the problem in a city where we have much to contend with. We are educating the public and pretty soon we will teach the people how to behave during the busy hours of the day. In the meantime we must be patient."

JOSEPH COXE TO STUDY THE FISH.

With the intention of securing accurate data on the habits and feeding grounds of the famous game fish of Southern California waters for the use of the State Game and Fish Commission, Joseph Coxe, of Tufts-Lyons Arms Company and a director in the Tuna Club, started Monday of last week in a fifty-foot launch for a two-months' cruise among the Channel Islands from the Mexican line to Santa Barbara.

Mr. Coxe is accompanied by J. W. Jump and Smith Warren, all enthusiastic hunters of the game fish. The party plans to make a minute study of the habits and life of the tuna, yellowtail, bonita, etc., which have made game fishing in this section world-famous.

Coxe, who has been an ardent fisherman for the last twenty years, has heretofore compiled some very excellent data on the life and habits of the game fish and this data fell into the hands of the Fish and Game Commission, with the result that that body requested Coxe to complete his work on the subject and permit them to have the use of the data in regulating the laws governing such fishing.

IOWA BEATS CORNELL.

IOWA CITY (Iowa) Oct. 11.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Cornell gave way before Iowa today, the Hawkeyes running up to 76 points, to Cornell's 0. Cornell could not get within striking distance despite several well-executed forward passes. Iowa played old-fashioned football excepting for occasional attempts at forward passes. Capt. McGinnis crossed Cornell's goal line three times. Iowa was penalized frequently.

BARNARD ALL-FUEL CARBURETING SYSTEM

There's no secret. It's just a case of perfect combustion attained. Every atom of fuel is turned into energy.

The Barnard System consists of a special carburetor and a generator. It makes possible the use of low-grade fuel; distillate, or even 2¾-cent gas oil.

Part of the hot engine exhaust is used by the generator to heat and thoroughly vaporize the mixture from the carburetor.

This dry gas fires perfectly. It liberates instantly maximum power. That is all. But it has solved the automobile fuel problem and the carbon problem.

Can You Afford to Lose ⅔ of Every Fuel Dollar?

forcing McLean at second. Without a moment's hesitation Barry flashed the ball to McInnis, and Merkle was out by a step. It was one of the $100,000 infield's double plays that cut down opponents at critical periods of a game, and it spelled the finish of the Giants as world's series contenders then and there.

From that point on Plank and the players back of him were never in trouble. The two-run lead grew more formidable as the game progressed.

When the two veteran twirlers, Plank and Mathewson, faced each other for the second time today the pitching stood Plank 7 hits for 3 runs; Mathewson 8 hits and no runs. Tonight the figures read Plank 9 hits and 4 runs; Mathewson 14 hits for 3 runs.

A COINCIDENCE.

It is a peculiar coincidence that when this pair of twirlers were just slipping past the salad days of their big league career, they were called upon to face each other in just such a series of games and the result was just as close. When the Athletics and Giants faced each other in the initial game of the world's championship battle of 1905 the batteries were Mathewson and Bresnahan for New York and Plank and Schreckengost for Philadelphia. Mathewson's record showed that he allowed four hits and no runs, while Plank gave ten hits for three runs.

It is a wonderful testimonial to the ability of Plank and Mathewson that eight years later when almost all of their team mates of those days are gone and forgotten, they should be the heroes of the highest type of baseball battle.

It was also a day of triumph for Manager Mack and the American League. The Athletic victory over the the Giants in the 1913 world's series marked Mack's third elevation to the title of manager of a universal championship team and the fourth consecutive victory of an American League team over the standard-bearers of the National League.

Including the present series, the junior leageu has won six out of the ten championship contests with the senior organization, which began in 1903.

Eddie Murphy made two hits in his first two times at bat; Collins made one and Baker two.

Both veterans were steady, having both control and speed, and but one batter from each team received a pass to first at their expense. The play was confined chiefly to the infield, each first baseman getting fourteen putouts. The Athletics' outfielders made eight putouts and the Giants' six.

MACK PLEASED.

The Athletics' victory was also pleasing to Connie Mack and his players, since it gave them the rubber win over McGraw and the Giants in the third meeting of the two teams. In 1905 the Giants won four games to one. In 1911 the Athletics took four out of six, and repeated with four out of five this season.

We Paid $50,000 To Prevent Tread Separation On No-Rim-Cut Tires

Another Exclusive Feature

Here is another vital feature found in Goodyear tires alone.

This fabric — called "rivet" fabric — is patented. We bought the rights for $50,000.

In every well-made tire, at the base of the tread, runs a breaker strip. It is usually a solid weave.

Our Patent Rivet Fabric

It is near this strip, where rubber joins with fabric, that loosened treads occur. It has cost tire users millions of dollars.

The "rivet" fabric is our breaker strip. Note the openings in it. We force the tread rubber down through these openings, so hundreds of large rubber rivets are formed to prevent tread separation. Then the whole tire is vulcanized en masse. This is one of the biggest of Goodyear economies, and no other maker can use it.

Saving Blow-Outs At a Cost of $1,500 Daily

Here is another exclusive feature.

No-Rim-Cut tires get the "On-Air Cure." That is they are final-cured on air bags shaped like inner tubes. They are cured, as you use them, on elastic air.

Other tires are cured on iron cores alone. The fearful compression often buckles the fabric. And there, where some of the fabric bears no part of the strain, thousands of blow-outs occur.

Our "On-Air Cure" corrects this buckling. The rubber and fabric adjust themselves to actual road conditions. Every part of the fabric bears its part of the strain.

This process—used by no one else—adds to our cost $1,500 daily, just to minimize blow-out cost.

No Rim-Cutting

In addition we save you, in No-Rim-Cut tires, all the ruin of rim-cutting.

With clincher tires—the hooked-base tires —rim-cutting ruins almost one tire in three. This is proved by statistics gathered for us by certified public accountants. No-Rim-Cut tires are guaranteed against this costly damage.

We control the only known way to make a satisfactory tire of this type.

Three Savings

So we save you on rim-cutting—

Save you on blow-outs—

Save you on tread separation.

Yet no standard tire of any type costs less than No-Rim-Cut tires. That is due to our mammoth output. No-Rim-Cut tires, when we made less of them, cost one-fifth more than clinchers.

Note what you get which others can't give. You will then see why Goodyears far outsell any other tire that's made.

HOME RUNS ARE VERY FREQUENT.

By Means of Them Wolves Down the Seals.

Swain and Kenworthy Both Home in Seventh.

Wolves Need Three Heavers to Win Game.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Home runs were a common article out at Buffalo Park today. But they were of enough importance so that the Sacramento Wolves could not do without them. For the first time this season, four circuit shots were credited to one team, and these four home runs were directly responsible for seven Sacramento runs. Without the home runs the Wolves would have been hopelessly outclassed; with the home runs, the Wolves were able to put over a 10-8 victory on Del Howard's Seals in the most spectacular game seen on the local lot this year.

Two walks off Williams followed by singles by Schaller and Downs gave the Seals two runs in the first frame and chased Williams to the bench before the inning was over. Lively stopped further scoring in the inning and was given a one-run lead in the last of the first when Moran put the ball out of the lot with Young and Kenworthy on bases.

Johnston's double, Schaller's out and Downs's single gave the Seals the tieing run in the third. In the fourth Schmidt's double, Fanning's Cincinnati hit, and Young's wild heave on McArdle's grounder put the Seals two runs to the good. Corhan's infield single, Cartwright's out and Schmidt's double increased this lead by one run in the fourth.

In the last of the sixth a hit batter, a walk and an infield out put men on second and third. Tennant connected for a single to left center, the first hit off Fanning [illegible] inning, and two men [illegible] the Wolves one run shy of a [illegible] But the Seals recovered [illegible] runs and their three-run [illegible] doubles by Schaller, Downs [illegible] han put over two tallies in the [illegible] and benched Lively in [illegible] witter.

The home runs by Swain and [illegible] worthy with two out in the [illegible] the seventh again left the Wolves one run shy. WORLD SERIES BY INNINGS.

FIRST INNING.

PHILADELPHIA—The crowd gave a big cheer when Mathewson walked out to the hurling hill. Murphy singled on the first ball pitched, Fletcher being barely able to reach it with his ungloved hand. Murphy was forced at second when Mathewson took Oldring's bunt and tossed to second. Collins shot a single to right, Oldring easily making third. Oldring scored when Burns caught Baker's sacrifice fly. Burns made a wild throw to the plate, the ball going over McLean's head. Collins went to second on the wild heave. Herzog took McInnis's splash and threw to Doyle, who touched out Collins. One run, two hits, one error.

NEW YORK—Plank's first pitch was a ball, knee high. After two balls and two strikes, Plank and Collins had a conference in the pitcher's box. Herzog out on a fly to Murphy. Plank worked coolly and deliberately as if trying to conserve all his energy. Doyle out, Barry to McInnis on a lightning fielding play in which Barry took the ball on the run behind the pitcher's box. Fletcher went out on a long fly which Oldring took up near the fence. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SECOND INNING.

PHILADELPHIA — Doyle tossed out Strunk at first. Mathewson's big looping drop curve was in fine working order. Barry out on a high fly to Murray. Schang faced Mathewson for the first time in the series. Schang got an infield single which bounded off Mathewson's glove. Plank popped out to Herzog. No runs, one hit, no errors.

NEW YORK — McGraw made a complaint to Umpire Klem that Plank was shifting his feet from the slab while making his delivery. Umpire Klem apparently did not sustain the claim. Baker threw out Burns at first. Baker's throw nearly drew McInnis from the bag. Shafer fouled out to McInnis, who caught the ball leaning over the boxes of the grand stand. Murray was thrown out at first by Plank. No runs, no hits, no errors.

THIRD INNING.

PHILADELPHIA—Murphy got his second single to left, the ball going like a bullet between Fletcher and Herzog. Doyle made an error on Oldring's hot grounder, Murphy going to second. Collins out when Merkle took his sacrifice bunt and touched him on the line. Both runners moved up. Murphy scored when Merkle took Baker's smash and threw to the plate. It was a Cincinnati base hit for Baker. Oldring went to third. Oldring scored on McInnis's sacrifice fly to Burns. Baker was held at first. Doyle threw out Strunk at first. Two runs, two hits, one error.

NEW YORK—McLean sent up a high fly to Oldring. Merkle line-flied to Collins. Barry threw out Mathewson at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FOURTH INNING.

PHILADELPHIA—Fletcher threw out Barry. Murray took Schang's short fly after a good run. Fletcher caught Plank's fly back of second base. No runs, no hits, no errors.

NEW YORK—Herzog went out on three straight strikes. Plank [illegible] the corners of the plate and [illegible] fine change of pace. Doyle out [illegible] Innis, unassisted. Fletcher [illegible] Strunk. No runs, no hits, no [illegible]

FIFTH INNING.

PHILADELPHIA — Doyle [illegible] out Murphy at first. Doyle also [illegible] care of Oldring's grounder [illegible] him an easy out at first. Collins [illegible] on a fly to Shafer. No runs, no [illegible] no errors. Mathewson pitched [illegible] seven balls to retire the [illegible] their half of the fifth inning.

NEW YORK—Burns [illegible] McInnis. It was a hard [illegible] McInnis only had to move a [illegible] get it. Shafer walked. He [illegible] first Giant to reach first base [illegible] game. Schang almost caught [illegible] napping at first with a quick [illegible] Plank dropped Murray's pop [illegible] Shafer went to second. It was [illegible] error, for Plank had an easy [illegible] play in sight. Shafer scored [illegible] Lean's single to left. Murray [illegible] second. A double play ended [illegible] ning, when Collins took [illegible] grounder and threw to Barry, [illegible] McLean at second. Barry [illegible] the double play by throwing [illegible] Merkle at first. One run, one hit, [illegible] error.

SIXTH INNING.

PHILADELPHIA—Baker [illegible] liner to right for a base [illegible] threw out McInnis. It was a [illegible] bunt. Doyle threw out Strunk [illegible] going to third. Fletcher threw [illegible] ry out. Fletcher made a [illegible] and Merkle a beautiful [illegible] one hit, no errors.

NEW YORK—Mathewson [illegible] to right. A double play [illegible] lowed when Barry took [illegible] grounder and tossed to Collins [illegible] ing Mathewson. Collins [illegible] out Herzog. Doyle out on a [illegible] which Murphy picked off the [illegible] wall. No runs, one hit, no [illegible]

NEW YORK—Crandall [illegible] Mathewson. Herzog [illegible] McInnis. [illegible] ry. Doyle flew out to [illegible] runs, no hits, no [illegible]

Play by Play.

EDDIE PLANK'S PITCHING WINS THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Christy Mathewson, the Giants' hope to stop the onrushing Athletics, was [illegible] cheered as he strolled to the pitcher's mound. Eddie Murphy, who failed to get a hit off the veteran [illegible] in the ten-inning battle in Philadelphia on Wednesday, connected with the first ball pitched and drove it to the right of Fletcher, who made a gallant effort to stab it, but succeeded only in batting it down. Murphy crossed first base before the shortstop could get the ball. Oldring attempted to sacrifice, laying a bunt down in front of Mathewson, who threw Murphy out at second, Fletcher taking the throw. Mathewson's first ball to Collins was wide and the next served was driven to right field for a single, Oldring going to third.

Despite the inauspicious opening for the Giants, the great crowd gave Mathewson an encouraging cheer. "Home Run" Baker hit to left field for a long sacrifice fly to Burns. Oldring [illegible] to the plate as soon as the [illegible] and was made, with the first run of the game. Burns made a mighty heave to the home plate to get Oldring and threw the ball over McLean's head. Collins went to second on the error, amid much excitement. The inning ended here, as McInnis sent a grounder to Herzog, who blocked off Collins and threw to Doyle, who touched out the Athletics' second baseman on the [illegible] between second and third.

PLANK GOOD.

The Athletic rooters cheered the Philadelphia team as they took the [illegible] behind the veteran Plank. Herzog, the first man, let two balls pass and then Plank got two strikes on him. He went out on a long fly to [illegible]. Doyle was an easy out, Barry to McInnis, on a fast fielding play. [illegible] pounded the ball for what looked like extra bases, but it fell into the hands of Oldring in deep left.

[illegible] opened the American League [illegible] second inning with a drive [illegible] and was thrown out. Barry [illegible] a high fly to Murray. Then [illegible] the young catcher, facing the [illegible] Mathewson for the first time, [illegible] the ball at the pitcher so hot [illegible] could not hold it, and the ball [illegible] toward Fletcher. Schang [illegible] first safely. He was left [illegible] as Plank flied out to Herzog.

As the Giants came to bat in the second inning, Manager McGraw [illegible] Umpire Klem's attention to the way Plank lifted his foot in pitching [illegible] the arbitrator went out to the [illegible] box and watched Plank [illegible] four balls to Schang. Klem [illegible] evidently satisfied that Plank was [illegible] legally. Burns, the first batter, grounded to Baker and was [illegible] at first. Schafer raised a high [illegible] to McInnis, who made a great [illegible] close to the grand stand. Murray hit a slow grounder to Plank and [illegible] retired.

WINNING RUNS.

[illegible] Athletics made the runs that [illegible] them the world's championship [illegible] third inning. Murphy opened [illegible] by slamming the ball to left [illegible] his second single. Oldring hit [illegible] grounder at Doyle, who, in his [illegible] eagerness to complete a double play, fumbled the ball and both runners were safe. Murphy and Oldring moved along on Collins's sacrifice, Merkle fielding the ball and [illegible] him out on the line. Mathewson then faced another ticklish situation. With runners on third and second he did not waver. Baker, however, got to him and [illegible] the ball down the right field line to Merkle. The latter feinted to throw to the plate to catch Murphy coming in, but when the runner slowed up and started to go back, Merkle turned to get Baker, but the heavy hitter was too close to first for Merkle to get him, and when the first baseman again turned, Murphy was legging for the plate and slid into the home base under Merkle's throw to McLean, with the Athletics' second run. Baker was given a Cincinnati [illegible] the only one made in the series. [illegible] moved to third base on the [illegible] and he scored the Athletics' last run on a sacrifice fly by McInnis to [illegible]. Strunk ended the inning by [illegible] out, Doyle to Merkle.

[illegible] three-run lead, with Plank [illegible] almost unhittable ball, looked [illegible] to the Giant rooters, but they [illegible] cheered their team as the players came to the bench. McLean walloped a long fly to Oldring. Merkle [illegible] a liner directly into Collins's hands and Mathewson, given [illegible] hand by the crowd, as he [illegible] to bat, grounded out, Barry to [illegible].

NO MORE SCORES.

The Athletics' scoring machine [illegible] running with the beginning of the fourth inning. Barry was [illegible] put out, Fletcher to Merkle. [illegible] picked out one of Mathewson's [illegible] ones and lifted it out to [illegible]. Fletcher took care of Plank's [illegible] in short center field.

For New York in the fourth Herzog could not see Plank's cross fire [illegible] across the plate and was [illegible] three strikes in a row. Doyle [illegible] to connect with the ball, [illegible] bounded out to McInnis, who [illegible] the Giants' second baseman [illegible]. Fletcher flied to Strunk.

In the fifth inning Murphy went out, Doyle to Merkle, and Oldring [illegible] the same way. Collins lifted a [illegible] to Burns.

The National League champions in [illegible] fifth inning got their first hit [illegible] only run through an excusable [illegible] by Plank. Burns sent a hot [illegible] into the hands of McInnis, [illegible] held. Plank had difficulty [illegible] the ball over the plate for [illegible] and he was the first New [illegible] to get a pass. Murray lifted [illegible] fly to the infield. Barry and [illegible] ran in to get it, but Barry [illegible] to let Baker make the catch. [illegible] hardly moved from the box and [illegible] for the catch as Baker dashed [illegible] underrunning to get the [illegible]. As a result of the mix-up [illegible] dropped the ball and Murray [illegible] on first and Shafer on second.

LARRY DOES IT.

[illegible] one out and two on the bases [illegible] began to look dangerous for [illegible] Athletics as Larry McLean came [illegible] the bat. The tall catcher lashed [illegible] single to left field, scoring [illegible]. Murray went to second. [illegible] hit into a double play, forcing McLean at second, Collins to [illegible] and being thrown out at first [illegible] Philadelphia.

[illegible] opened the Athletics' sixth [illegible] single to right [illegible] to second on young [illegible] McLean to Doyle. [illegible] to third on Strunk's out, [illegible] Merkle, and Barry ended the [illegible] by sending a grounder down [illegible] Fletcher, who had to make a long [illegible] to first.

[illegible] in the sixth, singled to [illegible] the visitors looked for a [illegible] it was the only time of the game that Plank failed to get the first man up. He changed his style of delivering the ball, and took his time in shooting it up. Herzog smashed a grounder at Barry, who threw to Collins, forcing Mathewson and Herzog was doubled up at first. It was a fast double play. Doyle flied out to Murphy.

Schang struck out in the Athletics' seventh inning. Plank sent a grounder to Doyle. Murphy drew a base on balls, the only pass that Mathewson gave, but was left at first, as Oldring sent up a high foul that McLean gathered in near the New York players' bench.

Quick work was made of the Giants when they came up. Fletcher drove a fly to Strunk. Burns went out, Barry to McInnis, and Shafer did the same thing.

In the eighth, Collins was an easy victim, Doyle to Merkle. Baker chopped a grounder at Mathewson, who threw him out. McInnis drove a grounder at Fletcher, who had to play deep to get it, and the runner went out at first.

Murray went out on a grounder, Baker to McInnis. McLean raised a fly to Oldring and Merkle was thrown out by Barry.

In the ninth inning, Strunk drove a high fly to Shafer. Barry hit a grounder at Herzog and was thrown out, and Schang, the last Athletic batter to step to the plate in the world's series, struck out.

Manager McGraw sent Crandall in to bat in the Giants' half of the ninth inning.

The vast throng began to move out of the grounds. Crandall went out, Collins to McInnis. Herzog flied to Barry. Plank pitched carefully to Capt. Doyle, who lifted a fly to Murphy, and with the out another world's championship went to the Philadelphia Athletics.

SANTA ANA HIGH BEATS SAN DIEGO.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Santa Ana High School opened her football season here this afternoon and defeated the San Diego Army and Navy Academy by a score of 14 to 6 in one of the greatest gridiron battles ever seen in San Diego county. Coach Waddell's light warriors fought the champions from the north through the first half and honors were even, but in the last minute of the third quarter Holzgraf, the Santa Ana full-back, finished a series of bucks and scored on the Cadets. The second score was made by Coach Radcliffe's men late in the last quarter on a spectacular forward pass. Three times Santa Ana had the ball on Army and Navy's three-yard line in the last quarter, but the youngsters held and punted out of danger. Santa Ana has the same smashing attack which has put her in the championship running for the past three years and she is figured as one of the strongest prep teams ever developed in Southern California. "Cookie" Holton of Whittier and J. Raymond Hunt of Occidental were the officials and both men said after the game that it was the cleanest and most sportsmanlike High School game they had ever seen. There was not a penalty inflicted during the entire game. The showing made by the Army and Navy youngsters against the champions puts them in the figuring for the other big teams of the South. The Cadets are entertaining the Santa Ana players at a banquet at the U. S. Grant Hotel tonight, and they will go north tomorrow morning. Army and Navy will meet Long Beach High next Saturday.

COLLEGE BASEBALL SEASON.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] With the world's baseball championship not yet off the boards, the devotees of football sought to push their way to the front today with a schedule which called for about thirty intercollegiate games in the East. Many of the larger colleges were past the experimental state of their work and ready to open a hard campaign.

The six games of the day regarded as having a most important bearing on the season's battle for supremacy were Harvard and Williams at Cambridge, Yale and La Fayette at New Haven, Cornell and Carlisle at Ithaca, Rutgers and the Army at West Point, Pennsylvania and Swarthmore at Philadelphia and Princeton and Bucknell at Princeton.

BASEBALL MAGNATE MARRIED.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 11.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Mrs Agnes Havenor, baseball magnate, owner of the Milwaukee American Association Baseball Club, was married today in New York to A. F. Timme, recently elected president of the Milwaukee club.

Tough Luck.

GUS HETLING WINS THE GAME.

Hits the Fence With Bases Loaded in Tenth.

Chech Fills the Bases by Issuing Free Passes.

Goodwin Scores the Sole Angel Run.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Three walks by Charlie Chech in the last of the tenth after the Angels had already scored the only run of the day and a long-distance shot against the right center-field fence by Gus Hetling turned defeat into victory for the Oaklanders today by a 2 to 1 score.

It was a case of veteran against veteran, with Chech working for the Angels and Malarkey for the Oaklands and until that tenth inning, both teams had managed to keep the innings free of runs.

Then came the "breaks" in the game of which Muggsy McGraw writes so fluently.

Goodwin's hit to short and Cook's overthrow, coupled with Chech's two-sacker to the right-field fence, gave the Los Angeles crew a tally in the first of the tenth.

With Chech pitching such good ball it seemed a certain victory for the Southerners. But again the "breaks" were manifested. Chech, who had walked but one man up to that inning, developed a streak of unsteadiness that was remarkable to behold.

He walked Leard and then walked Rohrer. Malarkey laid down a bunt to the pitcher that was a sacrifice hit and advanced the runners. Four more wide balls helped Coy to first, and with the bases full and one down it was up to Hetling. He delivered a hard drive that landed against the fence boards and although it counted for no more than a single, let in two of the runners who were on the bases ahead of him and closed up the game.

$1615 Has Startled the Automobile World

EACH year some particular manufacturer awakened the country to a new and greater value in motor cars. It outstripped others in Bigness, in Comfort, Advanced Features and Engineering Perfection. Whenever a new car of big value came out, it caused a sensation. Other makers invariably told each other that the manufacturer "couldn't build them without losing money." It looked like the impossible to experienced makers themselves. And, actually, the dealers who sold the cars in large numbers—for the news spread fast among buyers—told other makers that they "didn't see how it could be done." Yet it was done, and the season afterward almost invariably a newer, greater, bigger value was promulgated by some other maker.
This year it belongs to the AUBURN.

FENCING FOR WOMEN.

BY ADOLPHE DANZIGER.

FENCING is an exercise which, if carefully cultivated, becomes a fine art that in time grows to a necessity for the purpose of maintaining strength with grace and to defend oneself against brutal attack either with a like weapon or with any other weapon effective only by striking.

The so-called "stronger sex" has no monopoly of its use and no advantage in its manipulation over the "weaker sex." Long ago, in the year of grace 1599, to be precise—in a comedy then published—a knight is made to say, "sword and buckler fights begin to grow out of use. This poking fight of rapier comes up and a tall man may be spitted like a cat or a rabbit."

Precisely. The advantage lies with the person, big or little, who knows how to handle a foil over him, who would strike with the cudgel or cut and strike with the sword.

You can readily imagine that any one attacking a person with a cudgel raises his arm to strike; the master of the foil pokes his weapon, stick or rapier, quick as a flash, into the pit of the arm and paralyzes that member; or he pokes at the pit of the stomach, or the eye, and his defense is ample.

The one who strikes has to come close enough to be effective, in other words, the point of contact must be the body to be struck, whereas the fencer may be deadly at a distance of four to eight feet, the point of his foil doing the work.

This is easily comprehended. The average man, from the shoulder to the fist, is at least two feet in length; the average stick is three feet in length; the body lunge that a fencer can make, is at least three feet in extent; that gives eight feet distance at which a foil point may paralyze an enemy's arm, strike him in the solar plexus, or fetch him in the eye.

If we consider, therefore, the question of defense alone, a woman knowing how to fence can make a fairly effective weapon of her parasol, and the so-called stronger sex would have to beat an ignominious retreat in a given attack.

This is fencing for defense from outer attack. What shall we say of the inner attack on man and woman by the fatty substances that accumulate and rob the body of grace and strength? To quote an old romance: "Fair Elisabeth, thy face still holds the charm of exquisite beauty as on the day I held thee, light as a fairy, to my bosom, with my arms too long for tightening the slim litheness of thy body; but now my arms are too short to embrace thee, for thy girth, fair Elisabeth! for thy girth!"

If Elisabeth had only fenced! But then the chances are that the knight would not have dared to be so facetious. A woman does not look wholly admirable striking with her fist; she may equally detest the contact with a male ruffian to employ jiu jitsu, but she yields nothing of her dignity or of womanhood when defending herself with the telling point of her parasol, provided she knows how to handle it gracefully as a foil and not as a stick.

Every people have the religion, the politics and the sports they deserve. The old Romans were great sportsmen; if they did not invent they were certainly the greatest devotees of the sword-play. Their closest descendants, the Italians and the Spaniards, were assiduous in the sport; but while the Italians expertised with the dagger, the more graceful Spaniards excelled with the foil, which they later introduced into England—a fact that caused the ancient knights in Queen Elizabeth's time to lament the passing of the sword and buckler, which we quoted above.

While the French have done their full share to develop this sport, they are really no match for the best Spanish fencer, who, with attained skill, combines the natural grace of his people. What a pity that Spanish women, so rich in facial beauty, have not taken to the art of fencing!

Many women in America have lately taken up fencing seriously, and nearly every large city in the Eastern States has a "ladies' fencing club," their instructors in many instances being brought from Europe at a considerable salary, and it is well done.

The women of the West have, thus far, not manifested any great degree of enthusiasm for fencing or the formation of clubs to this effect. This is to be greatly regretted, for they need it more than the men of the West. The natural beauty of the western woman would thus be conserved by decades, instead of a brief glanzperiode of freshness and youth, that vanes into an outer roughness of dust and wrinkles, inartistically shrouded by talcum covers.

Fencing with moderation and the constant application of skill and good judgment quickens the circulation of the blood and the fluids that moisten the brain cells, which, becoming thereby purer and stronger, make the mind vastly clearer and more active.

Frequent practice under a careful instructor soon becomes keen enjoyment, that leads to health, grace and strength, making the body pliant and the muscles natural rejectors of fatty substances, tensing the fibers to the highest point of resistance, and making them at the same time resilient and yielding.

Ailments of the liver and chest pass away as if they had never existed; paunchiness disappears, the abdominal muscles grow strong, the muscles of the neck and back full and flexible, and the ligaments of the legs and ankles get the power necessary to exercise the lunges which are, with the thrust, the main movements for attack and defense.

Equally beneficial is fencing to the vision; the constant wariness of the eye is more than a tonic, it is a visual massage, and it may be noted that age rarely affects the sight of the fencer.

At the age of nearly four score years the venerable Marquis de Heredia, once the best swordsman in Spain, although otherwise feeble, gave a splendid exhibition of point-attack, and "touched" his opponent, a much younger man, repeatedly. This took place at the Sales d'Armes of the Casino Militar in Madrid, although the fair critic in whose honor the exhibition was given, with true Anglo-Saxon directness, whispered, "Politeness, you know," each time the younger fencer called out "touche" (whether he was or not) to please the old noble.

Mr. Roland, an English authority on fencing, so aptly says in "A Treatise on the Theory and Practice of the Art of Fencing:" "Perhaps there is no exercise whatever more calculated for the purpose of developing and cultivating bodily strength and activity than fencing. Riding, walking, sparring, wrestling, running and bar-pitching are all of them certainly highly beneficial; but beyond all question there is no single exercise which combines so many advantages as fencing. By it the muscles of every part of the body are brought into play; it expands the chest and occasions an equal distribution of the circulating fluids through the whole system. More than one case of affection of the lungs, tending to consumption, has been entirely removed by an intelligent and moderate practice with the foils."

Public speakers and actors have found the practice with the foil the surest means for the acquirement of that ease and freedom of gesture without which their most eloquent orations or most touching lines would remain but moderately effective.

As I began by addressing myself to women, I will reiterate that for women there is nothing better as an exercise than fencing. In it the prerequisite to female grace and bodily perfection is found in the best sense of the word. The benefits it accords to the man are augmented in the woman fencer by the development of the bust, which becomes firm and full; it reduces the fatty accumulations on the hips, leaving them covered with pliant, firmly-muscled substance; it reduces the waist fullness to a slimness and strength that make the corset almost unnecessary, and because of the systematic movement of the entire body from the head to the feet, and the fine, measured respiration of the lungs, a quicker dispensation of the fluids is brought about; the skin, instead of being what the French call mausade—that mixture of gray and ochre seen in the sky—becomes quickened with white and red and the softness of a baby's flesh. Wrinkles, the bane of every woman who takes pride in her person, soon disappear, or they have no chance of appearing at all.

A general adaptation of this healthful sport and useful art by girls in their early life would be conducive to a regeneration of humanity, both mentally and physically.

L. A. HIGH BEATS SAN BERNARDINO.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In a contest that was a battle from start to finish, the Los Angeles High School this afternoon defeated the local High School 10 to 2, but Coach Johnson's boys put up a game that had the husky fellows from the city badly scared until the last whistle sounded. It was the greatest battle ever seen on the gridiron in this city and it was not an ignominous defeat the locals suffered. The visitors outweighed them eighteen pounds to the man, but the locals were much faster on their feet and only lost through light weight. They were fast and in the game every moment.

Within one moment after the opening of play, Loposich had carried the ball across for the visitors, a goal also being kicked. The rest of that half was a battle royal. Twice the home team came near getting the ball over, superior weight alone preventing them.

The locals played the visitors off their feet at the outset of the second half, Warner getting the ball over for a touchdown, but goal was missed. A moment later Coggswell for the locals grabbed the ball in the center and made a fifty-yard dash that again came near bringing touchdown, but he was tackled by a swift Los Angeles runner just before reaching the line. Los Angeles scored twice in this half, but kicked no goals.

NO POST-SEASON, SAYS AL BAUM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—The Coast League clubs will not play any post-season games. President A. T. Baum said today he believed the public would have had all the baseball it wanted by October 26, when the regular season closes, and that it would be poor policy to prolong the sport.

The president's announcement is expected to put a quietus on a plan of players of the San Francisco and Oakland teams to form an aggregation to play a series with the Portland pennant winners. Venice and Los Angeles players also have been talking about a post-season series.

MIDWICK GOLF COURSE OPENED.

The golf course of the Midwick Country Club was formally opened yesterday and the members who enjoyed an afternoon's game pronounced the course one of the best in Southern California. The entire course of eighteen holes was in perfect condition for the opening.

A cup has been offered by the club for the best five scores under handicap, to be played for on Wednesdays and Saturdays, beginning yesterday and ending December 17th. A number of the members entered the contest yesterday.

The first of the informal subscription dinners which are to be held every Saturday night during the winter, was held last night and proved a decided success. All the tables in the spacious dining-room overlooking the links were filled with merry diners, most of whom had enjoyed the afternoon at golf or tennis.

MANY DRIVERS ARE TRYING COURSE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

YUMA (Ariz.) Oct. 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] To Automobile Editor, Times: Returned here this afternoon in Simplex with Mechanician Bruno Seibel and Harry Locke, the road mapper. Have charged but one tire since leaving San Diego going east and have not touched the engine since leaving Los Angeles. A. B. Daniels with Mechanician Davis have been with us all day in Daniels's racing Locomobile. Omar Toft with Mechanician Nelson got in from San Diego tonight. The Ellis brothers in a Buick were met today at Deep Wells. They were stuck in the Mammoth wash. With the ninety Simplex I expect to make Phoenix from Yuma in considerably less than seven hours. The road is to be perfectly signed prior to the race. Will start on west tomorrow morning.

A Truck Is Only As Good As the Institution Back of It

One of the most important things to consider in buying a truck—is the permanence and stability of the factory and the dealer that stands back of it.

No matter how excellent a truck may be—nor how attractive its price may seem, even though you buy it at 25 to 50% discount, unless there is a permanent institution back of that truck—with facilities for future service, it is a hazardous buy at any price.

When you buy a

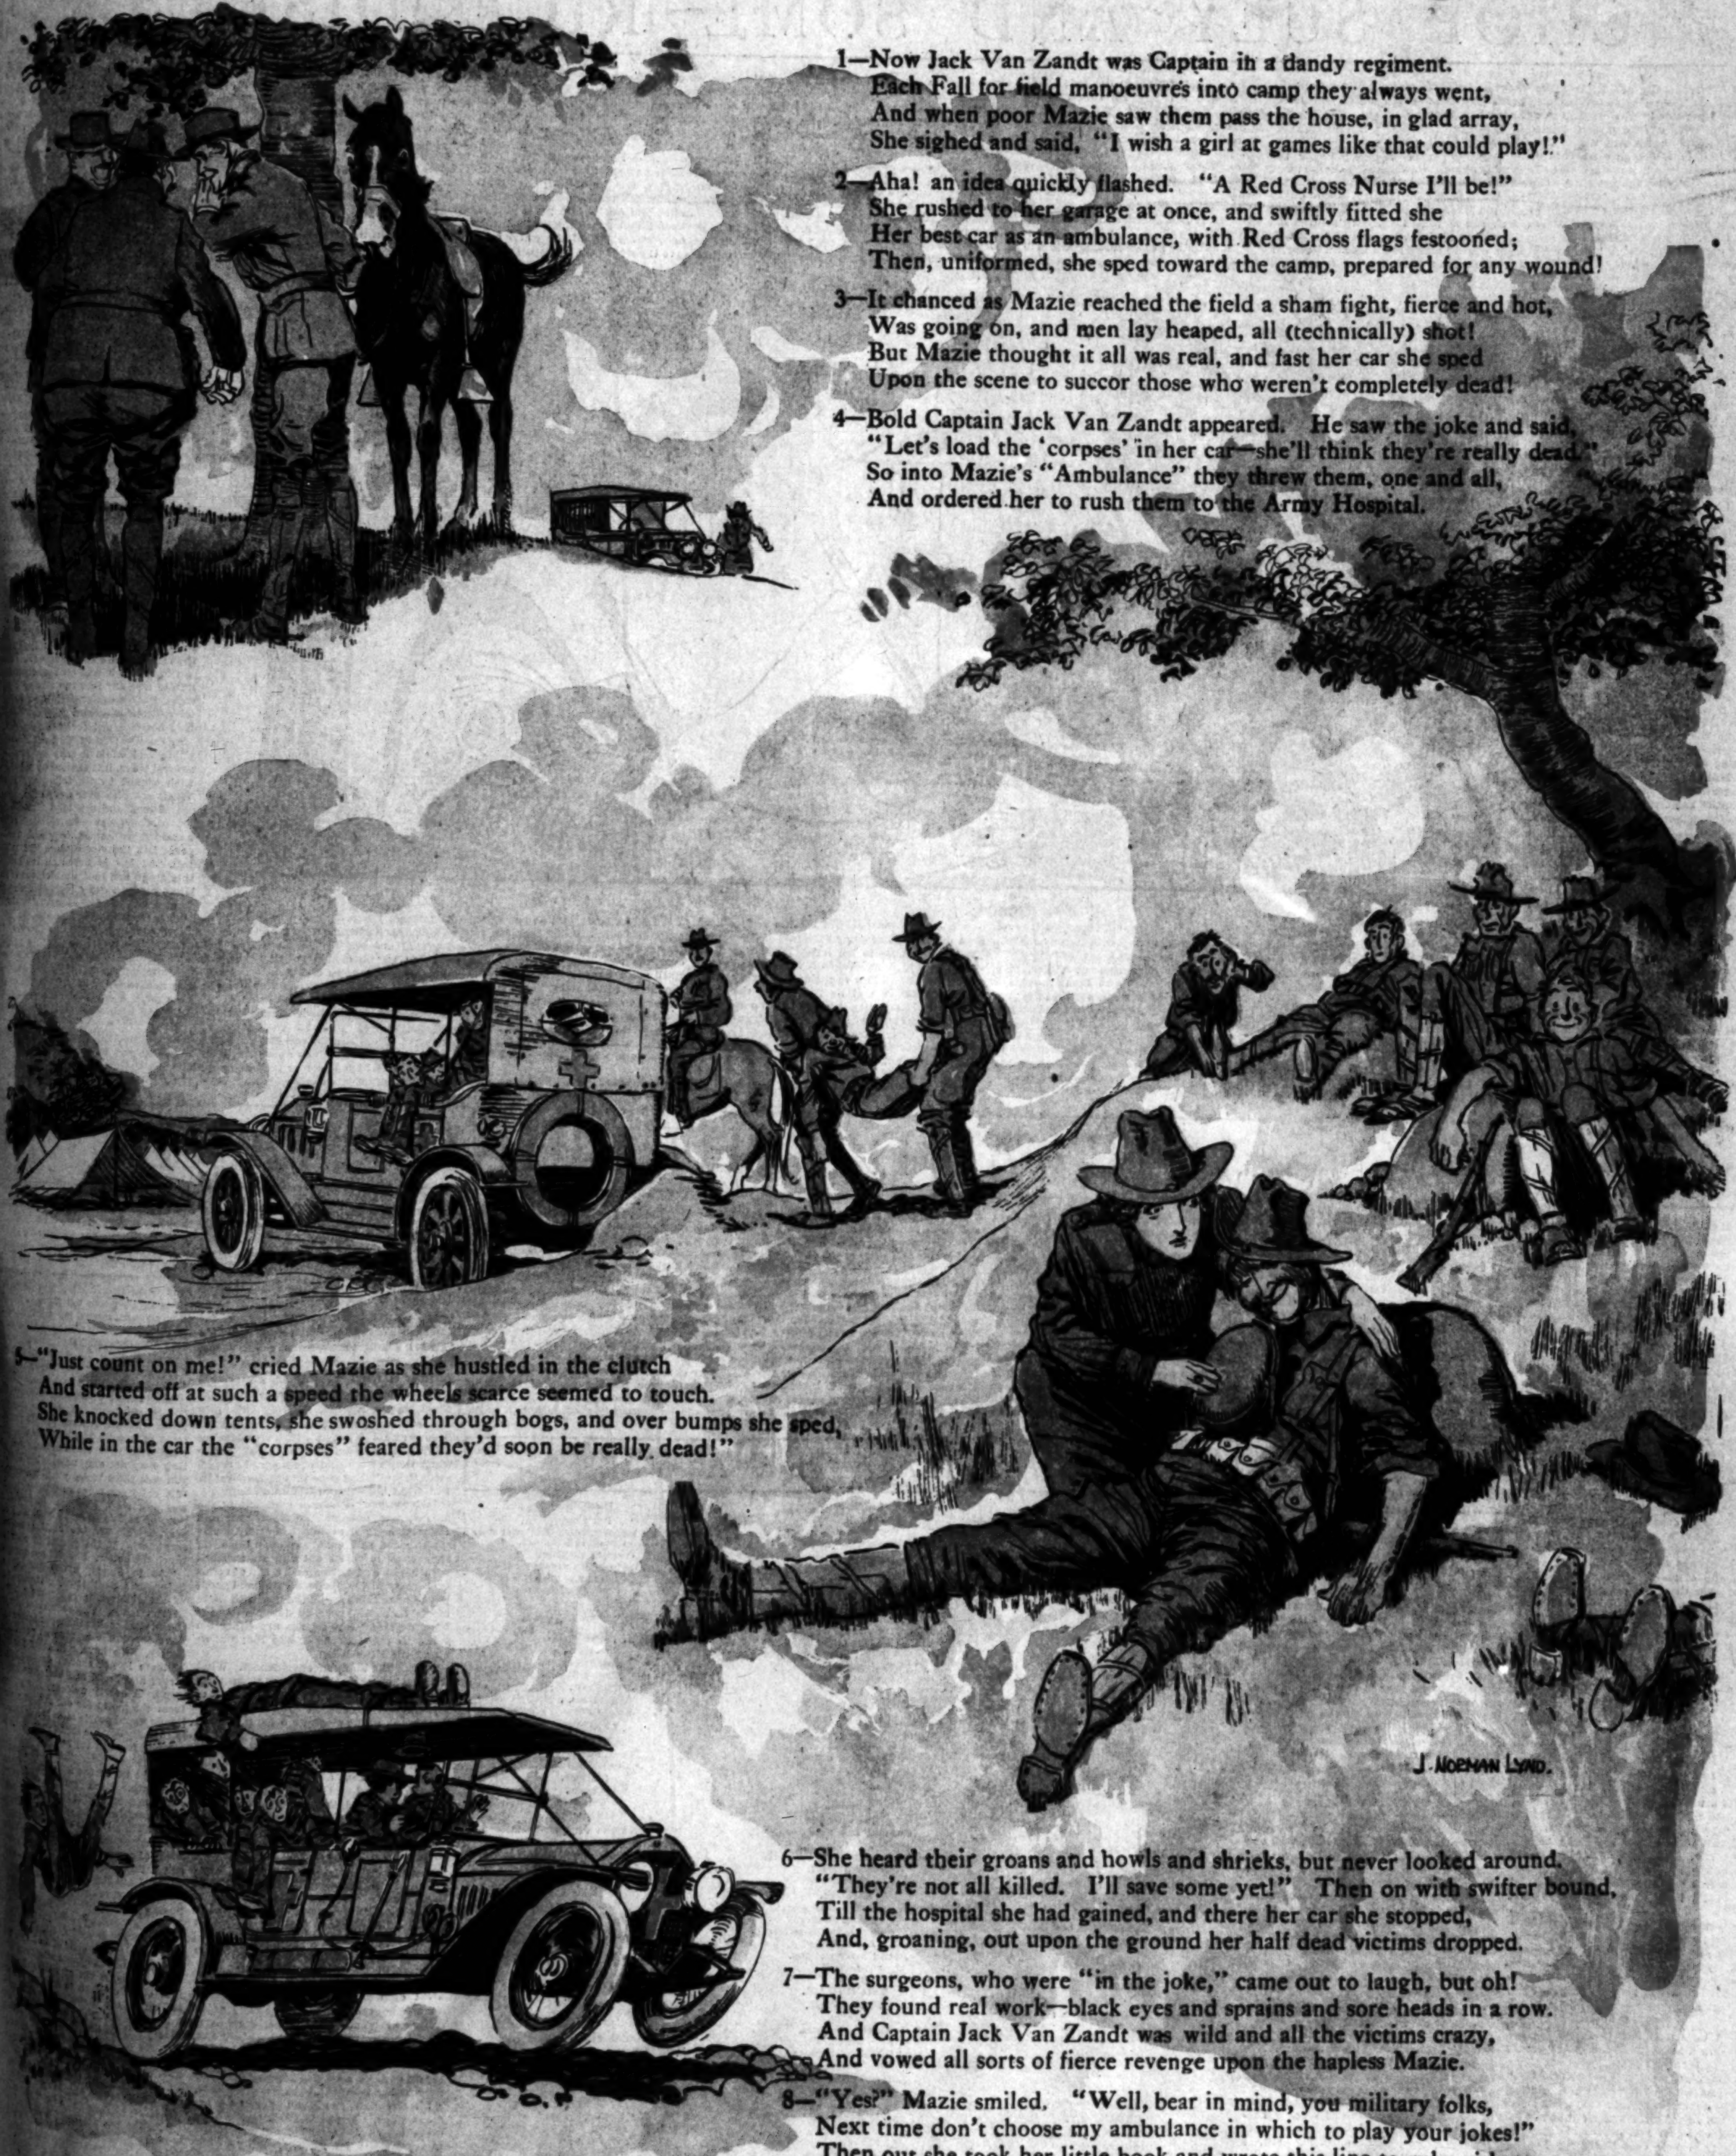
MAZIE THE MOTOR MAID

Verses by Paul West ⊠ Illustrations by J. Norman Lynd



J. NORMAN LYND.

1—Now Jack Van Zandt was Captain in a dandy regiment.
Each Fall for field manoeuvres into camp they always went,
And when poor Mazie saw them pass the house, in glad array,
She sighed and said, "I wish a girl at games like that could play!"

2—Aha! an idea quickly flashed. "A Red Cross Nurse I'll be!"
She rushed to her garage at once, and swiftly fitted she
Her best car as an ambulance, with Red Cross flags festooned;
Then, uniformed, she sped toward the camp, prepared for any wound!

3—It chanced as Mazie reached the field a sham fight, fierce and hot,
Was going on, and men lay heaped, all (technically) shot!
But Mazie thought it all was real, and fast her car she sped
Upon the scene to succor those who weren't completely dead!

4—Bold Captain Jack Van Zandt appeared. He saw the joke and said,
"Let's load the 'corpses' in her car—she'll think they're really dead."
So into Mazie's "Ambulance" they threw them, one and all,
And ordered her to rush them to the Army Hospital.

5—"Just count on me!" cried Mazie as she hustled in the clutch
And started off at such a speed the wheels scarce seemed to touch.
She knocked down tents, she swoshed through bogs, and over bumps she sped,
While in the car the "corpses" feared they'd soon be really dead!"

6—She heard their groans and howls and shrieks, but never looked around.
"They're not all killed. I'll save some yet!" Then on with swifter bound,
Till the hospital she had gained, and there her car she stopped,
And, groaning, out upon the ground her half dead victims dropped.

7—The surgeons, who were "in the joke," came out to laugh, but oh!
They found real work—black eyes and sprains and sore heads in a row.
And Captain Jack Van Zandt was wild and all the victims crazy,
And vowed all sorts of fierce revenge upon the hapless Mazie.

8—"Yes?" Mazie smiled. "Well, bear in mind, you military folks,
Next time don't choose my ambulance in which to play your jokes!"
Then out she took her little book and wrote this line to rule with:—
"A SIXTY-HORSE-POWER MOTOR CAR IS NOT A THING TO FOOL WITH!"

COMMON SENSE in the HOME
EDITED by MARION HARLAND

CHOP SUEY AND SOME RICE DISHES.

So many nationalities unite to make up the American people that it is only natural we should have diversities in our bill of fare. For myself, I like it. I enjoy trying new dishes and adding to my table combinations which have had their birth on the other side of the ocean. Our Corner has brought to all of us suggestions from the Danish, the Hungarian, the German, the French, and the Spanish kitchen, and ableskiver, goulash, sauerkraut, brioche, and chili con carne are known to us all. We have gone farther afield still and eaten and enjoyed chop suey, and from a number of our constituency have come requests for full and minute directions for making this Chinese dish, for instructions how and with what to serve it.

In replying to these arrives a letter from a Cornerite who evidently knows what she is talking about and supplies us with explicit precepts as to the mode of preparing this dish. I can do no better than to print her letter as it stands, cutting out only the few remarks which can be spared without affecting the recipe.

She plunges at once into her subject with the statement: "The quest need not go further; this is the best ever chop suey."

* *

What It Contains.

She then goes on:

"Chinese tell us that the difference between Chinese and American chop suey is simply a matter of the amount of sauce cooked with the ingredients or mixed in with them before serving, the lesser amount being in the Chinese.

"I will be honest and say that if the dish is wanted for only two or three people it will be much less expensive and troublesome if they go to a quiet, respectable Chinese place and eat it there. If for six or more it is not too troublesome to make at home. From my experience I will try and make the preparation easier for the novice—who might think as I did, that everything must be left until the last moment. This quality is the kind one pays 75 cents a plate for at the chop suey places. The quantity given will give most generous portions for six people—enough for eight:

"Eight large cooking onions, two large bunches of celery, two cans of button mushrooms, two and one-half pounds of pork, loin preference, but expensive (tell your butcher what you want the meat for, have him show you pork without bone and almost absolutely no fat; have him chop this up in small bits for you, then when you get home cut it up smaller, like lima bean size); one can of bamboo sprouts, 15 cents' worth of Chinese potatoes (water chestnuts), 10 cents' worth bean sprouts (not necessary for the dish).

Get these three last ingredients, also a little jug costing, the best, 65 cents, of the Soi sauce, which is to be poured on the mixture when served with the rice; also a bottle of the cooking sauce. Buy these at the Chinese stores. Cook, well done, two cupfuls of rice for this amount of the other ingredients. The cooking of rice is a disputed point, so will imagine every one knows how to cook rice.

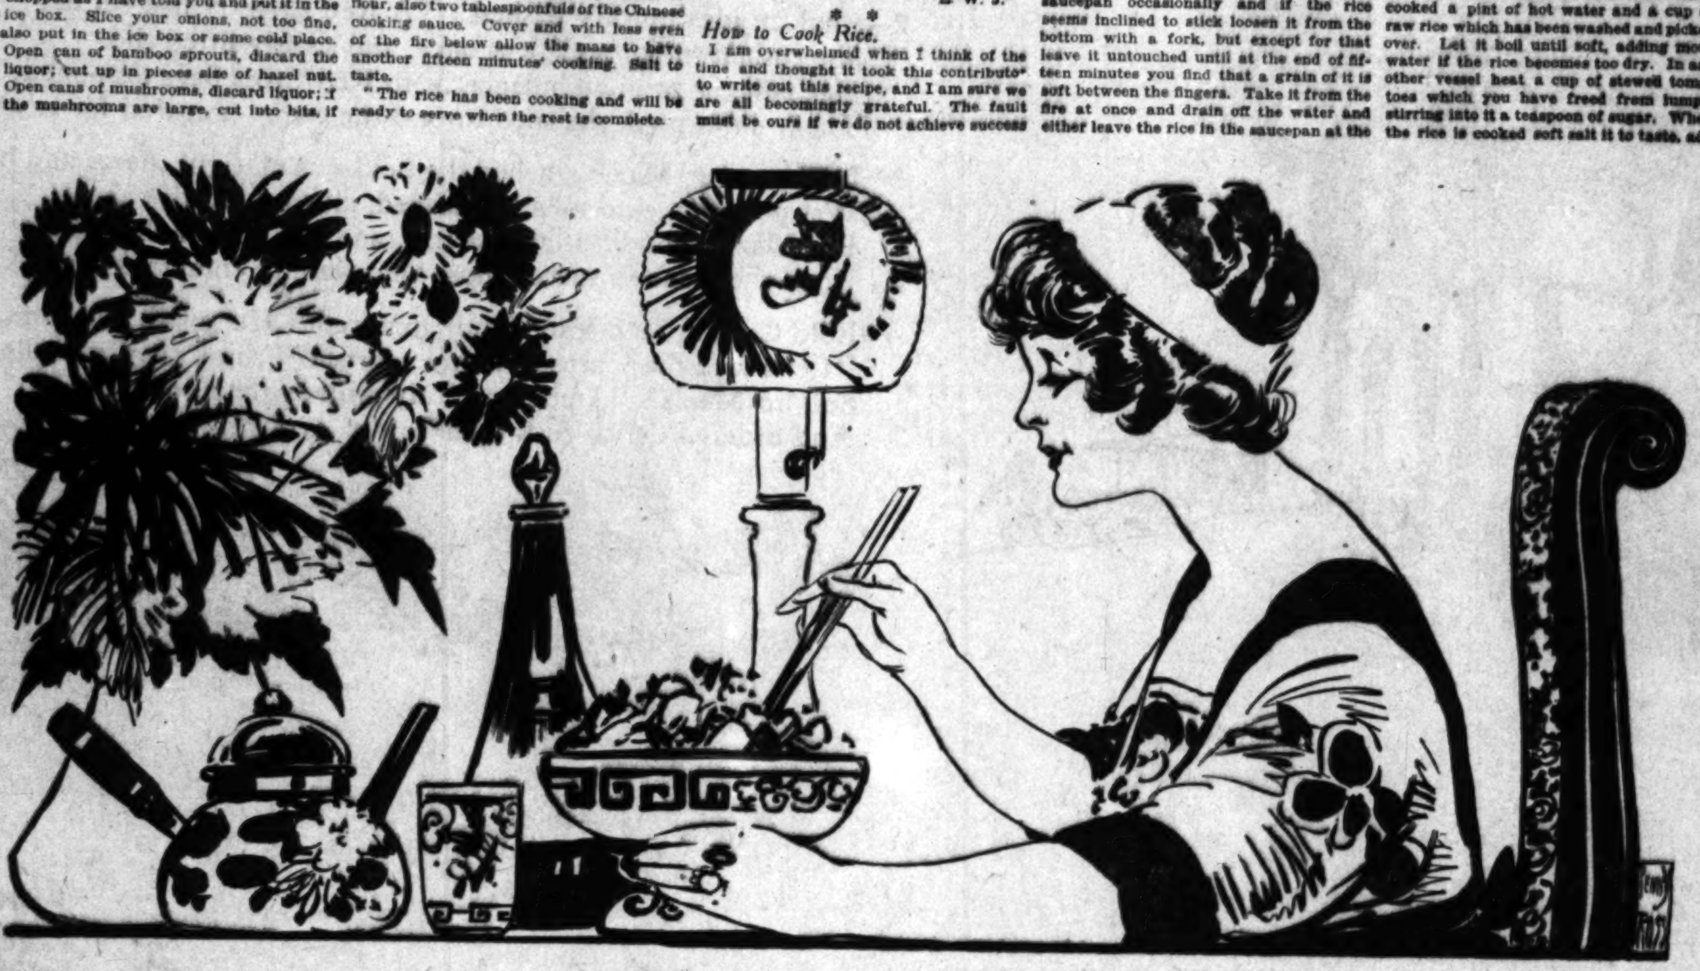
How to Cook.

"We will suppose the chop suey is for Sunday dinner. On Saturday get your meat chopped as I have told you and put it in the ice box. Slice your onions, not too fine, also put in the ice box or some cold place. Open can of bamboo sprouts, discard the liquor; cut up in pieces size of hazel nut. Open cans of mushrooms, discard liquor; if the mushrooms are large, cut into bits, if not large no need to do this. Cut the celery into bits, not too small. Meat, onions, bamboo sprouts, and mushrooms prepared and in the ice box on Saturday.

"One hour is required to cook. When ready to begin for dinner, put in large frying pan butter the size of a small egg. When it has melted put in the pork, cover and cook for about twenty minutes, stirring often that it does not stick. Try and not let it get hard. At the end of this time add the onions, celery, bamboo sprouts, and Chinese potatoes, mix, and allow to cook for about one-half hour.

"Then, having been careful all the while that the temperature of the fire has been such that while the cooking has been satisfactory there is no burning of the mixture, add the mushrooms; then mix thoroughly in the mass about two tablespoonfuls of flour, also two tablespoonfuls of the Chinese cooking sauce. Cover and with less even of the fire below allow the mass to have another fifteen minutes' cooking. Salt to taste.

"The rice has been cooking and will be ready to serve when the rest is complete.



"Serve the tea in small cups; one is supposed not to profane it with cream or sugar. I make it as usual tea is made.

"Serve the chop suey on plates, blue willow if you have them. Serve the rice in blue bowls. Serve the sauce in the little jug; guests use it on mixture of rice and suey to suit their tastes.

"The bean sprouts, if used, should soak over night. I did not use them after one trial; they did not seem to add any value of flavor. Have some one help or do all of the peeling of the Chinese potatoes for you—the peeling and slicing of these little potatoes are to me the most tiresome part of making the dish. One's hands will get tired cutting up and slicing the ingredients, but with directions I've outlined for Saturday the work is lessened greatly.

E. W. J."

How to Cook Rice.

I am overwhelmed when I think of the time and thought it took this contributor to write out this recipe, and I am sure we are all becomingly grateful. The fault must be ours if we do not achieve success and I hope some one will try the recipe soon and report results to the rest of us.

With one clause in her letter I disagree—that in which she takes it for granted every one knows how to cook rice. Every one does not, as will be testified by the many who have eaten it boiled to a mush-like paste by cooks who professed their entire ability to prepare it properly.

Yet the process is so simple it is astonishing it has not been mastered by every one. The whole secret lies in plenty of water and rapid cooking. For a cup of rice which has been rinsed in cold water six cups of boiling water should be provided and this should be in a saucepan and at a galloping boil when the rice is turned into it. The boil should be maintained and the rice should not be stirred. Shake the saucepan occasionally and if the rice seems inclined to stick loosen it from the bottom with a fork, but except for that leave it untouched until at the end of fifteen minutes you find that a grain of it is soft between the fingers. Take it from the fire at once and drain off the water and either leave the rice in the saucepan at the back of the stove to dry off, as you would potatoes, or else turn it into a colander, set this over a pot of hot water, throw a clean cloth over the rice, and let it stand and steam until you are ready to use it. Every grain should be whole and firm yet tender and the grains should not stick together. If you have never eaten it in this way you have much to learn about rice, and I may add that it is cooked in this way at the Chinese restaurants, where it is served with chop suey.

While we are speaking of rice let me give you an Italian method of preparing it which will, I am sure, commend itself to American palates. The dish is one seen everywhere in Italy and is called risotto.

Fry a sliced onion brown in a tablespoon of butter, put with these after the onion is cooked a pint of hot water and a cup of raw rice which has been washed and picked over. Let it boil until soft, adding more water if the rice becomes too dry. In another vessel heat a cup of stewed tomatoes which you have freed from lumps, stirring into it a teaspoon of sugar. When the rice is cooked soft salt it to taste, add the tomato; mix well, turn the risotto out on a dish, and sprinkle over it a tablespoon of grated cheese. The Parmesan is the best, but if you cannot get this take the plain American dairy cheese.

I am sure you will enjoy this dish and find it a welcome addition to your table.

Another rice dish which is equally good is Spanish rice. For this cook a cup of rice until tender, drain, and dry off as directed in the recipe given above for boiling rice. In a little bacon or pork dripping fry two medium sized onions, sliced, with two green peppers which

Other Foreign Ways.

Now that I am fairly started on the
of my favorite vegetable, let me give a few other instructions for as it is cooked for the tables of

An excellent Turkish dish of rice is

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND.

"I HAVE part of the recipe for ripe tomato pickle and hope you can supply me with the portion which is lacking. Here are the directions I possess: Select solid ripe tomatoes and slice about half an inch thick; let stand in alum water over night. What I don't know is how to prepare the vinegar, and if it should be put over the tomatoes cold or hot and changed from time to time, etc. When made right these pickles are firm, bright red, and delicious and will keep for a year.

"I hand you recipe for my orange pie: Make a rather rich crust; two or three oranges broken up in chunks (not sliced) three-quarter cup sugar and four tablespoons flour mixed. Put half the flour and sugar on bottom crust, add the orange and rest of flour and sugar. Bake with top crust in rather quick oven. A. B. C."

Here is the method of preparing the vinegar. To three cups of vinegar allow a half cup of sugar, a tablespoon each of salt, pepper, and mustard seed, a half tablespoon each of ground allspice and cloves, and a few blades of mace. Make it boiling hot, pour it over the tomatoes after you have soaked them in cold water a couple of hours to free them from too much taste of alum, and pack them in jars. Cover tightly; in a week pour off the vinegar, scald it again, and turn it back on the pickles, seal and set aside to ripen.

Thank you for the recipe for orange pie. I am glad to have it.

In Need of Invalid's Chair.

"Can you kindly help a dear friend of mine? She has been almost helpless for four years from paralysis caused accidentally by morphine poisoning and is in great need of a wheeled chair to enable her to go back and forth to her doctor's. Her husband, who has to take her to the physician, is a small wage earner and has other expenses, such as doctors' bills and charges for medicines. He would greatly appreciate such a help as a wheeled chair would be to them both. Her signature is Mrs. F. K."

Another appeal for a wheeled chair. I print it in the confident expectation the members of the constituency will respond promptly with the help which will lighten the burden of the wage earner and his paralysed wife. I will give the address upon application.

Offers Girl a Wheel.

"I note a letter from a crippled woman whose little 13 year old girl works in a factory and needs a wheel to go back and forth from her work. I have a wheel which I bought about three years ago, when I was 14. It is a good girl's wheel, although a little out of repair just at present. How far away from here does the family live? I fear I could not afford to pay the transportation, but perhaps some other person would be willing to do that. I have no use for the wheel now and would be glad to have some one else get some good from it if possible.

"G. K."

I regret to say that the little girl needing the wheel lives a long way from the home of the friend who tenders her wheel. Since she offers this I hope most earnestly some one may be found to undertake to pay for its transportation. You recall the case of the child who needs it? She is a mill worker—at 13!—and the sum she has to pay for car fare to and from her place of employment cuts seriously into the slender stipend which she devotes to the help of her family. Surely this is a case where generosity would be well worth while. If there is anything which can lighten the burden laid on the childish shoulders I hope it may be forthcoming.

Good Cheese Dishes.

"Will you tell me the names of some good cheese dishes? I have an idea it would be a good thing sometimes to use cheese instead of meat, as it is said to be nutritious, and I believe cooked cheese is not unwholesome. ELLA M."

Cheese is not unwholesome for most persons of good stomachs, especially when it is combined with bread crumbs in cooking. Some of the best ways in which to use it are baked bread and cheese which some persons call baked Welsh rarebit. This is made by laying thin slices of cheese on slices of bread packed in a pudding dish, sprinkling each layer with salt, and pouring in milk enough to fill the dish. Bake covered twenty minutes, uncover and brown. Cheese fondu, cheese pudding, toasted cheese on bread, cheese souffle, and cheese toast are all appetizing, nutritious, and comparatively inexpensive.

Wants an Address.

"If you can get in touch with the correspondent signing herself Marie, who had a hand embroidered sofa pillow cover in a pattern of pink roses on white, I would like to communicate with her. MRS. W."

The letter from Marie appeared some weeks ago. I am sorry to say I have not her address, but I print this in the hope it may meet her eye and I may hear from her and be able to give her the address of Mrs. W.

Suggests an Exchange.

"I would like to make a little exchange with some of the Cornerites. I have a silk quilt that my grandmother started with blocks nine and a half inches square. It is in what is called the court house steps pattern and I need twenty-two more squares to make the quilt the right size. I thought if I furnished the silk besides a large box of other pieces I have and a reasonable amount of money Mrs. J. E. P., who asked for silk pieces, would finish my quilt. I have quite a lot of silk pieces, also calico and such material for other quilts. If some other reader has sent her pieces will you please print my letter so some one can have the advantage of these pieces I offer?

"M. G."

Some pieces have already gone to Mrs. J. E. P., but I do not know if she wishes more or if she cares to comply with M. G.'s request. I therefore print her letter, as she asks and will give her address upon application.

Chicken Spanish Style.

"I have a recipe I am sure other housekeepers would like; it is chicken cooked in Spanish style. To prepare the dish stuff the chicken as for roasting, put three sweet green peppers in a hot oven or on the stove and keep turning them until they are all over blisters on the skin. Throw them into cold water and remove the skin and seeds. Peel one large tomato and chop it with the peppers. Into a large saucepan with a tightly fitting cover put two large tablespoons of fine lard (not dripping) and when this is hot lay in the chicken and turn it over and over for a few minutes; add to it a chopped onion, the peppers and the tomato. Stir well for a few minutes longer, then add two good sized glasses of claret (of best quality), three tablespoons of sugar, a good handful of seeded raisins, a few whole olives, a pinch of ground cloves, and black pepper and salt as needed. Stir well, put in one quart of water, cover tightly and cook over a steady, low fire until the chicken is thoroughly done. If the broth cooks down too low add a little hot water, but keep the pot tightly covered all the while. When the chicken is done transfer it from the fire to a hot platter and thicken the gravy with two tablespoons of flour wet up in a little cold water. Boil up, stirring well, pour over the chicken and serve. You may use any kind of stuffing you choose. M. J. B."

Thank you for the unusual recipe. I should think chicken prepared in this way would be extremely good, although rather expensive in the adjuncts. I take it that a good domestic claret could be used as well as an imported variety.

Refuses to See the Ugly.

"I would like to say a few words in reply to the lament concerning the summer home housekeeper. Some people refuse to see the beautiful in life; some refuse to see the ugly. I belong to the latter class. I, too, put up with many inconveniences at my summer cottage. I carry my groceries in a market basket or haul them in a little express wagon, a whole mile, up and down hill, also my laundry, and am glad to have it done at all. I put up with vegetables my neighbors have no use for, I get butter when they churn and not a pint of cream after the milk has gone into the separator. But what is the use of enumerating?

"Of company I'll have none except the nearest and dearest. To my friends and acquaintances I explained frankly I was not situated so I could entertain them. If they wish to motor out and are satisfied with bread and butter and a cup of coffee or a glass of lemonade, all well and good; but to have them spend the day with three meals to cook—'nothing doing,' as the boys say, and my friends are either too polite to take offense or else they understand the situation.

"As to the many inconveniences. What if the oil stove smokes and the straw ticks have 'hills and valleys?' One look out of my kitchen window at the sun and his handiwork as he dips into a distant marsh atones for all shortcomings, or, again, a look into the tanned, clear eyed faces of my barefoot boys makes up for all the inconveniences that a summer home brings. I have learned and am learning still, in life's hard school, that a mother's rewards are in proportion to all her trials and tribulations. L. W. P."

I do not think there was the impression given that the summer home was contemned and disliked, only that by comparison with the winter home it shows harder work in proportion to the comfort won. I am glad to give a space for a view on the other side and since summer must be and summer homes with it it is a good thing to encourage every sanguine opinion on both.

Full of Common Sense.

"A correspondent asks advice as to callers at inopportune hours, borrowers, etc. I can only give the results of my own experience, but they may prove helpful to others. The unwelcome morning caller should be given a hurried greeting (as if you were rushed to death), but a warm welcome, a kitchen chair, and if you haven't a baby, dump the cat in the visitor's lap. I have often been able to "hang out just a few pieces" while my visitor, aching to tell her errand, sat and held my youngest. For the INDUSTRIOUS NEEDLEWOMAN

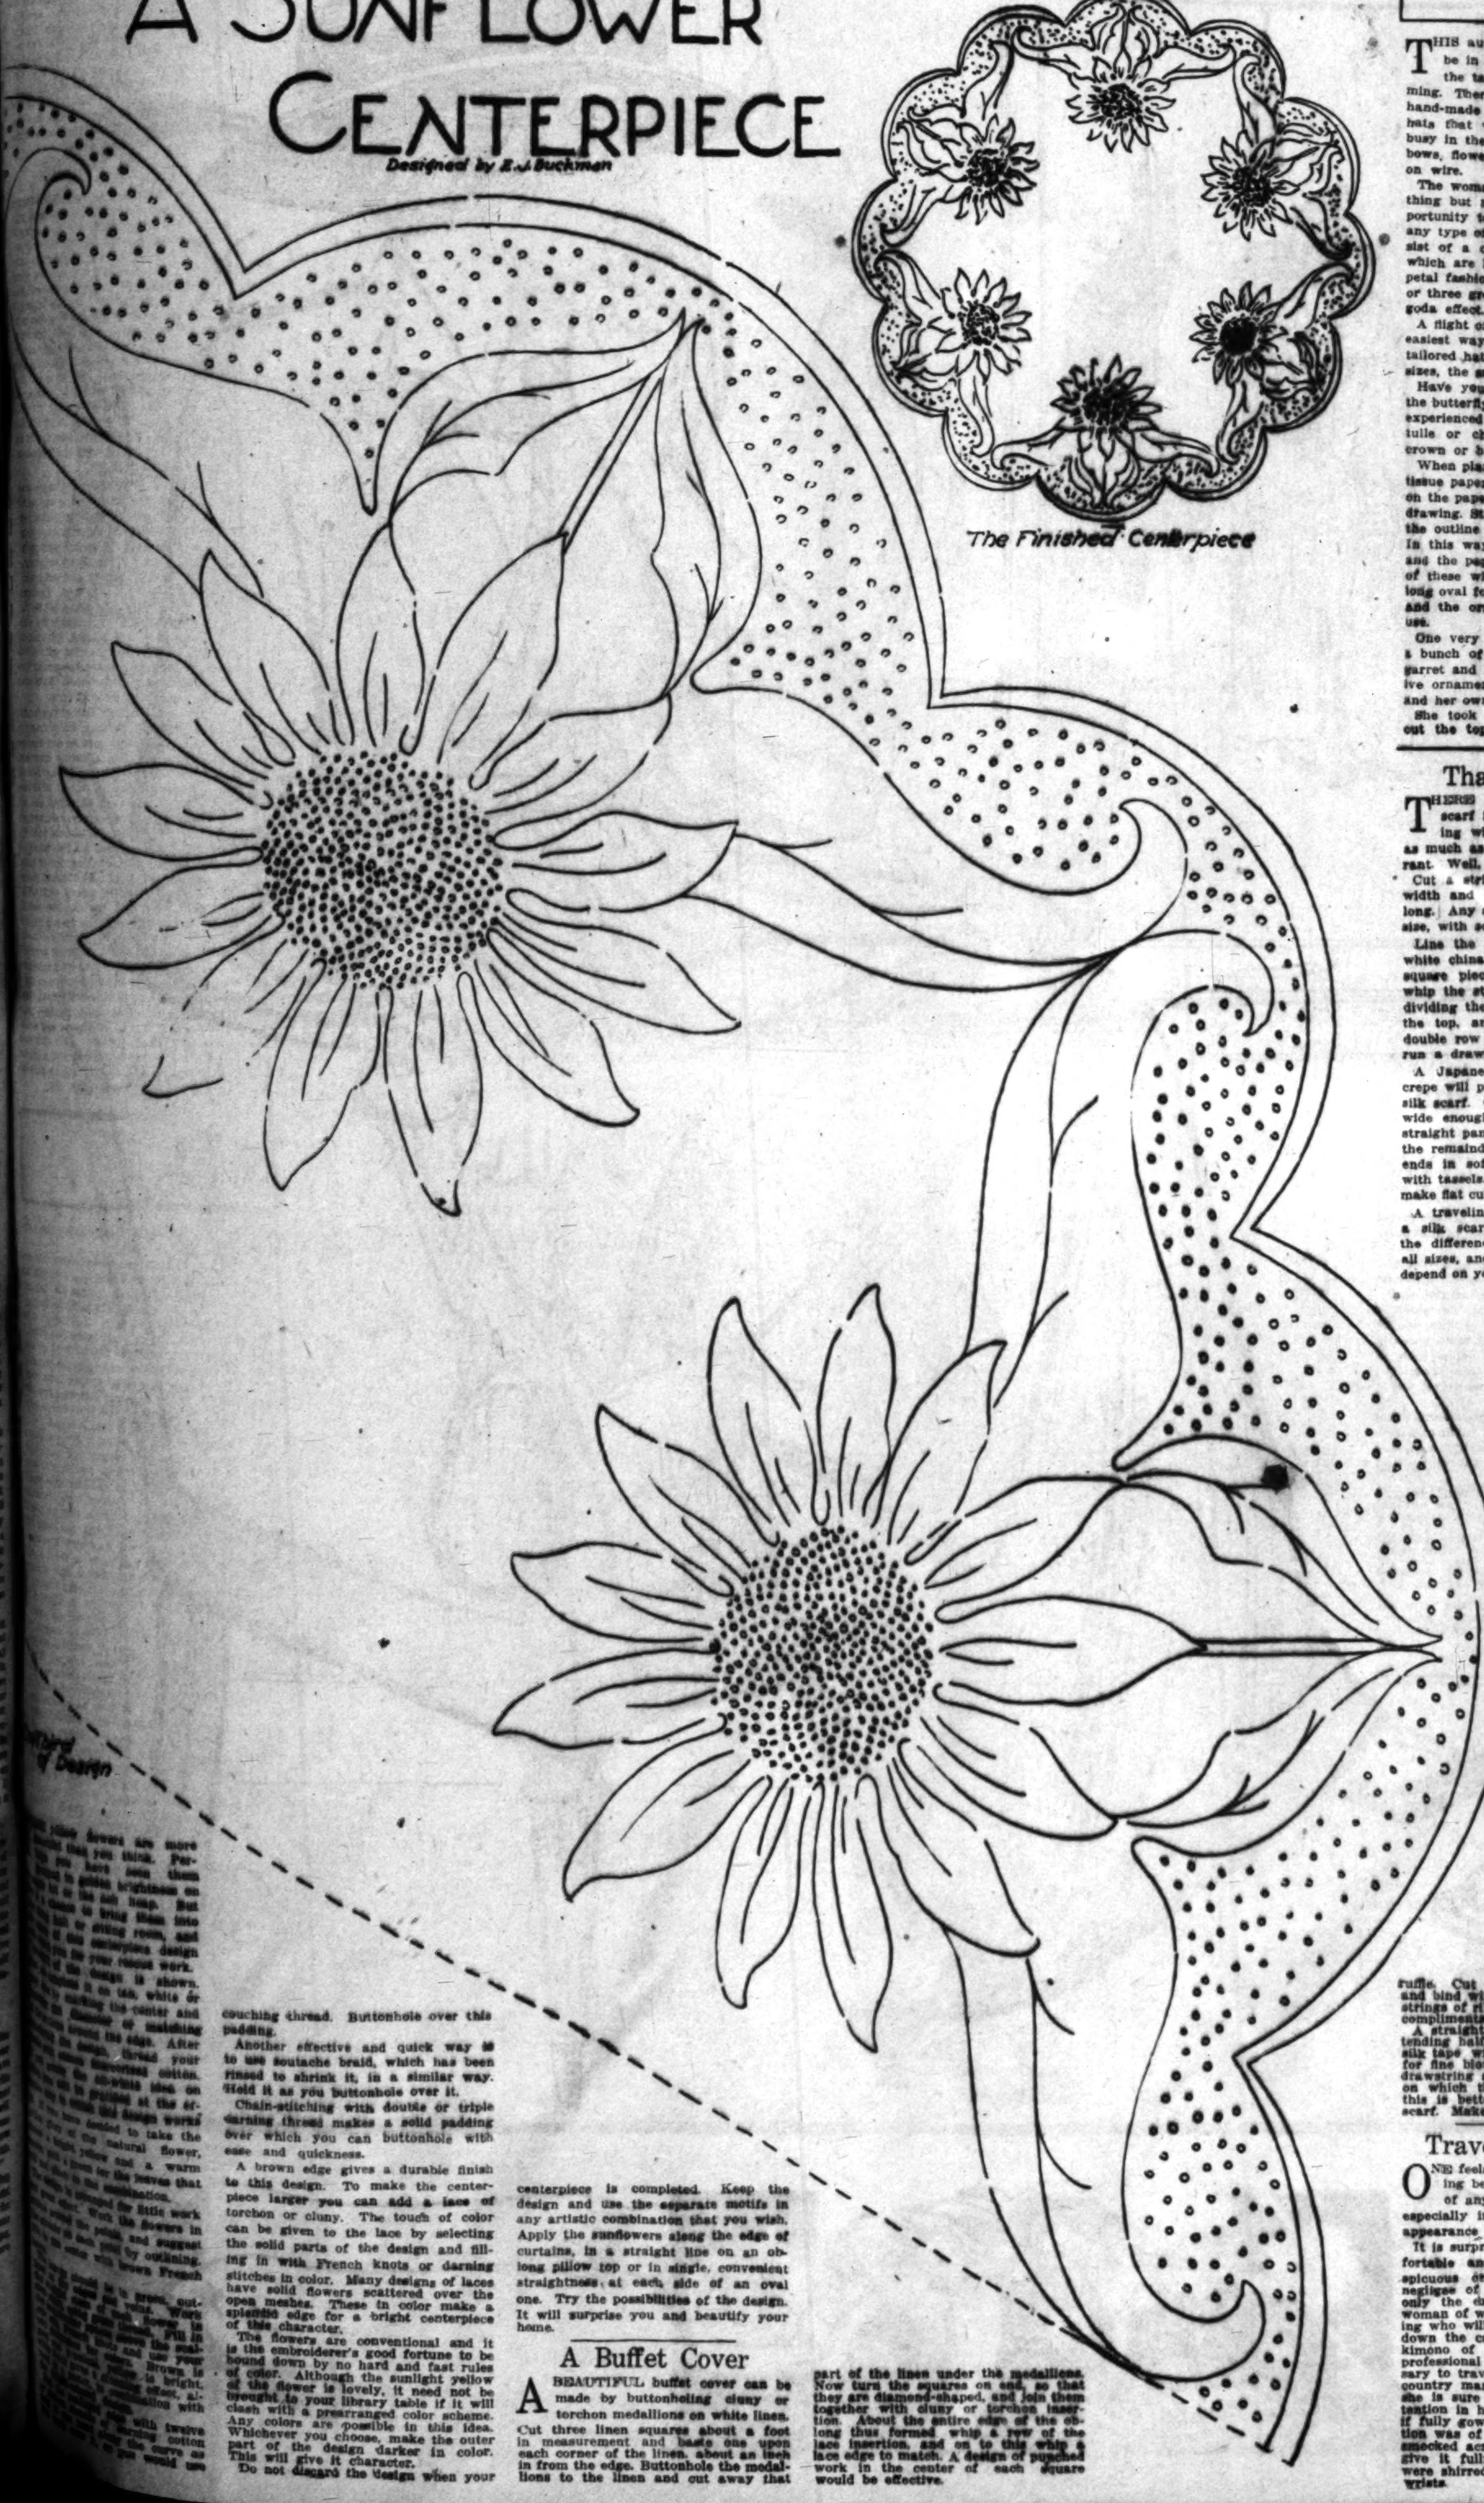
By ADELAIDE BYRD

A SUNFLOWER CENTERPIECE

Designed by E. J. Buckman



The Finished Centerpiece

couching thread. Buttonhole over this padding.

Another effective and quick way is to use soutache braid, which has been rinsed to shrink it, in a similar way. Hold it as you buttonhole over it.

Chain-stitching with double or triple darning thread makes a solid padding over which you can buttonhole with ease and quickness.

A brown edge gives a durable finish to this design. To make the centerpiece larger you can add a lace of torchon or cluny. The touch of color can be given to the lace by selecting the solid parts of the design and filling in with French knots or darning stitches in color. Many designs of laces have solid flowers scattered over the open meshes. These in color make a splendid edge for a bright centerpiece of this character.

The flowers are conventional and it is the embroiderer's good fortune to be bound down by no hard and fast rules of color. Although the sunlight yellow of the flower is lovely, it need not be brought to your library table if it will clash with a prearranged color scheme. Any colors are possible in this idea. Whichever you choose, make the outer part of the design darker in color. This will give it character.

Do not discard the design when your centerpiece is completed. Keep the design and use the separate motifs in any artistic combination that you wish. Apply the sunflowers along the edge of curtains, in a straight line on an oblong pillow top or in single, convenient straightness, at each side of an oval one. Try the possibilities of the design. It will surprise you and beautify your home.

A Buffet Cover

A BEAUTIFUL buffet cover can be made by buttonholing cluny or torchon medallions on white linen. Cut three linen squares about a foot in measurement and baste one upon each corner of the linen, about an inch in from the edge. Buttonhole the medallions to the linen and cut away that part of the linen under the medallions. Now turn the squares on end, so that they are diamond-shaped, and join them together with cluny or torchon insertion. About the entire edge of the oblong thus formed whip a row of the lace insertion, and on to this whip a lace edge to match. A design of punched work in the center of each square would be effective.

FOR FALL HATS

THIS autumn the needlewoman will be in her glory when it comes to the task of deciding on hat trimming. There is a prominence of the hand-made ornaments on all types of hats that will keep any eager hands busy in the fashioning of disks, quills, bows, flowers and odd trimming based on wire.

The woman who does not favor anything but ribbon has an excellent opportunity to use it in the finishing of any type of hat. Many ornaments consist of a covered wire on the top of which are loops of ribbon clustered in petal fashion. Sometimes there are two or three groups of them, making a pagoda effect.

A flight of tailored bows is one of the easiest ways to decorate the side of a tailored hat. They can be of graduated sizes, the smallest ones at the top.

Have you noticed the prominence of the butterfly in millinery? It requires no experienced touch to let a butterfly of tulle or chantilly lace perch on the crown or brim.

When planning a butterfly, the use of tissue paper will help. Draw the forms on the paper and baste the net over the drawing. Stitch the wire in place, using the outline of the drawing as a guide. In this way the wings will be shaped and the paper can be torn away. Four of these wings can be placed round a long oval form that represents the body and the ornament will be ready for use.

One very clever milliner has rescued a bunch of peacock feathers from the garret and has made the most attractive ornaments by combining handwork and her own cleverness.

She took a number of feathers and cut the tops with stems about three inches below. These she grouped around a button that had the colors of the peacock in it. After placing this cabochon at the side of a velvet hat, a band of chiffon over it will hold the ornament down and give a most unusual effect, especially on black velvet. Try this with your peacock feathers. They will bring you good luck in millinery.

The opportunity for beadwork is unlimited. On a strip of gray or white net a simple design can be worked with beads on a colored thread. If you baste the net to a piece of tissue paper, after marking a simple design on it, you can follow the lead-pencil lines as you would in the revived darned work.

In ornamental hatbands there is a great field. Strips of metallic braid can be given a touch of color by using the design as a background and working over it in solid stitches, using bright silk or mercerized cottons. The introduction of beads with the embroidery will raise the band to the plane of an expensive fabric.

On evening hats there will be much handwork, and if you have had experience in the roses of the wrapped type, you can put it to good account. Mousseline will be extensively used in two tones. The center of a mousseline rose should be padded over a disk of cotton, and around this the folded fabric is swirled or folded in three portions. Leaves of pale green mousseline are effective if made of two thicknesses, wired along the center and bent into shape.

The making of lace bows is a story in itself, and will be given its due. The main thing is to seize the needle and a bright idea and give your hat the stamp of the season.

That Silk Scarf

THERE is an old Roman-striped scarf in the top drawer, wondering why it never has been used as much as its high price should warrant. Well, here is the answer.

Cut a strip of silk one-half yard in width and one and a quarter yards long. Any scarf will allow a piece this size, with some to spare for binding.

Line the strip with a plain silk or white china silk, and after covering a square piece of cardboard with silk, whip the straight strip to the bottom, dividing the length into quarters. Hem the top, and make a casing with a double row of stitching. Through this run a drawstring of silk cord.

A Japanese kimono of inexpensive crepe will profit by a clever use of the silk scarf. Cut a strip from the length wide enough for a soft girdle and a straight panel sash at the back. With the remainder make a soft collar that ends in soft ends that are weighted with tassels. If there is any more silk, make flat cuffs to finish the sleeves.

A traveling kit can be evolved from a silk scarf and would never know the difference. This article comes in all sizes, and the exact proportions will depend on you. Line the case with poplin and bind with a colored braid or silk tape. Attach a piece of tape to the outside, so the case can be tied when it is packed. The little inner pockets should be of the same material of which the lining is made, for they will last longer.

There is no reason why a woman should not be attractive though sweeping. Make a dustcap of an old silk scarf. The plain mobcap is now being finished with a shaped, turned-back brim that suggests Holland. It protects the hair, and at the same time is something to open the door in and not demand an apology. You can make two or three of these useful articles from one scarf.

If the scarf is of soft silk, it will come into your sewing circle to be changed into a beautiful sewing apron. Any shape can be cut. The usual apron is one-half of a yard wide, which is the width of a scarf. The apron with a double curve on the lower edge to form a heart will be an acceptable gift for a bride. Edge the soft silk with satin or silk ribbon about two inches wide, allowing one and a half times the measurement of the outer edge for a full ruffle. Cut out a heart-shaped pocket and bind with ribbon. Add a band and strings of ribbon, and present with your compliments.

A straight bag with an open slot extending halfway down and bound with silk tape will make an excellent holder for fine blouses. The top is run on a drawstring and tied over a coathanger on which the blouse is hung. Surely this is better than having an unused scarf. Make it worth the original price.

Traveler's Kimono

ONE feels a hesitancy about appearing before strangers in a kimono of any description; but, ofttimes, especially in a sleeping car, such an appearance is unavoidable.

It is surprising how much more comfortable and how much less inconspicuous one feels in a kimono or negligee of subdued colors, and it is only the experienced traveler or the woman of wretched taste and ill-breeding who will persist in floating up and down the car aisle or hotel hall in a kimono of conspicuous brightness. A professional woman, who finds it necessary to travel back and forth over the country many times a year, said that she is sure of attracting no more attention in her kimono than she would if fully gowned. The kimono in question was of very dark blue china silk, smocked across the back and front to give it fullness, and the full sleeves were shirred into straight cuffs at the wrists.

Uses for Remnants of Lace

AT THIS season the remnant counters are well stocked with odd lengths of lace, chiffon and net which can be purchased for a sixpence, or a little more. From these fascinating breakfast caps, camisoles or tea aprons can be fashioned by the nimble-fingered needlewoman.

One of the newest breakfast caps is made of point d'esprit in the following manner:

Gather the crown to resemble a mobcap and line it with white, pale blue or pink china silk or chiffon.

To this stitch two pleated ruffles of the point d'esprit finished with a narrow edging of valenciennes lace. About the base of the crown draw a band of pale blue or pink messaline ribbon and tie the ends in a flat bow at the side or front.

The dainty lace tea aprons are easily made from dotted or plain net. Cut a pattern from paper in the shape of a heart, triangle or oval. When this is the required size, cut out the material. To the edge stitch a three-inch ruffle of the material bordered with narrow lace, and gather the apron at the waist line. Attach strings of pale blue or pink ribbon at the sides. A peasant's apron is rectangular in shape and extends nearly to the hem of the dress. There is no bib to this variety and the ruffle is only placed at the hem.

From a strip of lace insertion or edging twelve inches in width and from a yard to a yard and a quarter long can be made a handsome camisole. Line the lace with chiffon or china silk in any of the pastel tints, and run a shirring string through the top and bottom. Draw the lower one to fit the waist and bind with a strip of the silk or wash ribbon. To the top stitch a narrow beading and through this thread ribbon, which is then tied in a full bow at the front. Over each shoulder place a strap of ribbon tied in a bow at the top, or form the straps of ribbon covered with shirred bands of the lace.

The more elaborate camisoles are trimmed with garlands of tiny roses fashioned of silk or gauze. These can be made at home or purchased at the trimming counter of the department store.

The present fashions strongly approve of the Marie Antoinette fichu, and odd lengths of lace, point d'esprit or net can be successfully utilized to fashion one of these lovely pieces of neckwear. First cut a paper pattern so that it fits perfectly across the back and shoulders. Allow the ends to extend to the waist line, or below the girdle, in points.

Finish the edges with a narrow pleated frill of the material or a gathered frill of lace.

These articles are easily and quickly made and are acceptable gifts for almost any occasion.

How to Transfer

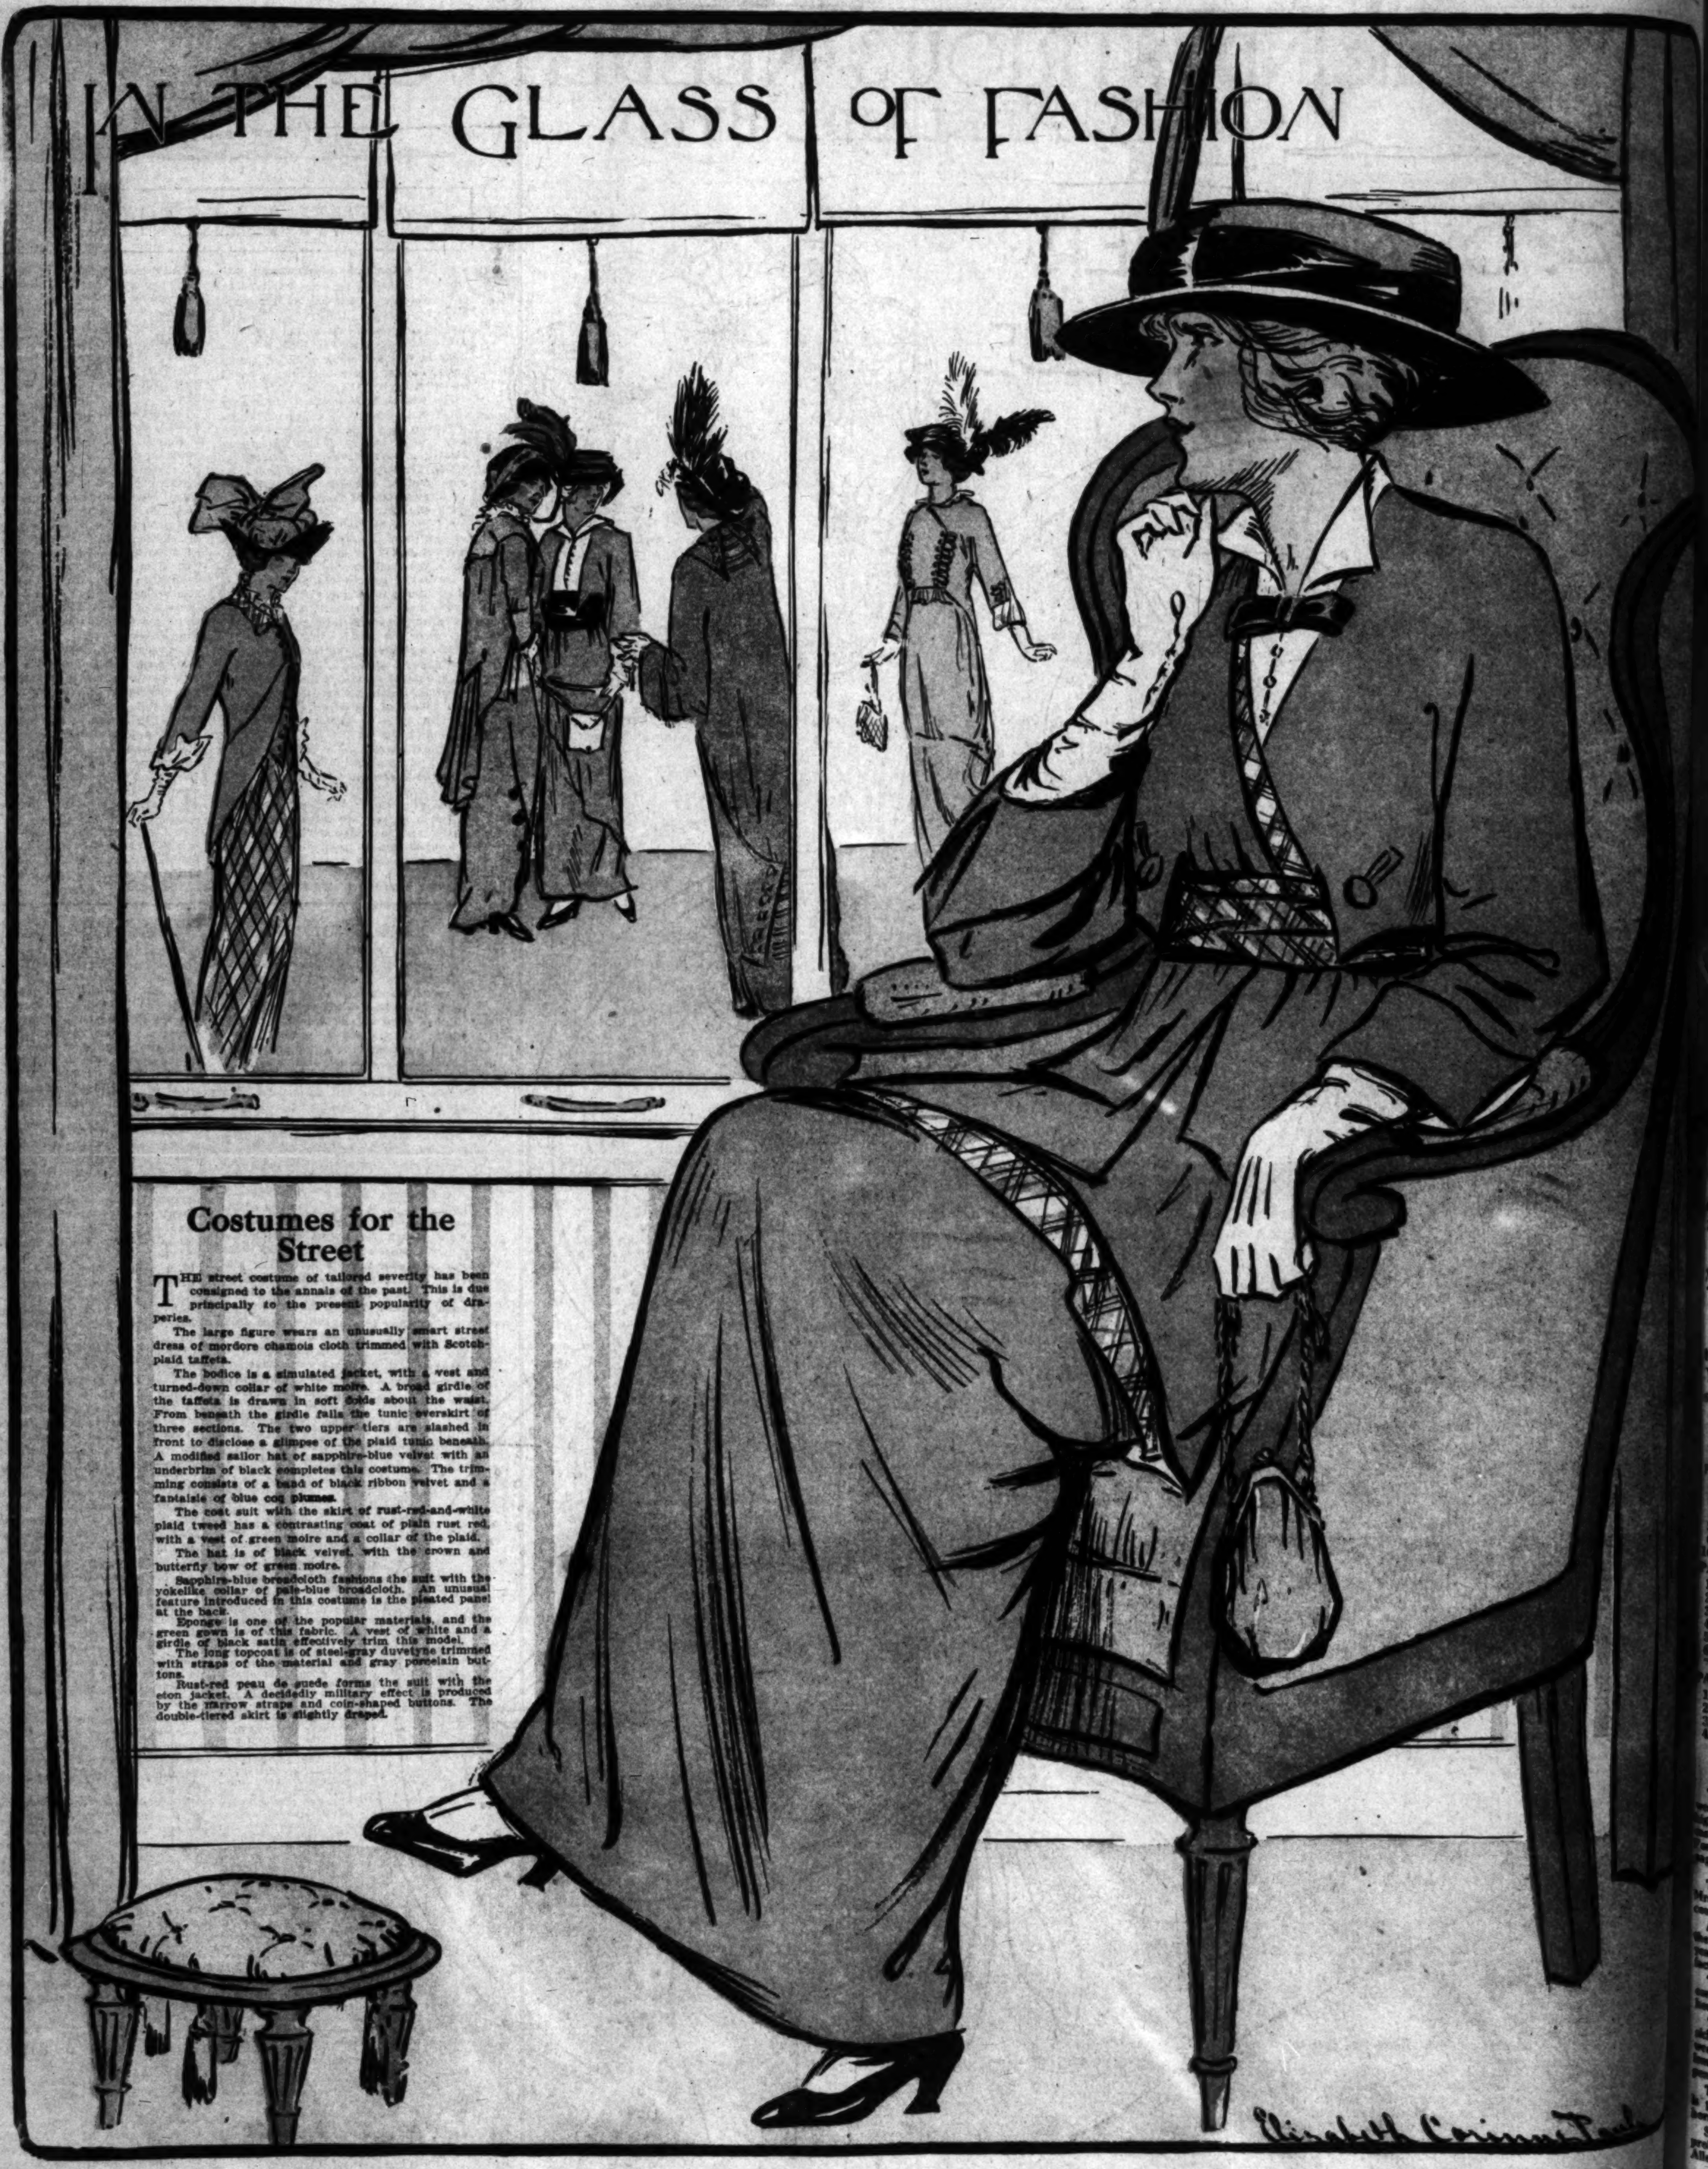
HERE are suggestions for transferring the pattern before you to any material before working.

Perhaps the easiest way is the "window-pane" method. This is successful when the material is thin, like linen, batiste, etc. Pin the sheet of paper and the material together and hold them up against the glass of a window. With a sharp pencil draw on the material the design, which can be easily seen through the goods. If one-half of the design only be given, unpin the paper and turn the other side to the fabric.

If you have carbon paper, you should place the sheet between your fabric and the newspaper. The latter is on top. With a sharp pencil go over the outline of the design. The impression will be left in fine lines and will last until worked.

The last way is also easy. On wax paper or ordinary tissue paper trace the pattern before you. When the design is completed, turn over the paper and outline the pattern with a heavy lead pencil. Then place the design down on the fabric and redraw the outline, pressing hard with the pencil. The pattern will be transferred without difficulty.

IN THE GLASS OF FASHION



Costumes for the Street

THE street costume of tailored severity has been consigned to the annals of the past. This is due principally to the present popularity of draperies.

The large figure wears an unusually smart street dress of mordore chamois cloth trimmed with Scotch-plaid taffeta.

The bodice is a simulated jacket, with a vest and turned-down collar of white moire. A broad girdle of the taffeta is drawn in soft folds about the waist. From beneath the girdle falls the tunic overskirt of three sections. The two upper tiers are slashed in front to disclose a glimpse of the plaid tunic beneath. A modified sailor hat of sapphire-blue velvet with an underbrim of black completes this costume. The trimming consists of a band of black ribbon velvet and a fantaisie of blue coq plumes.

The coat suit with the skirt of rust-red-and-white plaid tweed has a contrasting coat of plain rust red, with a vest of green moire and a collar of the plaid.

The hat is of black velvet, with the crown and butterfly bow of green moire.

Sapphire-blue broadcloth fashions the suit with the yokelike collar of pale-blue broadcloth. An unusual feature introduced in this costume is the pleated panel at the back.

Eponge is one of the popular materials, and the green gown is of this fabric. A vest of white and a girdle of black satin effectively trim this model.

The long topcoat is of steel-gray duvetyne trimmed with straps of the material and gray porcelain buttons.

Rust-red peau de suede forms the suit with the eton jacket. A decidedly military effect is produced by the narrow straps and coin-shaped buttons. The double-tiered skirt is slightly draped.
